Congratulations to Abbi Jack!

Congratulations to Abbi Jack on being accepted to Barnard College in New York City! Barnard is one of the most selective academic institutions in the nation and partners with prestigious Columbia University.

"Barnard honestly has all I could ever want in a college, where there's a supportive community of young women right outside my dorm room and a whole world of opportunities just across Broadway at Columbia.

Just from talking with other girls who got accepted on social media, I already know that Barnard is such a supportive, accepting community." Abbi plans on majoring in Urban Studies, with Barnard's program offering opportunities all across NYC.
