School Board Recognition of River Ridge High School Senior Riley Herrick -- Georgia Association of Conservation Districts Poster Contest Winner

Summary Explanation and Background

River Ridge High School senior Riley Herrick earned top honors in the Georgia Association of Conservation Districts' competition to promote conservation education.

The annual contest, which is open to all Georgia students in kindergarten through 12th grade, is part of the organization's Stewardship Program that teaches students how to best protect and support natural resources.

The theme was “Where Would We BEE Without Pollinators?” with a goal of educating students and the community as a whole about the importance of pollinators. Riley's award-winning poster highlights facts about bees in a mixed-media design. Riley, who studies business communications as her Career Pathway, now advances to the National Association of Conservation Districts' competition.
