MYTHICAL SOCIETY: IRELAND

Grades 1-6

Do you know your Cú Chulainn from your Fionn mac Cumhaill? Your Medb from your Morrigan? Delve into the vibrant world of warriors, monsters, and supernatural beings in Irish mythology. Irish mythology consists of collections of tales passed down by word of mouth. Many Irish legends were shared through oral culture and weren't documented or written down until they had been around for centuries. As a result, they often have multiple interpretations and meanings: for example, in some legends, Fionn mac Cumhaill was a mortal warrior, while in others he was a giant, and Queen Medb varies from being a human queen to a supernatural being. Explore these Irish folklores along with many others with us this spring!

833-EDW | 3 Sessions | Tue-Thu, 3/28-3/30 | 4:00-5:15pm | $39

CHERRY BLOSSOM ART

Grades K-6

Spring is in the air as more than 3,000 flowering cherry trees begin to bloom in Washington, D.C. It's been more than 100 years since Japan gave these trees to the United States as a gift in 1912. Now the Washington, D.C. region celebrates this annual explosion of color with the National Cherry Blossom Festival. It's a great addition to any educational trip to the nation's capital, but families anywhere in the country can still participate in learning activities that celebrate the changing of the season. Let's get creative together and make some art pieces to replicate this beautiful work of nature!

SERVING UP SCIENCE: POTATOES

Grades 2-6

Potatoes are one of the most versatile foods out there. You can bake, fry, boil or mash them. Eat them warm or cold, with plenty of seasonings, or just plain. You can eat them months after they're harvested, or fresh out of the ground. The options are endless. Raw potatoes aren't very digestible (nor delectable) for humans. But once it's cooked, a potato will never be the same again. So what happens during cooking? What transforms this raw hard potato, into something eaten all over the world? Join us for another edition of Serving up Science as we learn more about these starchy vegetables!
