Hello Upper Adams School District Parents and Guardians!

This is Wesley Doll, Superintendent of the Upper Adams School District with a short summer update.

With school currently scheduled to start on Wednesday, August 26, 2020 I wanted to share some information with you as we continue our planning process to reopen schools.

First, thank you for participating in the district survey conducted earlier this summer. Your feedback assisted us in drafting an initial plan for the district. Since the survey was conducted, information from both the federal and state level continues to change. As of, July 21, 2020, we do plan to reopen schools, but we are still updating requirements as changes are received at the federal and state levels. We are also determining if and what other instructional options we could potentially offer outside the school buildings.

We are excited to share that we are currently operating an extended school year program for some of our students at our secondary campus and we are piloting our mandated Health and Safety Plan to reopen Upper Adams School District classrooms. I visited the classrooms a number of times and the students and teachers are doing well following district Health and Safety Plan. I have confidence that we can safely open schools with our plan.

Thank you for your patience and understanding as we implement measures for our Health and Safety Plan. Our plan is posted on our district webpage and a short overview is also posted for you to access. If you have questions about the reopening plan or options the district can provide, please contact your child's building principal.

Thank you for your attention to this message. Have a great week.
