

Sacred Heart Academy Bryn Mawr

Small by Design

Part of Something Larger

“The green stone in the Sacred Heart class ring symbolizes balance, life, and growth - qualities which represent my time at SHA as a student and teacher. The ring is worn by thousands of women around the world. That’s empowering.”

-Karen Rufo '05, English Department Chair

Every Sacred Heart student and alumna values the specialness of her class ring embossed with the impression of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. The rings are ardent reminders of your SHA sisterhood and a symbol of pride to be part of the greater Sacred Heart community worldwide.

This spring, SHA invites Grades 11 and 12 students and alumnae to join us in celebrating Rings Around the World. We’d love to see where your ring (and you!) are during Spring Break. Whether you’re in your backyard reading a great book, in downtown Philly walking your dog, in Tahoe visiting family in mountains of snow, or in Athens soaking up the sun, our goal is to showcase our community close to home and in far off lands, as a reminder that no matter the distance, we are forever connected through Sacred Heart.

Snap a photo of where your ring (and you!) are during Spring Break and share it with Director of Marketing & Communications, Kathleen Harte Simone. Photos will be shared on social media, the SHA website, and in school publications and email communications. We look forward to hearing from you!

Photo tip: Let the backdrop of your photo tell the story of where you are. Focus on the ring and your hand. Show your SHA pride and have fun!

Photo: Domonique Scirrotto '21 sharing her ring's journey to Italy while she studies abroad this semester.

