

1976 Forester Forest Lake High School Forest Lake, Minnesota Volume 38

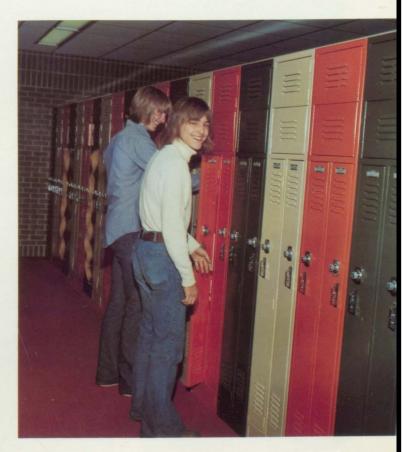

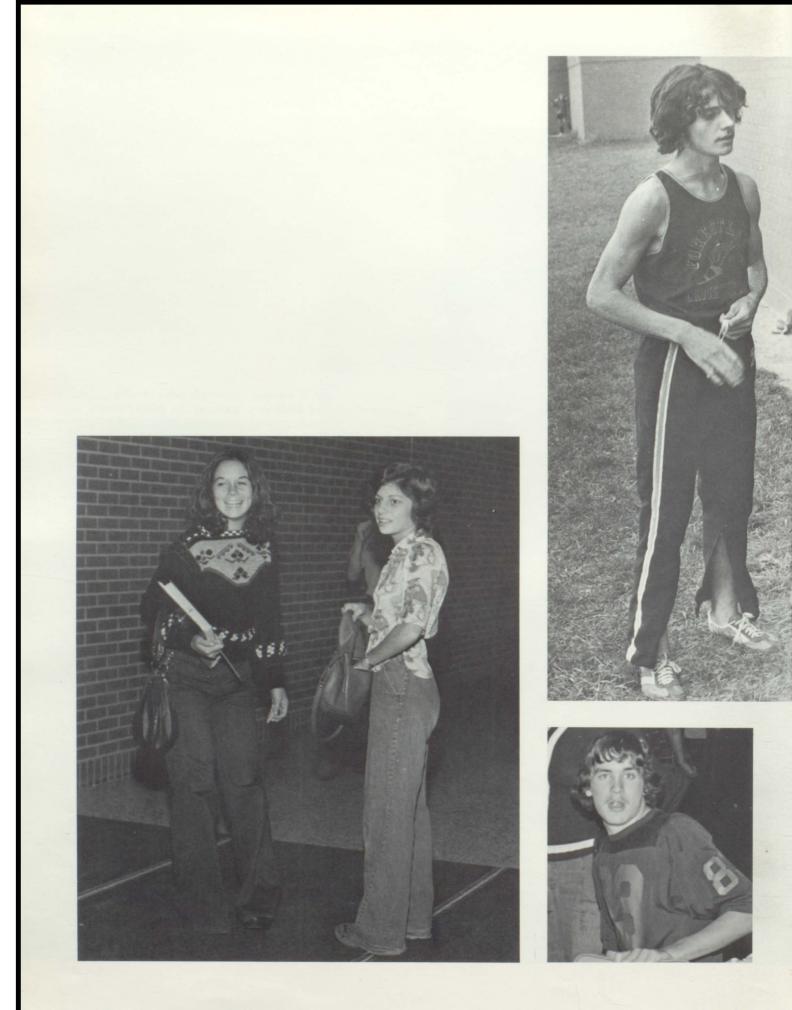

A melting pot is a group of people with varying backgrounds and traditions. Because our school draws students from several areas, it is a melting pot, with each individual representing an ingredient. When combined in a pot, each ingredient tries to retain its unique flavor, but must relate to the others to form a pleasant mixture. To blend and yet maintain individuality is a challenge that all students must face.

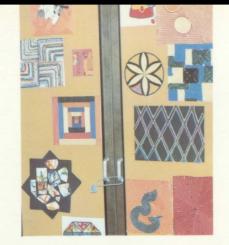

As a melting pot blends ingredients, our school mixes students of diverse interests and abilities. We express ourselves through the many different clubs, sports, music, and dramatic groups available to us. Our studies provide another means of self-expression and help to prepare us for the future. Jobs and service groups supply us with monetary rewards, a sense of accomplishment and practical knowledge. Through the activities our school offers, we find ways to fulfill our talents.

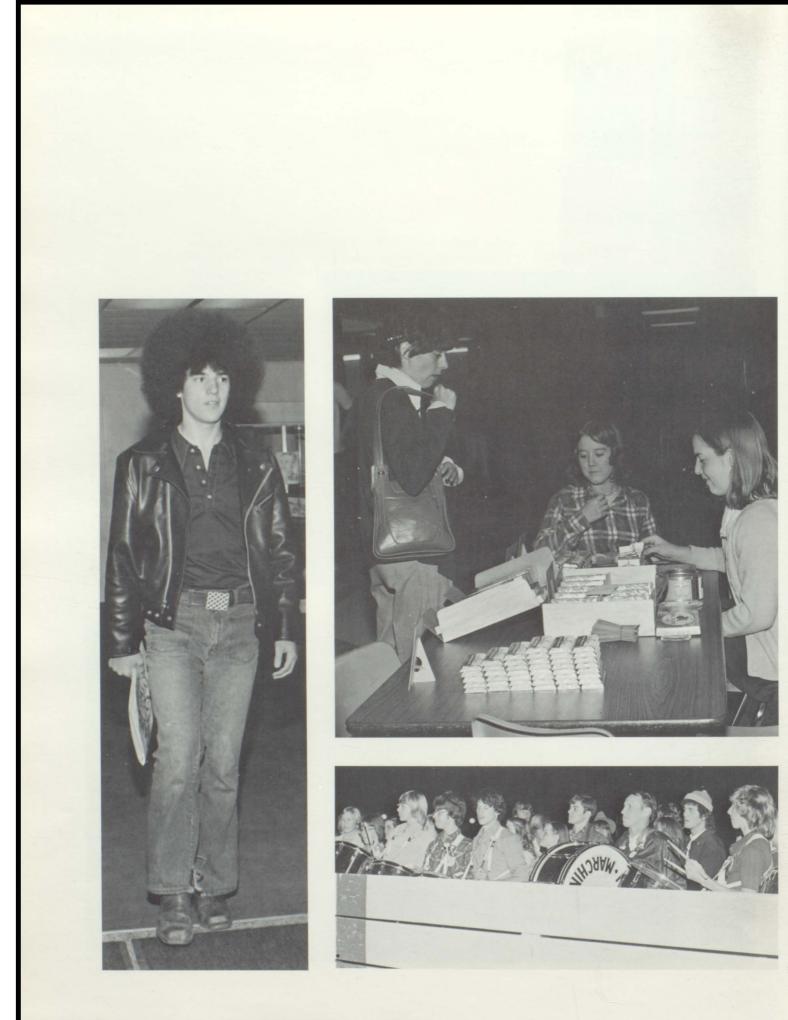

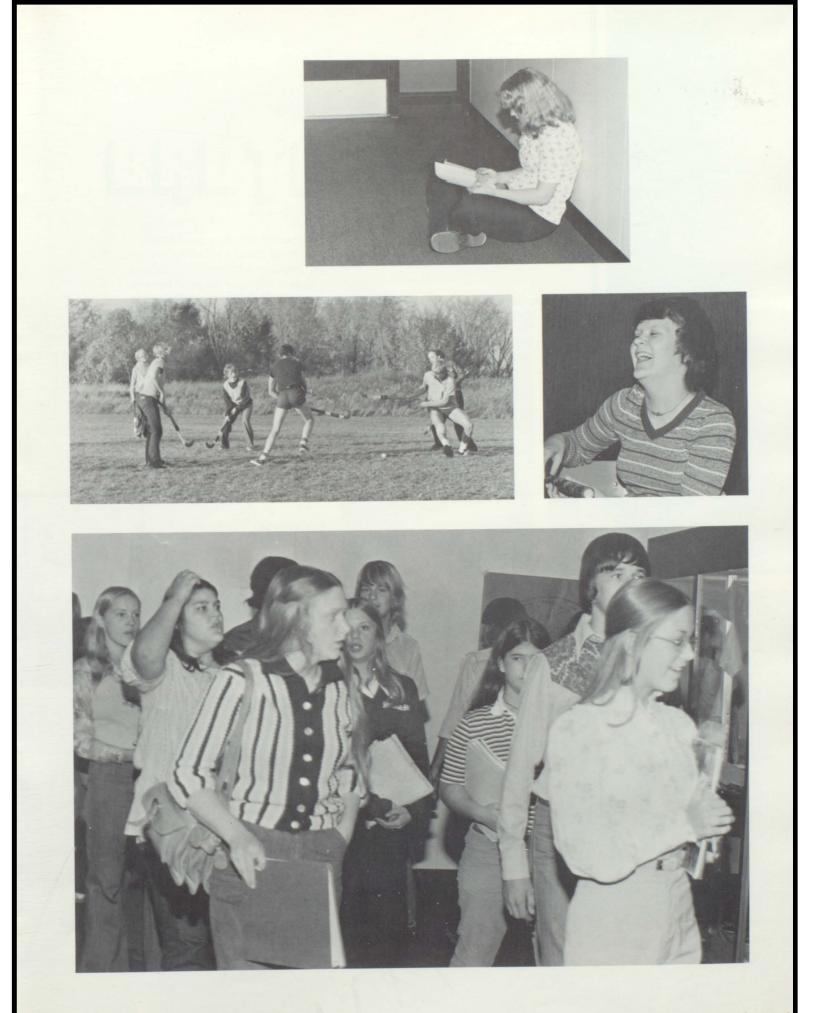

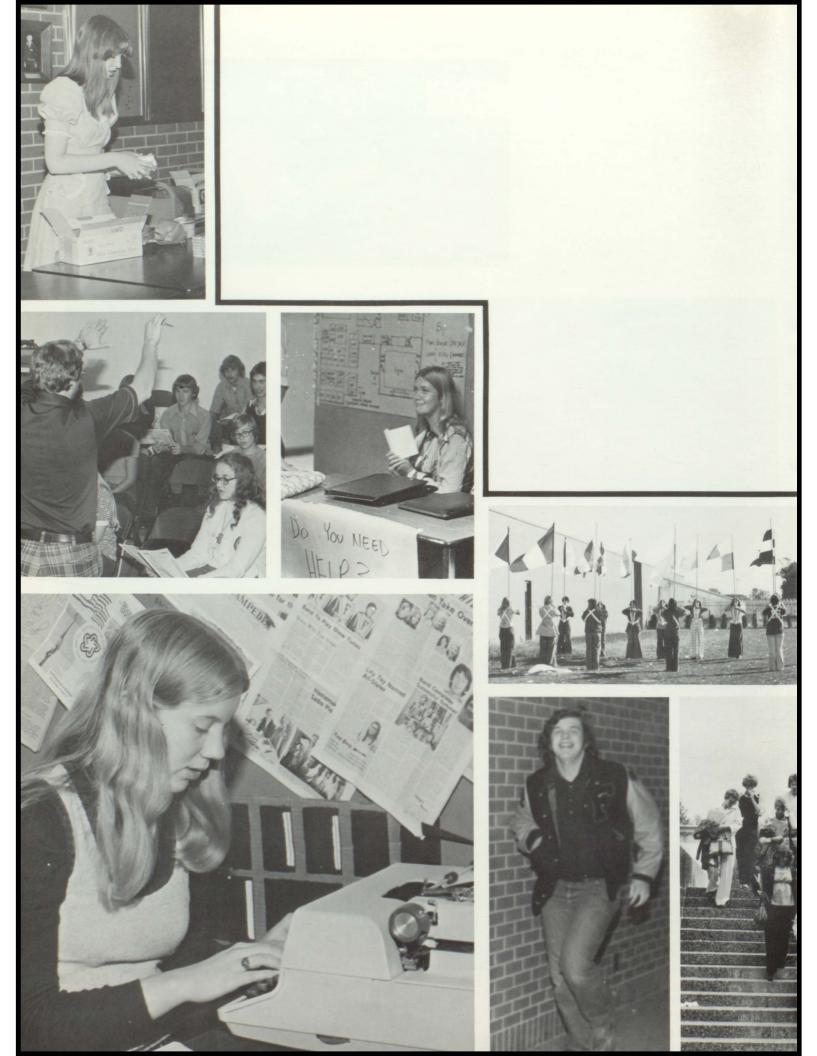

ĿĿĽĽ

Combining ingredients with a variety of flavors, broth is the binding element of a mixture. In much the same way, the school organizations we participate in bring us into contact with others. We make friends with others different from us and learn to respect their opinions. Our experiences in organizations help to make us more adaptable and open minded.

Band entertains on Swedish day

Playing in a variety of styles, band was the only organization active all year round. Busy throughout the summer, the band appeared in community celebrations in Forest Lake, St. Cloud, and Montgomery. Due to a limited number of members available, marching in the Minneapolis Aquatennial was canceled. Adding color to Homecoming, the band played for coronation and a special halftime show. In honor of the 125th anniversary of the first Swedish settlement in Minnesota, the band performed in Scandia. Concert activities included the Christmas and spring concerts and the state music contest. Ranging from concerts and pepfest to parades, band performances offered entertainment for the students and community.

Flag corps adds style to parades

As a result of injuries and indecision, the majorettes were forced into last minute alterations of their Homecoming routine. Uniforms were styled to match a Bicentennial theme. Throughout the year, the twirlers led the band in parades and civic duties.

Drilling as a separate unit, the rifle Guard marched in community events. With counting and hours practice, routines were perfected. Funded by the Forest Lake VFW, the Rifle Guard washed cars to earn money.

Adding color and a touch of flair to parades, the Flag Corps marched with the FLHS marching band. Routines consisted of high stepping precision marching and maneuvering flags in unision. Leading the corps through drill cadence was senior Sue Barrott.

Choir entertains holiday shoppers

Rehearsing in a musical atmosphere, mixed choir prepared a series of concerts. Public performances included a presentation for Christmas shoppers at Northtown Shopping Center. Forest View elementary students were given a preview of the choir's Christmas concert. Creating a holiday atmosphere, choir presented their portion of the concert to the public. During the winter, mixed choir members participated in competition with other schools. In preparation for district competition, director Jim Lindstrom kept members hard at work during rehearsals. Making their last appearance of the year, mixed choir performed at the '76 graduation ceremony.

Girls' choir sings diversified music

From pop to scared to secular music, songs performed by the girls' choir represented diversity. To provide a varied music background, Director Jim Lindstrom introduced members to music composed after the 16th century. Any girls interested in choir could participate as auditions were not required. Together, 2nd and 5th hour classes constituted a choir of 126 girls. Officers were elected early in the fall for each choir. Presiding over meetings, the president took charge of organizing members for the Spring and Christmas concerts. Duties of the secretaries included taking roll and assisting the director with paperwork. Mr. Lindstrom commented that the music department was experiencing changes because of the large number of students involved.

Aides assist with school functions

At work in different areas of the school, student aides sacrificed time during study halls and after school to help out. Assisting secretaries in filing and taking phone messages, office aides performed menial tasks. In the Audio-Visual department, aides assist in operating Super Igor and other A.V. equipment. Checking out magazines and books to students were some of the duties of the library aides. Guidance aides were kept busy delivering appointment slips and organizing college and vocational materials. These students played an important part in the organization of our school with their assistance to the secretaries, teachers and students.

1. On her way to deliver material for the guidance office is junior Sarah Thompson. 2. Steve Havens recopies paper in the A.V. department 3. Replacing books to the proper shelves is Judy Anderson. 4. A.V. AIDES: John Alcock, Kevin Pitcher, Steve Havens.

Prolifique raises "Roaring Mouse"

Combining the creative endeavors of Forest Lake students, 30 staff members worked throughout the year to produce Prolifique. The editors selected from the submissions of artwork, poetry, short stories, photos, and play reviews to create the magazine. Todd Harper's announcements, candy cane sales, and submission drives helped to sell the "Roaring Mouse," the slogan for Prolifique.

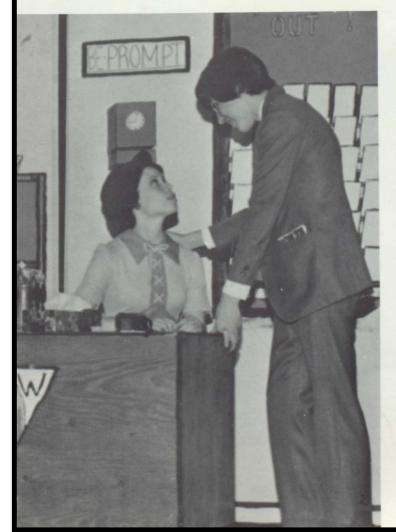

Dedicating thousands of hours to rehearsals, costuming, setting up props, orchestral arrangements and lighting effects, drama club members worked behind the scenes in FLHS productions. Through the efforts of new drama advisor Mr. Hebert, the fall musical was acclaimed by audiences. The winter play format was changed from a one act for competition to a two act for public performance.

Breeze activates student interest

Informing the students and faculty of school and community events was the job of the Forest Breeze. 16 regular papers and several special issues were published. Included was a Bicentennial issue to ring in the new year. Headed by Mr. Streater and editors Roberta Iverson, Shelley Manders, and Sue Vadner, the Breeze staff attempted to bring variety into the school day. Articles on sports, extra curricular activities, and special events were published with the help of page editors and staff members. More extra activities were included for the staff, including a bonfire and modernizing the Breeze room. To close out the year, the annual blue jean banquet was held to present awards and install new editors.

Forester depicts year's activities

Adjusting to new arrangements was difficult for the Forester staffs as changes in construction of the yearbook were made. Preparing the base of the annual, layout staff designed the structure of the pages. Efforts were made by photo staff to coincide with copy blocks. Action shots were taken during school to include daily situations. Writing on the moods, creativity, and imagination contained in every subject was a change made by copy staff. Information contributed by advisers and coaches of activities was appreciated. As a result of a lack of funds the price of the Forester was raised. However, the staffs continued working diligently through the year to provide FLHS with the Forester.

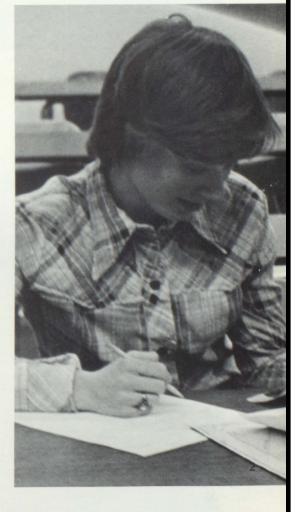

BUSINESS STAFF: Corliss Robinson, Chris Schliesing, Robin Wiley, Bonnie Dykhuizen.

FFA partakes in various projects

Challenges awaited FFA members in the form of a full schedule. Projects included the school farm, Christmas tree and flower sales. Individual and group projects were entered in local competition to determine the district and national FFA chapter contestants. Deeply involved with these endeavors, FFA members had an active year.

Active in the community, FHA members participated in a variety of events. A Halloween party was given for Forest Lake and Forest View elementary schools. During bank education week, members set up an exhibit in the FL state bank. Because of a lack of participation, the main goal was to generate more interest in the program.

Activities break language barrier

Learning the French language seemed easier for students involved in French Club. Activities included Halloween and Christmas parties given after school. Carols were sung for the patients of Birchwood and through the halls of FLHS. Bemidji State College held a language clinic where new ideas and customs were expressed. By combining fun with work, French Club concluded with a productive year.

Challenges arose for FLOEA members in the form of part time office jobs during school. Selling candles, Kathryn Beich candy and other crafts, members were kept busy during lunches. Money from the sale was used to send participants to the regional, state, and national contests. Preparing for office occupations, FLOEA members worked toward future goals.

SKI CLUB: Merle Miller, Dawn Cincoski, Brenda Banta, Kim McKenzie, Sheri Muller, Debra Alcock, Lynn Lindberg, Collette Hawkinson, Debra Erickson, Cindy Urie, Carmen Lopez, Karen Granger, Brian Nelson, Laurie Purdie, Stephanie Carter, Julie Feils, Michelle Masso, Lisa Babcock, Sue Sorenson, Dalice Peterson, Anne Lien, Pat Dorn, Herb Millington, Paul Millington, Jay Bradshaw, Debbie Maas, Lori Anderson, Debbie Steinback, Mark Sparrow, Dawna Lichtscheidl, Robin Wiley, Leslie Strand, Sue Swenson, Linda Jellum, Colleen Zins, Bridget Dolan, Beverly Erickson, Yvonne Boyes, John Clifford, Wade Leonard, Todd Thiry, Darla LaRoque, Pat Flaherty, Billy Keilen, Mark Hudak, Donna Kroska, Danita Houle, Mary Jo Taurman, Tammy Peterson, Colleen Reeder, Mary Boyer, Mindy Anderson, Mark Manders, Doug Smith, Mark Templeton, Paul Hesla, Bart Rehbein, Sue Vadner, Annette Bestland, Wanda Liljenberg, Bill Lundberg, Debbi Hudak, Julie Kling, Nancy Setterholm, Bev Davidson, Debbie Schloegl, Sandy Massie, Debbie Doucett, Scott Henderson, Wes Peterson, Bryant Waldo, Jeff Olson, Duane Bridgeman, Colleen Milligan, Mary Faymoville, Anita Westover, Shelly Lutz, Lori Nelson, Joy Risness.

Spirit Mountain peaks ski season

Films, voting on ski areas and election of officers began the season for ski club. Officers chosen were Paul Hesla, president, Todd Lewis, vice president, and Mindy Anderson, secretary. Ski areas attended included Wild Mountain, Trollhaugen, and Afton Alps. Also, an all day trip to Spirit Mountain was taken. Good ski conditions derived from early snowfalls provided an entertaining atmosphere for members.

November 5-7 were three of the most dreaded days of the year for lettermen initiates. Initation was long awaited by lettermen as it game them supreme power over the initiates. After surviving the trails of initiation, initiates were treated to dinner at the Anchor Inn. Providing vocal support, lettermen assisted cheerleaders at athletic events.

1. To the music of "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," Bernie Robinson and Kim McKenzie perform a sailor routine. 2. Pep club members hold a meeting in the cafeteria to prepare for upcoming events. 3. Performing with the majorettes and marching band during homecoming are pompon girls Kim Carstens and Dawn Cincoski. 4. Ann Lien sketches a poster for pep club. 5. With brush in hand, Debbie Niederkorn and Jill Reiman finish a poster.

Students revive pepclub interest

Making an attempt to form a pep club, officers Brenda Houle, Robin Wiley, Jean Sullivan, Linda Madsen, and Debbie Niederkorn were elected to head the organization. Members worked with advisor Mrs. Teichner to raise school spirit and support athletic teams. A dance was sponsored and announcements and posters were made for the teams and fans throughout the year.

Performing to the beat of records and pep band tunes, the Rangerettes added color and vitality to athletic contests and pepfests. At homecoming, a routine was presented to "Look Up, America." The purchase of western outfits helped the pompon girls indentify with the nickname "Rangerettes."

Council provides change of taste

In an effort to get all 29 student council members together, an hour was set aside during the day for meetings. Homecoming and Snoweek, sponsored by the council, gave something for everyone. To provide a "change of taste," student council installed candy and pop machines. Extending activities outside of planning dances and special activities was a goal of the council.

Starting in midsummer, debaters argued and researched their way through a successful season. Speaking of the benefits of this academic sport, one member stated "it trains you to react under stress." With plenty of trophies for proof, debaters were successful in tournaments at St. Paul Johnson, Coon Rapids, and Henry Sibley. Coach Streater and debaters hoped to complete the season by advancing to the state tournament in February.

1. Between debate tournaments, assistant debate coach Doriene Eastman works with members. 2. STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS: Vicki Fladland, secretary, Bucky Koch, vice president, Merie Morello, president. 3. Reading evidence for debators is advisor Ralph Streater. 4. With the help of Lynn Lynch, Debbie Avery works on publicity for a dance. Meat all Potatoes

Just as meat and potatoes are the main ingredients of a meal, our classes and studies are the main ingredients of our lives as students. The activities we participate in help round us out as individuals, but most of our growth in school takes place through academics. Our classroom experience teaches us the important skill of communication and allows us to use our imagination and creativity.

Miss Athey adds "woman's touch"

To add a "woman's touch" to the administration, assistant principal Mary Athey joined the faculty. An early decision of the administration was the new attendance policy. Instead of counting each absence, students were allowed five unexcused absences before removal from a class. Another issue dealt with the smoking question; some students wanted a smoking area for those with parental permission.

Because of the new absence policy and the increased size of the student body, work load for the secretaries was increased. With the new policy, students were required to bring notes from home and secretaries had to call parents when they were absent. Secretaries also worked harder typing and filing student reports and documents.

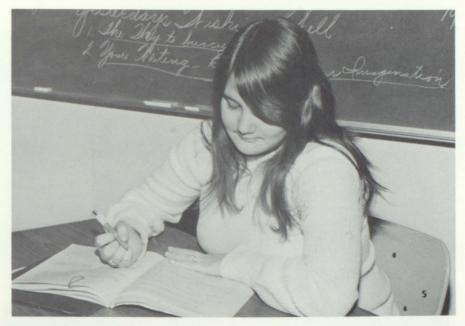

Program offers opportunities

Referring to her class as "my class," Mrs. Volkmann aided her students in recognizing job opportunities. The school work program offered jobs within the school. Money was earned by selling stuffed animals that home ec classes helped make. With money from the sale and half of the A.V. budget, three films were bought and special education students from the junior highs were invited for the Christmas party. By giving the party, Mrs. Volkmann felt that her class did for others while doing for themselves, an objective she hoped to achieve. Courses offered in room A-129 covered all areas. The students also attended some mainstream courses. For the retiring Mrs. Volkmann, achievements spoke louder than words.

1. As Mrs. Volkmann explains an assignment, John Alcock looks on. 2. A game of cards is played by a student from A-129. 3. Taking his lunch break for the day is Charles Anderson. 4. While awaiting buyers, John Allquist stands behind an array of Christmas projects. 5. Emma Haring works on one of her daily assignments. 6. Preparing a part of the lunch takes a load off the kitchen staff. 7. By setting up the projector for a movie, Craig Peters aids Mrs. Volkmann. 8. A look of surprise is given as a Forester cameraman goes into A-129.

1. Before the duplication policy goes into effect, Ms. Howe recopies material on Abie. 2. Opening daily mail for the guidance office is secretary Marilyn Patak. 3. In an effort to assist a student during registration, Mrs. Nickerson explains course descriptions. 4. Head guidance secretary Grace Casey completes forms at her desk. 5. Counselor Stan Motschenbacher exchanges a happy moment with Lauri Johnson. 6. On the phone, Mr. Fuhrman discusses A.V. equipment needs. 7. Assisting a student with information on colleges is Mr. Grove.

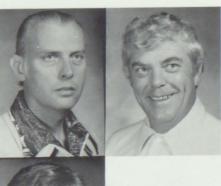

46 Special Services

Students aided in vocational plans

To make the school function as a whole required the help of many people. Repair work of all A.V. equipment was done by Mr. Fuhrman, along with setting up microphones and lighting for school functions. Teaching second semester driver education, Mr. Scofield prepared would be drivers for road circumstances. Decisions were made easier as the counselors assisted students with scheduling problems and vocational plans. Keeping references in order and books on the shelves, Mr. Moskop aided students and teachers in the library. Mrs. Frigstad was in the nurse's office ready to help ailing students. Assistance could be found in these areas throughout the day.

COUNSELORS: Virgil Grove, Stan Motschenbacher, Donna Nickerson.

Inflation strikes student lunches

Starting bright and early, the cooks worked to serve over 600 students daily. In January the cost of lunches was raised from 45 to 50 cents in hopes of avoiding deficit spending. Although the cooks tried to prepare nutritious lunches, many students still felt the menus could be better.

Custodians were kept busy every day with a variety of tasks. Vandalism and leaky ceilings added to the custodian's hectic schedule. Although students received occasional holidays throughout the year, the custodians spent many hours during vacation working overtime, waxing and doing maintenance work.

COOKS: Hatty Sorenson, Darlene Lutz, Bonnie Osterbauer, Agnes Patrin, Edith Kauls, Sally Johnson.

Custodians: Conrad Carlson, Alene Selleck, Helen Beeksman, Marlin Houffer, Joe Doege.

Interested in gymnastics, Ron Nelson works on the parallel bars.

Goals achieved by determination

Demonstration of determination is displayed through academic achievement. In the theoretical world of chemistry and physics, students show determination in understanding unseen forces. Algebra and math analysis provided a challenge in working with numbers and theories. While dedicating hours to reading and writing in literature and communications, foreign language students mastered French and Spanish. Stepping into political science or psychology, one observed concern on the faces of students comprehending problems of yesterday and today. Band members devoted time and energy during practice for concerts and parades. Throughout the school, students reflected their personalities through determination.

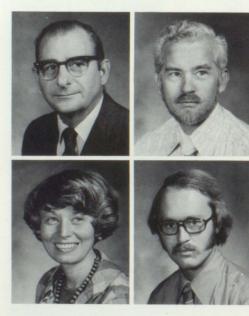

Experimentation found in all areas

In many areas of the school's curriculum, experimentation takes place. Chemical reactions and body fuctions were studied in science. Working with metals, plastics, and woods, industrial arts students experimented with different projects. Agriculture students conducted tests with the growth and development of plants. Creating foods and experimenting with fashions and child development kept the home ec classes busy. In business classes, students learned to use office machines by the trial and error method. New sports and games were some of the projects tackled by the phy ed department. Experimentation occurs every day of our lives. Without experimentation, no school could exist with a purpose, and FLHS is no exception.

1. As an experiment is conducted, students observe with interest. 2. Rick Jacobson steps forward for a pitch. 3. Cleaning up becomes a "finger lickin' good" experience for Kathy Richert and Gloria Stein. 4. In electronics, Mr. Bronson watches Bob Mooney repair a mechanism. 5. Mrs. Hanson smiles as students diligently construct molecular structures. 6. While Michelle Pepin tests jelly, classmates wait in anticipation. 7. Mixing classwork with pleasure is Nancy Taylor.

Imagination flows through courses

From English to home economics, imagination flows through the curriculum, Public Broadcasting allowed students to express themselves through the media. Providing a chance for students to become involved with the production of plays, set design, and costuming was introduction to theatre. Designing and creating individual projects was a part of industrial arts and home economics. A challenge to the imagination was provided in the wood, plastic, and metal shops. The bands and choirs combined their talents to present concerts for the enjoyment of their audiences. Interpretations of lines and gestures could be seen in the production of the fall musical and the winter one act play. Imagination is used in extending to the world around us.

Students create individual moods

Moods play an important part in learning and understanding. As students formed opinions of courses and instructors they experienced constructive moods. Being a requirement for a course like creative writing, imagination allows a student to set individual moods to each piece of work. Speech and composition combined the feelings of mystery to the understanding of a subject brought out of the mind. Social studies courses were available for the purpose of understanding rather than creating a mood. In psychology, students learned of their own moods and how the mind works. The inquisitive mood was present in math and science rooms with experiments and problems. Constantly changing situations result in changing moods.

Communication Builds Friendships

Every day, students use an important tool called communication. Through classes and school experiences, skills are developed and broadened. English classes learned how to speak and write creatively and intelligently. Communication also takes place through music in choir and band. Art classes provide a means of communication through the creativity of the individual student. Everything done is a form of communication, so even in classes not directly associated with speaking, communication is found. Requiring teamwork, classes such as physical education encourage cooperation in group activities. The important tool of communication is the way to success and friendship.

Creativity shown through art work

At FLHS, creativity was shown in several different areas. People usually think of creativity in art, where individual projects in painting, pottery, and fabric work were done. With the development of compositions and speeches, creativity was present in English. As science classes did titrations and made dyes, industrial arts classes shaped wood, metal and plastic. Unusual foods, clothing, and macrame projects were some of the things created in home ec. In the planting of trees and crops, agriculture used creativity. School is made up of many creations, none of which are alike. This is what makes school interesting and enjoyable to be a part of.

Outdoor activities inspire education

At FLHS, education did not always take place inside the school building. An outdoor atmosphere was set for several classes. Outdoor Education classes learned fundamentals and techniques of such things as uprighting a swamped canoe, changing a bike tire, and caring for cross country skis. Team Sports and Individual and Dual Sports were involved with playing flag football, soccer, and archery. Ready to play, the Pep Band performed at football games throughout the season. Marching in summer parades and Homecoming halftime were the Concert Band's outdoor activities. The planting of tulips and pruning of trees kept horticulture enthusiasts busy throughout the fall. Being outdoors was one thing needed to break up an average school day.

Students offered Bicentennial trip

New activities and excitement began Fall 1975 as students viewed changes at FLHS. Ranger colors were used in remodeling the weight room. The Breeze and Forester rooms were repainted in hopes that inspirations would come to the minds of its occupants. Confidence in the Ranger football team increased spirit for the events of Homecoming. The cast of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" rehearsed diligently. From rags to riches, students danced at Sadie Hawkins and the Fall Semi-Formal. Celebrating our nation's 200th birthday, students were given the opportunity to visit Washington D.C. over Easter. Turning with the leaves, students looked toward the first snowfall.

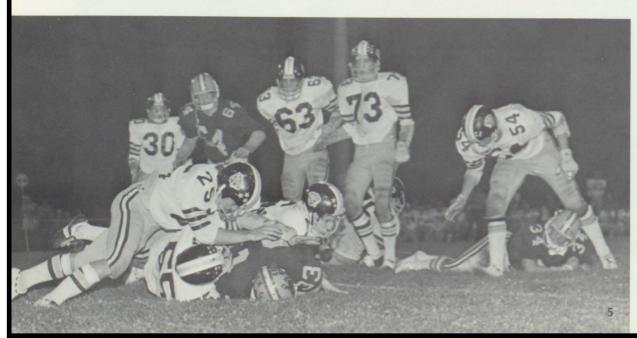

Concert kicks off Homecoming '75

With the approach of Homecoming '75, students and football players prepared to "Grab a Tiger By the Tail." Kicking off the weeks activities, a concert preview was presented by "Free Fare." Dave Houle and Peggy Ahlm were crowned king and queen at the colorful coronation ceremony on Tuesday. For a change of pace, films of Spanky and Our Gang and the Marx Brothers were shown. At the powder puff game both junior and senior girls were well represented, but quantity added up to quality as the juniors came out victorious. A special halftime show featuring a dance line and two piece band was presented by the sophomores. Following the game, the pronto pup party and sock hop came alive with the music of "Dark Star."

1. To the band's lively beat, flag corp members execute a precision routine. 2. Annette Bestiand smiles as she performs in front of the Homecoming crowd. 3. The evening bonfire helps raise the temperature and spirit during Homecoming week. 4. Dancing together at the sock hop are Chuck Weir and Kitty Mattson. 5. Working towards a first down, Brian McGrath is tackled by the Fridley defense. 6. With gestures and scripts, Spock and Dr. McCoy perform during Skit Night. 7. Newly crowned royalty Dave Houle and Peggy Ahlm smile excitedly at each other.

1. Emcee Tom Pareigat calls on the performers to sing a selection in the "Musical Chairs" skit. 2. At the Powderpuff game, Dinky the goat returns to the Homecoming scene. 3. Homecoming queen Peggy Ahlm leads the traditional snake dance. 4. Discussing the nights activities are sophomores Greg Steele, Kris Kroening, and Pat Kelly. 5. Rainie Schwab shows determination as Peggy Ahlm reaches for her flag. 6. Performing in the winning skit, two space tigers prepare to attack the Star Trek crew. 7. Carrying the tiger to the bonfire are the Brothers and enthusiastic Homecoming fans.

Rangers "Grab the Tigers" 21-14

Continuing the spirit of Homecoming, humerous interpretations of Rangers vs Tigers were performed on skit night. "Skit Incorporated" provided the winning skit with their production of "Star Trek." Homecoming Royalty and cheerleaders led the way to the traditional bonfire. At Friday's pepfest, students looked toward a victory. The Spirit of '76 pulled through as the Rangers won their first Homecoming in six years. A record crowd of 2500 witnessed Forest Lake's 21-14 victory over Fridley. Following the game, "Polish Brass" provided music for the Alumni Rap. Saturday night concluded the week's festivities as "Free Fare" presented a musical concert.

1. Two dogpatch lasses wait for their dates as they watch the dance. 2. Robin Bussey and Mark Strand discuss the night's events. 3. Taking a break from the activities are Debbie Doucette, Jill Olson and Patty Rantanen. 4. Lori Messelt pays the price for her date's shoe size. 5. Mark Holl does his interpretation of the music. 6. Throughout the evening, couples enjoy slow dances. 7. Admiring a trinket is a Hillbilly couple.

Hillbilly day sets mood for Sadie

Apple cider, candy and bales of hay filled the cafeteria November 7 for the Sadie Hawkins dance. Music for the occasion was provided by "Archangel." Portrayed by Tom Pareigat, "Marryin' Sam" hitched couples throughout the evening. Marriage certificates, wedding rings, and "Weddin' Dae" pictures were presented to the newlyweds. Students carried the Sadie Hawkins theme into school by dressing in bib overalls, flannel shirts, and straw hats for Hillbilly Day. Admission price was determined on a "toe to toe" basis. Couples were measured around their ankles with five cents paid per inch. Before the dance, entertainment was provided by the Olympic wrestling team from Poland. "Movin' On" was played for the wrestlers after the matches. The night ended with hay scattered about and girls leading their guys to the door.

Fall musical cast discovers recipe

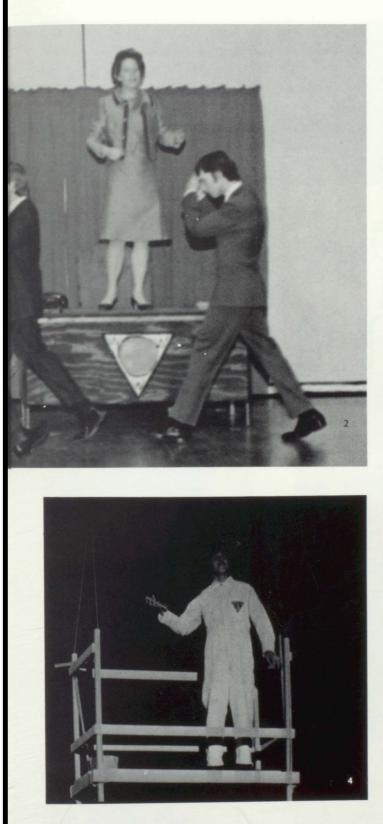

How do you succeed in making a musical? Take a cast of 33 students, stir in directors, a choreographer, then toss with costume and set crews. Leave time for 5,383 hours of work and rehearsals, sprinkle with an orchestra, lights, and VOILA! You have created a musical. Mr. Hebert made his directing debut at Forest Lake with the production of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Pit band, under the direction of Mr. Lindstrom, added character to the musical numbers. Set and costume crews, headed by Diane Jensen and Richard Carlson, designed bright and imaginative scenery and costumes. Mr. Baldwin headed publicity which brought approximately 2,000 people to the performances. Cast and audiences agreed "How to Succeed" was a success.

AMERICA

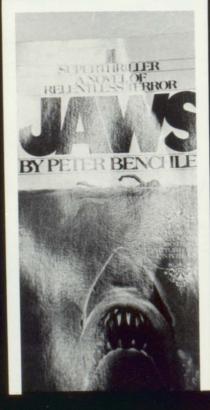

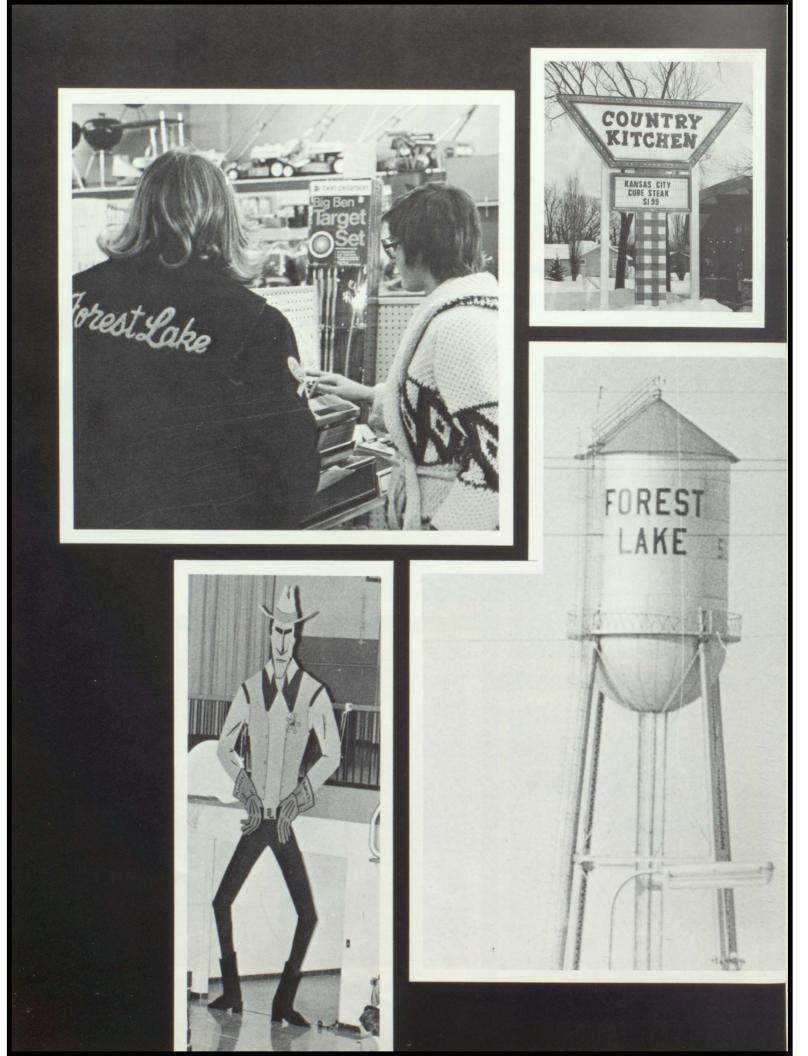

When not concentrating on studies, FLHS students found other ways of occupying time. Burger Chef, Country Kitchen, the Bowling Alley, and the school cafeteria were common gathering places. For those who could afford them, Earth Shoes were popular footwear. Levi's, long skirts, and bib overalls were seen through the school. Natural and blown hair styles required the use of special combs and driers by many students. The natural look was also popular in jewelry among both boys and girls. Changing from black to green to blue, mood rings provided amusement for the wearer. Pet Rocks were perfect for those wanting a quiet, clean, obedient pet. "Jaws mania" struck FLHS as students purchased jaws Tshirts and shark's tooth necklaces. Other favorite movies included "Return of the Pink Panther" and "Lucky Lady." Resting from activities, students spent much of their free time sleeping.

Controversy surrounded the opening of the '75-'76 school year. A $22 million law suit was filed against the district by students losing credits because of last year's attendance policy. Stricter hall regulations were enforced after the occurance of vandalism in the washrooms and a series of false fire alarms. With the rejection of a bond issue to enlarge the senior high, halls and classrooms were more crowded. Construction characterized the community as a Country Kitchen was built. Fire caused the temporary closing of the Ben Franklin store. Residents of Big Marine Lake were flooded out as the lake rose around their homes. With the continued growth of the Forest Lake area, school and community experienced changes for the better and worse.

Affecting students in different ways, the news was watched closely. Attempts to assassinate President Ford resulted in greater concern for the safety of public officials. With the capture of Patricia Hearst, a year long search ended. As illegal surveillance and assassination plots against foreign leaders were uncovered, the FBI and CIA were invesigated. An increase in teenage drinking problems resulted in a proposed raise of the legal drinking age to 19. Despite economic recovery, job hunters found unemployment high. In New York, threats of default stirred national comment. Elections were anticipated by students voting for the first time. Other important events in '76 included the Bicentennial and the Olympics. On the world scene, the monarchy was restored in Spain after the death of General Franco. With the fall of South Viet Nam, the U.S. was faced with the resettlement of over 130,000 refugees. Other world trouble spots included Lebanon, Portugal, and Angola. In sports news, the Vikings lost in the playoffs, Pittsburgh repeated as Super Bowl champions, and Cincinatti finally emerged victorious from the world series.

Winter activities snowball students

Although warm weather kept snow from falling until late November, winter activities began as usual at FLHS. With the sport's increasing popularity, over 125 ski club members took off down the slopes. Back to the fifties day also went downhill with a lack of participation. Performing for a full house, the bands and choirs presented the traditional Christmas concert. Vacation was welcomed by students and faculty alike as they spent their free time visiting friends and relatives, enjoying outdoor activities, and relaxing. Snoweek and the winter play "Story Theatre" kept interested students busy after the holidays. Bringing changes to students' schedules, the new semester provided a fresh start in classes.

"Story Theatre" tells 7 fairy tales

Acting a different role, the Forest Lake theatre department changed the format of the winter play. Instead of the usual one act competition play, a two act play was presented for the public. Consisting of seven fairy tales and entitled "Story Theatre," the play was performed February 5-7 under the direction of Diane Jensen. Setting the scene for the tales, an old tree stump sprawled its roots across the stage. Senior Chris Nelson composed and arranged music for the production. Drawing large crowds at all three performances, the play was a welcome addition to FLHS.

1. The milliner's daughter (Sue Barrott) describes her dream. 2. Trying to ignore an annoying frog (Chris Novak) is the princess (Kris VanNispen). 3. Set crew builds the base of the tree. 4. Forcing the maiden (Lisa Palas) to drink poison is the robber bridegroom (Mike Puchalski). 5. Working diligently, set crew constructs a scene. 6. The fisherman's wife (Lisa Palas) still is not satisfied after being made king. 7. In "The Frog Prince," the cast portrays animals as well as humans.

Warm weather melts snoweek

With skiers hitting the slopes of Trollhaugen on February 23, Snoweek '76 was off to a successful start. However, warm weather melted enthusiasm and snow for the events. On Tuesday, students innertubed at Ecko Backen. Foosball tournaments were planned, but canceled because of conflicts with FFA week. A lack of snow and a lack of participation caused the cancellation of Thursday's snow sculpture contest. Despite poor ice conditions, the broomball tournament was held on the hockey rink, with the sophomore boys and girls emerging victorious. At the sweetheart dance, a new sophomore king and queen were crowned. Closing Snoweek, students danced to the music of "Rocking Horse." Student council members who planned snoweek felt it had been disappointing.

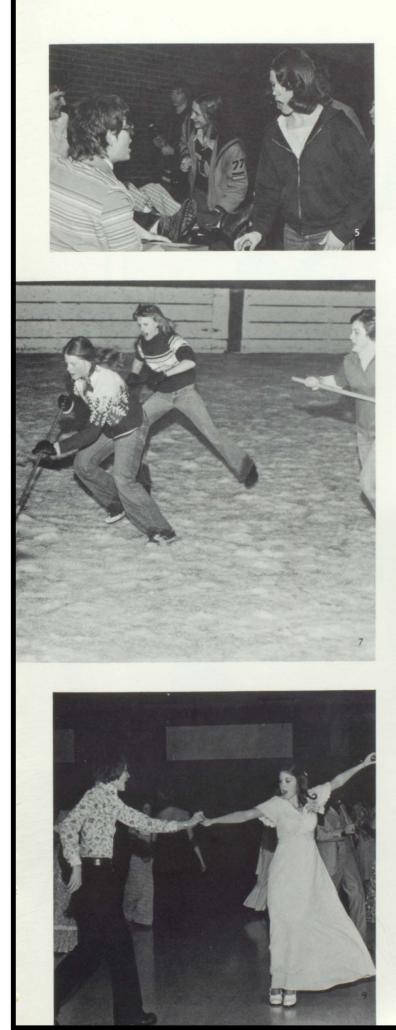

1. Participants in the FFA bingo game await the announcement of the next number. 2. Jan Gunderson and Bucky Koch sell pop to thirsty dancers. 3. Dancing to the music of "Rocking Horse" are Mindy Anderson and her partner. 4. With sophomores in pursuit, Tim Herges controls the ball. 5. Laurie Purdie pays admission to the dance. 6. Ready for a run down the slope are Carol Anderson and Carol Burke. 7. At the broomball tournament, junior and sophomore girls fight for possessition of the ball. 8. Sophomore Royalty: Sheri Wells, Dave Rossini. 9. Mark Waldoch and Doreen Tyler do a lively dance at the sophomore sweetheart dance.

Spirit enhanced by unusual hats

Despite the lack of a consistent passing game and a solid defensive line, the varsity football team had it's best record in four years. Beginning the season with an unfamiliar team and new opponents, Coach Rick Anderson saw a "big question mark." Anderson felt that although the offensive running game was experienced, the team was hurt by lack of depth. A positive attitude helped increase fan support as three busses with 200 students traveled to away games. Coach Anderson's unique hats added humor to early practices. "They're something that makes me more human to the kids; besides, it's fun," he remarked. Playing their best game of the season, the Rangers defeated state ranked Fridley 21-14 at Homecoming.

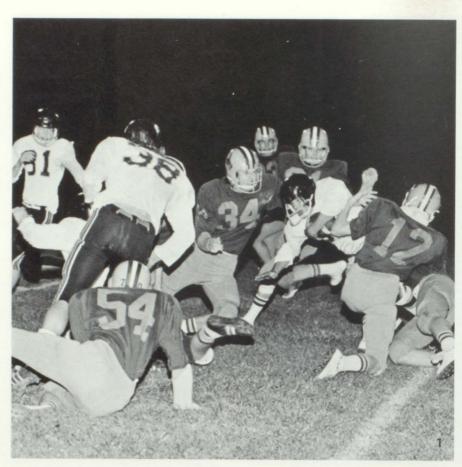

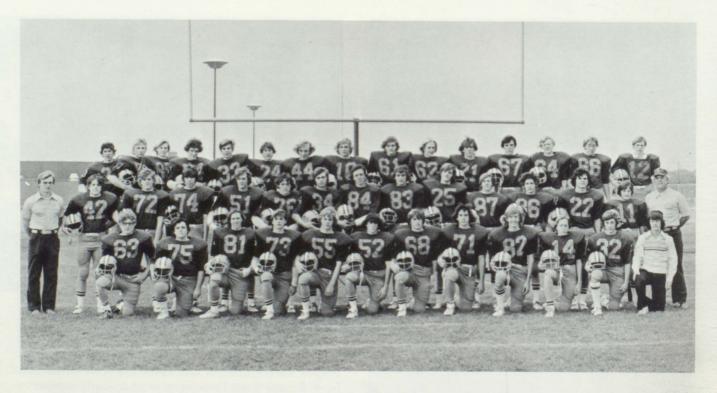

1. A time-out is called as Coach Anderson confers with Brian McGrath. 2. Running for a first down is junior quarterback Louie Bowker. 3. As tension rises, Coaches Anderson, Backes, Lautigar, and Rowbotham, watch intensely. 4. Ranger front lineman attempt to push opponents back. 5. After an exciting first half, the team runs off the field. 6. Keeping an eye on his opponent, Tom Carlisle makes this way to the goal. 7. Senior center Tim Motschenbacher awaits the signal for the snap.

Positive attitude reinforces team

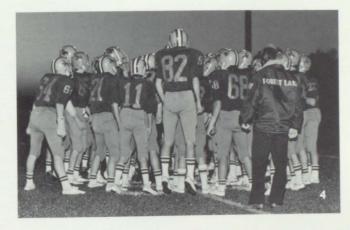

With attitude, physical size and speed in their favor, the '75 B-squad football team finished with a winning record of 4-3. The desire to win overcame the lack of agressiveness and ability to play a sustained game. Displaying a fundamentally sound offense and defense, the team looked impressive in their 46-0 victory over Fridley, which the team felt was the best game of the season. With impressive fan support and a positive attitude, Coach Motschenbacher felt that "the desire and pride in our football players has become more apparent to me over the past two years. There is more dedication and hard work. We need a little more maturity and concentration. It's coming. The winloss columns show it."

1. In hopes of stopping the opponent's offense, Dennis McDonald charges the ball carrier. 2. A sophomore Ranger breaks away from the pack and runs for the goalpost. 3. Chris Pratt shows concentration as he completes the cross country run. 6. In the lead, Kerry Kellerhuis pushes on.

Harriers place sixth at regions

"I think there is a special kind of beauty in watching the human body function in running. I get a thrill just watching the guys work out. It's hard to explain, I just love to watch runners perform," stated first year coach Bob Fedderly. Although accidents disabled several top runners, enthusiasm was maintained throughout long hours of strenuous practice. Total distance covered by the harriers was equal to the distance from Forest Lake to Duluth and back. Because there were not enough participants to form a squad, the sport was not opened to girls. Dedication and hard work were rewarded with a fifth place in the region meet at Auorora-Hoyt Lakes.

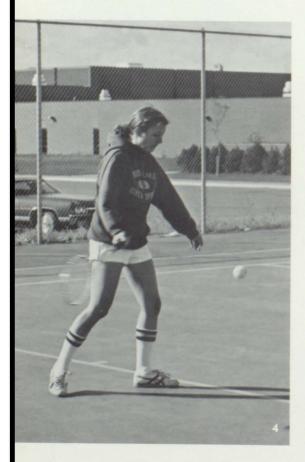

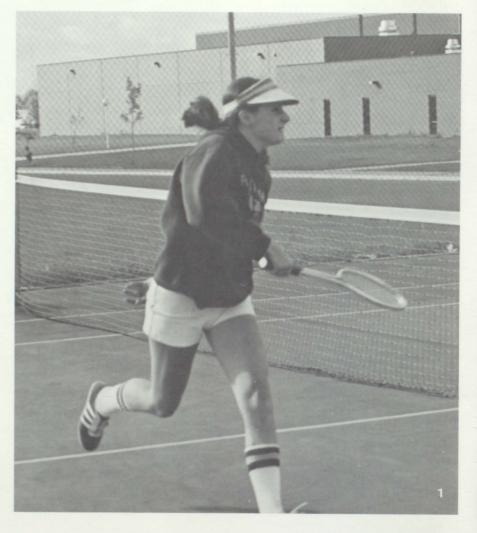

Chalberg attains coaching position

Opening the girls tennis season in August, team members conditioned by practising running and relay skills. Coached by Charles Chalberg, tennis was the first girls sport to have a male head coach. Endurance, strokes, and serves were emphasized during the first weeks of training. As the season progressed, lack of experience hurt the team's performance. A disadvantage to the team was that there were no programs at the elementary and junior high level. New courts at the junor highs are expected to further develop and strengthen the varsity program. Team members felt that lack of communication with the coach affected the outcome of the season.

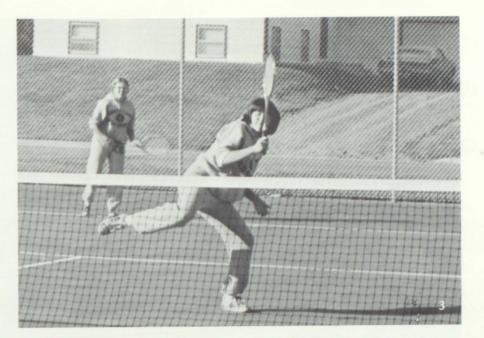

1. Racing across the court, Sue Vadner attempts to recover an opponent's return. 2. With a strong forehand swing Ann Sargeant returns the serve. 3. Doubles team Annette Westover and Colleen Milligan display hustle in a match. 4. Keeping an eye on the ball, Sandy Proulx uses a forehand swing. 5. Monica Holl extends an arm to return the ball. 6. With style and grace, Shelley Manders demonstrates skillful techniques.

1. Anticipating a block, Karla Brungardt taps the ball over the net. 2. Junior Lori Florhaug demonstrates a powerful overhand serve. 3. Renee Briggs anxiously watches Sue Swenson as she bumps the ball to the setter. 4. Pam Theil sets the ball to an awaiting spiker. 5. Calling to teammates as she bumps the ball is Senior Robin Swenson. 6. With the ball in Ranger control, Candy Weeks moves to her front line position.

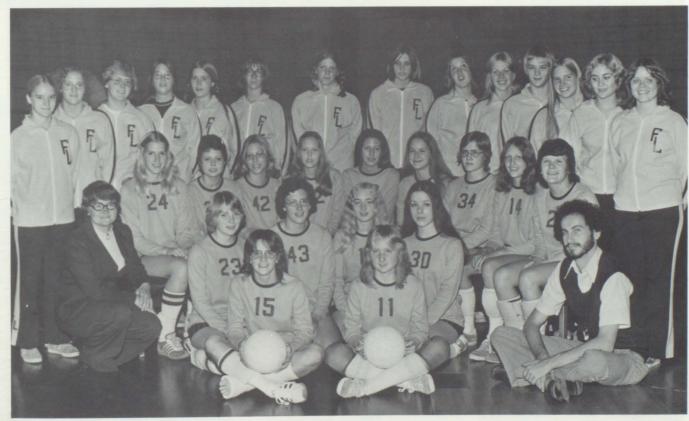

Volleyball's spirit "sets up" victories

Experience, spiking, and setting ability led the list of strong points for the varsity volleyball team. Leading their teammates in unusual practice drills, co-captains Robin Swenson and Karla Brungardt helped maintain a positive attitude. However, the team was hindered by inconsistent bumping and serving. Because 35 girls participated on the varsity level, a new coach, Dave Orren, was added. Crippled by injuries, the J.V. had a disappointing season. Strong support was shown as pep busses travelled to some games and home matches were well attended. Talent, combined with experience and enthusiasm led the '75 volleyball team through a successful season.

Under the direction of first year coach Deb Muralt, the Junior Varsity and B-squad tennis team concluded the season with an even win-loss record. The girls enthusiastically entered each match to win. To gain experience, everyone was able to play in a match.

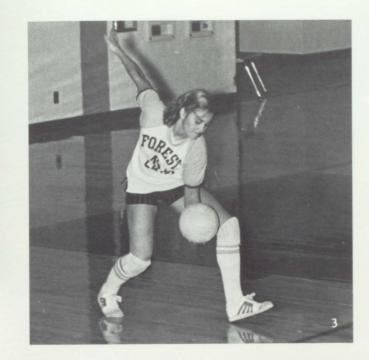

Enthusiasm and the desire to win set the stage for the B-squad volleyball team. Bumping and spiking made up for the lack of hustle. Parent's night displayed the progress made by the team as they exhibited improved skills, but lost to a powerful Park Center team. Communication and work between the team members was stressed by Coach Kathy Briguet.

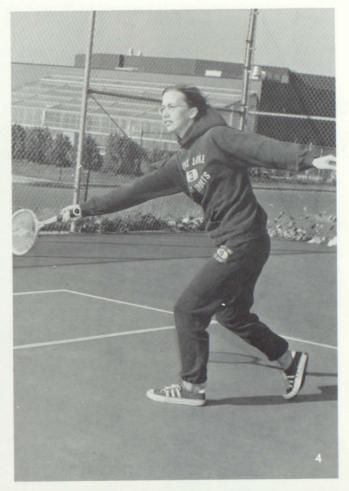

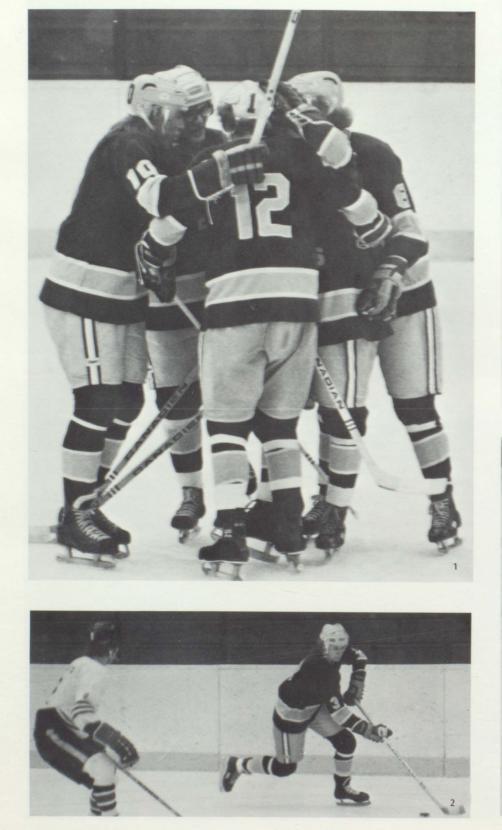

1. Jill Reiman sets the ball to an awaiting B-squad spiker. 2. As an Osseo block goes up, a sophomore Ranger spikes the ball. 3. JV spiker Debbie Hudak concentrates on her serve. 4. Reaching to return the ball is Senior Robin Bussey.

Congratulations are given to a teammate for his successful attempt at scoring. 2. While evading his opposition, Mike Gravelle carries the puck. 3. Preparing to set up a score, Pat Remitz passes the puck. 4. Goalie Mitch Johnson positions himself to defend F.L's goal. 5. While shoveling the outdoor rink, Chris Paul puts in his daily exercise. 6. Warming up for a hard practice are the icemen. 7. Terry Tschida fights for possession of the puck.

A-squad hockey gains experience

Facing off with two victories, the Ranger A-squad hockey team showed promise. However, a series of defeats dampened the outlook for a successful season. Obtaining indoor ice time for practice was a problem. By using outdoor rinks, more skating time was available. Although poor passing and inconsistent play hampered the team, improvement was shown by the pucksters throughout the season. Individually, Coach Peltier was pleased with the play of goaltender Mitch Johnson. Inexperience resulted in practice time spent on basic fundamentals rather than plays involving strategy. With the institution of hockey programs at younger levels, it was hoped that Forest Lake hockey will become more competitive.

Matmen starve off 400 pounds

Devoting early practices to conditioning, the wrestlers sweated, ran, and starved off over 400 pounds. Led by captains John Fraley, Curt Patak, and Lance Osterbauer, the young but experienced wrestlers made strong showings in tournaments at Faribault and Sibley. With four individual champions, the matmen won the Forest Lake Invitational. The team compiled a 10-2 dual meet record, the best ever for a Ranger mat squad. Fans, although not always numerous, were always vocal and added to the excitement of matches. Advancing the team and several individuals to the state tournament was a goal set by the matmen. Combining strong leadership, dedication, and talent, the Rangers had one of the most successful seasons ever.

1. Fired up for another match, Ranger wrestlers charge into the gym. 2. Amidst happy teammates is a victorious Tom Moore. 3. Randy Kolbow is exuberant after another victory on the mat. 4. Congratulating an exhausted Lance Osterbauer is head coach Dettmer. 5. In control, junior John Moore works for a pin. 6. Andy Niemczyk strains to overcome his opponent.

1. Preparing to take down his opponent, Joel Buys gains control. 2. After a victory, Mike Haseltine is congratulated by teammates. 3. Coach Tom Pogreba and wrestlers cheer on a teammate. 4. An FL puckster takes a slap shot. 5. B-squad hockey players face off during a game. 6. As a Ranger has his arm raised in triumph, the referee announces the winner.

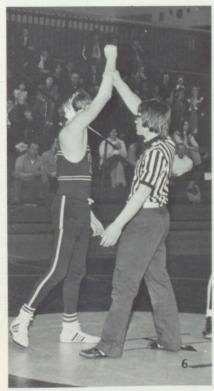

Icemen faceoff 18 game season

Hard working players were the reason for the B-squad hockey team's success this season. Juniors and seniors provided experience, but a lack of ice time hindered the team's performance. During their short season, B-squad played 18 games in 35 days. Coach Fedderly was pleased to see increased fan support for the B-squad pucksters.

Pacing themselves through a grueling season, the B-squad wrestlers showed the strength of Forest Lake wrestling. A record of 13-1 and a first place finish in the Faribault tournament were the result of much hard work. The wrestle-off system gave Bsquadders a chance to make the varsity team, keeping all wrestlers fired up for matches.

Team weakened by inconsistency

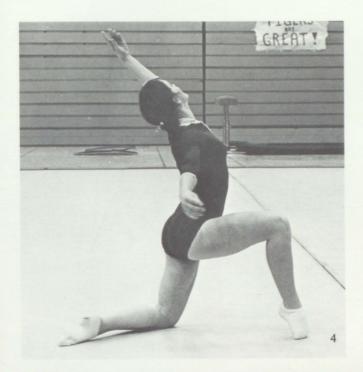

As the gymnastics season progressed, the 25 girls advanced in new skills and style. Gymnasts competing in the unevens worked for flowing movements and timing, as vaulters improved in repulsion and form. Strong performers strengthened team scores, but inconsistancy weakened A-squad and caused the loss of many close meets. Although the strength of performers on bars and beam increased, floor exercise continued to be the strongest event of Bsquad. The coaches hoped to have 5 all-conference gymnasts, and to place gymnasts in the state meet. Because the competition was weak, winning the region meet and advancing to the state meet were realities for the team.

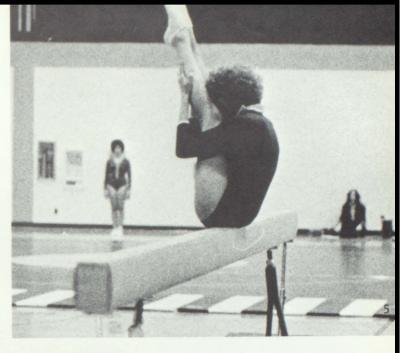

1. On the balance beam, Julie Saxe demonstrates flexibility. 2. Teri Vitalis runs through her bars routine before a meet. 3. While performing on the beam, Vicky Wolfbauer concentrates on her next move. 4. Between floor moves, a gymnast strikes a pose. 5. A Ranger gymnast executes a Vsit on the beam. 6. Commenting in the team's performance are coaches and gymnasts.

During a time out, the Ranger bucketmen discuss their strategy. 2. In hopes of grabbing the rebound, cagers watch the basket. 3. Dave Hibbison outreaches his opponent for a jump ball. 4. Pondering the progress of the game is Coach Jim Nelson. 5. Craig Danielson puts the ball back up after a rebound. 6. Attempting to block the shot, Paul Thomasen jumps with an opponent.

Bucketmen earn 2nd at Windom

Preparing for one game at a time, the varsity basketball team set a goal of individual and team improvement. Coach Nelson felt that the bucketmen displayed "great team unity and leadership from the captains and seniors." Although team members worked hard throughout the season, inconsistency and lack of confidence proved troublesome. An 8-11 record, including a second place in the Windom tournament, was compiled by the Rangers. In hopes of bringing the team to new heights, a 20-foot Ranger was constructed for display in the gym, and special stools were made to rest on during time outs. With the longest season of all winter sports, basketball looked toward subregions in March.

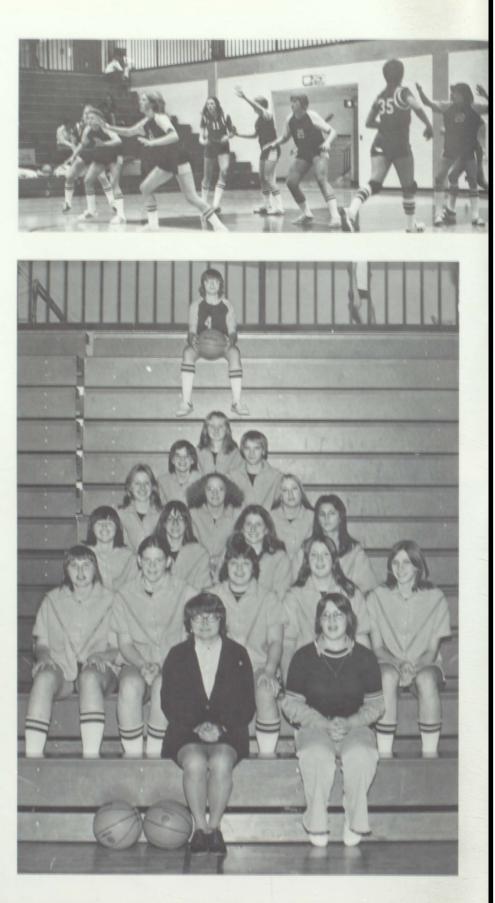

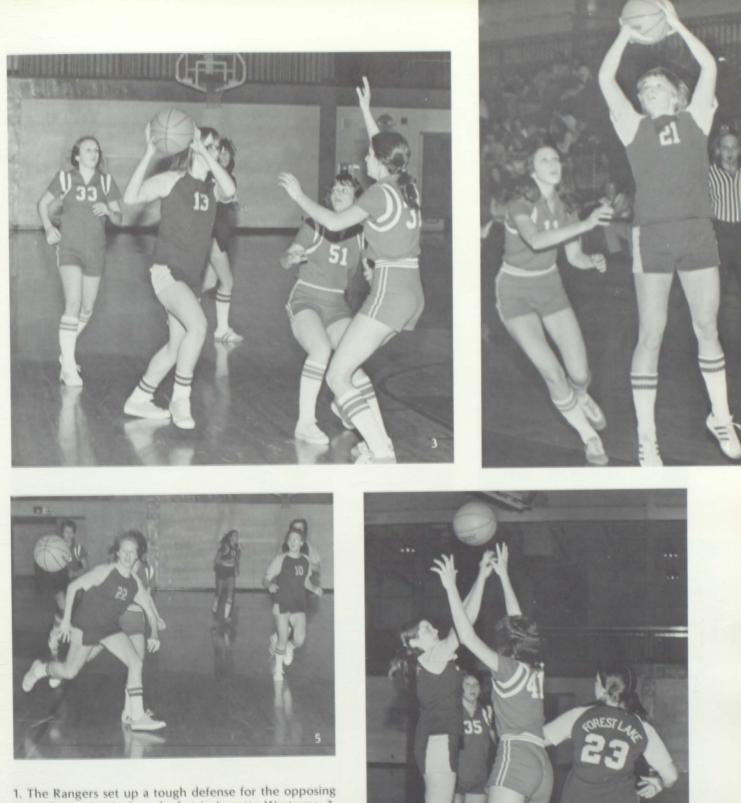

Girls' basketball takes sub-region

Scoring, rebounding, and strong defense pushed the girls' basketball team into first place in the Skyline Conference. Rolling through the season, the girls won 14 consecutive season games, most by over 20 points. Two of these victories came in the Forest Lake Holiday Tournament, where the team captured first place honors. Records were set during the season in individual scoring, individual rebounding, and team scoring. Extending their unbeaten string to 16, the girls claimed the sub-region I title. With the possibility of advancing to the first state girls' basketball tournament in mind, the team participated in the Region tournament at Cloquet.

Boys play tough in Skyline action

With a strong crew of sophomores, Coach Dan Poupard worked the B-squad basketball team through a successful season. As a result of hard work and long hours of practice, the team finished second in the Skyline conference. To further improve skills, the players worked along with the varsity team after school and in the evenings.

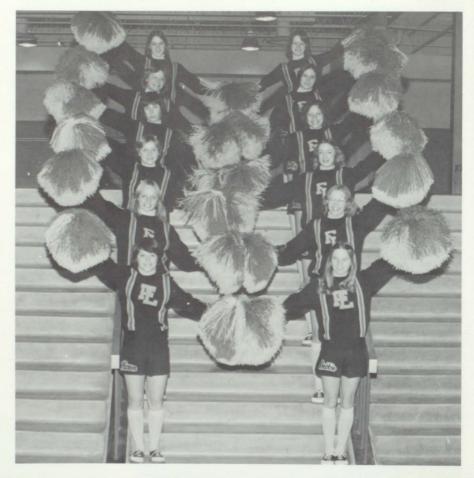

Playing basketball was the goal of 12 sophomore girls on the B-squad team. Although they worked hard under new Coach Chuck Gunderson, the results of the games were disappointing. A 5-8 record was compiled by the Bsquad. During the season, juniors were placed on B-squad to give the team and players more experience for next year.

1. On the field cheering for the Rangers are cheerleaders Yvonne Boyes and Tara Jeans. 2. B-squad cheerleaders lead the wrestlers on to victory. 3. Pulling for the gridders, varsity cheerleaders look on with concern. 4. Between quarters, cheerleaders do a cartwheel cheer. 5. "Rangers are hot" chant varsity cheerleaders during the Homecoming bonfire.

Winter mittens warm FL spirit

Evaluation and change opened the selection of cheerleaders. Before eliminations, girls trying out decided which sports they wanted to cheer for. To represent sports more fairly, cheerleaders attended girls and boys events previously overlooked. Performing on ice for the first time, hockey cheerleaders were aided by team mascot Corliss Robinson. Shane Peterson, portraying "strength and a fine specimen of a wrestler" was the wrestling mascot. Scoring and helping out at gymnastics meets were done by the wrestling cheerleaders. Promoting school spirit and colors, cheerleaders sold maroon and gold hats, mittens and scarves. By arranging several pep fests and transportation to sports activities, cheerleaders encouraged greater fan support for the Ranger teams.

A-SQUAD CHEERLEADERS: Lynn Pearson, Diana Gustafson, Rainie Schwab, Mindy Anderson, Peggy Ahlm, Sue Moen, Lori Branjord, Lori Ensrud, Sally Keller, Lynn Lindberg, Teri Lindstrom, Diane Gessner, Judy Keilen.

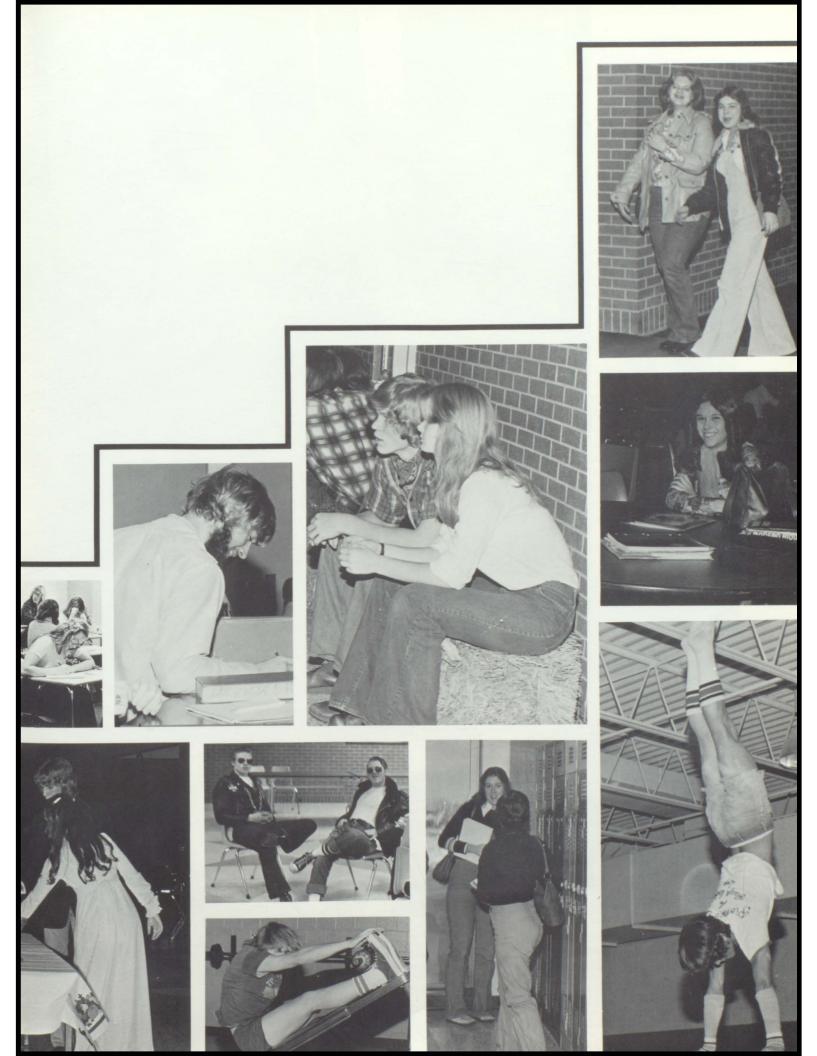

MULLE VELETAULE

Containing a variety of tastes, mixed vegetables add flavor to a melting pot. Because our school includes students with contrasting personalities, it can be compared to mixed vegetables. When each student adds his talents and abilities to those of others, the result is a diverse, interesting group — the mixed vegetables of our school.

Class of '76 dons graduation colors

Continuing the "Spirit of '76," seniors prepared for their last year of high school. Voting for class colors and flower, the seniors chose red, white, and blue and a white carnation to depict the bicentennial. "Do not follow where the path may lead, go instead where is no path and leave a trail," was selected as the class motto. Mixed feelings were present as upperclassmen viewed the idea of being the bicentennial class. Many were proud to be part of the nation's festivities while others felt the occasion had been overemphasized. New teachers, policies, an influx of new students and increasingly crowded halls were changes seniors witnessed at FLHS. Faced with added leadership and responsibility, the class of '76 was kept busy planning for college and careers. For most, June 4th came sooner than anticipated.

Sadie Hawkins sets jr. hay day

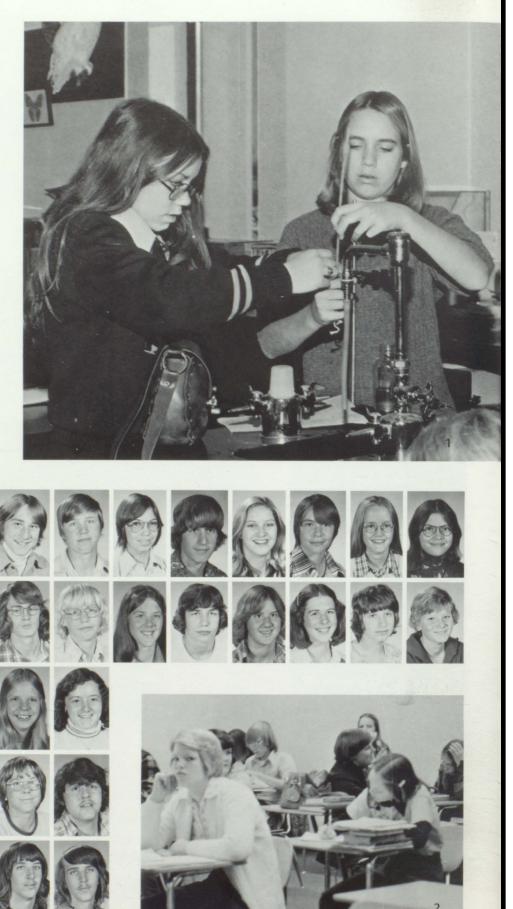

As old friendships were renewed and new ones made, the class of '77 began their second year at FLHS. After the first exciting week, juniors settled down somewhere between the sophomores and seniors. Loaded down with homework from difficult courses, some juniors hoped to take it easy as seniors. For the second consecutive year, junior girls defeated the seniors in the powderpuff football game. Junior class officers and able volunteers displayed creativity in planning "Dogpatch USA." Hay, candy, apple cider, and Marryin' Sam filled the cafeteria along with gals and their guys. On Slave Day, juniors were made to serve their senior masters. Preparing for the future, the class of '77 tackled the PSAT and SCAT tests.

Sophomores offer powderpuff show

Filling the halls on the first day of senior high, a bewildered class of sophomores formed friendships with new classmates and teachers. By involvement in extra-curricular activities, the class of '78 made the most of their high school opportunities. During Homecoming week, sophomores performed at the powderpuff halftime show. Early purchase of class rings enabled students to get more for their money. A new sophomore king and queen were crowned at the sweetheart dance, organized by the class officers. Making the adjustment from junior to senior high, sophomores were faced with new experiences and responsibilities.

The students of Forest Lake High School will remember Robert (Bob) Jacobson, class of '78, for his unique contributions to both student life and class activities.

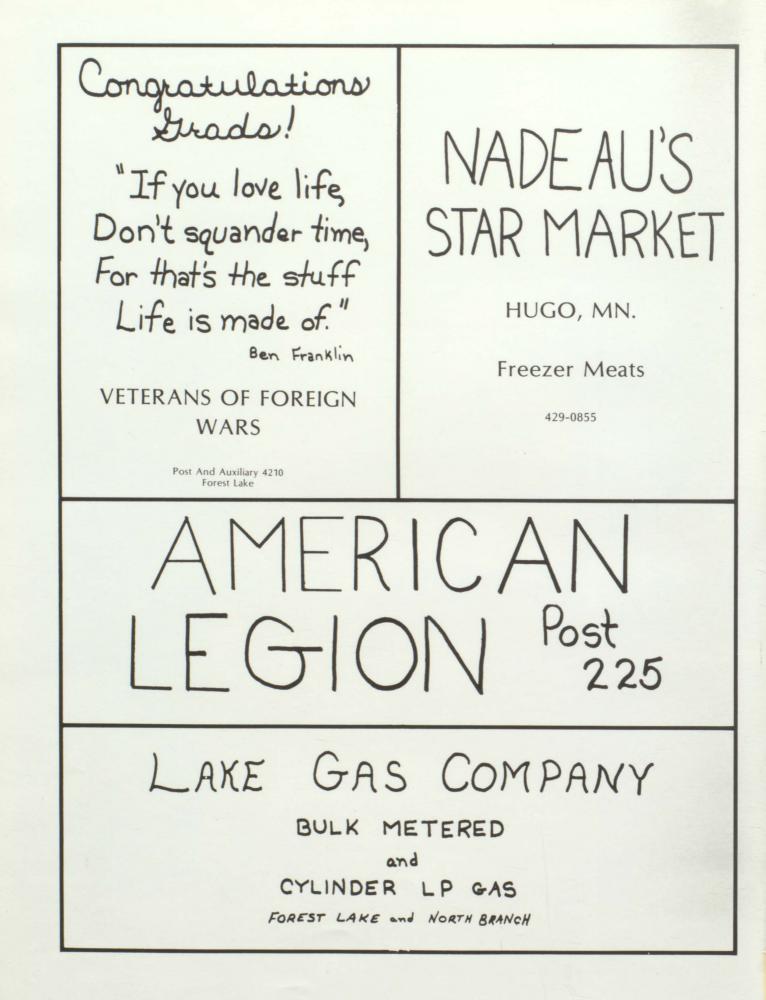

LEFTUUELE

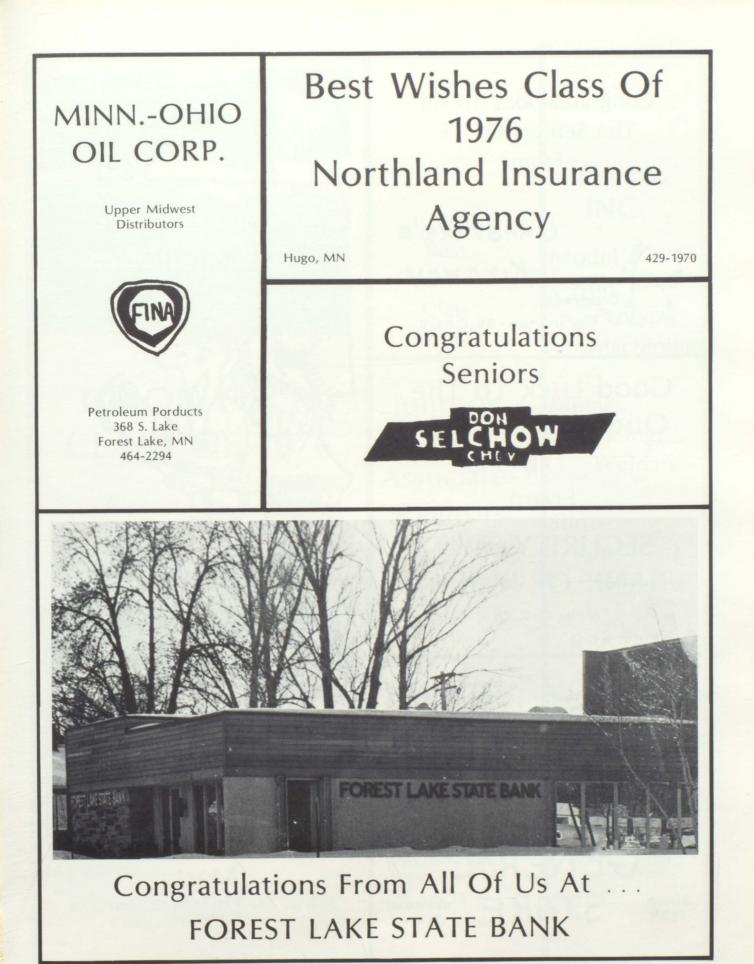

Like leftovers from a meal, certain sections at the end of a yearbook are not usually noticed. The ads, index, and patrons, although not considered interesting by most students, are an essential part of the book. They may be thought of as the leftovers of the book.

STUDENT COUNCIL WISHES SENIORS "GOOD LUCK" This may be towards the future ... but we're sure that is O.K. 'cause we are telling you about a very special day.

On this coming June 3rd you'll hear the students cheer! The reason for this happy mood? It;s the end of the school year.

That thing called "spring fever" will be caught by everyone, and the daydreamers who watched the snow will be looking into the sun.

The teachers will even have a grin! They'll be happy too!! (They need a nice rest from all the work they do.)

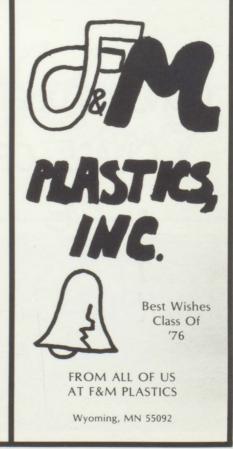

And on that fine day ... we all will wave good-bye to the fantastic class so '76 from Forest Lake Senior High.

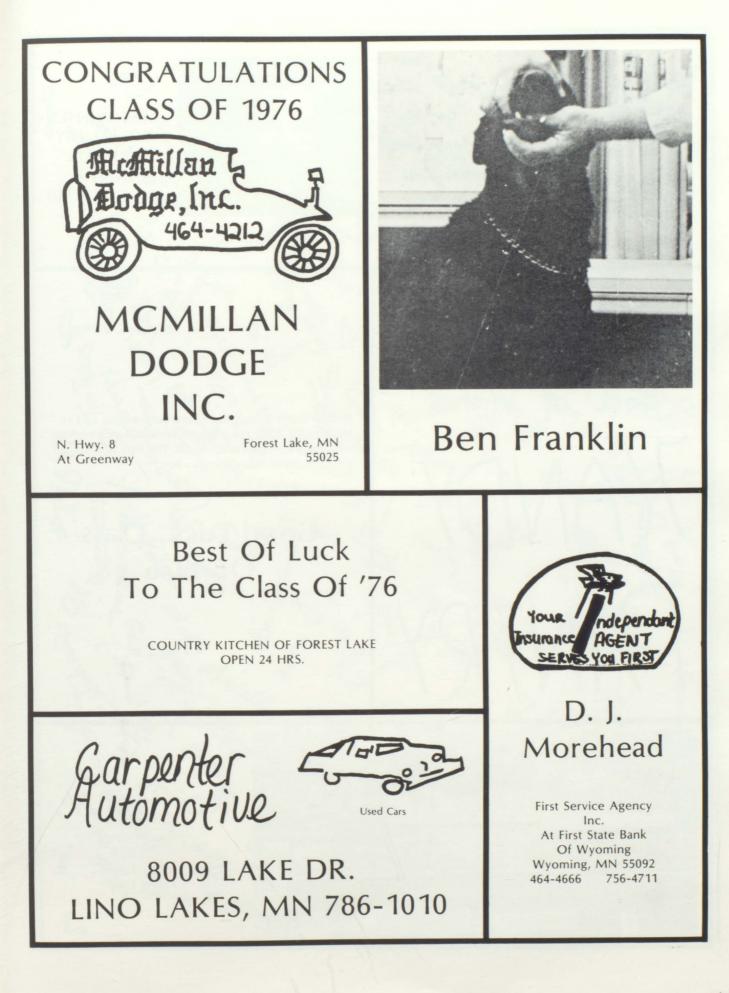

K. V.

As the fourth and last hectic deadline came and went, we "dedicated" editors of the Forester looked back on the year. Armed with the knowledge gained at workshops, we put our ideas to use on the book — eventually. Our very vivid, but sometimes warped imaginations were also put to use. We painted the staff room and decorated our calender with unusual events. Because our radio was stolen, we filled the silence with our endless joking and gossiping. Although we joked often, much of our time was spent hard at work. Sometimes, we'd be climbing the walls after being in "that room" for hours. While spending all this time on the book, we've collected many memories: poloroid pictures ... the jaw, the stick, and the wife ... "there's nobody in it" ... Renee's car at Onell's ... If it weren't for Keys, we wouldn't have the Star Bangled Banner ... Ace's window ... C.B. ... radio? ... Ann and the bike rider ... missing layouts ... the swingset at the U ... Annie-Pooh and Julie Jack ... Flicka ... editors flunking their classes ... "ho, ho, ho, fun in the snow" ... "Love to Love You Baby" ... our missing radio and film ... Julie visiting the snow caves ... What goes on behind closed doors? ... Muck Luck Chuck and Mama ... "Go stand in the corner!" ... shopping at Red Owl ... the lawsuit -Ann Vs. the Bike Rider ... Julie's birthday present ... ruining Ann's and Bonnie's lives ... punny copy staff members ... "Don't look at the pictures!" ... "Are we going to make this deadline?" ... "Do you know how much thats going to cost?" ... the ABSOLUTE deadline is tomorrow.

Despite many problems, we've anticipated the completion of the book, and hope we've produced a book that you, the students, can identify with.
