ONE SMALL COMPLIMENT

One small compliment turned into a wonderful connection for these two first graders.

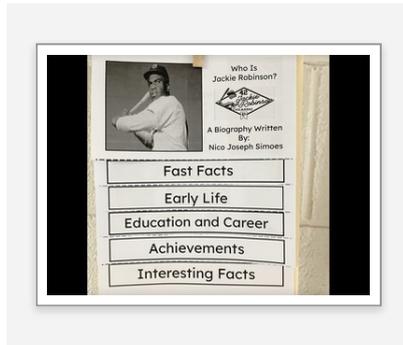

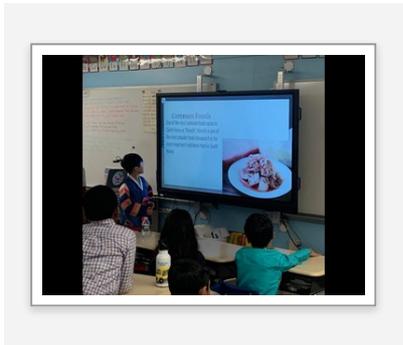

One morning, Atharv complimented Alice on her beautiful, purple hat. He asked questions about where she got it and why she chose the color. It was only through further conversation that Atharv learned that the hat had been knitted by Alice's mom. What an interesting concept for Atharv. A hat made by Alice's mother and not purchased in a store.

A few weeks had passed when Alice came to school with a special gift for Atharv. His very own knitted hat! Alice had asked her mother to knit a blue hat for her special friend. What a generous act of kindness from both Alice and her mother. All started by one genuine compliment!

THIRD GRADERS LEARN ABOUT CULTURES AND HONOR BLACK HISTORY MONTH

The third graders have been learning about different cultures around the world. They created presentations representing a culture of their choice to teach their classmates about that culture. The third graders are honoring Black History Month by learning about influential African Americans from the past and present. Each student is creating a biography of a famous African American by reading articles and books. In addition, they are wearing a necklace each day of the month with a biography of a famous African American. They will wear the necklace all day and hopefully have many opportunities to discuss their famous American with peers and other teachers. They are focusing on the message of peace and equality.

BACK TO BASICS: THE PRINCIPAL'S FACT FLUENCY CHALLENGE

Ready, Set, Practice....

The Principal's Challenge is a school wide fact fluency activity that will be administered every other week to students in grades 1-5. The challenge runs through the end of April.

All students started the with Challenge "A" asking them to add digits up to 10. Once a student achieves 80% on a challenge, that student will automatically be bumped up to the next level. If the student does not attain at least 80%, they will repeat the same challenge on the next challenge date. Each challenge will get increasing difficult.

How can you help your child be successful with this challenge? Practice your facts! If you need flash cards, as your teacher.

K-2 LITERACY NIGHT

Thank you to those families and staff members who joined us for our K-2 Family Literacy Night.

Staff members provided families with an overview of the Phonics First program and demonstrated some phonological and phonemic awareness activities that are used in school. Staff taught strategies on helping children at home in decoding (reading) and encoding (spelling).

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE FAMILY NIGHT

We had a wonderful turnout for our ESL family night. It was a great opportunity for our families to connect with one another and learn about our school programs, the testing process, and all the resources available to our students. We look forward to our next family night!
