Requested Action

School Board Recognition of Cherokee County School District 2021 Media Specialist of the Year: Amanda Graves of E.T. Booth Middle School

Summary Explanation and Background

E.T. Booth Middle School media specialist Amanda Graves was recently named Cherokee County School District 2021 Media Specialist of the Year!

Ms. Graves joined CCSD in 2016 after service as a media specialist in Cobb County, has earned bachelor, master and education specialist degrees, and is studying to earn a doctorate from the University of West Georgia in school improvement with a focus on media specialist skills.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Brian V. Hightower made the surprise presentation to Ms. Graves, who now advances to represent CCSD in the Regional competition, from which she could move on to the State contest.

All CCSD school media specialists were eligible for the award, and Ms. Graves was selected as the winner from a pool of outstanding nominees by a judging committee of retired educators and community leaders.
