School Board Recognition of Creekland Middle School Seventh-grader Abigail Moore -- Third-place Winner in the National Humanities Bee

Summary Explanation and Background

Creekland Middle School seventh-grader Abigail Moore won third place at the national competition, which was held virtually for this school year. The academic bowl-style event tests middle and elementary school students' knowledge in literature, art history and technique, music history and theory, dance, film, religion, mythology, and philosophy.

Abigail twice qualified for the National competition by finishing first and third in two consecutive tournaments. She is an outstanding student, who excels in all of her classes and has expanded her humanities knowledge not only through English and social studies classes, but also through electives in French and art ... and plenty of reading!
