

Creative Writing

Writing appears in our lives in many different ways. From the movies we love to the music we sing, writers have mastered the art of capturing the attention of their audience. Do you want to add this tool to your own belt? Whether you see yourself as a musician, athlete, business person, or educator, the skill of writing can bring you great success. More importantly, getting the words out of our brain and down on paper can be a therapeutic practice that brings joy and resolution to our lives. Join the students who have already taken the dive into this course and prepare to be immersed in the multifaceted world of writing.

Let's see what they have to say about the class!

“Creative writing is an extremely fun class where you can let your creativity out and throw it on paper. You can explore different writing techniques and learn different ways to use them. Your vocabulary will strengthen over the course and the skills are transferable to many other classes.”

“If you enjoy writing and always having thousands of ideas popping up into your head, then creative writing might be the class for you!”
