ADMINISTRATION

Board, Administration Coped With Problems

Responsibility for the effective management of the expanding Forest Lake School System fell on the shoulders of the Board of Education and the school administration. These men worked tediously long hours to keep things running efficiently throughout the year. The elected members of the school board made many decisions concerning the budget for the School District # 831.

The curriculum planning and general managing of the daily operation of the school was the responsibility of the principals. They coped with such problems as excessive tardiness, thefts in lockers, and many other problems that occurred during the school day.

SECRETARIES

Secretaries, Clerks Keep Offices Running Efficiently

The secretaries and clerks at Forest Lake High School worked long, tiring hours throughout the year. They performed many seemingly unimportant tasks so that the officials could devote their time to more pressing issues. During the school day their jobs were many. They typed and sent out reports for the various offices. They made sure that all records were up to date and that they were filed correctly so that they could be referred to quickly and easily. These women did many things that kept this school organized and running efficiently.

Many Jobs . . Many Problems . . Many Unselfish People

Without the Special Services provided, our school would have been in ROUGH shape.

Seniors would have been lost without the help of the guidance department concerning colleges and the millions of scholarship deadlines. As one Senior put it, "I'd have been lost without Motsie!" Because of the size of the Senior class, both Mr. Motchenbacher and Mr. Grove worked with Seniors.

Our school just wouldn't have been the same without our cooks and custodians. Our floors would have gone unwaxed and we wouldn't have had to fight for our balance in the halls. Who else was so easy to find when you needed them?

The audio-visual dept. did a great job of having record players and projectors ready when someone needed them even though the records or films didn't show up.

And we can't forget all the hours spent in the nurse's office because of unfinished homework or important tests that weren't studied for that day.

"I'm so sick of peanut butter sandwiches."

ENGLISH

Big Bad John Re- Places Macbeth

"Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow" may see a completely new approach to English. In 1966-1967 curriculum study was begun in the elementary grades as both elementary and high school English teachers attended a course offered by the University of Minnesota. The goal of all this work is the development of a sequential program from the third grade through the twelfth grade.

Mr. Rothenbacher's specially selected experimental class was one phase of this program. This class approached English through contemporary works rather than traditional literature. Study of modern stories, poems, and songs, such as "Ode to Billie Joe" and "Big Bad John," gave these students a chance to explore themes more closely related to their daily lives.

The students were also encouraged to express their own ideas and feelings through the use of a diary. They wrote about the things that were important to them.

SPEECH

Philosophy . . . Learn Through Experience

Miss Mohr brought with her to Forest Lake a new philosophy in teaching speech. She felt that the way to learn was to do it.

In Speech I the students gained experience in speaking before audiences. The class discussed the type of speech to be given and Miss Mohr demonstrated it. When she felt that they understood, they were given time to prepare a speech and then present it to the class.

The study of dramatic arts was the basis for Speech II. The students also learned through experience. They were required to make the set for the fall play after studying set construction in class.

One of the plays they attended was the Minnesota Theatre Company production of "She Stoops to Conquer." This was another way of studying the dramatic arts.

LANGUAGE

Spice Is Added To Language

For the past four or five years, languages at Forest Lake High School were taught by the ALM (audio-lingual) method. However, Mr. Rand and Mr. Franzen added supplementary materials to make the class more interesting. Movies, songs, and poems presented in class gave the students a chance to exercise their ability, and also broke the monotony of repeated dialogues and drills.

Another new addition this year was the French IV class. Although there were only four students in the class and it was combined with the third year, this class was the pioneer. While the student teacher, Miss Cox, took over the third year, Mr. Rand was leading the fourth year through an advanced reading program.

A special project of the Spanish students was the making of "piella" the Spanish national dish. This was a help in studying the cultures of Spanish-speaking countries.

MATH AND SCIENCE

Courses Changed And Equipment Added

The largest development in the science department was the addition of the physics lab. Mr. Olson began his first year teaching without any books or equipment. Whether or not the students learned anything the first two weeks of school has yet to be shown.

Chemistry also had a few additions. All students used the new books received last year instead of just certain classes. Also for the first time the films associated with the CHEM study program were used in their entirety.

The math department also made changes although not as drastic as in science. The only real difference was adding trig. to Algebra II. Mr. Larson doubted that they would reach the trig. part of the course this first year. The Math Analysis class still had trig. so that this year's seniors would not lose out on the course.

BUSINESS

Preparation For Commercial World

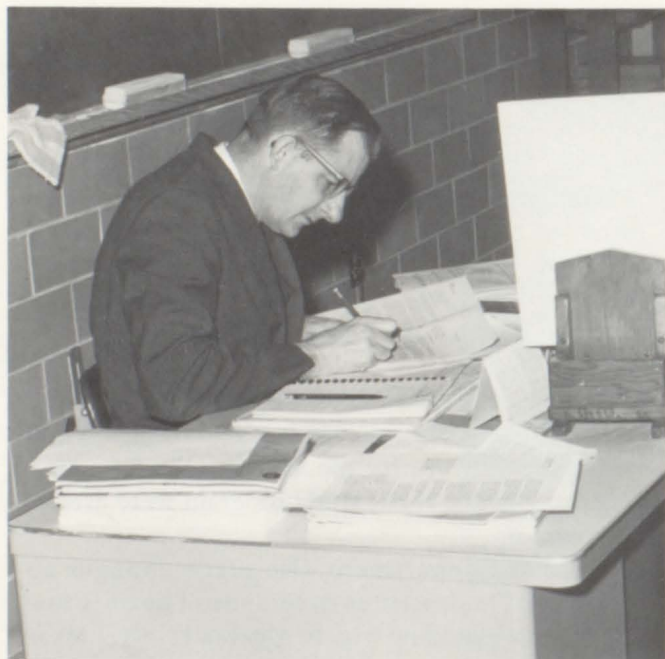

Forest Lake had a large commercial department in which students could gain experience for office work.

In office practices, students had an opportunity to receive experience similar to that in a business office. The students learned to operate such office machines as the mimeograph, rotary calculator, dictaphone and spirit duplicator.

Two years of short-hand were offered to those who were planning to become secretaries and stenographers.

Bookkeeping was designed for students who were going into the field of accounting. They acquired experience in keeping records for large companies by completing two practice sets.

All of these courses will contribute to the students success in the business world.

ART AND MUSIC Youth Expresses Its Ideas

A wide range of art, from flower children done in oil to fish constructed of toothpicks, covered the halls and the art room. Psychedelic things happened! Wild colors and ideas went hand in hand with the modern and lively music sung by the choir.

The voice of youth could be seen and heard everywhere. It spoke from paintings and sculptures. It was heard from the band room where chords of music floated in the air.

Along with the pound of hammers, saws could be heard buzzing in the industrial arts room. There was also a quietness unnoticed by others as young men concentrated on putting together radio sets.

All these mingled together conveyed a feeling of youth.

HISTORY AND GOVERNMENT Action Line

Most students don't realize the importance of knowing and understanding history. World History and Affairs allowed the student to see how past events throughout the centuries influenced our present society. The discussions of current events helped to awaken the student's interest in the world around him. He was encouraged to express his views on any and all subjects.

The study of man's behavior was interesting to the seniors in social science. Two new books added up-to-date information in the areas of sociology and economics. Even though enough money could not be appropriated to allow each student the benefit of his own book, the ideas expressed in class discussions supplemented the material.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Individualism Emphasized

The ability of the individual in sports was emphasized more this year in the Physical Education classes. Archery, bowling, and golf equipment were purchased and used in order to create and stimulate the individual.

One's ability to work as a part of the team was not neglected. Such sports as basketball, softball, field hockey, and volleyball developed a person's ability to work with others.

The individual learned to work for himself and with others as a part of a team. This was not to be used only in sports but to be carried over into his everyday life.

As he would say, "Set it up!"

AGRICULTURE Contest Shows Tractor Skills

The Agriculture Department expanded to offer more courses for boys interested in agriculture and conservation. Since farming is becoming more and more an occupation that needs a business mind, two courses in Agri-Business were offered. Also two sciences, Animal, and Crop and Soil, were taught. Other areas of Agriculture that were covered during the year were Forestry and Conservation, and Horticulture and Landscaping.

A tractor contest which was held in the fall of the year tested the ability of the boys in Agriculture to drive a tractor. This has been the first year that it was held.

HOME ECONOMICS Foreign Dinner Is Hilite Of Fall . . .

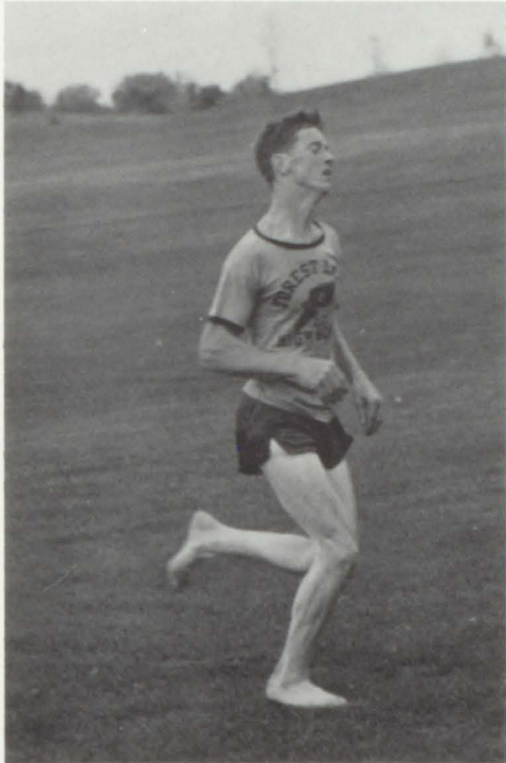

In planning for the future a girl is most likely to select Home Economics as one of her subjects. This Department carried three elective courses, Home Economics III, IV, V.

Home Economics III dealt mainly with skills in the preparation of breads, pastries, and desserts; attractive table settings and centerpieces, child development, decorating a room, home nursing, and clothing construction. In Home Economics IV the girls concentrated mostly on clothing, fashion pattern making, a study of textiles, and sewing several garments. Concentrating on foods and family living the girls who took Home Economics V learned the care of the equipment for the home, food for the family, the family in the American culture, and the values and the goals for an individual and the family.

In the fall, foreign dinners were made for a main project. This was to supplement their study of different cultures and their foods.

Football Squad Plagued By Injuries

Although the Rangers were winless in the Skyline Conference, they defeated the Chisago City team 19-0. The squad led by nine seniors finished with a final season record of 1 win, 6 losses, and 2 ties. The team, plagued with injuries for half the season could never get fully on its feet. At times the Rangers' looked impressive but the offensive could never back the defense with scoring punch.

Forest Lake placed one man on the all-conference team. Gene Kushlan was a unanimous choice by the coaches, who praised him for his great defensive plays. The defense, led by Kushlan, proved to be the strategic point of the Ranger's game.

The team looks forward to the 1968 season, with its hope placed in the large complement of experienced juniors.

Cagers Improve Season Record

The Forest Lake Rangers starting out the season consisting of a majority of Juniors and only three seniors. The Rangers, after losing their first game, roared back by winning four Skyline Conference games in succession. They were tied for first place — during Christmas vacation. Upon returning, the Rangers bowed under the powerful hands of Fridley, St. Paul Park, and Brooklyn Center. They then went to end the season successfully.

With the help of seniors Captain Jack Randall, Jeri Wittwer, and Court Nelson the team was led to a season more successful than the last.

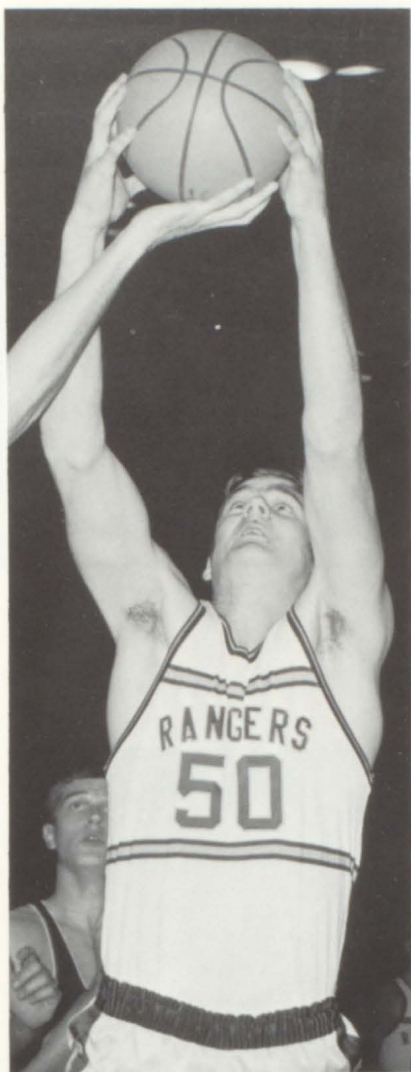

Upon losing only three seniors the experienced underclassmen are looking forward to a chance where they can prove their skill and enthusiasm.

Under the direction of Coach Reiman, the Forest Lake wrestling team shattered the prediction that they would not win a match during the season. Forest Lake disproved this prediction by winning over Brooklyn Center, Mahtomedi, St. Paul Park, and St. Francis in conference meets.

Forest Lake also won the non-conference meets with Cambridge, and Lindstrom. Forest Lake lost meets to the three top teams in the conference, Fridley, Spring Lake Park, and Osseo. Centennial also managed a win over our grapplers. However, F.L. lost only by the small margin of two points.

Pete Saxe, "A" squad Captain, led the team into what ended up a great year. Forest Lake tied with Centennial for the fourth place in the Conference.

Great Year For Baseball Team

The 1967 Ranger Baseball season was an example of how a team with courage and determination could turn a poor season start into a successful year. After losing their first four games the Rangers rallied to fifteen games while losing only one more. With a 4 win, 4 loss record, the squad placed third in the conference. The Rangers clinched the District 25 title by beating Lindstrom, Sandstone, and Moose Lake. As a result of their hard effort in the District games the team advanced to the Region VII tournament.

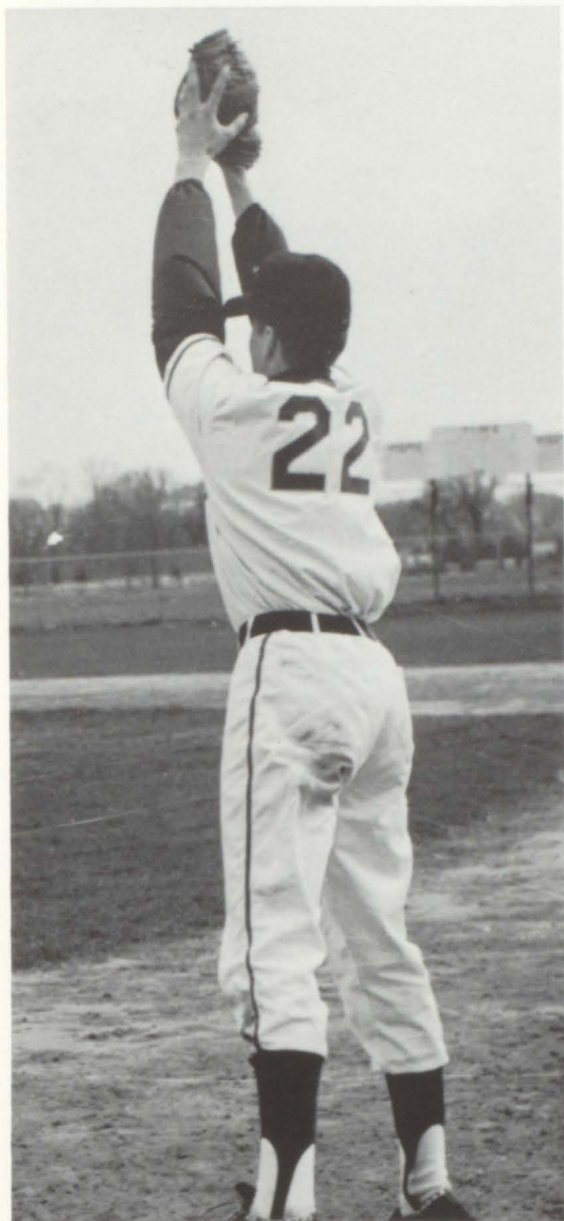

Dave Jackson led the team in hitting with a .309 batting average and 3 home runs. Our two ace pitchers, Greg Torp and Don Degendorfer, compiled a 15-5 win-loss record. The Rangers hope for a successful 1968 with many returning lettermen.

Forest Lake Duffers Excel

Our Forest Lake High School Golf Team had another very successful season. In the Skyline Conference ratings Forest Lake placed second, with five wins and one loss. Forest Lake also tied in a match with Mahtomedi. In a conference match against St. Paul Park, the conference winners, F. L. won 6 1/2 to 5 1/2. Forest Lake was the only team to defeat them.

In other matches F.L. did equally as well. In two different Triangular meets with Chisago and Lindstrom-Center City..Forest Lake placed first. Our team also participated in a quadrangular meet. In this meet Forest Lake placed third among high rating teams.

In the District 25 Tournament, our players placed third. John Heuckendorf placed closest to qualifying for Region. John missed the Region cut-off by one position.

Track Team Has Disappointing Season

Under the direction of coach John Shumacher the Forest Lake Track and Field team finished 6th in the Skyline Conference, and 3rd in the District 25 Track Meet. The Rangers had a somewhat disappointing season, but much valuable experience was gained by underclassmen to form a nucleus for the '68 team.

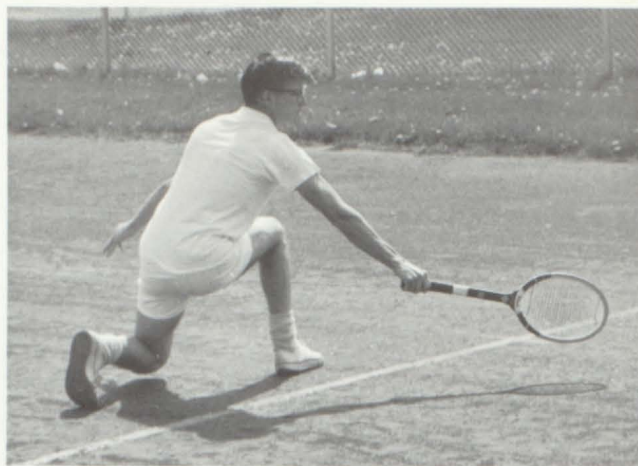

In the District 25 meet, Pine City took first with 52 points, North Branch was second with 37 points, and the Forest Lake "Hurriers" finished third with 31 points. Steve Fitch a consistently High scoring man all spring, placed first in the shot put and also first in the discus. Jim Schlaeger, another consistent scorer, placed second in the mile. Scott Miller placed fourth in the 180 yard low hurdles and fifth in 120 yard high hurdles, while Tim Glenn placed fifth in the 440 yard dash. Among the returning trackmen are Cyril Riopel, who placed fourth in the half mile run, and Jari Wittwer, who placed fourth in the discus throw.

"Is it a bird? Is it a plane? No!!!"

"He'll never hit this one back!"

Earl Buys concedes that Forest Lake's tennis courts do not help his game.

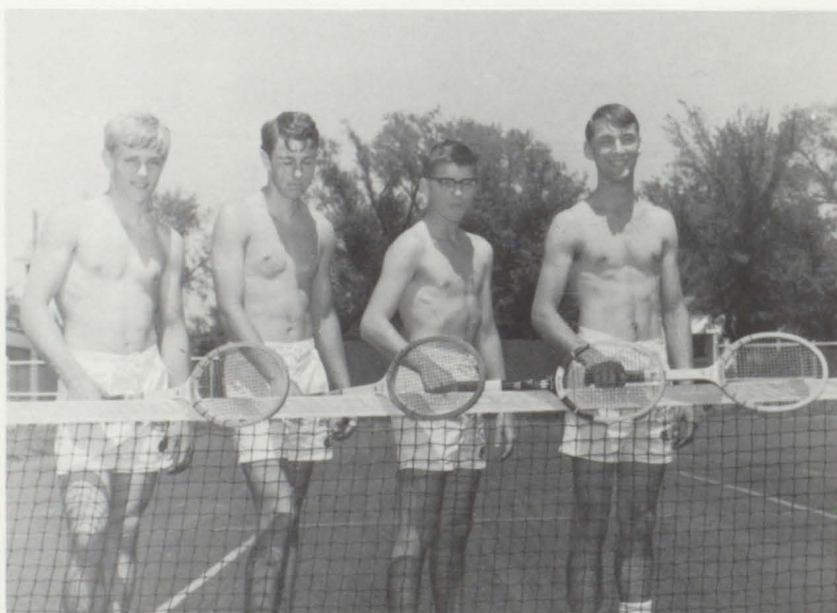

Smashing Good Year!!

The Forest Lake tennis team, though small in number, showed great improvement over the 1966 squad. They compiled a five win, four loss record in overall play and a two win, three loss record in the Skyline Conference. The 1967 team showed indications of another fine year for Coach Bill Rand.

The varsity team for the regular season consisted of Dan Conner #1 singles, Earl Buys #2 singles, and Doug Hegler #3 singles. The two doubles teams were Kevin Nickelson and Francis Hawley — Jerry Wyandt and Allan Davis.

Cross Country Takes District

The Forest Lake Cross Country team certainly proved to be much more than just "Ice Cream Sandwich Men." Coach Neal Nelson feels the team did very well this season. They worked hard and accomplished a lot, as their district results showed.

In the Skyline Conference meet, the Forest Lake C. C. team placed fifth. An All-Conference Award was given to Kevin Nickelson.

The team easily defeated the other contending teams for the District #25 title. Out of the top ten runners five were from F. L. They were Kevin Nickelson 1st, Cyril Riopel 3rd, Court Nelson, Maynard Peterson, and Kurt Peters, 6th, 7th, and 8th respectively.

In the Regional C. C. meet F. L. placed 6th. The top two runners for F. L. in this meet were Kevin Nickelson and Cyril Riopel.

The Student's Voice:

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council played a very important part in the activities of the school. Under the supervision of their new advisor, Mr. Gillach, the Student Council has a very active year. The Student Council was in charge of organizing the various activities such as the button sales, stunt night, and the Homecoming dance. They also sponsor the Christmas hall decoration competition. One of the new projects sponsored by the council this year was "Bundle Days." This was a huge clothing drive for the needy Indians on the reservations. Another new innovation suggested and put into effect by the Student Council was the starting of the school day with the Pledge of Allegiance. The Student Council was the voice of the students. It took a lot of time and hard work to make the council a progressive one.

Thespians Reorganize With National Troupe

This year, the Thespians were again initiated into the national Thespians. A new point system was used whereby a member needed 100 points to receive a thespian pin. For each additional 100 points, a star was awarded. Points can be earned by participating in a play cast, crew, speech contests or cleaning costumes.

The fall play, Ten Little Indians, directed by the new speech teacher and Thespian advisor, Miss Mohr, was a big success. There was a large crowd at both of the night performances.

The Thespians also put on a one-act contest play entitled "Suppressed Desires"; a comedy-farce with a larger cast than last year's one act play: 3 actors instead of 2.

New stage sets were added to the Thespians equipment this year which can be stored away for use in future years. The wardrobe department was also organized and started to build a wardrobe for play casts in years to come.

Drum major, Bill Lawler, Majorettes, Peggy Doyle and Mary Stuart, and twirler, Roxan Tuominen.

Trying to make students "see the light" is often much harder than it appears.

Ginny Mickelsen finds breathing and concentration equally as important.

Success Due To "Esprit de Corps"

As the seemingly vast number of sophomores sat down for the first meeting of the band last fall, they heard the first of "esprit de corps" from Mr. Rollin Nelson. This spirit is one of the most important factors of Forest Lake's band — the feeling each member has of being an integral part of the band, and the band, a part of him.

The band went to work with this spirit to put on a spectacular half time show for Homecoming. During the show, the field lights were turned off while Roxan Tuominen did a twirling act with a fire baton.

After Homecoming, the band turned to concert work and prepared for the Christmas Concert, and District music contest, spending time on both modern pieces and symphonic overtures.

New Director Faces

For the High School Choir, the new year meant more than resolutions — it meant the acceptance of a new choir director. Mr. Russell Rose an eleven year veteran of FLHS ended his career as director with the Christmas Concert.

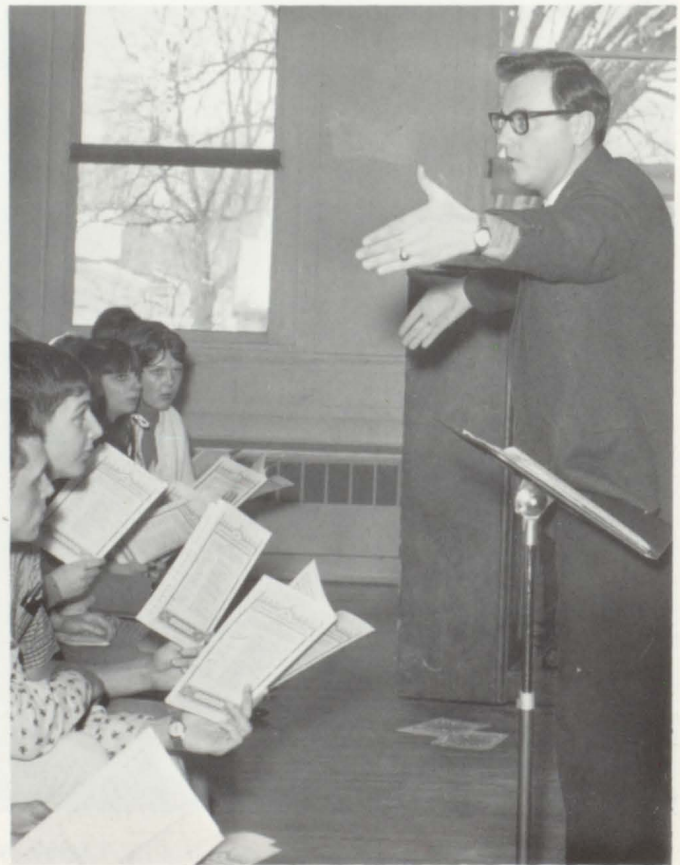

His successor, Mr. Ruzicka, faced many problems, such as breaking in new music and techniques. His largest was the lack of bases. People were checked for voice range and some changes were made in the sections, until an even balance was obtained.

Changes also occurred in contest entries. Besides the choir, there was a new Madrigal group, and several solos in competition this year.

The choirs final performances at Spring Concert and Graduation were evidence that both director and students, solved their problems, and made a success of what began like a very mixed up year.

Overtones of sorrow at the Christmas Concert told of the choir's acceptance to Mr. Rose's departure.

Two men dedicate their lives to one cause.

Problem: No Basses!

A sophomore, Dennis Alfveby, proved himself to be a very competent accompanist for the choir.

The remnants of last years Choir Council took care of this years business.

Off to a two day tournament.

Success Through Crime

Under the capable leadership of Mr. Streater, the debate squad, consisting of ten senior high students had a fine season. Many hours of research and several trips to the University of Minnesota law library were needed in preparing for this year's topic, "that Congress should establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures." The squad started off the year with a first place trophy at the Kellogg High School tournament. At the Macalester debate tournament the team received third place trophies in both A and B divisions. Mr. Streater calls the debates at the University of Minnesota the squad's finest effort. In tough 64 team competition the A squad achieved fourth place. January was a busy month for the debators as they won a trophy at Glencoe and lost the Skyline Conference title to Osseo. Both Osseo and Forest Lake had 5-1 records, but Osseo had 73 speaker's points to our squad's 72 points. The debate year ended with two overnight trips. The first to Gustavus Adolphus College, and the last to Duluth for regional competition where the team placed fifth. The squad termed this a successful season in gaining five trophies, much knowledge, and many fond memories.

Crime may not pay, but hard work does.

Off again.

During Hours Spent In A Cramped Room The Forester Is Created

From the first deadline, the Forester editors and staff worked feverishly to put out a yearbook that would be worthy of their school.

Many long nights too near the deadlines were spent in the new Forester room on second floor while the editors and staff racked their brains for copy and captions. Numerous sighs and yawns could be heard exiting from the room after hours of frustrating thought.

The staff found itself in financial difficulty early in the year, but the plans of the book were juggled and some money raised to bring their goals to a more realistic basis.

With this book, the Forester staff departs from many traditions. The new cover, four introductory color pages and individual pictures of the juniors and sophomores made this Forester unlike any previous to it. It was also the first year the junior high was not represented in the yearbook.

Anxiously Awaited And Eagerly Read, The Breeze

The Breeze is Forest Lake's bimonthly school newspaper put out by many talented Forest Lake students. Mr. Robert Cathcart has been the paper's advisor for three years.

The Breeze takes great pains to bring to its readers the news and gossip of school and its inhabitants. Every other Friday afternoon, the Breeze is eagerly awaited by the students and teachers.

A new feature has been added this year; paid advertising by merchants and students, which helps to pay for the publication.

Many long and hard hours were put in by the staff members and editors, writing, typing, and editing diligently, to bring out this publication.

Russ, how long do I have to wait . . . for those pictures?

The Cheerleaders Rouse Excitement And Spirit

Nine legs kicked through the air to the tune of "Tea for Two" and were surrounded by a semi-circle of light. This innovation of the cheerleaders at homecoming was tremendously successful, and they continued throughout the year to present a glowing symbol of the school. Between practices, they sponsored a soc hop, painted signs, planned skits, and attended a cheerleading conference. Dressed in their new striped uniforms, they reached into the students, found their spirit, and excited it to audible forms.

The Lettermen—They Carried Our Colors

Its not unusual to be shoved off the gym floor by a big Muscular character in a sweater — He's only a Letterman doing his duty. As a combined organization of outstanding athletes, they aid in maintaining order during sports events.

This years initiation was carried off with more than its share of the usual zest and humor. The lunchroom was filled with an "out of tune" rendition of Jingle Bells accompanied by Pat Killians moans as he spilled his milk while trying to save his paddle from the hands of a girl. Musical chairs, deep bows and Mark Vedders speech topped off the week that ended in sorrow for boys like Earl Flashbaugh who wished that they had less girl friends and more padding.

Swim Day Offers Change For G.A.A.

There is a great need in High Schools today for organized intramural sports for girls. To compensate for this lack Forest Lake had a very active Girls Athletic Association. Although not the same, it provided the competitive spirit along with training in many areas of sports. This year the GAA concentrated more on individual and carry-over sports although team sports such as Basketball and Volleyball were played.

In addition to the Skyline Tournaments, a swim day at Fridley for thirty of the members was held. The highlight of the Spring was the annual Twins Game.

The newly created Pep Club astounded everyone with their spirit and dedication to the teams. Every game was accompanied by a mass of signs and skits which added laughter and variety to the pep fests. (No one could forget "Shelly the growing Spirit Plant" or the Spirit Jug!)

Two heads are better than one-in basketball.

Gymnastics And Basketball Create New Challenge

In the first tournament of the year, the tennis team, with invaluable aid from Miss Paulson and Mr. Rand, placed third in the skyline Conference. They won first place in singles one and doubles two and second place in doubles one. The badminton team, was less successful in its tournament at Brooklyn Center.

The bowling team took first place in the Skyline Conference meet at Forest Lake in January with the highest team series. Cindy Haselbauer won honors with second highest series of games.

Although unable to compete with other schools, the gymnastics squad put on a skillful demonstration during halftime of a basketball game.

Both the basketball and volleyball tournaments were held in March and the girls spent part of February and March preparing for them. The G.A.A., as last year, also sponsored a round-robin volleyball tournament with North Branch, Chisago City and Lindstrom.

F.F.A. . . . Tomorrow's Farmers — Today

The Future Farmers of America, with Dan Sandager as their president, planned a full schedule of events. This year's parent-son banquet was on March 30th.

In addition to the hard work of planting corn and harvesting it, they also conducted other numerous fund raising activities, such as selling Christmas trees and firewood. Money raised by the F.F.A. was used for purchasing such things as livestock and fertilizer for other countries.

As every year, the members attended a camp where F.F.A. members from all over the state met and assimilated ideas for the coming year.

The F.F.A. offers its members field trips as part of their education.

FHA Had A Busy Schedule Of Participation

The local F.H.A. chapter began their busy year of activities by attending the District VII Meeting at Isle, Minnesota. There the girls were introduced to FHA on a higher level and met their new district officers for 1967-68. Their next event was the initiation of new members which the sophomores found hard to forget. Shortly before Christmas the girls enjoyed a day of shopping and saw the movie Camelot.

Throughout the winter months, that held tobogganing and roller skating parties with the FFA, the FHA also participated in the national program of work through films.

One of the highlights of the year was the state meeting held at the Radisson Hotel. The FHA also had an exchange dinner with another FHA chapter. The girls ended the year with their annual mother and daughter banquet and the election of officers.

Prepared French Dinner For Faculty

A unique spirit characterized this year's French Club. In every facet of its existence, a closer sense of cooperation prevailed.

The year was begun with a French dinner for the faculty which proved to be successful. The food was capped by the voices of the French Club members singing French songs to the accompaniment of guitars and a drum.

In January, the group was able to see Marcelle Marceau, the famous pantomist while he was at the University.

The climax of the year, however, was again the dinner in a French restaurant where some authentic French food was willingly sampled and either eagerly eaten or disdainfully turned away.

In general, the club achieved its purpose. It served as entertainment with a subtle touch of knowledge and understanding.

The French Club's Officers: Mark Wegleitner, Sheila Carrell, Mary Klinefelter, Iris Vogel, Barb Peterson, Debbie Johnson, and Mr. Rand, advisor.

AUDIO VISUAL —

An Indispensable Service

The services of the Audio Visual department to Forest Lake High School are many. All the films and projectors that are taken for granted in the school have been carefully cared for and repaired by the Audio Visual department. The films are scheduled to be at the right place at the right time in good working condition. The staff may be frequently seen delivering a film to a classroom or repairing a piece of broken equipment.

ELECTRONICS CLUB —

Valuable Knowledge Gained In An Informal Setting

The boys interested in electronics found the newly established Electronics Club both absorbing and fulfilling. Under the supervision of Mr. Rolfs, The Electronics Club planned many field trips which took them to several places, including a radio and television station and the relay station in Wyoming.

All the money the club received was utilized in buying additional equipment. An amateur radio station was launched by the members as a group project and became their most extensive one. To develop better knowledge and understanding of the electronics field, individual projects have also been undertaken.

Amidst cornstalks and bales of hay, the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance took place. Huge circles were formed for square dancing, while marry'in Bill performed his ritualistic ceremony, and the local hicks dropped penneys into the wishing well. Modern music was provided by the "Younger Set". The money from this dance and the slave auction held during senior week gave the juniors the funds to support the prom.

With high spirits and vivid imaginations, the class of '69 hosted the junior-senior prom. It was evident to all who attended that many hours of preparation had gone into the year's only formal occasion.

Sophomores Take It Easy?

It can be hard to make the transition from "Oldest and Most Important" to "Youngest and Unnoticed" when coming from the Junior High. It could be this factor which caused the lack of ambition seen in the sophomore class first semester. They had good ideas and showed potential but ran into problems when they needed people to carry through with the ideas.

When Christmas came they proved us all to be wrong by easily winning the Decorations contest. They made a stained glass window with the Nativity scene on it. February brought their next project, the Sophomore Dance, and the janitors still hadn't been able to bring themselves to remove the scene from the window on third floor.

They had financial problems but being a large class they found ways around even the large ones.

THE NEW HERMES 3000

Flying Red Margins® are always visible over your work; the keyboard is a full 44 keys (like an office model); the margin release is sensitive to the lightest touch; the touch regulator is designed to fit pounders and tappers. Speed is an important feature of the machine. They've worked hard and long in Switzerland to make the Hermes 3000 the best. We're glad they succeeded and that we can offer it to you.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It takes more than just a staff to make a yearbook. There are many people who, if only through their cooperation, have made our task a little simpler. We want to take this opportunity to make these people known and to express our gratitude.

FORESTER EDITORS

EDITORS NOTES

This has been quite a year!

If I was to list the problems we've run into it would fill several pages. But to list the rewards would be impossible.

My staff was never one of my worries. They were the Greatest! Even though my stubbornness caused a lot of extra work they always stuck by me and did their best.

And a word about our room — it was small, but intimate and holds many memories: some hectic, like deadlines, the first days of confusion and picture schedules; some fun, like our mascot, lunch in the student lounge, and February 20. How about the day I quit? Then there were some awful ones like our camera, our lights, and our Turkey Raffle. But we made it through, together.

Thank you:

Mr. George Johnson — for our entire book!

Mr. Jay Johnson — for straightening us out, both in procedure and spirit.

Melba — sorry for the added work.

To the faculty — for being so considerate when we skipped class for deadlines.

Mr. Rand and Mr. Franzen — for the use of your rooms.

Janitors — for our lights, our desks and your phone and keys.

Our parents — for their consideration, patience, and transportation facilities.
