a fiber exhibition

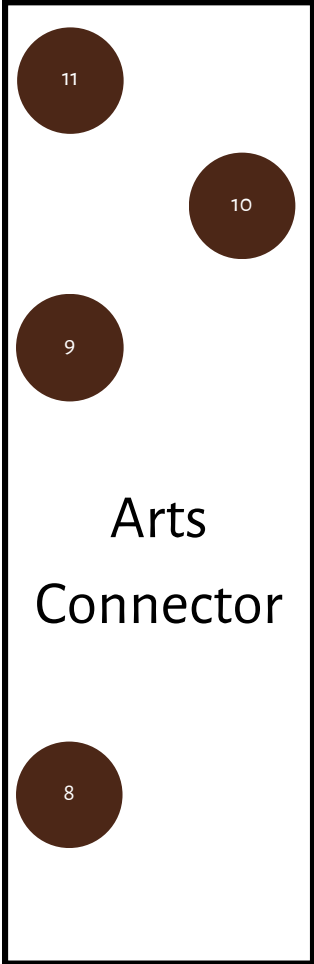

September 2 - October 23, 2022

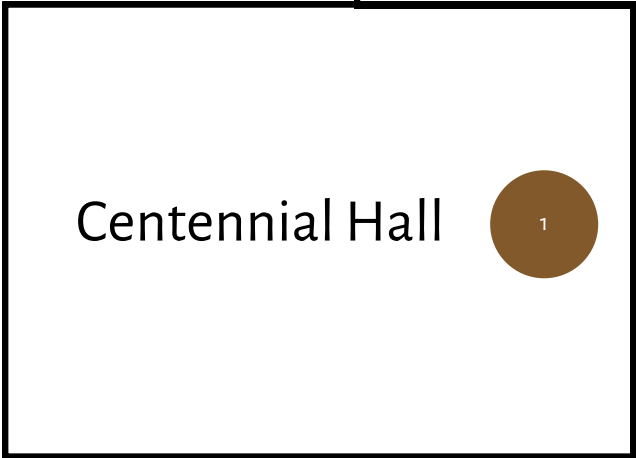

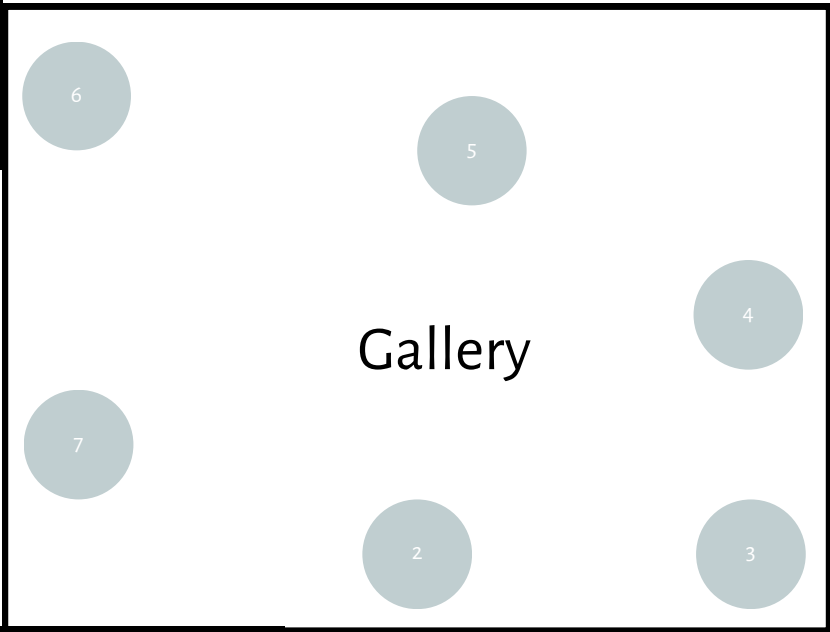

ABOUT THE EXHIBITION

Fiber works have been created by humans in every society since ancient times. We have used them to clothe ourselves, keep ourselves warm, and decorate our homes. Historically, most fiber work has been made by women and people of color. Fiber art has only been accepted as fine art in the past sixty years. Its rise in the art world was hand in hand with second-wave feminism and civil rights movements. Together, these works weave a larger picture of the countless forms of fiber being used in the art world today.
