Rustling Leaves

● Grammar or Glamour?

Miss Helland, our fourth grade teacher, was getting a wee bit disgusted with a small student in her room the other day.

"Now, you've got to get some grammar into your head", she said.

"Glamour, oh I'd love to get some glamour into my head," answered a little boy.

● We Used to Wonder, Too

The seventh graders in Miss Handford's general science class are having a hard time learning about gravity. They just can't understand how the people on the bottom of the earth can stand on their feet and not fall off. It's really simple when one learns all the facts, but we sympathize with them for most of us had a hard time understanding this.

● Help Needed

'Yum, yum!' say the students and 'Cuss, cuss!' say the janitors. All this is because of the candy wrappers that are found lying about the premises. Containers have been placed by the front door into which these things should be put. We all realize that the janitors have enough to do now so let's help them out.

● Whose Favorite?

It seems that not only the students are interested in knowing where their favorite teachers live but also some of our local swains. Last week a partial list of the whereabouts of the teachers was published. To enlighten the minds of certain people here is the rest of the list. Miss Johnstone is staying at Grieman's, Miss Anderson at Bill McKown's and Miss Davis at John A. Houle's. Both Miss Helland and Miss O'Donnell are living at O. E. Peterson's Miss Lipsett resides at L. P. Melbostad's and Mr. and Mrs. Hammond are living where Mr. Kraft formerly lived.

● Free Beauty

If practice makes perfect Muriel Engquist would some day be a beauty operator.

During the noon hour she has been giving free applications of finger nail polish to those who desired it.

● Confucius Say—

Maybe Confucius didn't say this, but at sometime or other maybe you have seen a jaloppy with this saying "We stop for blondes and brunettes, but back up for redheads". Incidentally our three candidates for homecoming queen are a blonde, Doris Peterson and two brunettes, June Baker and Lorraine Specha. No redheads, so they have an equal chance.

Rangers Play Vikings In Opener Tomorrow

Bang! That will be the signal for the opening game of the current season The red and white of North Branch will clash with the maroon and gold of Forest Lake on the Rangers' field at 2 P. M. tomorrow.

Both teams are out to break the scoreless ties which have dogged their meetings for the past three seasons. A large crowd is expected to be on hand to witness the contest, and North Branch will be sending students on a student trip. The "Vikings" as the Branchers are called have a slight advantage over the Rangers as they have already played one game this season. They met the Cambridge aggregation last Friday, and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

Reports from the Vikings' camp indicate that they have from six to eight lettermen returning. Past performances show that the Vikings have a good backfield, but a mediocre line. The Rangers this year have a good average team in both backfield and line.

Co-coaches Baldwin and Nesse are the pilots of the Vikings. The Vikings won two, tied three and lost two in last season's games. The Rangers won two, tied one and lost four last season. Most of last years' players are back and they are out to make a perfect record, so it's best of luck to the Rangers on their first conquest.

The probable starting lineup for Forest Lake will be Bob Elmstrom or John Blanchard at center; Arnold Carlson and Gordon Palmer at guards; Donald Furrer and Roger Johnson at tackles; Bob Elmstom, Clarence Huber, Rollin Houle at ends; Bob Holl at quarterback; Richard McGee at fullback; Wally Langdon, Rollin Houle or Bill Jeans at half-back.—E. S.

Journalism Club To Be Divided

Due to a large number of members in the Journalism Club, the junior high and senior high members are to be divided. The junior high members, who number 26, will hold their meetings on Thursdays during third period.

The 23 senior high members and the two postgraduates will hold their meetings on Tuesday, the third period.—M. L. M.

Williver, Waller Run For Council Head

The campaign slogans "Walk Away with Waller" or "Whip up Wisdom with Williver" will probably echo through the halls during the next week until the election of the Student Council president on September 26 at 9:00. The main business of the council, which held its first meeting last Friday, was the nominating of these two candidates for the council presidency.

The two candidates Donald Waller, senior and Franklin Williver, junior, are both the presidents of their respective classes.

During the past year, Donald has been an ardent bass in the chorus, and he is known for his scholastic ability.

Franklin proved himself outstanding during the past term by capturing the title of the best debater and taking an active part in forensics. He is also interested in 4-H club work and the baseball team.

At the first meeting Dorothy Leuthner was named secretary of the organization, and Mr. Dorgan was selected as the faculty representative.

The council set aside every other Monday, fourth period as the day for meetings. No definite room has yet been chosen.

The question was brought up as to whether the council should sponsor a question box, but no definite action was taken.

Mr. Plourde, acting chairman for this meeting, appointed the following council members as a float committee: Joyce McGowan, Betty Lou Weisser, Marvin Weber and Ambrose Baltes.

Friday, during the home room period, the following students were elected to represent their home rooms in the council:

Seniors: Dorothy Leuthner and Phillip Fladland.

Juniors: Delores Paul and Marvin Weber.

Sophomores: Betty Lou Weisser and LeRoy Carlson.

Freshmen: Phyllis Johnson and Milton Jeans.

Kenneth Houle and Ambrose Baltes, eighth and seventh grade presidents, will represent their respective classes on the council.

Candidates for Queen Named in Contest

Lorraine Specha seems to be one of the senior favorites since she was chosen as a candidate for Homecoming queen.

Lorraine came to Forest Lake high school in the fall of 1938 and since then has made friends with every boy and girl here

In her sophomore year, Lorraine was elected president of her class. In her junior and senior years, she has been elected vice president. Lorraine was also a member of forensics, has been an honor student several times in one year, and has won honorable mention prizes in all spelling and handwriting contests. In 1938 she received first in spelling.

Through the years Lorraine has been here, she has been known to practically everyone as an excellent, reliable student and a sincere, radiating personality.

Another candidate from the senior class for the queen honor is Doris Pederson.

Doris has been attending Forest Lake high school regularly for the past eleven years. During her educational career, Miss Pederson has made friends with everyone. Doris has also been a favorite. You remember the work Doris did in her junior year as class reporter and representative to the Student Council. Through her efforts, she has made a number of valuable contributions to the Breeze which she has been a member of during the past three years.

Doris has been on the Student Council for two years, and she went to the Student Council convention last year. G. A. A. and M. R. are also clubs which she attends in her spare time.

Doris's keen smile and lasting personality has made her a favorite friend of all.

A newcomer who seems to be coming along just fine and is the third candidate for Homecoming queen is June Baker.

June came to Forest Lake high school late last spring. She was transferred from Harding high school of St. Paul. Since her arrival she has won many friends although many students have yet to know and meet her personally.

June Baker is already a confident member of Breeze and is a contributor to the chorus.

As a newcomer, Miss Baker's fine personality has taken her this far as candidate for Homecoming queen.—E. M.

"Tramp-A-Longs" is New Eighth Grade Club

The "Tramp-alongs" will be the name of the eighth grade girls' activities club, the girls decided at their last meeting.

Mary Voelker was elected president Phyllis Ellerman, vice president; Shirley Morley, secretary-treasurer; and Jeannette Houle, reporter.

The committee for the homecoming float consists of June Houle, Shirley Morley, June Sanderude and Jeannette Houle.—J. H.

Enrollment Figures Compiled Freshman Class is Largest

Final enrollment figures for the school show the total of 650 pupils.

The grades 1-6 have 228 pupils inclusive. The senior high has a total of 214 while the junior high follows close behind with a total of 202.

The freshmen lead as the largest class in school, having to their credit 101 students.

"Budgeting" is Home Room Topic Tomorrow

In home room tomorrow the topic of discussion will be Budgeting and Using Study Time. The students will discuss how to make better use of time and also the correct and better methods for study. The Assignment Books will be checked to see how well they are being kept up.—B. A.

We Reminisce With The Graduates of 1939

Class of '39 reporting Would we take roll call today it would be lots of fun to see and hear what each one has done since graduation. This being impossible, however, I'll try to answer for them. This isn't easy though as almost all have left town.

Doris Boehm

Yes, Uncle Sam has some of them. Kenny Long is at Chanute Field, Illinois training to be an airplane mechanic. Donald Justerson joined the U. S. Army Air Corps and is stationed somewhere in Panama.

Several will go to school this fall. Ozzie Becklund, Amelia Thurnbeck and Kermit Christenson are returning to the U. of M. while Eric Berg and Dick Schuetzler are back at Phillip's University at Enid, Okahoma and Concordia College respectively.

Lois Hopkins and Selma Ringius are working in Bethesda hospital.

You who are bowling minded will enjoy having Louise Sanftner check your coats this winter. Incidentally be careful not to be blinded by the bright rock her left hand supports. Speaking of diamonds and what follows—Lorraine Sivigny Graves, Alma Barrott Sanftner, Manola Houk Kunshier and Hazel Wall Anderson are practically old married women by now.

Johnny Israelson and Norma Halverson graduated from business college and are now doing secretarial work on the U. campus.

Walter Rainer is bookkeeper at the Forest Lake Duplicator Factory. Grace Stephenson is also a secretary, but she works for Mr. Kuefler, so she still goes schoolbound every day.

Pearl Abbott spent last winter in sunny California, the year before that in college and is now working in downtown Minneapolis. Irene Rudin and Esther Berglund are also working in the cities. Mary Duncan is in Chicago.

Katherine Tolzman is staying home. Joe Proulx still thinks Columbus is allright and as for Glenn and Cliff I guess they still are in Linwood.

Elizabeth Johnson made the front page this summer when she smashed her car into another one on a Scandia hill. LaVonne Morley is not returning to St. Benedicts but is staying home helping her folks build their new home. In her spare time she takes typing and bookkeeping here at school.

All unaccounted for will have to either wire us their present location and occupation or wait until the day of reconciliation—the class reunion.—Doris Boehm.

Lyceum Speaker Tells of Hobby

"Courage, patience, salesmanship are the three things you must be sure to have when your hobby is collecting autographs," said Ed Rowland, America's foremost autograph collector.

Mr. Rowland was the speaker on the first Lyceum program Monday, September 15.

Mr. Rowland has collected 3,000 autographs including those of the late Douglas Fairbanks and his wife, President Roosevelt, J. Edgar Hoover, Alec Templeton, Albert Einstein, Thomas Dewey, Rachmaninoff, Jack Benny, Amelia Earhart, Shirley Temple, Madeline Carroll, Loretta Young, Olivia deHaviland and in addition many other famous people.

These autographs are in five different books. The first four are insured for $12,000.

He started his hobby in 1935, and received his first autograph February 1, 1935. This was of the charming Lily Pons. He put that of Chief Justice Hughes a step higher than the rest of his autographs.

Autographs were his hobby until the above date, when he thought he might be able to cash in on it. Until three years ago he worked as an advertising manager of a paint company in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. Now he gets his income by lecturing throughout the United States. He has never been abroad but has the autographs of 20 foreign people.

Mr. Rowland classifies hobbies into three divisions: doing things, making things and collecting things. He believes one can enlarge his education, get self-assurance and also money from vocations.

Mr. Rowland has been recognized in Time, Look, Saturday Evening Post and Coronet magazines.—A. J. M. G.

Editorial

Last week a meeting was held to decide upon the issues of the homecoming day football game. Among other things discussed was the sale of homecoming pins by the junior class

To create a desire to sell these buttons something inviting was needed. Mayor Stack, the community representative, solved the question by donating a five dollar bill to be given to the boy or girl who sold the most number of pins.

This illustrates how the school and community cooperate with each other.

Other ways of cooperation are by buying these buttons, decorating the display windows in the stores and business places, and closing buiness places during the time while the game is being played. This occasion, however, is not the only time the community cooperates with the school.

In return for this support, the graduating class brings future doctors, lawye. , nurses, engineers, farmers and business men to the community who help to build it to be a better and more worthwhile place in which to live.

35 New Musicians To Join Band

In case you hear a loud blast on a trumpet or a squeal on a clarinet you'll know that the band members have dusted the cobwebs off their instruments and have again started practicing.

The band is smaller this year than it has been for sometime, due to the empty places left by 1940 graduates. However, Mr. Moede has lost no time in filling the empty spaces.

Approximately 35 students have started taking lessons on the various instruments, and they will probably be in the band by spring.

The chorus also resumed practice last week. Many pupils new in the senior high turned out for practice, but there is only one guess as to which the majority were—boys or girls. Boys' voices are badly needed to make the chorus "well rounded out."—L. J. A.

Phyllis Larson is Head Of G. A. A. for Coming Year

Phyllis Larson has been chosen president of the Girls' Athletic Association for 1941-1942. Vice president, Florence Shosten; secretary, Marie Lee; and treasurer, Doris Pederson, will further determine the club's policies.

The same system of earning a letter is being used in the G. A. A. this year as in previous years. The regular meetings are scheduled for Friday's from 11:30 to 12:00.—H. A.

REMEMBER YOUR

Season Ticket

Have you gotten your season ticket stamped? Season tickets must be stamped paid by September 23 to get in twenty-five votes for the favorite for Homecoming queen. So far about 195 students have paid in full and about 50 in part. This is not much for a school of 687 pupils. Yes, that extra twenty-five cents is bothering you, but if it were not you would have less activities because the cost of recreation has advanced. So show school spirit by getting that ticket paid now and also, cast your 25 votes for the queen of Homecoming.—B. A.

Homecoming Posters Displayed in Stores

On September 26 Forest Lake Homecoming will again be celebrated. Each year many contests are conducted in connection with the event. One of these contests is a poster contest.

Student interested in making posters illustrating the slogan "Maroon the Polars" should sign up at the principal's office and be entered in the contest.

There will be two prizes given; one for the senior high and one for junior high. The first prize is 75 cents and the second 50 cents.

The posters must be delivered to the principal's office by tomorrow at four o'clock.

The posters that win the prizes will be shown in a store window downtown and the other posters will also be distributed for displays.—F. B.

47 New Freshmen Bolster Student Body

The eighth grade this year numbers five new students. They are: Phyllis Ellerman, Marie Zion, Alfred Blaine, Ellen Nelson and Melvin Hochmuth.

The following are new freshmen in the school this year: Eleanor Anderson, Gordon Anderson and John Bengston. Ronald Berglund, Melvin Boettcher, David Campbell, Mary Ann Dupre and Vivian Gatzow.

Betty Grant, Betty Grubbs, Howard Hawkinson, Milton Jeans and Rosa Kaufman. Una La Motte, Mildred Lichtochudle, Lorraine Magnuson and Morris Osterbauer. Harvey Lindgren, Vivian Matheson, Belle Osgood, Luella Osterbauer and La Vella Peterson.

Joyce Peltier, Dorothy Shelander, Marc Shoquist, Arbutis Simonson and Stella Szymanski. Zane Johnson, Andrew Knutson, Lois Molowski, Forrest Miller and Russel Nesky.

Paul Peloquin, Alfred Bakeberg, Lois Abrahamson and Rena Boyd. Anne Hewson, La Vay Swenbine, Beatrice Turnvale, Bill Campbell and Leonard Gabrick.—M. L. M.

Mighty Rangers Elect Officers at First Meeting

The "Mighty Rangers" held their first meeting of the year on Thursday, September 12 in the home economics room. The meeting was called to elect new officers for the coming year.

The following officers were elected: president, Phyllis Larson; vice president, Ruth Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Myrtle Anderson.—J.S.

"Maroon the Polar" Homecoming Cry

Begin to plan now to attend the big Homecoming game which will be played here on September 26 on the football gridiron with the North St. Paul Polars. Every student is eagerly awaiting the festivities of one of the biggest and best Homecomings in the school's history.

With "Maroon the Polars" as the slogan for the day all the classes, clubs and grades are planning floats to carry out this idea. The prize winning slogan this year was submitted by James Bever, a seventh grader.

Many posters are being prepared, and the winners of the poster contest will be announced by next issue.

In the parade the best float in each division will be awarded a prize.

For a sponsored float in the intermediate, primary, junior high and senior high divisions a $2.00 prize will be offered. In the individual group floats a $2.00 prize will be offered for the intermediate, junior high and senior high divisions.

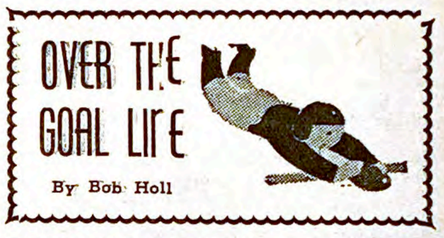

The merchants downtown will again decorate their windows to help accentuate the spirit of Homecoming.

Next Friday all classes are to be held in the morning, and the afternoon will be spent in festivity. At 1:30 in the afternoon the parade will start at the south "Y" corner near the Texaco station. From there it will proceed through the business section and back to the schoolhouse.

Before the game there will be a flag raising ceremony and a salute to "Old Glory", and a bomb will signal the beginning of the game.

Between halves of the game the queen will be crowned on the football field. The three candidates for queen are June Baker, Lorrain Spescha and Doris Pederson. At the alumni dance which will be held in the evening at the legion hall the queen and her attendants will again be guests of honor.

The alumni association under the direction of Mrs. Richard Valenty is sponsoring the Homecoming dance.—M. T.

● Forest Lake will go into tomorrow's game under handicaps from lack of reserves. Beside the 11 players there are only four reserves capable of regular play.

North Branch reports a small inexperienced team but that does not seem likely because they have three men in the backfield and five men in the line returning. All in all it looks like a tough game tomorrow.

● Last year the experts picked Minnesota low on the list of the nation's football teams, and they turned around and won a national championship. This year they have them picked for the top. So according to past experiences by teams with the same rating they should take about two games. I'd pick Washington and Nebraska as the upsetters.

● Over in Brooklyn the police force has called in all the reserves and the army to halt any riot which is sure to start if they loose the pennant this late in the season.

● The new substitution rule will help high school teams because they usually do little substituting any way. The new rule will affect college ball in that the team can be on the field all the time but then it will slow up the game considerably if frequent substitutions are made.

● It's a North Branch student trip here tomorrow so let's show how good their team is by going out and beating them!

● Did you notice the publicity that Richard McGee got in the Sunday Tribune and Star Journal? In the column Nocan Pickem! there appeared this item: "Wonder if Dick McGee, Forest Lake gridder, is a tennis player, too? He has a namesake who is a peach . . ."

F. F. T. New Freshman Girls' Activities Club

The new freshman girls' activity club, known as the F. F. T., met for the first time September 9, for the election of officers and the beginning of Homcoming float plans.

The club letters in the name stand for Freshman Fifty-two because there are fifty-two girls in the freshman class.

The officers elected are as follows: president, Helen Huber; vice president, Esther Graton; secretary-treasurer, Betty Hopkins and reporter, Phyllis Johnson.—P. J.

Presenting Mr. Nelson

Blonde, blue-eyed, boyish looking, John Nelson, the new junior high biology, general science and English teacher comes from Mountain Iron, a town in the center of the Messabi iron range.

His parents came directly from Finland, and his blue eyes and blond hair may be the result of his Finnish ancestry.

Mr. Nelson graduated in 1941 from Duluth State Teacher's College, having gone to Virginia Junior College in his freshman and sophomore years.

He played the position of quarterback two years in college, and consequently football is his best sport.

Mr. Nelson's most beloved subject is biology, favorite food, Italian spaghetti. He dislikes potato salad. His favorite song is "Stardust."

Students talking in class is by far his number one hate.—H.

● YULELOGS

T'was the night before Christmas, when all thru the house, Not a creature was stirring not even a mouse.

Christmas! What a merry thoughts this word brings to us. The earliest record of a celebration was in the second century. The name for this date in English dates back from the 11th century and was called Cristes Maesse. In Dutch it is known as Kerstnisse, and in Latin as Dies Natalis. The Italians call this day Ill Natalis and the Germans Weihnachtsfest. The English also refer to it as the Yuletide.

● COME ONE COME ALL

Come on you lads and lassies, young and old, here's your chance to join a happy throng and dance your worries away!

The place—Legion Hall, the time—after the Alumni Basketball game, Tuesday, December 23.

● SERVE YOUR COUNTRY

Time was when the general thought of serving your country pertained to being a soldier.

Now days everyone can do his or her bit by buying defense stamps. The stamps can be purchased for either 10 or 25 cents each. When one has puchased $18.75 worth of stamps he may get a bond that will give interest.

Stamps are being sold during noon hour. The first three to purchase stamps were Leon Crete, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Robb.

● BE ON THE LOOK-OUT

News has it that something surprising is in store for the students today. Hmm—wonder what it could be what could it be of well it's just about here.

● THRIFT VS. WASTE

Schools have been asked to help in the campaign of saving more paper. Through the years it has been found that the United States is the most thriftless in the world.

Now that the country is at war, all materials have to be properly distributed and thrift practiced. School children can do their part by eliminating the waste of unnecessary paper.

Buy Your Share Of Defense Stamps

For the preservation of democracy and as an aid in helping the national defense, the Student Council of Forest Lake high school has undertaken the sale of United States defense stamps. These stamps will be sold in the school to the students by council members for the duration of this school term.

These stamps of two denominations, ten and twenty-five cents, will be sold from a stand on the balcony during the noon hour.

With the first purchase of either a ten or a twenty-five cent stamp, the student will be presented with a small booklet in which to place their stamps. After a person has bought and saved the necessary 18 dollars and 25 cents worth of stamps, he may hand in his stamps to the local post office and in turn receive a 'baby' United States government bond. This bond, in ten years, will accumulate interest to a total of 25 dollars. This is an interest rate of about 2.9 per cent.

This plan was readily accepted by the council because it has been noticed that practically all students have more spending money than usual. It was thought that instead of spending the money on candy and gum it would be of more benefit to the student if he bought defense stamps.

The council wishes to explain that it is not compulsory for students to buy these stamps, but that the council has them for sale if anyone wishes to purchase them.

The council also wishes to express its thanks to Ben Heim, Forest Lake postmaster, for his efforts in making this action possible.

Remember To Attend Alumni Game

Next Tuesday, December 23, the alumni of Forest Lake High School are sponsoring a basketball game and a dance. The first game between the married and single men starts at 7:30. At 8:30 the alumni and the high school will clash. Special entertainment will be given between the games.

Directly after the games a dance will be held at the Legion Hall with the Osterbauer Trio furnishing the music.

Admission for the game will be 25c plus tax for adults and 15c plus tax for children. Admission for the dance is 25c plus tax per person. Men in uniform will be admitted free to both events.—J. B.

After High School What?

[illegible] you have often wondered what fields [illegible]ents enter after graduation? [illegible] through the land.

Boy Scouts Aid National Defense

The Boy Scouts of Forest Lake are planning to aid in national defense by collecting wastepaper. The money made from the selling of this paper is to be used to pay for troop expenses and to pay part of the boys' expenses for summer camp at Balsam Lake.

Each boy in the troop is to collect the paper from the houses near where he lives At a certain time this paper is collected and weigned, and the the boy receives credit to be used for scout expenses. An ambitious boy could, if he worked enough, pay for all necessary expenses and have enough left over to pay for a week at camp. Anyone who has waste paper, newspaper or magazines that are not wanted can notify Mr. Wilson, the scoutmaster, but it is even better to notify the scout who lives nearest to your house.

These scouts would appreciate it very much if the newspapers and magazines they pick up are tied by stout cord and the loose paper is placed in a cardboard box.—C. W.

But The Dearest Truest Christmas . . . Is The Christmas In The Heart

The magic words "Merry Christmas" have a deep significance. Nothing man can do or say will ever change the Christmas spirit from its profound gratitude and humbleness of all men to the Creator.

These cheery words have been passed from one person to another for almost two thousand years. Their sincerity, loyalty and friendliness assure us that we, as citizens of our great nation, will never betray our trust in freedom.

Let us bear in mind the fact that others will have little or no Christmas. Their homes destroyed or threatened by invaders, rationed food which is little to be merry over, friends and relatives killed or in the armed forces, and the people of some nations subjected and deprived of their freedom are some prospects other people have for Christmas..

Think of Christmas as a time for thankfulness and a more sympathetic understanding for our fellowmen. Christmas customs of gift sending, worship, decorations, Christmas greetings and feasting make this holiday a very festive occasion of joy hoping to dispel the looming shadow of war and strife.

In celebrating let us try to remember the sick, poor and unfortunate and hope for continued freedom and for world peace.

—D. W.

Students To Celebrate Yuletide Tomorrow

Tomorrow at nine o'clock the entire high school will assemble to hear the traditional Christmas program to be given in the auditorium.

The program will express many beautiful Christmas thoughts by means of talks, choir singing and group carols.

Under the direction of Owen Moede the senior high chorus will begin the program with these songs: Bethlehem, This Good Christmas Day, and Silent Night.

The selections on Yuletide will be given by the following people: Bernice Stankievicz, "A Christmas Thought", Gerald Armstrong, "Keeping Christmas" and 'The Shepherd' by Robert Cartier.

A vocal solo titled "The Infant Jesus" will be sung by Donna Carlson. The brass quartet consisting of Wallace Langdon, Ronald Lindquist, Philip Fladland and Richard

From the midst of all this comes slight, blonde, blue-eyed Duane Lee.

Duane comes from Palmer in the Matanuska Valley, where they go to school in boots and breeches and have Eskimos and Indians as classmates.

Duane was born in Forest Lake, where she lived until she passed seventh grade. From there she moved to Alaska with her brother and baby sister.

Duane plans to take up nursing at the St. Joseph's Hospital in St. Paul. Until then she is taking a post graduate course here.

Editor's note: This story was written by Joseph Houle as a project in junior high journalism. The group as a whole interviewed Duane Lee and then wrote individual interviews applying knowledge gained in the study of the interview.

School Breaks Record In Seal Campaign

The school broke all previous records this year in selling forty dollars worth of Christmas seals. In previous years thirty to thirty-five dollars worth have been sold. Under the leadership of Miss Wayne the campaign opened briskly and kept up a steady sale for several weeks.

Mr. Robb's home room led the total sale with 325 seals which made the highest average of 9 per pupil. They were followed by the seniors with an average of four and one half per pupil. Next were the rooms of Mr. Mike and Mr. Nelson, both having an average of four seals for each pupil. Tail-enders were Miss Wayne's room and Mr. Von Wald's room with an average of a little less than one seal a pupil. All together nine dollars and twenty-five cents worth of Christmas seals were sold in the senior high by last Friday.—C. W.

There is not as yet a German band, but one will be organized later on in the school year. —G. W.

Rangers Meet Pilots In Tonight's Game

Tonight the Rangers will tussle with Murray High School of St. Paul. The Maroon and Gold will be seeking their fourth straight win. The game will be a tough one for the Pilots (as the Murray aggregation is called) are rated as a high contender for the St. Paul High School City Championship.

They have won three out of four starts already this season losing only to a strong Brainerd team. Last Friday they trimmed Columbia Heights whom Forest Lake meets in the subdistrict tournament on March 2.

The Pilots have only one letterman returning. The whole team averages over six feet in height. Brandt, a forward, will be the biggest threat of the Murray team.

Last week the Rangers put two more victories in the bag by defeating Rush City and Chisago City.

The Rush City quintet was routed by a score of 37 to 19 with Houle and Peterson leading the scoring. Houle dropped in 6 buckets and a gift shot for 13 counters while Peterson pushed in 4 goals and 2 charity shots for a total of 10 points. The Rangers had little difficulty once they obtained a comfortable lead.

The seconds however did not fare as well as the seniors, They lost by a one point margin to the Rush City boys in a rough and tumble game. The final score was 16-15 with Sahlin putting in 5 points for high scorer.

It was a happy squad that entered the locker room last Friday night after winning a nip and tuck game from Chisago by 2 points. Houle, Anderson, and Langdon led the Ranger scoring with 8, 7 and 6 points respectively.

Sprain and Grant led Chisago's scoring spree with 11 counters apiece. Grant missed only one of the 6 gift shots awarded him.

The score at the half was 15-13 in favor of Forest Lake. The Rangers were never overtaken during the second half. The last minute was a threatening one with Chisago scoring 4 points just before the final gun and the game ended in a 30-28 victory for the Rangers.

A happier bunch yet was the second team which took the Chisago bunch into camp by a score of 23-5. Tolberg and Palmer led the Ranger scoring with 8 points apiece.

On Tuesday evening the Ranger quintet will meet the Alumni in a benefit game for the latter. This will be the last game of the year of 1941 for the Ranger squad.—E.S.

Miss Davis accompanied her parents to Florida and Texas to get her brother's car. She enjoyed the trip immensely.

Miss Wareberg worked at the University of Minnesota until her resignation on December 24. Until New Year's Day, Miss Wareberg visited her brother who is also a teacher in an Iowa college.

Mr. Wilson only had a few days' vacation for he had to attend to a lot of business. He held several agriculture meetings at the high school and attended a meeting at the University of Minnesota Vocational Agriculture Teachers' Association.

The office girls, Muriel Glassco and Grace Stephenson spent a peaceful vacation in this vicinity. Grace worked a few days at school and the remainder of the time at home.

Skating, eating, sleeping and reading seemed to be tops with the high school students, but let's see what they did anyway.

In their dad's Minnapolis-Moline Shop you would have found the Jeans boys, Billy and Tyrus. They said they worked.

June Baker spent a day in St. Paul looking up acquaintances from her former school, Harding high school.

Bud Huber said he rested and spent much of his time between St. Paul and his home.

There wasn't much vacation for Ruth Hopkins this time, fr she worked every day at the Inter-State Lumber Company doing secretarial work.

One happy boy was Bob Elmstrom—just think he couldn't wait until school started again! Don't we all wish we felt that way?

I asked Pat Tricola, Dolores Kuefler, and Alice Jeanne McGee what they did during Christmas vacation and all they could say was Hellzapoppin'.

Now that we've seen what some of the people have done, we'll have to close, hoping next year's Christmas vacation will be just as exciting as the last one.—G. S.

The American Song Bag Company devotes its entire program to American music dating from the earliest folk songs to the present time.

America in the making is retold by this young group of famous artists as they sing and play Caroline and Kentucky ballads, New England folk songs and songs of the Revolutionary and Civil War periods. Included are frontier ballads, songs of the Louisiana Bayous, negro spirituals and excerpts from the American opera "Porgy and Bess."—R. A. C.

School Gets General Clean-Up

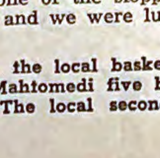

Did you notice the change that has taken place in the school's appearance since last year? You didn't.

Well, here's your chance to catch up on something you missed.

General repairs are to be seen everywhere, in fact both the grade and high school buildings have been completely gone over. The windows have been washed and the floors have been cleaned and waxed.—J. B.

TIP-OFFS

By Bob Holl

● After two whole weeks of vacation we are now set for some more basketball.

During the vacation three practices were held, one being a game with a team made up of players from Minneapolis. It was made up mostly of players from last year's Roosevelt team. The game was a nip and tuck battle all the way through until finally Forest Lake won in the last minutes by a score of 54-47.

● I don't believe any of the players worked during vacation. Here's what some did: I called on Langdon and he wasn't up yet at 11:30. Every time I asked where Bob Elmstrom kept himself, the reply was, "Fishing". But I don't think he caught any fish.

I did go on an expedition with String and Peterson rabbit hunting, and it was some expedition. I'll bet we walked 25 miles. At one spot we cornered on little bunny in a brush pile, and when the dog drove him out 6 of us wasted 7 shots on the furry little creature, and he still got away. And speaking of freak accidents String got two rabbits in one shot. He must have had his eyes closed.

● Even if Minnesota has lost Bierman, they shouldn't worry. They have a man whom many colleges including Boston College, and Ohio State wanted. Dr. George Hauser is said to be as good as any coach in the country.

● The alumni game was one of the sloppiest played games of the year, and we were lucky to win in an overtime.

Last Tuesday evening, the local basketeers trounced a strong Mahtomedi five by a score of 44 to 26. The local seconds won, 20-8.

Introducing Miss Wareberg

You all have probably seen the new blonde around school for the last couple days.

Well—She is Miss Joyce Wareberg who comes from Minneapolis where she majored in English at the University of Minnesota. Her teaching career began with one year of teaching at Spencer, Wisconsin, but now she is teaching English, business relations and art in the high school here in Forest Lake.

Among her favorites are raw pineapple, Charles Boyer, Paul Muni, Bette Davis, Greta Garbo, the color blue, basketball and any symphonic orchestra.

An "artificial" person is the only pet peeve she has.

When asked what she thinks of the school as a whole, this was her answer:

"The pep and enthusiasm of the Forest Lake school gave me a very favorable first impression. This enthusiastic atmosphere makes me want to give my best and that is just what I will endeavor to do."—G. W.

Junior High School Crier

● POEM

Let's all give a cheer,
Let's all give a shout,
For those six girls
In the tumbling bout.

● VACATIONS

"One went east and one went west....". Mrs. Andersen, junior high teacher, went to California and traveled the west while Roberta Johnson went to Washington, D. C. during the Christmas holidays.

● QUARANTINES

Don't get excited, the measles and scarlet fever signs on the bulletin boards are merely to show you when to and when not to enter a public building bearing one of these signs.

● ADDITIONS

We lost nne and got another junior high teacher. Miss Handford took Miss Wayne's place, Mrs. Andersen took Miss Handford's, and Miss Wareberg, the new teacher, took Mrs. Andersen's place.

Class Presidents Challenge New Year

On behalf of the senior class I wish all members of the faculty and student body a very Happy New Year.

The new year will bring many interesting developments for the seniors. With the end of our high school days, only five months away, the seniors are finishing up their work and looking forward to graduation with eager eyes.

Looking into the future we see that the present crisis will have a direct effect on all of us. We should, therefore, make our plans for the future more complete and be sure of the fields into which we plan to enter upon graduation. Perhaps some of us will be serving our country in defense work, or in the military forces of the nation by the time another new year rolls around.

Whatever the new year might bring I hope it will prove to be a happy and prosperous one for everyone.

Donald Waller,
President of the Senior Class

A new year faces the junior class. It is a new year full of challenges and obstacles to be overcome The question is: Will the junior class meet the challenge flung out by the new year? This challenge has many phases.

In order to meet it we will have to go forward in several ways. We will have to be good citizens of our country, and active ones. We will find that time will be trying and circumstances against us, but we must not falter in our faith in our country.

We must keep on in our scholastic pursuits. We must keep learning not only for the sake of an education but to develop into better citizens. We will have to take a very active part in school affairs. We must furnish the leadership expected of us.

It will be necessary to forego many pleasures and activities in order to meet and overcome the challenge of the new year. Despite this fact we must keep our morale up.

Do you think the Junior class will meet and overcome the challenge? It is only necessary to look at the record of the juniors to see that they will come through with flying colors.

Franklin Williver,
President of the Junior Class

Nineteen forty-two has a real significance to us of the sophomore class for with the beginning of the new year we feel that we are a very definite part of the senior high school, and that we are now ready to contribute more both scholasticly and in extra-activities. In the past we have been preparing for the senior high schedules and various activities presented to the senior high.

We have a high percentage of pupils on the honor roll during the past years and we have as our New Year's resolution to have even more people attain this honor.

We resolve to do bigger and better things and develop our character more so that in our junior and senior years we will make better leaders and do more for our school.

Joyce McGowan,
President of the Sophomore Class

Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

● POEM OF THE WEEK

And he went
Be he game
Have he left I all alone,
I can not was.

● NEWEST SCIENTIFIC FINDING

The biology class has been studying about milk and each student was asked to write out "How to Pasteurize Milk".

"Chase cow around the pasture till he gets hot, then cool him quickly and then milk him", was the clever statement submitted by Roland Anderson.

● BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

A little bit late but not to be forgotten was the news that another person attained the honor roll this six weeks.

Dorothy Leuthner was the one and she now displays a honor pin.

● LATEST FAD

"Who took my best dish towel?", asks many a mother these days.

"Oh, I think sis wore it around her hair when she left", pipes up brother John.

Yes, sis did take it and just for the simple reason that wearing dish towels instead of kerchiefs is the latest fad. Anne Tricola and Delores Kuefler were the first ones to display them in public.

● GIANT VERSUS MIDGET

Much comment had been made about the tallness of the new freshman student, LeRoy Olson. LeRoy hails from Mechanic Arts high school in St. Paul and is exactly six feet, six inches tall.

Mr. Mike found a solution for the problem of short persons who don't want to be considered midgets by LeRoy.

"You don't have to worry", he said, "just use a step ladder".

● NICE WORK

The featuring of lighted batons was first displayed last Saturday night during the basketball game with White Bear.

To Mr. Moede goes the credit for the [illegible] saving [illegible] Although the years it has been found that the United States is the most thriftless in the world.

Now that the country is at war, all materials have to be properly distributed and thrift practiced. School children can do their part by eliminating the waste of unnecessary paper.

Grades To Present Christmas Program

Tomorrow afternoon Friday, December 19 at 2:15 the primary grades will present a series of plays in the auditorium.

The first grade will appear as a choir, and will offer two choral readings [illegible] several songs.

The play to be given by the second grade is "Three in a Bed". Due to the illness of Thomas Van Syoc and Bernard Von Wald, Doris Anderson and Donna Fiene will take their parts.

A short drill entitled "A Christmas Cop" will also be given by the second grade. Due to the illness of Doris Anderson, Geraldine Gustafson and Muriel Nygren; Elizabeth Heim, Harriet Jensen and Linnea Johnson will take their parts.

"Christmas Awakening" is the title of the operetta to be presented by the third grade. In addition a short dialogue entitled "Helping Santa" will be given.

The complete list of the characters was printed in the BREEZE last week. The public is cordially invited to attend.—E. H. A.

TIP-OFFS

By Bob Holl

Well it is vacation time again beginning tomorrow. Here's what some of the fellows are going to do over vacation. Bob Elmstrom is not only going to sleep but he is also going to eat—and I mean eat. Pie, plum pudding, chicken, leg of lamb, three pork chops, etc. That is just his breakfast menu.

Peterson says he still has two cows to milk from last week.

Houle and Langdon? Oh, you know what they do in class all the time. They are going to sleep as usual.

● The game last week served as a tip off to a little over confidence on the part of the team. There was some feeling that Chisago would be a push over just because they had lost two of their best players. This game served notice that from now on every team is tough, and they all are just as hard to beat.

The game last week was just another one of those traditional struggles between these two teams. If you will remember during the last two years there hasn't been over a four-point margin for either team. Forest Lake can expect a much stronger Chisago team when they come to Forest Lake because Edmond and Storms will be back in the line up.

● The schedule for the U. S. team has just been published.

Italy—there. (breather).
Japan—here. (bowl contender).
Germany—there. (homecoming).

After this schedule they are looking for a Peace Bowl bid from somewhere.

● The new bright red cap sported by Mr. Mike has been the subject of much discussion the past week. It was agreed upon that from hereafter he will be called either Little Red Robinhood or Hiawatha.

Rangers Down Bears In Thriller

Tomorrow night the Rangers will tangle with Chisago City on the latter's floor.

The Chisago quintet weakened by the loss of Jim Edman, star forward, have dropped two games in three starts. The Rangers were defeated twice by the Maroons last year and are now gunning for revenge.

A week from tonight the Rangers will meet Murray high school of St. Paul. The This team is considered to be a strong contender for the St. Paul city championship. Murray team has already won two of three starts losing to Brainard by a close margin.

Led by center "String" Anderson the Ranger basketball quintet whipped a determined White Bear five in a contest climaxed by a 3 minute overtime at the e nd of which was decided a 30 to 29 victory. This is the first time a Ranger team has defeated White Bear in a number of years.

The score stood 3 to 2 at the end of the first quarter with the Rangers in the lead. By the climax of the first half the Bears tied up the ball game at 9 all. Anderson, Houle, and Holl did the scoring during the first two periods.

In the third quarter the Rangers and Bears got hot and dropped in 4 buckets apiece with the Bears gaining a point lead on a gift shot. With the score standing at 18 to 17 both teams put all they had into the contest but came up with a tie.

Referee Walker then decreed a 3 minute over- [illegible] the team scoring the most points [illegible] cial period that [illegible] ning free

Remember To Attend Alumni Game

Next Tuesday, December 23, the alumni of Forest Lake High School are sponsoring a basketball game and a dance. The first game between the married and single men starts at 7:30. At 8:30 the alumni and the high school will clash. Special entertainment will be given between the games.

Directly after the games a dance will be held at the Legion Hall with the Osterbauer Trio furnishing the music.

Admission for the game will be 25c plus tax for adults and 15c plus tax for children. Admission for the dance is 25c plus tax per person. Men in uniform will be admitted free to both events.—J. B.

After High School What?

Perhaps you have often wondered what fields of work high school students enter after graduation. What type of work attracts most students? How many enroll in colleges? These and countless other questions have probably been in your mind for a long time.

To answer these questions the high school principals and the state of Minnesota compile records and bulletins in which are given the local and state status of graduates.

The local status for 1938 shows that in 1939 sixteen of the '38 grads were at home working, 4 were employed as waiters or waitresses, 3 as helpers or semi-skilled machinists and 16 were unemployed. Of those employed 5 held only part time jobs.

Twenty graduates enrolled for further education. Six entered a teacher's college, 3 enrolled in a business college, 5 were post-graduates, 3 were at the U. of M., 2 were attending a high school teachers' training dept., and one was studying beauty culture.

The state status for the same year shows 35 per cent employed full time, 7 per cent employed part time, 12 per cent unemployed, 23 per cent in colleges or universities and 12 per cent in other types of schools. The other 11 per cent were unknown. —L. C.

F. F. A. Plans Parent's Night Reception

The Forest Lake Chapter of the F. F. A. held its regular meeting on December 5. At this meeting Mr. Wilson presented emblems to two honorary members, Robert Cartier and David Johnson.

The group is planning an annual parent and son's banquet. Thus far no specific date has been set for it. This banquet will be held for the purpose of showing the parents what the F. F. A. stands for and what it does.

It was also decided at this meeting that the F. F. A. buy a corn dryer. This dryer will be set up in the Houle elevator, and Mr. Houle has offered to finance the cost of it.—E. A.

Natura Studeo Club Definitely Organized

The Natura Studeo club is now recognized as a school organization with meetings scheduled every Friday during second hour.

The club is planning many interesting things. Among these are field trips, programs and discussions on topics related to biology.

Last Friday students gave reports on various topics after which discussions were held. Roger Boraas was chairman of this program.

A committee consisting of three pepole is responsible for a program for each meeting. Curtis Wilson, chairman, Richard Iverson and June Priebe have charge of the program for next week.—L. H.

M. R. Discusses Plans For a Style Show

On Wednesday, December 11, a special meeting of the M. R. Club was held. Plans were discussed for the Style Show and Mother's Tea to be held after Christmas vacation. Also it was decided that each girl contribute something to a Christmas basket which will be given to some needy family.—J. S.

Farewell Miss Wayne, We'll Miss You!

Instead of introducing a new teacher we're saying farewell to Miss Wayne who has been here four years teaching geometry, algebra and physical education.

Miss Wayne comes from the little town of Geneva in the southern part of Minnesota and is a graduate of St. Olaf college in Northfield.

Before coming here she taught at Chaska and Ellendale where she was also senior high school principal.

Among her favorites she includes popcorn, pin bowling (if she had more time for it) skiing (in spite of the spills) and geometry. And she does not like asparagus, spinach, cauliflower or cake.

The many students of Forest Lake will be saddened by Miss Wayne's leaving, but they are wishing her happiness and good luck in the future.—L. C.

Wilfred Hetzel Does Basketball Tricks

Wifred Hetzel, world's champion basketball exhibitionist, fascinated the student body with his unbelievable tricks last Tuesday.

He made his first performance in 1933 and has made 47 appearances since then in both colleges and high schools. The radio personalities have interviewed him nineteen times on th air, and he also appeared on Professor Quiz's program in August and won second place.

He was first inspired to be a trick basketball shot when he was twelve years old. He used all kinds of balls and threw them through hoops, cans and other similar objects. When he attended Melrose High School, the officials began taking notice of his ability to make baskets. Right then and there an avocation turned into a vocation. He was a student at the University Minnesota for two years.

Home Ec IV Honors Longar On Birthday

Last Tuesday Miss Longar really was surprised when Olive Bellingham handed her an "Official Bulletin" from Mr. Plourde which stated that the Home Economics IV class should not have class but instead celebrate Miss Longar's birthday anniversary.

"Well girls", she said, "What do you propose that we do during this hour?"

"Have lunch", was the response.

"Do you really mean it?", she asked.

"Of course we do", was the reply.

Well! What are we waiting for—so everyone enjoyed ice cream and cake, which was furnished by the girls.—J. S.

At Christmas Tide

If you were wondering what the noise Friday night was all about, just be calm. It was just the juniors and seniors arguing about the Christmas trimmings for their respective home rooms. But we hope this little 'spat' will soon be forgotten, but remember your Christmas spirit!

Talking about Christmas spirit, many people have been adorning the walls of their home rooms with the season's colors. The assembly has been very artistically arranged and will certainly brighten any low spirits.—A. I. M. C.

Activities Classes Study Hobbies, Costumes, Radio

Hobbies, costumes, radio work and sports are only a few of interesting things the juniors high activities classes have been up to. The seventh grade girls have been discussing their hobbies and also decorating the room for Christmas. The freshmen girls are listening to the Music Appreciation Hour. The eighth and ninth grade boys have been discussing timely topics and sports.—N. A.

Yuletide Festivities

Tomorrow is the big day! Aren't you excited? From 3:15 o'clock to 3:45 grades seven through twelve will celebrate home room with Christmas parties.

Most rooms will have social hours where gifts will be exchanged and games will be played.

During the week the rooms have been decorated to carry out the Christmas theme.—I. H.

Junior Scholars Hear Mrs. Peterson Speak

Mrs. O. E. Petetrson honored the Junior High Scholastic Club on December 2 by showing and explaining her historical quilt on which there are the signatures of all the governors.

Mrs. Peterson's original hobby led to her present autograph quilt. She sent two quilt blocks to every governor and received immediate answers from most of them. Her plan is to give the now completed quilt to the Historical Society and to keep the second for herself.

On each block there is the signature of the governor, name of the state, picture of the state flower and the date they were admitted to the union. The original thirteen states also have the number thirteen on them.

On the completed quilt she has the autographs of the Governors of the forty-eight states and the Governors of Alaska and Hawaii. Her second quilt will include a block with Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt's signature. Mrs. Peterson wrote and requested the President's autograph, but was disappointed; however she did receive one block with Mrs. Roosevelt's autograph. Her first quilt took a year and a half to make.

Included in her present hobby is a scrapbook containing the letters received with the signed items referring to the governors, or anything concerning her quilt.

One interesting fact Mrs. Peterson told the group was that Minnesota was the first state to choose her state flower in 1892.—P. J.

Cub Reporters See Journalism Film

Today the junior high journalists saw a movie called "Journalism". It covered the special departments of a newspaper such as the sports, the financial, editorial and society section.

The reporter at work and the country editor were also featured in this film.

The senior high journalists saw this on Tuesday during their regular [illegible] —D. P.

[illegible] activities are going [illegible] sway as winter approaches. Soon the eliminations will be ended, and teams will be organized. In games such as checkers, chinese checkers, chess, ping pong and shuffleboard, a team is made up of three persons. The odd number is used to make up a team because it decreases the probability of tie games,

In games played in the gym, the official rules allow the following number of people on each team: newcomb 10, volley ball 10, quoitennis 10. kickball 9 and basket ball 5.

The girls use the gym on Mondays and Wednesdays and the boys on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The seventh and eighth grades may use the gym on Fridays if it is available.

Movies are shown when they are available at noon or every day during the week. All pupils are urged to be in the music room by 12:15 or they will be refused admittance.

Emil Maslowski and Mr. Hammond supervise the boys' activities, and Miss Wayne and Melba Sahlin take care of the girls' activities.

At present the juniors take up the scoring lead with 15 points, while the sophomores place second having 10 points. The freshmen are third with a mark of 8 points and the seniors fall into fourth place with a score of 3 points.—R. J.

Wareberg To Take Bergquist's Position

Miss Joyce Wareberg, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, will teach in Miss Bergquist's place in the junior high after Christmas vacation. She has taught previously in Spencer, Wisconsin for a year, and is now employed in the administration building at the University of Minnesota. Miss Wareberg is from Minneapolis.

Miss Hanford, junior high teacher, will take Miss Wayne's place in the senior high. She will teach mathematics, world history, sophomore girls' physical education and will advise the G. A. A. and Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Anderson will continue as a substitute in the position vacated by Miss Hanford in the junior high until another teacher can be obtained.—D. P.

Commercial Students Win Speed Awards

Awards are being given again this year as in the past to show records of achievements in the commercial subjects. Pins will be awarded in typing for 30, 40 and 50 words per minute speeds. As yet no one in typing classes has reached this point.

Certificates will be given to the first year's stenography class when their speed reaches taking 60 words per minute and up.

Some of the second year stenography class have already recieved their 60 and 80 word certificates. Those who have received their 60 word certificates this year are as follows: June Baker, Phyllis Larson, DeLores Ekegren, Hazel Anderson, Evelyn Palmer and Ruth Hopkins.

Grades Will Present Christmas Program

Forester Staff To Conduct "Snaps" Contest

'Amateur photographers, here is your chance for some recognition!

The FORESTER staff is sponsoring a snapshot contest for the three snapshot pages in the annual.

One prize, a '42-43 FORESTER, will be given to the perosn submitting the best snapshot.

If you plan to enter this contest please drop all your pictures in the snapshot box at the back of the assembly.

If you wish to have your photos returned, please write your name on the back of them.

Come on, all students, let's help the juniors and seniors out by entering this exciting contest.

Pictures of Homecoming, sports and small baby pictures are very much in demand.—P. T.

● CHRISTMAS POETRY

Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat.
Pleased to put a penny in an old man's hat.
If you haven't a penny a half penny will do,
If you haven't a half penny . .
God . . Bless . . You.

● MEDALS

Harry Kuefler rates a medal for this one. It seems his dog, Davy, had fallen through the ice and couldn't get back on it. Harry plunged in through the thin ice and waded out, breaking the ice as he went, to get Davy. The dog and Harry were plenty wet but were just as happy.

● INTERVIEWS

Upon interviewing Duane Lee we found out that up in Alaska the freshman boys and girls exchange shop and home ec. for one six weeks every year. It's not a bad idea, and I understand we used to do it here so why couldnt we do it again? Come on, freshmen, back me up on this point, and we might be able to do so.

● SALES

It's probably been mentioned before, but I'd like to put in a good word for the sale of Defense Stamps .Although there may be more people in the senior high let's all get behind and plug in the junior high. See if we can't get just as many people to buy, if not more than our "Upperclassmen".

● BASKETBALL

I think the freshmen on the second team rate a good pat on the back for the swell work they put in along with the many senior high fellows, on this basketball. This is the first year on a team for all of them. Some of the fellows are Harry Kuefler, Steve Tricola, Gerry Holmquist and Tommy Lehecka.

Merry Christmas To You All . .

Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

● ANOTHER STAR

Last week we found out about Delores Kuefler's picture being in a newsreel but this week we have found a real star, none other than Kenneth Sandrude, a '36 graduate of F. L. H. S.

Kenny is in the U. S. Marine Corps and for about three weeks his platoon has been featured in the new 20th Century Fox picture "Halls of Montezuma." Many single pictures were taken of Kenny, and I'm sure we're all looking forward to seeing him in this picture.

● NEW RULES

A set of new rules for study halls have been adopted by the teachers in charge.

While taking his regular third hour roll call Monday Mr. Johnson noticed June Proulx sitting with another girl.

"Now you all know the first rule is that everyone should be in his assigned seat before the bell rings," said Mr. Johnson.

He looked at June again and then discovered that Miss Wayne was sitting in June's seat.

● THE NATIVES RETURN

A very familiar person and yet a stranger is Duane Crampton, who resumed his studies Monday after being absent for six weeks.

Another person to return to F. L. H. S. is Rene Spangenberg, who recently moved to Ohio. Rene found in all her travels that she really likes this school the best.

● SPANISH AND LOVE

This may not sound like a good mixture to you but to Miss Berquist it's ideal.

She has decided to give up teaching to be the wife of a teacher of Spanish. To her we extend our heartiest congratulations, but just think this is the second teacher this year who succumbed to Cupid's wiles.

42-43 Forester Staff Chosen

The co-editors and advisers of the Forester staff met during the past week and selected the committees for the work which is to begin immediately.

Doris Pederson representing the seniors and Patricia Tricola for the juniors will serve as associate editors. Dorothy Luethner and Billy Engler will act as business managers for the seniors and juniors.

Other committees chosen were as follows—circulation campaign and advertising, George Mitchell, Marvin Weber, LeRoy Sahlin, Walter Berglund, Arthur Anderson, Phyllis Larson, Harriet Anderson, Bob Holl; sports—Roger Johnson, chairman; Edward Stark, Wallace Langdon, Warren Hallberg; feature—Dolores Kuefler, chairman; Evelyn Anderson, Anne Tricola, June Baker; pictures—Carrel Johnson, chairman; Lorraine Spescha, Florence Shosten, and Lois Jeanne Arndt.

On the snapshots committee are—Wallace Larson, chairman; Donna Voss, James Armstrong; class and club writers—Gloria Sandrude, chairman; Eleanor Frenning, Joyce Richardson, Franklin Williver, June Shelander, Elaine Alex; book planning and layouts—Ruth Hopkins, chairman; Mary Jane Weisser, Evelyn Palmer, Hazel Gray, Delores Paul, Aileen Morrissey, Bob Elmstrom; typists—Judy Bengtson, chairman; Dorothy Leuthner, Donna Carlson, Bob Elmstrom, Burton Wedell, Betty Waldo, Betty Turnvall.

Monday night the staff met with Mr. McIlrath of Buckbee-Mears to make plans for the bi-annual.

● DUMB BUT HAPPY:

Mrs. Anderson:
Andrew, what do the Scotch people use to defend themselves?
Andy Knutsen:
Hat pins.

● FAMOUS PEOPLE

Acting must run in the family for Dale Moen. He had a part in the freshmen play and has a famous English actress for an aunt. (so it's rumored).

P. S. His cousin, Joyce Moen, was Aquatennial Queen last year. Famous, huh?

● MEMORY LOSS:

Mr. Dorgan's memory must have still been on a Thanksgiving vacation Monday for he came just in time to open the door for the many students who were clustered around it.

● THE BALCONY SCENE

Scene: Balcony.
Time: 8:45 A. M.
Students hanging over balcony and dashing to and fro. Enter Mr. Hammond. "Good Morning", says Mr. Hammond.
Scene: Balcony.
Time: 8:47 A. M.
No students.

● CAN YOU IMAGINE?

Miggie Rainer without a wave in her hair?
Julia Rose without Bill Jeans?
Jeanette Houle not on the honor roll?
No more love scenes on the balcony?

● MORE FAME:

Can you imagine having a historical figure related to a student in our own school? Well, Mary Lou Micken claims to be Daniel Boone's sixth cousin.

● Ooooh!

If some of the Freshmen girls walked peculiarly Tuesday and turned to look in a funny way it was because of their stiff necks from tumbling in phy. ed. the day before.

Junior Class Play Is Friday Night

This evening, Thursday, the junior class presents the play entitled "The Late Christopher Bean" to the high school students. Tomorrow evening it will be given to the public at 8:15. Tickets for students on Thursday evening are eleven cents including the federal tax. Admission for adults is 28 cents and reserved seats are 38 cents including tax with the Friday evening performance.

"Sti[illegible] plot of the play is as follows: A painter throws[illegible] Christopher Bean had died in a New Ander[illegible] village leaving only a few dirty canvasses to pay the doctor for his efforts to heal.

It was a mild surprise to Doctor Haggett and his family when an old friend of Bean's dropped in and paid Bean's old bill and only took away a couple of pictures as mementoes. It was a bigger surprise when another old friend of Bean's turned up on a similar errand. It was overwhelming when they learned that Christopher's daubs were worth a fortune—and how they scurried to find them.

There was one in the chicken coop and the daughter of the house had painted some flowers on a portrait of herself in her room. A mad scramble ensues with Abby in the thick of it. And always in the scramble, the effect on the characters of those involved is uppermost. Always there is the flurry and distress of minds under the turmoil of action; always throughout is the lovable simplicity of Abby, to whom Christopher was an unmercenary memory of distant happiness.

The characters in order of their appearance are as follows: Dr. Haggett, Roger Johnson; Susan Haggett, Gloria Sanderude; Mrs. Haggett, Eleanor Frenning; Abby, Doris Dupre; Warren Creamer, George Mitchell; Tallant, Franklin Williver; Rosen, Wesley Tolberg; and Maxwell Davenport, Melvin Houle.

Billy Engler has been selected as assistant director. Chairman of the various committees are as follows: make-up and dressing, Carrel Johnson; property manager, Lois Jean Arndt; lights' manager, Olive Bellingham; sound effects, Dolores Paul. Ushers for Friday evening's performance will be Olive Bellingham, June Shelander, Elaine Alex, Delores Paul, Alice Jeanne McGee and Joyce Berglin.—J. S.-G. S.

Doodolers Doodle In A Daze While Day-Dreaming

The most common type of a doodoler thinks that any blank space on desk, book, wall or what have you is just the place for his name. You'll find their names all over, but just try to get them to sign their name on an autograph book or on a committee list.

The more timid doodler either writes someone else's name in a vacant spot or spends his time glamorizing or de-glamorizing pictures.

Then there's the doodoler, who while daydreaming, listening to the radio or to a lecture, or telephoning, absent-mindedly makes undescribeable figures all over anything conveniently nearby.

Doodoling has even become so popular, some write their favorite songs, sayings, and friends' names on their notebooks. Those who care to read these, are kept entertained during their most boring classes. Some of the most popular sayings seem to be: "Not open on nights or week-ends.' 'In case of fire throw this in.' 'Holidays Gratefully Accepted' 'Backbone of Work' and 'Bored of Education.'—M. H.

Teachers Decide On Study Hall Rules

Recently the teachers met concerning study hall regulations. They decided on some rules to provide enough freedom for efficient work, yet to mak the study hall a little more an of orderly place.

Rules may be fine things to have but the real test of a student's trustworthiness is made when the teacher leaves the study hall or classroom. Anyone can be quiet when the teacher is present, but it takes a good student to keep right on working as if the teacher were still there. Usually as soon as the teacher is out of earshot it seems as if a "Go Signal" was suddenly released. If a student does not wish to work at least he can be considerate of others by being quiet and orderly.

Many think of study periods as hours to rest up for the next period. Instead, it should be made use of to the full extent. Those who do not wish to work could take more subjects so they would at least make use of them.

Others say, "Oh I have a study period tomorrow, before that class so I'll leave my work until then. Rather than do this one should do his work for the day ahead, as soon after the class period as possible while the assignment and class discussion are fresh in his mind.

Every pupil may become a student if he makes his free hours study periods and not recreation hours.—D. W.

42 Students Achieve Honor Roll This Period

This six weeks there has been a slight increase in the number of students on the honor roll. The students are getting more used to their school work as the weeks pass and are taking more of an interest in it. Forty-two students achieved the honor roll, grade nine having the largest number of students on it.

The following individuals are on the honor roll this report period:

"A" Honor Roll—Grade 10—Roger Boraas and Ronald Tolberg.

"B" Honor Roll—Grade 7—Alice Richards.

Grade 8—Herbert Elmstrom, Lavetta Gearhart, Kenneth Houle, Godfrey Vacura, Mary Carol Voelker.

Grade 9—Mildred Alex, Shirley Mae Arndt, Melvin Boettcher, Effie Mae Carpenter, Norma Jean Graves, Phyllis Johnson, Zane Johnson, Rachael Marier, Morris Osterbauer, Marguerite Rainer, Marc Shoquist.

Grade 10—Avonelle Aldritt, Gail Carlson, Evelyn Dawson, Mary Holl, John Nelson, Ruth Rohner, Dayton Williver, Curtis Wilson.

Grade 11—Olive Bellingham, John Broncyzk, Walter Broncyzk, Carrel Johnson, Ruth Johnson, Melba Sahlin, June Shelander Wesley Tolberg and Franklin Williver.

Grade 12—Donna Carlson, Phil Fladland, Robert Holl, Wallace Langdon, Florence Shosten, Donald Waller and Mary Jane Weisser. —L. J. A.

Rangers Feast At Annual Banquet

The football banquet for the 1941 Ranger eleven was held in the gymnasium last Thursday evening.

A delicious dinner was served by the home economic classes headed by Miss Longar.

After the dinner a program was held with B. C. Kuefler acting as toastmaster. The first number on the program was the brass trio consisting of Wallace Langdon, LeRoy Sahlin, and Robert Elmstrom. Toasts were offered by Richard McGee, captain of the team; Wallace Langdon, a graduating member of the team; Mr. Von Wald, the football coach; Mr. Raymond Holl, of the school board; Mr. Plourde, high school principal; and Mr. Palmer Gilbertson, publisher of the Forest Lake Times.

Community singing was led by Owen Moede, the director of music.

Two films were shown, one dealing with hockey and the other with football as its subject.—E. S.

Noon Activities Schedule Complete

Noon hour activities started the first Monday after Thanksgiving vacation. A meeting of the activity captains was called and the rules and regulations were discussed.

Inter class tournament procedure was explained and places where equipment could be found was also discussed for the benefit of new leaders. The first week was used as a trial week so that the new students and junior high school could get accustomed to noon hour activities.

Monday, December 1 introduced the year's official noon hour activities. Scores were taken and inter class tournament competition began. The junior and senior girls were scheduled for quoit tennis in the gym. The seniors forfeited their game to the juniors because they did not have the 10 members needed to qualify.

A forfeit means that a class loses three points. If the teams tie, each gets three points and if a team wins it gets five points.—L. C.

Rangers To Seek First Victory

Saturday night the Rangers will inaugerate their 41-42 season by playing the Black and White of White Bear.

The Bears, who are coached by Jim Brown, lost their opening game to St. Paul Humbolt. The team is big but inexperienced. Three lettermen, a center, a guard, and a forward, returned to the Bear's squad this year. Last year they sported the remarkable record of 13 wins and 2 losses. Two of these wins were recorded over the Ranger five.

On Tuesday the Rangers will play their first game on a foreign floor. The Maroon and Gold will then attempt to lengthen their string of victories over the Rush City Aces.

Last yeear this team, which was eliminated by Buhl the state champions in the regional tournament, was defeated twice by the Rangers.

Two lettermen, a forward and a guard, have returned to the Aces. The forward is a veteran, this being his fourth year of competition.

For these two games the Rangers heve been waiting with anticipation, for they will show the strength of this 41-42 five.

Other games still on the schedule before the holiday season are:

Chicago City	Dec. 12
Murray	Dec. 18
Alumni	Dec. 23

Student Body to Attend Pepfest Tomorrow

The first basketball pepfest of the season will be held tomorrow at 3:30. The program will be announced by Student Council president, Don Waller. The program will consist of an accordian number by Lois Abrahamson and Dorothy Shelander. Talks will be given by Edward Stark, Kenneth Houle and Bob Elmstrom. The band will also play a few selections.

Complications With Combinations

Dear Editor:

The time has come when I sh[illegible]ol schools. uestion, the contem[illegible]undamentals which will he many a sleer[illegible]alities of good citizenship guish and correlation at Forest Lake:

Many a happy home has been broken up this cause, and I, too, must share the burden of this uncouth world. I dare not disclose the state of my mind to my related kin as they are so old-fashioned about such things, and in my distress I have turned to you for sympathy.

It may surprise you to know that I would consult you on such a subject which only my heart should know, but like the morning dawn the whole affair must come to your nature, and I know you will understand me better than I can explain. Also, I understand that you have been in the same predicament once in your lifetime. Your advice should, therefore, come from experience, rather than that of anyone who has not passed through such a trying ordeal. I really am asking you a great favor, and while you are considering this, I wish you would set aside all other things, and consider this one question.

Do you think it is too early to put on my winter underwear?

After considering this question closely and giving it the consideration you usually give such questions of similar importance, I should like to hear your verdict.

Sincerely yours,
A perplexed senior.

Dear Perplexed Senior:

It had gotten close to the last of November, and I was gettin' very undecided as to whether I should don my "combinations" for 'twas gettin' pretty risky about me knees. After much thought and due mediations, I decided not to wair the blasted things. I thought that by not wairing 'em, I could save myself a lot of work by not having to put 'em on and takin' 'em off every day. You know, they are bloomin' hard things to get off.

As 'ime went on, it got to be the 'iddle of December, and I soon developed a 'ackin coff in me left lung. Oh, it was a 'errible coff and all because of me not wairing me combinations.

An' you know, that 'ackin' coff staid with all winter, e'en though I 'ad donned me "longies" as soon as I 'ad don developed the 'ack.

So, speaking from 'sperience, Mr. Perplexed Senior, don your "combinations" with 'aste, for the wind, she am about to blow.

Lettermen Boast Of A Victorious Season

Next Saturday evening, the Alma Mater will witness the first game between the Forest Lake Rangers and the White Bear Bears and will see seven, peppy, happy hearted lettermen struggling for victory.

All the boys are going to try their very best to win this first game and all the other games will fall in the same order.

Everyone's talking basketball these days and of course all are interested in the personalities behind the Forest Lake team. So let's get a glimpse of these people.

Donald Peterson started playing in his sophomore year and now as a junior we even expect more of him, He is 5 feet, 10 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. When asked what he thought of this year's team he said, "It's much better than last year". Another of his comments was that to be a good basketball player you must be able to think quickly, be interested in the game and above all, show a lot of cooperation.

This is Robert Elmstrom's fourth year of basketball and he received his first letter last year. His interest in basketball may be inspired by his ambition to be an athletic coach. Bob is six feet tall and weights 165 pounds and he said. "If you want to be a good player, you must have set training rules and see that you abide by them". He also says that if Forest Lake plays up to their ability, there is no team on the schedule they can't beat.

Commonly known as "Shoestring", Morris Anderson stands as the tallest man on the team —who can beat 6 feet 5 inches, Shoestring started playing when he was a freshman and worked for his letter which he received last year. In his sophomore year, he chalked up 97 points of the Rangers and we know he'll even do better this year. He plays center on the team.

Rollin Houle vows, "I think the team is much better than it has ever been". 'Spike' is the oldest veteran because he began playing when he was in the eighth grade and has gotten a letter for three consecutive years. He weighs 158 pounds and is 6 feet and 1 inch tall. His favorite sport is basketball and maybe it accounts for his great enthusiasm in the game. "If you want to keep fit", Spike says, "eat a lot of good food and get plenty of "shut-eye".

Wallace Langdon thinks Forest Lake has the best team around. He has gotten two letters in his three years of basketball playing. His weight is 145 pounds, his height 5 feet 11 inches and his favorite sport is this talked-up sport basketball. You will often see Wally rushing up to the band and giving us a cornet solo if he isn't on the floor.

Who's that short husky fellow of the senior class? Why that's Robert Holl. Yes, Bob may be little but he can really make paces around the floor. He's been playing for four years, but he said football has really been his favorite sport. Bob's words were, "The team is short on reserves and is a small team, but it is going to try its very best. He also states, "Everyone coming out for practice every night and showing teamwork will make our team an outstanding one".

Fred Holmquist has baseball as his favorite sport, but his basketball playing runs a close second. "Our team is average and would be much better if all the fellows were eligible", were Freddie's points. Freddie started playing when he was a freshman and received his first letter last year. He is 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 133 pounds, and he's a senior. He says practice, fresh air, sleep and a big dish of Wheaties will keep Forest Lake's team in trim.

We need the team to do the work, the student body to support them and coaches to teach them the fundamentals.

This year we have a new assistant coach but Coach Von Wald is still with us.

Quoting Mr. Von Wald, "We have wonderful prospects this year of a good team but I'm hoping ineligibility will not interfere. There are no "set-ups" in the schedule and the most difficult games will be with White Bear, Chisago City and Stillwater. I'm glad to say all the lettermen are back except Eugene Rucker who has transferred to Johnson high school in Saint Paul".

The new assistant coach, Mr. Mike says: Judging from practice sessions held so far, one can expect this year's team to win their share of basketball games. There are four of five seniors to form a nucleus for a good team. Among the sophomores and freshmen there is material that will go a long way in helping to win the games.

After seeing what the fellows have said, we are going to lead on to victory this year, so we'll see you at the games.—G. A. W., B. A. S., C. S.

Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

• POEM OF THE WEEK:

I'm through with women,
They cheat and lie.
They prey on us males
Until we die.
They tease us, torment us,
Drive us to sin,
Boy, who's the blonde
Who just walked in?

• FIRST NIGHTER:

How many of you know that we have a movie star (or at least a feature player) among us.

While attending a movie last Sunday, Delores Kuefler discovered her picture in the news reel among those attending the Minnesota-Northwestern football game.

• THE LAKE'S THE PLACE:

We all know what a grand place Forest Lake is to live in but most don't realize it until they go away for a few days.

One particular sophomore girl expressed her sorrow in rather an odd way when writing to her friend. The card was as follows: "We arrived here Thursday Mourning etc."

• DOES THIS FIT YOU?

The davenport held the twain
Fair damsel and her ardent swain,
He and she;
But then a step upon the stair,
And father finds them sitting there,
He.....and.....she.

• BAWLS OR BALLS?

Added to the general hub-bub of Monday nights are the dramatists and basketball players.

The dramatists under the direction of Mr. Robb are practicing for the junior class play, "The Late Christopher Bean", which is to be given December 5th.

The basketball practice is guided by Mr. Von Wald and Mr. Mike. The practice is proceeding very nicely and the first opponent is to be met and conquered (we hope) on Saturday, December 6th.

• BARRIERS BROKEN:

The juniors have finally broken the barriers between the seniors and themselves. At first many of the juniors were opposed to having a bi-annual but now that they realized the advantage, we can expect a doubly good annual this year.

• THE SECRET'S OUT

Many find it hard to keep a secret, especially when it's such a good one.

Best secret keeper of all is Miss Wayne who had hid up her sleeve, all this year, the fact that she is about to forsake geometry for matrimony.

However, we all wish her luck but it's hard to see her go.

Chi-Hi Chosen For Student Trip

The basketball game with Lindstrom-Center City was chosen as the student trip for the forthcoming basketball season by the Student Council at its last meeting. This game is to be played on Friday, February 13.

The remainder of the meeting was spent in discussing questions from the question box. Here are some of them.

In answer to the question. "What can a person do about stolen lunches", the council appointed a committee of Milton Jeans and Dorothy Leuthner to meet with Miss Wayne and Mr. Hammond to work out some sort of monitorial plan.

A question was brought up as to why there are not flags in all the home rooms. Methods will be taken by a committee of Phil Fladland, Kenneth Houle and Phyllis Johnson to secure flags for all the rooms and to replace those which are not in good condition.

The control of the traffic of students to and from assembly programs will be the problem to be figured out by a committee of Phil Fladland, LeRoy Carlson, Joyce McGowan, Ambrose Baltes and Franklin Williver.

Water-Filtered Light New Scientific Discovery

Amazing news for scientists! A new type of light has been developed in the F. L. H. S. science lab. According to Mr. Plourde, science instructor, there is probably no other shade of light in the world exactly like it.

It uses an ordinary electric bulb and globe, but the globe has a slightly rose-colored bottom which becomes orange in appearance when lighted. The color of the globe bottom is caused by two inches of water in which the bulb is submerged. It gives off a hazy-filtered light which, contrary to belief, is not healthy for normal eyes since the water happens to be muddy and it absorbs and reflects back some of the light. So don't try to fill your light globes with water in order to have "water-filtered" light.

It's rather hard to do unless one removes the globe (which is not an easy task) fills it with water and then replaces it. (You'll probably be soaked after the first attempt). A more simple way would be to drill a hole in the roof exactly above the place where the globe is attached and leave the rain water drip in.

That's how the science lab happens to have its unique lighting. Seems there was a little leak in the roof and the moisture from summer rains dripped in to fill the globe. This little drop went drip-drip-drip-into the globe.—L. C.

4-H'ers Hold Joint Meeting Here Tonight

Tonight at 8:15 in the school auditorium the Washington and Anoka county 4-H clubs are sponsoring a joint program in the form of a Parents' Night.

Football Boys Banquet Tonight

Tonight the annual football banquet will be held in the home economics room at 6:00 p. m. to officially end the football season.

Toasts will be given by the following: Richard McGee, football captain: Wallace Langdon, senior letterman: Coach, Kenneth Von Wald: principal, Francis Plourde: Mr. Ray Holl, treasurer of Board of Education and Palmer Gilbertson, editor of the Forest Lake Times.

After the banquet two films, "A Hock Hick" and "The New Half Back", will be shown in Room 1.

Marie Lee, June Proulx, Elaine Alex, June Shelander, Audrey Hauble and Elsie Hansen, girls from home economics IV class, will be waitresses. The banquet will be served under the direction of Miss Longar, home economics instructor.—J. S.

Seal Money Protects Our Own Community

Did you know that part of the money taken in by the sale of Christmas Seals goes to our own community? 50 per cent of the money is used to give Mantoux tests for the prevention of TB in this community.

According to an interview with Dr. Ruggles, if the Mantoux test is positive it means the person has come in contact with the germ, but it does not mean the germ is active. The more reaction from the Mantoux, the more contact with the T. B. germ. If the test is positive, it should be followed by an X-ray.

"The symptoms of TB are: fatigue, lassitude, cough, temperature and loss of weight," says Dr. Ruggles. If the Mantoux test is positive but the X-ray negative, a test known as the lavage is given. The person's lungs and stomach are pumped and the secretions injected into a guinea pig to see how the animal reacts to the injection.

"Over 60 per cent of the population has a positive mantoux, and this shows that everyone does not have the inactive TB germ," Dr. Ruggles stated.

Part of the money received from the sale of the Christmas Seals goes to the State Board of Health, and the remainder is kept in the community to help prevent tuberculosis.

Buy some seals from the Girl Scouts. You are helping a worthy cause, as well as protecting yourself from TB.—L. J. A.

Bi-Annual Publication Plan Accepted

Several assembly meetings were called last week to discuss the statistics of an annual. A senior annual or a bi-annual was before the house but the bi-annual was accepted. The bi-annual will be a book published by both seniors and juniors. The plan is to have the junior class pay forty per cent and the seniors sixty per cent of the cost. Each individual assessment will be forty cents and sixty cents.

By having a bi-annual, it will be a bigger book than last year, more colored pages plus many pages of snapshots. The seniors and juniors each will have individual pictures in this book. All faculty pictures will also be included.

The photographer, publisher and annual staff have not been selected but will appear in ext week's issue.

Co-editors, Hazel Anderson and Alice Jeanne McGee are putting forth much effort in making this book a bigger and better book than has ever been published before in our high school. —G. S.

OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

● According to the White Bear boys they won't have such a good team this year because they have only four returning letter men. These are Cardinal, Horne, Amundson and Sargent. These four will most likely make up the team along with one other man as yet undecided.

● The team has reserve strength because a better than average second team came up from last year. A junior, Amundson has made by far the greatest advancement from last year. He is now considered the best shot on the team. They also have back Horne and Cardinal both of whom were regulars last year. Horne was a good defensive player while Cardinal is a more aggressive offense. White Bear plays their first game Friday against Humbolt of St. Paul.

● Most of us who saw the game last Saturday will admit it was a thrilling game even if the score was lop-sided . It was something to see a team sparked by one man (Bruce Smith) come out of a first quarter slump and score in five plays after he went into the line up. Besides this he ran fifteen yards for one touchdown and on another (instead of being satisfied with being down on the 11 yard line) he threw a touchdown lateral to Fitch who scored. When a boy thinks as fast as he did on a play like that he is truly an all American.

● I have noticed in the first few scrimmages that the Forest Lake team has far better ball handling this year. There is certainly more passing around and greater team playing. The shots are not clicking so well but with extended practice this will be remedied.

Junior Class Play, 'Late Christopher Bean' To Be Presented December 5

You'll scream with laughter when you see Wesley Tolberg play the part of Rosen, a Jewish salesman, in the junior class play.

He roars and hisses. He sneers, he raves, he leers and conducts himself pretty much as if he had just skipped out the back door of a lunatic asylum.

All this takes place in the "Late Christopher Bean" which will be presented on December 5 at 8:15 p. m. in the school auditorium. General admission will be 28 cents and reserved seats are 38 cents.

Franklin Williver portrays the part of a heartless forger who tricks the money-loving Haggett family into losing thousands of dollars.

Abby—the family maid, played by Doris Dupre—carries the interest through-out the play. She has a difficult time trying to see through the schemes of her employers.

George Mitchell and Gloria Sanderude bring love interest into the play, and incidentally go into a clinch four times. They play the parts of Warren Creamer and Susan Haggett respectively.

Ada Haggett, played by Pat Tricola, is smitten by the charms of Warren Creamer but loses out to her sister, Susan.

Roger Johnson and Eleanor Frenning bring back "Old Home Week" gags by portraying the characters of Dr. Haggett and his wife.

Melvin Houle adds a touch of sophistication with his part of Mr. Daveinport, an art critic from New York City.

All in all, this play. "The Late Christopher Bean", directed by Mr. Robb, is amusing and thought provoking.—P. T.

Scouts Climax Fall Activities With Party

A recreational hour and program climaxed the fall activities of the Girl Scouts on Monday evening, November 24. The group have just finished a leaf booklet project.

Joanne Houle and Marceline Houle planned the program which consisted of the following: "Peanut Song" by Marceline Houle and Mariella Weber, tap dance by Elaine Hiller, song by Dolores Morley, poem by Mariella Weber, jokes by Joan Baltes, Thanksgiving story by Joan Houle, tap dancing by Joan Rogers and Elaine Hiller and group songs. The program was finished with an investiture service for Marianne Rainer, Dolores Moen, Joan Houle, Marie Anderson and Lois Anderson who now have the ranking of Tenderfoots.

Lois Anderson and Dolores Moen planned the games for the occasion, and Marianne Rainer and Donna Mae Tottenham planned refreshments.

At the next meeting the girls expect to plan Christmas projects.

Students, You Did It Again!

In answer to the question, "How much water should we drink daily?" a seventh grade sage said "Not too much or we'll bloat!" It seems that his answer was "all wet".

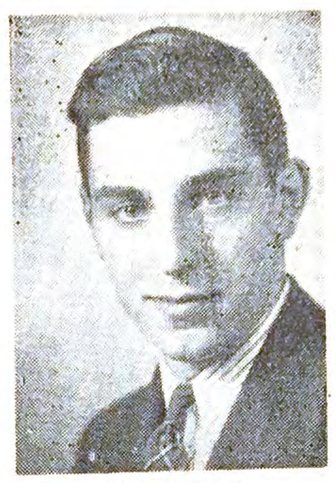

A misprint in a physical education test queried, "What is a soccor driffle?" One mastermind answered "To dripple all the time.".

Some other humorous answers to physical education test questions were:

Question: Name a way of preventing colds.
Answer: Blow your nose a lot.
Question: What is athlete's foot?
Answer: A good foot. Fast feet. Flat feet!
Question: How may it be prevented?
Answer: Wear braces. Slow down.

A senior student began a test answer as an example of a character sketch with "she is of medium height and carries her statue well." —D. W.

Brighter Students Attain Highest Scores

Now that the six weeks examinations are past and gone, grades recorded and report cards issued yesterday, we would still like to know who received highest grades in some of the tests. Although we couldn't get all the subjects and highest ranking students in them we picked out some of the important ones.

Mr. Plourde made out a difficult test in chemistry but it didn't seem to affect Donald Waller who got first place and Bob Holl and Phillip Fladland who tied for second place. In physics, Franklin Williver got the highest grade and Wesley Tolberg and LeRoy Sahlin got a close second and third place respectively.

Doesn't Franklin Williver have all the luck? He received the best grade in bookkeeping and American history too.

Mr. Mike has three typing classes this year but Wallace Larson and Dolores Kuefler seem to outshine all of them.

In stenography 1, Ruth Johnson did some hard work to receive her 97 per cent correct paper.

In Miss Skog's Latin classes she reported Ronald Tolberg to have highest test mark in Latin and Betty Nelson for Latin 2.

Did you say the biology test was hard? You can say that again, but Mary Jane Weisser and Curtis Wilson don't agree for they had only 7 incorrect answers.

Last but not least our English grades. We find Bob Holl, Mary Jane Weisser, and Donald Waller as the three highest in English 12, Wesley Tolberg in English 11, and Curtis Wilson in English 10.—G. S.

Is This Just A Publicity Gag ??

As you know, on Armistice Day the Boy Scouts traveled to Wisconsin and through a few of her parks. But I'm sure you didn't know what happened when the school bus and tired Boy Scouts came through Scandia on their way home.

They ran into a bit of trouble. This bit of misfortune was running out of gas. After having two advisers and 15 Boy Scouts chip in for gas they collected 23 cents. This, of course, wouldn't cover the cost for gas, so they charged it to the school.

This just gives you an idea of how badly the Boy Scouts need money. So save your papers and magazines for the next Scout-collecting day. —A. J. M.

Rangers To Play 14 Games This Season

Comparing last year's schedule with the one of this year the latter seems to be the most difficult.

The Rangers will be playing 14 high school games with 9 different teams this season.

A big "if" lies in the first game with both teams being rated as about equal. The Rangers were stopped in both encounters with the Bears last year.

The next two contests will be away. The first one with Rush City where the Rangers will seek their third straight victory over the Aces. The next encounter will be with the Chisago City five which played such superb ball last year.

The second game of the season will find the Rangers tagling with Murray high school of St. Paul. This is one of the first twin city teams Forest Lake has tackled in a number of years.

Coming back from Christmas vacation the Ranger quintet will attempt to lengthen their long string of victories over the Jephers of Mahtomedi.

The Blue and Gold of Lindstrom-Center City will be the first team to play here after vacation.

Then another encounter with White Bear will take place with the game being played on the Bear's floor.

The most forward looked to game of the season will be played with the Macalaster College Freshmen on the Mac floor.

The most revenging game will be played with the Vikings of North Branch on the Brancher's floor.

Two more games on the home schedule following the Viking encounter will be Mahtomedi and a repeat game with the Brancher's.

The Rangers will then retackle the Lindstrom-Center City and Chisago City quintets.

The last game before the tournament is a clash with the Stillwater Ponies on their own floor. The Ponies swept two close ones from the Rangers last year.—E. S.

Basketball Exhibitionist To Present Program December 2

Wilfred Hetzel, outstanding basketball exhibitionist, will present a program to the junior and senior high school on December 2 in the school gymnasium.

Due to the fact that Hetzel was publicized in last Saturday's paper in the Strange As It Seems feature, he will prove to be an outstanding attraction. He was so featured for having shot 66 straight free throws from his knees.

This program is being sponsored by the senior class to raise money for the annual. Admission price is five cents plus one cent tax for a total of six cents.

Watch Those Signals!

Conduct in the halls is the one true picture of a school visitors get. While in classrooms the students behave much better than usual, but in the halls their behavior is not changed. Therefore a visitor may make his opinion of the school a mirror of the conduct in the halls.

Running in the halls is one very noticeable misdeed. It is especially bad just after a program in the auditorium when students are rushing in both directions but with no real reason for their speed. Running may save a few seconds, but often a student is slowed down by collisions at corners, and in extreme cases both parties may be spilled.

An expert racer in the halls may turn into an All-American halfback through practice in open field running gained in running through a crowded hall, but he is not well liked in the halls where his running is a danger to every person attending to his own business. Running in the halls is one discourtesy which usually gains very little time for one practicing it, and should not be existant in any school.

Another thing to be corrected is straying over into wrong traffic lanes. Teachers are stationed outside of the cloak rooms at noon to help keep the students flowing along definite lanes.

When a student finds himself doing one of these things he or she should ask, "Would I like it if someone else were doing this when it affected me?" The result would be a decrease of poor behavior in the halls, and students would take less time in going from class.—C. W.

Norman Telander Marches With Medical Corps

Rockford, Illinois
November 15, 1941
Barracks 438
3rd Platoon, Co. B
30th Med. Training Battalion
Camp Grant, Illinois

Dear Mother and Dad,

This is my fifth day here and time surely flies. As I have written to you before, we left Fort Snelling last Monday on two hour's notice. We rode in a Pullman to Chicago, arriving there Tuesday morning and were brought to Camp Grant the same day.

I am here for thirteen weeks of basic training and then will be sent to some other camp. I hope to get transferred to some Station Hospital when I leave here.

We have had several inoculations and are under two week's quarantine so that no one will spread anything he might have brought with him to camp. We are stripped to our birthday suits each day and given a thorough examination by an army doctor.

The first day reveille (6 a. m.) and retreat (5:30 p. m.) definitely was a real thrill. We started classes Wednesday—just like being back in college again.

I am so glad I'm in the medical corps—our officers are not the typical hard officers one usually associates with the army; about 95 per cent of them were either MD's or dentists before they were called in. We've been doing quite a bit of marching—right face, left face, left flanks, about face, squads right, left and right column movements, etc. I am sure my physical education will prove of real value to me. We have to stand at attention with our shoulders so far back it hurts, our stomachs way in, and our chests way out.

At 7:00 o'clock each morning we have a half hour of calisthentics which really limbers or stiffens every joint in your body. I feel that I am getting used to it now, though, because my muscles take it pretty well. Starting Monday, we are going to be able to sleep until 6:10 instead of 5:45. 6:10 is practically in the middle of the day around here.

Here is the way our day is: Called at 5:45, out at attention for reveille at 6 o'clock then back to the barracks to make our beds, sweep and mop under them, shave, wash and tidy up. At 6:44 breakfast whistle blows. I got such a kick out of the first few meals here! The plates are all turned upside down with the cups over the plate. After everyone is seated in the mess hall (every meal here is called chow) the sergeant blows a whistle and that is the signal to turn your plate and cup over and start eating. Now, if you can imagine the racket that is made when 250 fellows slam over a plate and cup, you will know what I mean when I said I got a kick out of it.

There is no comparison here to Snelling for table manners. The camp is not as nice as the fort was; I understand that Snelling has a very fine reputation throughout the country, and maybe it is because it is so close to home that we do not appreciate what a fine place it is. The rations here are at a minimum also. Many times there are no second bowls of food put on the table, and when the first five fellows have filled their plates with meat or something, the five fellows sitting across from them can just sit there and, well, they can dream, can't they?—but dreams don't fill the tummy.

After breakfast we come back to our barracks, and from there we go out and "fall in" with the rest of the company for our exercises.

After our exercises we return to our barracks again, and after a short time we go out on parade grounds and march. So far we have had several lectures on courtesy, which have occupied much of our time. Our days are really kept very full. We do not have much time to ourselves, not even an hour off for lunch. I guess I told you we don't carry any arms now or in time of war, and it is against international law and charged as murder to shoot a medical person on the battle field.

It is very interesting to see how the army takes cockiness out of some "smart" fellows who have been inducted. Everyone wears the same uniform and is subject to the same duties and punishments.

You should have seen me scrubbing clothes on a wash board this afternoon.

I have certainly learned how to properly give the salute since I arrived. They're very particular about that, so we are saluting a great deal, that is every time we meet an officer. If an officer walks into the barracks the first one that sees him shouts "attention" and everyone puts down what he is doing and stands immediately, freezes with his arms at his side, chest out and eyes straight forward. One does not ever move one's eyes from a forward look if the officer stands and talks to you, just two inches off from where your eyes are. Usually the officer will say "as you were" or "at ease" or something similar to that as soon as everyone has come to attention. One does not salute inside, however, unless you talk to an officer.

It is nearly nine now, at which time the lights go out, and let me tell you, at nine the bed looks very interesting.

Mommy, you be a good soldier, too, and lots of love to you and Dad.

Norman Telander.

The Spirit of Thanksgiving

On the Stern and Rockbound Coast came the Pilgrims to found a new land dedicated to personal and religious liberty. It was their forethought and prudance that laid the foundation of our present growth and freedom.

As we celebrate this great day, giving thanks for the blessings of body and spirit that have been vouchsafed to us, let us too, resolve to be prudent and exercise foresight, that these blessings may not be dissipated as time marches on, in order to ensure an even greater America in the future.

Breeze Wins First Place In State

Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

● THERE'S A SILVER LINING

Tests for us seem as naught,
For with it comes a pleasant thought,
When tests are over school is too,
Bringing vacation and Thanksgiving for you!

● DID YOU KNOW:

That Billy Engler and Pat Tricola were among the nominees for president and secretary, respectively of the M. H. S. P. A.? We all know what an honor it was for a representative of our school to be an officer when Earl Lellman held the presidency and we hope that we have better luck in the coming years.

● OLD CHUMS SEEN

Although there were about 1,130 journalists at the Press Convention, the delegates from Forest Lake were not lonesome. In different places on the campus they encountered several former students of F. L. H. S. among whom were Vernon Johnson, Elizabeth Holmquist, Betty Banta, Betty McGee, Jeanette Grant and Gertrude Christenson. Gertrude said she is living across the street from Bernie Bierman.

● FOOTSTEPS FOLLOWED

It seems that the old tradition of sons following in the footsteps of their fathers also applies to some younger sisters to their big sisters.

In 1938-39 Ila-Mae Anderson was the editor of the school's memory book and this year Hazel Anderson is co-editor of the annual.

We wonder if Myra Boehm, now a junior high journalist will follow her older sister's example and become editor of the Breeze some day as her sister Doris Boehm was.

● MURDER! MURDER IN SCOTLAND

The famous tragedy "Macbeth" was the course of study for the seniors this six weeks. To make it more interesting records of the play were enjoyed after the play had been studied in detail in class work. The records followed the version of Orson Wells and Roger Hill.

● THANKFULNESS

As a parting thought may I remind you that many are thankful for what they have but few for having more than they deserved.

Vet Camp Leader Speaks To Parents

Mr. Hamre commander of the C. C. C. Veteran's Camp of Stillwater, was the main speaker at the annual Community-Teacher Get-Together on Friday evening of last week.

"The most precious resources we have are our boys and girls," said Mr. Hamre commenting on education today. He also emphasized four things that must be done to make America strong. According to Mr. Hamre, health, more schooling, better understanding between workers and employers and good leadership are very necessary to a strong America. The four fundamental institutions for carrying these out are the church, school, government and the home.

Visitation period during the evening was from 7:30 to 8:25. After this hour a program was given in the auditorium.

The Girl Scouts formally opened the program with a flag ceremony after which Mayor Stack gave a welcome to the group. Miss Grace Johnstone, grade principal, gave the response for the faculty. Greetings were brought to the group from the Study Club through Mrs. Rollin Johnson, from the Legion by its president, Mrs. Frank Weisser and from the Commercial Club by Roy Bixby.

Two seniors, Bob Holl and Dorothy Leuthner spoke to the group on "Education for Recreation" and "School and National Defense."

Musical numbers were given by Mr. Moede who sang "Where-e're You Walk" and Dolores Kuefler and Mary Jane Weisser who played "Deep Purple" as a piano duet.

Refreshments were served after the program. The hosts were the American Legion and Auxiliary, Board of Education, Commercial Club, Study Club and the teachers.—H. A.

These books will be here the entire school year. Some of the books include Miss Bishop, Fanny Kemble, Wuthring Heights, Towers in the Mist, Beyond Sing the Woods, Portrait of Jennie and Flush. There are many others which will prove interesting to anyone who reads them.

With Meek And Thankful Hearts

Let us give thanks today for a multitude of blessings and truly make it a day of thanks-giving.

People of countries ravaged by war and oppressed by conquerers have a bleak prospect of Thanksgiving in store for them. They have a desolate land with homes in ruins and pestilence and famine staring them in the face. The only thing left for them to be thankful for is that they still survive—that is, some of them do.

In contrast with this we have a land rich in both natural and man-made resources, freedom of speech and worship and just FREEDOM. Being an American is a blessing that many foreigners would gladly exchange with those who do not appreciat this all-important birthright.—D. W.

Teachers Tour State For Turkey Day

Thursday, November 20, has been declared as Thanksgiving Day by President Roosevelt and Governor Stassen. To the students it means vacation. To the teachers it means vacation, also. Most faculty members are planning trips for their holiday and hope to have turkey awaiting them when they arrive at their destination. Where will they go and what will they do? Here are some facts which may help you to answer your question.

Mr. Robb plans to visit a friend in Chaska.

Mr. Plourde intends to visit friends in Shakopee and Hudson while Mr. and Mrs. Moede are contemplating a trip to the northern part of the state.

Mr. Wilson is going to stay at home while he and Mrs. Wilson entertain relatives at a family reunion.

Mr. Von Wald is taking his family to Kenyon and Miss Longar is going home to Eveleth where she hopes to have a nice juicy turkey before her.

Among the list of stay at homes there are Miss Skog who plans to go to her home in Cannon Falls, Miss Wayne who plans to go to Geneva, Miss Nelson who is going to Kerkhoven and Mr. Johnson who is going to Minneapolis. Mr. Mike is going to stay at his home in Forest Lake.

Mr. Nelson is also going home but he plans to sneak in a bit of hunting if possible.

Mrs. Anderson and her husband are going to Halstad where they plan to indulge in some strenuous eating.—A. J. M.

Thanksgiving Program Given By Freshmen

Thanksgiving was the theme of the freshman program presented yesterday in the auditorium at 3:00, to an audience of the high school and members of the community.

The main part of the program was a play entitled "A Thanksgiving Adventure" in which Shirley Mae Arndt played the part of Alice Brent, Marguerite Rainer that of Jean Meredith, Eileen Schuetzler of Madge Moore and Marion Anderson the role of Amy Meredith.

Stanley Saxe portrayed Ralph Meredith, Alfred Bakeberg the part of Bob Meade and Thomas Lehecka the character of Herbert Trusbott. Dale Moen took the part of a guard and Helen Huber that of Evelyn Evans.

"The Courtship of Miles Standish," a Thanksgiving pantomime, was presented by the girls' activities class. The skit was written in poetry with the main characters Priscilla Mullin, John Alden and Miles Standish and a chorus of boys and girls.

The girls who participated in the pantomime were Vivian Johnson, Una LaMotte, Joyce Peltier, Rachel Marier, Norma Baker, Mary Lou Micken, Mildred Alex, Luella Osterbauer, Laura Crawford, Nancy Picotte, Nellie Olson, Myra Boehm, Dorothy Daninger, Betty Grant and Vivian Matheson.—G. S.

DO YOU LOOK FOR NEW BOOKS?

Even if you aren't the observing type you couldn't have missed the interesting book displays about the school. Practically all of the bulletin boards have some phase of literature posted.

There is a table in the assembly which is used for exhibiting many new books that the library has purchased recently.

Often this table has been changed and different types of books are arranged to catch the eye.

This is one way of showing you that there are new books in the library. So take a look, won't you?—A. J. M. G.

Fred Holmquist Named President For S. O. S.

The Society of Science chose Fred Holmquist as their president for 1491-42 at a meeting held on Thursday, November 13.

Other officers chosen were: vice president, Alvin White; secretary, Olive Bellingham; and reporter, Hazel Gray. The adviser is Mr. Plourde.

At this meeting it was decided that each member take the name of a great scientist to be used as his last name.

S. O. S. meetings will be held every three weeks on Thursday, fourth period. A program of these meetings was drawn up by Alvin White "Lavoisier".

On December 4 the program will consist of reports given on the scientists the S. O. S. members chose. These reports will be given in the first person.

Future programs will include discussion and experiments on topics such as radio, television, telephone and others which the pupils are interesed in.—H. G.

Caps and Gowns Chosen for Graduation

At the last meeting of the senior class it was decided that the procedure of having caps and gowns would be followed again this year.

The committee for caps and gowns was Dorothy Leuthner, Hazel Anderson, Warren Halberg and Wallace Langdon.

A committee for the class motto was appointed as follows: Doris Pederson, June Baker, Phil Fladland and Fred Holmquist.—J. B.

Tops Larger Schools As 'Cream of Crop'

Bringing home first place honors, seven members of the Forest Breeze staff returned from the 1941 Minnesota High School Press Association Convention which was held at the Minnesota University campus last Friday and Saturday.

These honors were won in the pre-convention contest in the "School Page in the Local Paper" division. This award certifies that the Forest Breeze is the best paper so printed in the state of Minnesota. Staples placed second in this division and White Bear won third.

Mrs. Darraugh Aldrich, outstanding Minnesota author, was the main speaker at the opening convocation of the convention which was held in the main ballroom of the Coffman Memorial Union. She told of her "ups and downs" in the writing field, and she also stated that anyone who really wants to write should take some sort of a journalistic course at a university or college.

Throughout the morning and afternoon, meetings composed of round-table discussions and talks were attended by the delegates.

During the later part of the afternoon, the main business meeting was held at which Bob Avery, 1941 president, presided. At this meeting, St. Cloud Technical high school, invited the next year's convention to their school. Because there was no new business, the rest of the time was spent in the election of officers.

Two representatives of Forest Lake had the honor of being nominated for offices of the M. H. S. P. A. They were Pat Tricola and Billy Engler who were nominated for secretary and president, respectively.

Directly following the business meeting, a full length feature "Comrade X" was shown to the delegates of the convention.

Friday evening, the Coffman Union Main Ballroom again furnished the main point of interest because it was the site of the annual banquet. Mitchell V. Charnly acted as toastmaster for the event.

The main speaker of the evening was Dr. Ralph D. Casey, director of the School of Journalism at the university.

Following the banquet the delegates danced to Ken deVilliers' orchestra.

Panel discussions and talks featured the Saturday morning meetings. Clarence Sorenson, South American foreign correspondent was the main speaker at the closing convocation of the convention.

Patricia Tricola, Alice Jeanne McGee, Billy Engler, Gertrude Waldo, Iris Houle, June Baker, Louise Crete and Miss Skog attended the meetings.—P. T.

Mrs. McAlpine Heads Armistice Program

"You are not an educated person if you are not growing better," was the central statement of the talk by Mrs. Grace McAlpine given at the senior high auditorium program on November 12.

According to Mrs. McAlpine, the educated person is known by his open-mindedness, his willingness to listen to someone who knows, and his cultivation of the habit of success.

Mary Jane Weisser spoke on "Women's Role Today." She stressed the contributions women can make to Americas health and well-being by clubs in the community and the knowledge of nutrition.

Marvin Weber's speech "The Written Word" gave the advantages offered by our library in reading its books and magazines.

"Wings", a poem written by Mrs. Clara Telander, was read by Donald Voelker.

The boys' quartet, consisting of Roger Boraas, David Engquist, LeRoy Carlson and Roger Johnson, sang two selections.

Dorothy Leuthner, Melba Sahlin, Emil Maslowski and Billy Engler made up a clarinet quartet which also contributed to the program.

The chorus, under the direction of Mr. Moede, closed the program with two selections, "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring," and "America for Me". During the second song, Wallace Olhow gave the pledge of allegiance.—D. P.

Introducing Miss O'Donnell

From Duluth, Minnesota, comes our first grade teacher, Miss O'Donnell. Not only did she attend grade and high school in Duluth, but also college where she majored in primary subjects, including music.

Among her likes are the colors green and violet, also anything Mrs. Dyson prepares in the line of food. She enjoys teaching very much and says there's always something new and interesting among small children. She admires youngsters' originality and frankness.

Miss O'Donnell last taught at McGregor, Minnesota, and she thinks our town and school are great.

Oh! I almost forgot, she has a dislike too, which is too much rainy weather.—I. H.

"Freedom of Speech and Religion" Home Room Topic

On Friday, November 14, the topic for home room was "Freedom of Speech and Religion". In Miss Wayne's home room, Curtis Wilson and Melvin Simonson led the discussion. The class carried on a unique discussion and in imagination decided to transport the school to Germany.

Some of the results were these:

1. Marie Winnick would be transported to Canada.
2. The school would be divided into two sections, the pupils of German descnt in the best building with best books and teachers and those of other nationalities in the poorest building with poorest books and teachers.
3. In the morning before class started the pupils would all r...ation by an ar...ail Hitler!"

Aches and Pains of Parliamentary Procedure

"Will the meeting please come to order! Quiet! Quiet"

This was the shouting you heard issuing forth from Mr. Robb's room recently.

"Mr. Chairman!"

"The gentleman in the back seat has the floor."

"Mr. Chairman, I make a move that we discontinue parliamentry procedure in our English classes. I feel that it is too great a tax on the minds of us students who are incapable of grasping such knowledge."

"Mr. Chairman!"

"The young lady in front has the floor."

"Mr. Chairman, I object! The students in the class are not incapable of grasping the rules of parliamentry procedure. That young man is the only one incapable of grasping them, and that is why he wants to discontinue it."

"Mr. Chairman."

"Mr. Croone."

"Mr. Chairman, I object to so much noise. It disturbs the peace of the school and furthermore I want to sleep."

"Mr. Chairman."

"The gentleman in back of the room has the floor."

"Mr. Chairman, I move that we adjourn this meeting until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock."

"Mr. Chairman."

"Mr. Robb."

"Mr. Chairman, if the meeting is dismissed, I shall recall it tomorrow morning and give you all a good stiff examination."

Such was the routine of the junior class while they studied parliamentary procedure. One student commenting upon it said, "It was hard, but fun."

Now with their rules and regulations all learned they are ready to carry on their class and club meetings with order.—L. C.

Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

● PERFECT POSTURE

Feet flat, body erect, chin in, and other good pointers on how to sit and walk correctly are being stressed as a part of American Education Week.

Few people realize how important good posture and walking are to the health of a person. Over thirty-five hundred people in one state alone, were rejected from the army because of poor health, and no doubht, posture had a big part in it. Why, even models are taught, the very first thing of all, how to walk correctly.

● MISSED AGAIN!

Well, so you missed up on the big thrill of getting your favorite beau, girls.

In the past years, girls have been worrying about getting and keeping a certain young man for their very own. It's funny they haven't been taking advantage of Sadie Hawkin's Day. Now it's to late! You missed your chance to get your season's catch. Saturday was Sadie Hawkin's Day. Oh well, it will come again next year.

● CAN YOU FEATURE

A boy playing a slug, instead of a nickel to hear the lecture on "Crime Does Not Pay".

Who the Halloween pranksters were who put a "Seven Up Sign" on the corner of the school grounds?

Ethel Jane Christenson without braids?

The assembly room on Monday night without the journalists and the Girl Scouts?

Bob Holl minus that laugh of his?

Bonnie Baker and Mae Kroberger not together?

Joyce Berglin without Melba Sahlin close beside her?

Seniors without troubled minds about the money it's costing them this year?

● LAUGH OF THE WEEK—

As you all know cows are a necessity for eeryone but did you know that some of them were so smart that they hoarded money?

Mae Kroberger proved this statement by showing a group of us students a sign in the butcher's window which read, "Cow Hides $2".

Breeze Staff Will Attend Convention

Tomorrow nine enthusiastic members of the Forest Breeze staff with their adviser, Miss Skog, will go to the campus of the University of Minnesota to attend the annual convention of the Minnesota High School Press Association.

This year Patricia Tricola will be official delegate for the school. Gertrude Ann Waldo, Billy Engler, Alice Jeanne McGee, Jeanette Houle, Louise Crete, June Baker, Iris Houle and Helen Huber will also attend the meerings and the banquet and dance Friday evening at Coffman Memorial Union.

The convention will formally open at 9:30 tomorrow morning when Darrough Aldrich, nationally known Minnesota novelist and radio artist, will address the group.

From 10:30 to 6:30 the members will have opportunities of attending group discussions and special talks. Since 50 meetings by outstanding journalists, teachers and authors are scheduled there will be ample opportunity for every student to choose what he would best like to attend. Besides emphasis on news-writing discussions are scheduled for annual production and creative writing.

At 6:30 on Friday evening the delegates and advisers will meet for a banquet at the Coffman Memorial Union. Mitchell U. Charnley of the school of journalism, University of Minnesota will be the toastmaster. After the banquet the group will dance to Ken Villier's orchestra.

On Saturday morning group meetings will again be held and the session will close with a lecture at 11:30 a. m. by Clarence Sorenson, Columbia broadcasting staff, Correspondent in South America.

White, Paul, Temporary Officers for S. O. S

The S. O. S. Club held its reorganization meeting last Wednesday during third period. Only thirteen members were present because of the conflict with other classes.

Alvin White was elected temporary chairman and Delores Paul is acting secretary until the next meeting

It was decided by the members that the club meet every third Thursday of the month during fourth period. The next meeting will be held November 13. At this time the permanent officers will be elected. E. H. A.

Junior Scholars Hear Interesting Lecture

The last Junior High Scholastic meeting was held November 5 in room 23. Duane Lee gave a very interesting talk on Alaska, where she has lived for the last six years.

Duane lived with her family in the Matinuska Valley where the government is starting a colony. According to Duane, there are many, many lakes and rivers in Alaska, and also a midnight sun.—J. H.

Girl Scouts Work Hard On Leaf Booklets

Under the superivision of Miss Helland the younge members of the Girl Scout troup have nearly completed their projects on leaf booklets.

These booklets consist of specimens of 10 to 15 leaves and fruits from local trees and accompanying stories on each leaf.

Each girl planned and carried out her own cover design. Some of them are very good and will probably be exhibited in Miss Helland's room the evening of parent-teacher's reception.

A color guard composed of four girls: Jeanette Houle, Jackie Weisser, Mary Weber and Marceline Houle will raise the flag at the opening of the Parent-Teachers' program.

Next Monday evening the Scouts will spend their hour preparing for a recreational meeting and program when many of the girls will receive their Girl Scout pins.—J. W.

Education Week Home Room Topic

Today in the various home rooms from 9:00-9:15 the topics to be discussed in carrying out American Education Week will be "Safeguarding School Children", and "Strengthening National Morale".

The other topics for the week were "Seeking World Order", "Building Physical Fitness", and Improving Economic Well Being". Tomorrow. "Learning the Way of Democracy", will be discussed by the groups.

Yesterday at 3:00 P. M. a program was presented in the auditorium. Mrs. Grace McAlpine, Washington County Superintendent of Schools was the main speaker. Mary Jane Weisser spoke on "Women's Role Today", and Marvin Weber on " Democratic Principles".

Donald Voelker read a poem entitled "Knowing How", written by Mrs. Telander, and the musical numbers were rendered by the chorus and an instrumental group.

Tomorrow the grade school pupils will present short programs in keeping with the theme of the week in the following order:

Grades 1-2 .....1:10—1:30
Grades 3-4 .....1:30—2:00
Grades 5-6 .....2:00—2:30

American Education Week will be climaxed by the Parent-Teachers' Reception on Friday evening.—L. J. A.

Noon Hour Activities Will Begin Soon

Noon hour leaders Melba Sahlin and Emil Maslowski assisted by Delores Paul and Wallace Larson have had several meetings to completely organize activities so that the noon hour activities will be ready to function properly after the Thanksgiving recess. Pretty much the same system as last year will be instituted with minor improvements.

A complete list of the team members for each activity in each grade will be posted soon. The captains who have been selected will be marked for each activity.

It is hoped that the noon hour students will participate with wholesome interest and enthusiasm in the old games and learn to enjoy some new ones. The complete schedule of games for each day and each class of the week beginning November 24 will be posted on Monday, November 17. The girls will find their schedule on the bulletin board in the study hall and the boys will find theirs on the bulletin board in the gymnasium.

Noon hour activities on a definite team and class basis was started four years ago and much has been added and improved each year. Our school received many valuable ideas from the programs that have been instituted in other schools in Minnesota. Some of these are Cloquet, Sauk Rapids and Grand Rapids.

Many schools have asked for copies of the program which has been inaugurated at Forest Lake so that they may in turn improve on their schedule. Some of the schools who have received information from the files of our office are Elk River, Lindstrom—Center City, Braham, Rush City, New Prague and Floodwood. —B. M. A.

Student Council Grants Nine Club Charters

When the Student Council was asked at its meeting, what they thought of buying robes for the chorus, they answered that if the school board wished to spend that much money, it would probably be wiser to spend it on lockers so that more pupils in the school would receive the benefits of the money.

A committee of Billy Engler, Delores Paul and Franklin Williver was appointed to look into the matter of a basketball student trip.

The remainder of the meeting was spent in granting club charters to the various organizations of the school. Clubs which received charters were: G. A. A., F. F. A., Popular Sports, Freshmen Fifty-two, S. O. S., M. R. Sports Club, Tramp-Alongs and the Hobby Club.

OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

● Well since football is over, you'll hear the banging of the backboard for about three months. Basketball practice got into full swing this week. From the first look at material the prospect doesn't look so bad, but as last year the team lacks speed.

● When they asked Henry McLemore who was the best—Fordham or Minnesota—he said, "Fordham would score two touchdowns before Minnesota got their helmets on." "Yah!" said one guy, "They probably would score two touchdown before Minnesota got their helmets on, but after they got them on, watch out!"

● The American Hockey Association this year is probably the best since it was instituted. It's in better financial condition than ever before. You'll see a lot of action because they have divided it into a north and south division and it has become an 8 team league. This year more than ever they are using younger and flashier players because the draft has taken so many of the usual players.

● And how about the Wittenberg fullback who kicked the ball into a high wind. One of his teammates went down field and caught the ball, and they called it a first down. (I'll swear it's the truth.)

EDUCATION IS DEFENSE

It is very fitting that American Education Week follows Book Week because books are one of the most important sources of education.

The slogan for this nationwide movement is "Education for a Strong America". It calls for a strengthened nation through increased education in the home, church, community and school.

Over one-fourth of our entire population is enrolled in public schools and colleges. In addition, private and parochial schools have enrollments of nearly three million pupils. This huge number of students is instructed by one million teachers in public schools alone. Thus the importance of the school in education cannot be emphasized too strongly.

Today's topic, "Safeguarding School Support" stresses the need for continued school support. It is natural that in time of crisis, when money is much need for defense, that school support by the government is decreased. The schools should NOT be sacrificed to further defense as EDUCATION IS A MEANS OF DEFENSE equal to any army or air force.

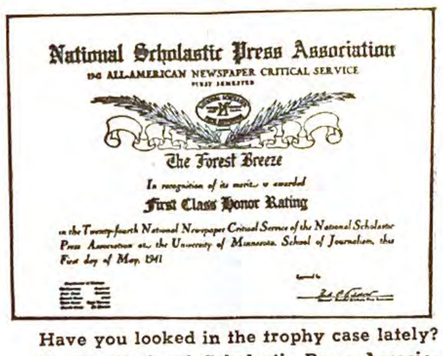

People are being trained for defense work or phases of work new to them; many of these are courses in our high school or colleges.

Young men are being rejected from the army because of lack of education and yet some people talk of sacrificing if for defense; in other words sacrificing defense for defense.

Economic prosperity depends on education of the masses and when a crisis passes there is danger of another depression. This could be averted, or at least considerably by this all-important education.

Democracy depends on the education of the people! !—D. W.

Breeze Receives Certificate Showing First Class Award

Have you looked in the trophy case lately?

It's the National Scholastic Press Association award given to the BREEZE for first class honor rating. The highest rating to be given is the All-American. It was classified from five main standpoints, namely: type of school, method of publication, type of service, enrollment of school and frequency of issue.

This award was won last year during the first semester but the staff received it just last week.—G. S.

Girls Do Part For Defense; Wear Flashy Cotton Socks

Old fashioned! Ugly! Simply disgusting! chanted our older sisters about Granny's large, cotton stockings, but what a change has developed in this day.

It all began back in the days when our great-great- gandmothers really needed heavy stockings for protection against the weather and inadequate heating facilities. Gradually, as modern methods and a higher standard of living grew into being, stockings became lighter and shorter so that some just covered the ankles.

War suddenly emerged into a peaceful world and international trade started to diminish. The decrease in the amount of materials and with winter rapidly appearing in our section of the country has made the wearing of short and light stockings impractical.

The new stockings are serviceable and gay, so keep on wearing them, girls; you're doing your part for defense just as well as the boys.

Six Weeks Tests Scheduled Next Monday and Tuesday

The six weeks tests are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday of the coming week. The test schedule is as follows:

Monday—9:45-10:45: English, grades 7-12 in the home rooms.

Tuesday—9:45-10:45—General Science, grades 7-9. Study in home rooms for grades 10-12.

In all remaining subjects, the tests will be given during the regular class periods.—E. H. A.

Greenhouse Visited By Natura Studeo Club

On October 31 the Natura Studeo Club spent a very interesting hour at Mr. Waldo's greenhouse. They saw many flowers in bloom, especially varities of pom-poms and chrysanthemums. The flowers are being prepared for the winter season, and the club learned how some are made to bear many blossoms.

Mr. Nelson, the club supervisor, brought back to school several plants that were dying because of a disease, and he plans to try to find out what caused it.

The club wishes to thank Mr. Waldo for the pleasant and interesting hour at the greenhouse. —C. W.

Mr. Wilson Attends Ag Defense Program Meet

Mr. Wilson attended a county meeting for the Agriculture Defense Program on Tuesday, Noember 4. Forty people from different townships in Washington County attended this meeting. Oscar Lindahl and George Hawkinson were also representatives from Forest Lake.

Another meeting of this group was held yesterday, November 12.—J. H.

Class Play Cast Definitely Organized

Lights—Camera—Action!! are the familiar terms heard at junior class play practice. If you would walk in the gym some evening between 7:30 and 9:30, you perhaps would hear Mr. Robb say them.

Every evening the play cast has been rehearsing and most every day some one comes and says, "I'll have to quit because I'm moving, or I can't get to practice", but the cast is finally and definitely organized.

The play has been scheduled for December 5 at 8:15 p. m. for both the public and high school. Arrangements may have to be made for a separate performance for the high school before the above date.

The play cast now is: Roger Johnson, Gloria Sanderude, Eleanor Frenning, George Mitchell, Pat Tricola, Doris Dupre, Melvin Houle, Wesley Tolberg and Franklin Williver. An assistant director Ethel Jane Christensen has ably filled the position.—G. S.

Junior Committee Studies Dance Idea

Last Wednesday a committee appointed by Mr. Robb went to all the senior high rooms to find out how many pupils would attend dances sponsored by the juniors.

If 10c admission would be charged, 95 people out of the senior high school would attend. If 5c admission would be charged 107 would attend and at no cost for admission 128 would attend.

The committe who went to the home rooms was: Franklin Williver, chairman, Carrel Johnson, Elaine Alex, Olive Bellingham, and Aileen Morrissey.—L. J. A.

At 8:30 a program sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary, Board of Education, Business men, Study Club and the teachers will be given in the auditorium. The program will open with the raising of the flag by the Girl Scouts.

Miss Grace Johnstone, grade school principal, will represent the faculty. She will speak on "Desirable Attitudes Which We Seek to Develop in Our School".

Dorothy Leuthner, a senior, will talk about "School and the National Savings Defense Program". Bob Holl, also a senior, has chosen as his topic "Recreation in Army Camps".

Mary Jane Weisser and Delores Keufler will play a piano duet. Their selection will be "Deep Purple". The senior high chorus will render two numbers, "America for Mee" and Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach.

There will be other speakers furnished by the American Legion who were founders of American Education week.

After the program refreshments will be served.—J. S.

Students of First and Ninth Grades Given Examinations

"Are these your own teeth?" "Can you see out of your glass eye?" "What! No heart?"

These are some of the expressions that could be applied to the health examinations which were given by the local doctors to the students on October 27 and 28. 205 students were examined; all of the first grade and all of the ninth grade, and any new pupils who have started this year. The doctors who made the examinations were Dr. Anderson, teeth; Dr. Niles, nose, throat and ears; Dr. Poirier, eyes; and Dr. Ruggles, heart.

The defects were recorded and sent to the parents to be corrected.—H. A.

Seeing Double

"Say, didn't he just go by?" "Why, of course, he did—er—no—oh I guess he's one of those twins".

Four sets of twins come to Forest Lake school and all of them are boys! In the first grade are Paul and Lloyd Furrer. Then if one goes to the eighth grade one would surely see Edward and Elmer Solem. Richard and Robert Cartier are twin seniors, while John and Walter Bronczyk are also junior members of our high school. —S. M.

How Much Do You Know?

Have you ever considered how little you know? Have you ever wondered at the strange things of nature and then, being dissatisfied with just accepting facts decided to find out for yourself?

Well, that's just what an enterprising student did, and here are a few things that worried him: What becomes of sea water at low tide? How much light is given by a single bolt of lightening? Do a cat's eyes really shine in the dark? and if so, why? What is the rarest liquid in the world?

After many hours of faithful research, these are a few of the things found out. Sea water at low tide goes back to its own level. High tide is a great wave drawn forward by the combined action of the earth's rotation and the attraction of the moon. The subsiding of the wave is low tide.

The amount of light given by a single lightening flash is sufficient to light an area two miles square with an average illumination of one candle.

A cat's eyes do not shine in the dark. A cat's eyes only appear to shine in the dark because the very open pupils catch what light there is, and an inner curtain acts like a mirror in reflecting the light.

The rarest liquid in the world is liquid oxygen.

Among other things, research revealed that it would take between 60 and 70 years to count to a billion, that there are hot springs in Iceland; that sound travels 15 times as fast through iron as through air; that sunstrokes are less common in hotter regions than in cooler ones; that peanuts are not nuts but vegetables; that a bird is said to have five times as much energy in proportion to its size; and that glass is more elastic than rubber.—I. Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

TWINS REUNITED

Yesterday while talking to my mother I mentioned the names of several school mates, one of whom is June Proulx.

"That name sounds familiar", remarked my mother. She then asked me where June lived. I told her. Then she said that we had gone to second grade at Centerville. It seems that June and I thought we were twins for our birthdays are the same, ages the same, and we both have the same first name.

• DECREASE SHOWN

The enrollment of F. L. H. S. has decreased three per cent by the leaving of Lee Wortman for South St. Paul, Ruth Swanson to Hinckley and Rene Spangenberg to the State of Ohio.

Two new students have appeared in our midst since the last six weeks. They are Duane Lee, a post graduate and Odean Hokenson, a sophomore from White Bear.

• WHO'S LUCKY?

"Did you see my engagement ring?", asked Ruth Hopkins of many students.

"No", "Let me see it", "Who's the unlucky fellow?" were the replies given by more than one.

But upon seeing the ring their views changed for they were greeted by water shot from the ring into their faces. Now who's the unlucky fellow?

Oh, by the way, who also had a rubber bar. When one bit on it, out came a mouthful of water.

• THIS WEEK'S MYSTERY

Dear Sherlock,

How are you? Have you found out the mystery of the rare specimen? Or have you given up? Are you mad at me, or why don't you talk with me? Oh, I bet I know why you are so quiet, but I better not say now, because someone might find out what we're working on, and make it hard for us to continue our labor.

I haven't found any clues to the mystery as yet, but will keep looking. Duke doesn't feel so good. I bet he has the rare specimen on him, although he has many common ones on his hide. Well, I must close now but I might think of writing later if the boys don't get me before I get to see anyone. Well, goodbye you old bulldoser.

Sincerely,
Watson

• SINCE WHEN?

Did Mr. Nelson and Mr. Moede become fashion models for the North St. Paul's girls' club?

The article, which appeared in the St. Paul Pioneer Press, should have been titled Forest Lake Debate Club, instead of North St. Paul Girls' Present Style Show.

• PEN PALS WANTED

You don't have to be a good English student or a journalist to answer this call, just write a friendly note to a friend in need.

The other day it was learned that Duane Crampton wouldn't be back to school for at least the next five or six weeks. He asked that his classmates communicate with him by writing letters.

So write on, you classmates, not only seniors but all others and let Duane in on the happenings of interest.

Mr. Covey Speaks On Morals

Mr. Covey, who has spent thirty years in penitentiaries, jails and reform schools spoke to the junior and senior high on Tuesday morning, October 28. His topic was "Crime Does Not Pay".

Mr. Covey knew many gangsters, including John Dillinger, and has had many experiences with them.

He told the students that there were three students in this school who would end up in the penitentiary, in the electric chair or would die by a policeman's gun. He gave the group seven questions to answer. If one could answer yes to all seven of them, he was one of the three.

These seven key questions were: (1) Do you disobey your father and mother? (2) Do you skip school or get to school late, as a habit? (3) Do you disobey laws of the town in which you live? (4) Do you chisel, hock or snitch from a store? (5) Do you steal? (6) Are you a thief? (7) Do you run around with a bad girl or a bad boy?

This talk was sponsored by the junior and senior classes and five cents admission was charged for the lecture.—H. A.

Rangers End Season With 12-0 Victory

With a baze of glory the Rangers of 1941 wound up their football season by virtue of a victory The Maroon and Gold trumped the Aces of Rush City with a 12-0 score

The fireworks started in the first quarter when the Rangers marched half the field for a touchdown. McGee plowed over from a short ways out to put the Rangers in front 6 to 0. Captain McGee's dropkick for the extra point was not good, just missing the posts by about six inches.

In the second quarter, LeRoy Sahlin, substitute halfback, intercepted a pass and with some beautiful blocking ahead of him ran for a touchdown. Wally Langdon failed to make the extra point on a place kick.

Pass interceptions by the Rangers were numerous and some were run back for considerable yardage. The Blue and Gold of Rush City came close to scoring on one occasion but the ball was fumbled and Forest Lake recovered on the two yard line.

Rush City's captain was hurt early in the first quarter and was sorely missed from there on by the Aces.

Outstanding players for the Rangers were Captain McGee, Wallace Langdon, Bob Holl, Arnold Carlson and LeRoy Sahlin, with Captain McGee playing the most brilliant game of his high school football career. The team as a whole, functioned well during the course of the game. In all, 18 players were used in the game.

With ending of this game so ended the 1941 season. The Rangers had everything but luck this year and so they wound up the season with four losses, one win and two ties.—E. S.

Chanute Field Cadet Talks On Air Corps Life

Donald Sieben, cadet of Chanute Field, spoke to the ninth grade boys' activity class Monday on the life of a cadet.

Donald has had 640 hours of flying and has only been in one crash. He has been in the bombing squadron for the eleven and one half months that he has studied. He thinks that the United States is far behind the European countries in war-fare.

All cadets rise at 5:00 o'clock in the morning and from 6:00-9:00 o'clock they fly. From 9:00 o'clock they have free time. School begins at 3:00 o'clock and lasts until 6:00 o'clock in the evening. The evenings are used for studying.

After his talk the group had a discussion. "We eat lie ings", said Mr. Sieben. "The army morale is very high contrary to the reports given by eminent spokesmen. Even though I'm in the army air corps, I think the navy excells us in safety".—P. T.

Boy Scouts Seek New Recruits

At the present time the local Boy Scout Troop 137 is registering new boys in its ranks. A number of boys, much larger than in any recent years, are registering for the first time, or are passing their Tenderfoot tests previous to registering.

The first boys to join the Boy Scouts after being Cubs in Forest Lake are Joseph Houle, Dean McGowan and Ambrose Baltes. These boys are working on their tests, and soon will be registered Scouts.

The local Cub program is starting to bear fruit, and in the next two or three years 11 or 12 boys probably will step from the ranks of Cubbing up into the local Boy Scout troop. —C. W.

OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

● Well Forest Lake finally came through with a victory. One touchdown was earned while another was made on an intercepted pass. The ball game was well played in the first half. Forest Lake seemed to slow down after the half and they couldn't utilize a couple of other breaks which might have resulted in a touchdown.

● Minnesota this week will most likely not be on the top of the National football poll for the simple reason that they did not beat Northwestern by a large enough score.

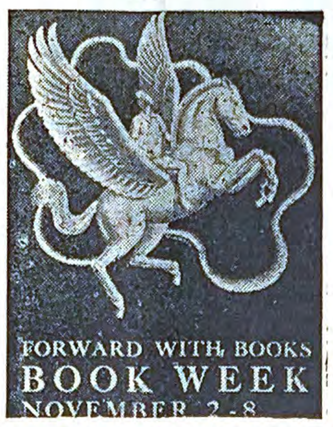

● Texas beat S. M. U. by 34-0 Saturday. This team was beaten by the Pride of the East, Fordham, in the last 32 seconds, 16-14. Texas still has Texas A and M to play while Minnesota has played all their games of importance and can gain little prestige from the last games unless they beat all three badly.

● The new backboards were installed this week and basketball practice begins the week after next. Forest Lake should be used to the fan shaped boards because they had a few games last year where they were used. The new boards will probably result in more points scored this year and better ball because when a player shoots at the basket there will be a tendency to shoot more accurately.

● That run of Bud Higgins was Bernie Bierman's answer to the eastern critics who said Minnesota played uninteresting football. I wonder what Mr. Grantland Rice and a few others think? They said Minnesota was only a fumble better than Michigan and that all they showed was a mass of power, nothing else. Confidentially Mr. Rice and all his other critics had Northwestern picked.

● If you want to get all the dope on the games the Saturday before listen on Sunday to interviews of Lou Little on eastern teams, Lynn Waldorf on the Midwestern teams and Clark Shaugnessy on the western teams. This comes over KSTP at about 10:45 a. m.

Let's Go "Forward With Books"

National Book Week is now being observed from November 2-8. The slogan for this year is "Forward With Books". It makes us think of the place held by books in our modern world. It shows how books are important in both a world of strife and a world of peace.

Last year's slogan was "Good Books-Good Friends". It stressed the companionship a book offers for the people who enjoy books.

The purposes of National Book Week are: (1) To encourage the love of book reading. (2) To stimulate public appreciation of good books. (3) To increase knowledge and support for public book facilities, and (4) To encourage home ownership of books.

Today is designated as Public Library Day on which special emphasis is given to the services rendered by the public library.

The values of books are many. These include: increase of culture and knowledge by passing on to the reader the wisdom of ages; a broader horizon or viewpoint on every subject from government to sports; a stronger loyalty; a better understanding of both community and country problems; and a very worthwhile recreational activity for all participants.

With the values of books numbering so many it becomes quite apparent why with increased reading we go "Forward With Books".—D. W.

Press Convention At University Nov. 14-15

Members of the Journalism Club will attend the Minnesota High School Press convention November 14 and 15 which will be held at the University of Minnesota.

The opening address of the convention will be given Friday at 9:30 a. m. by Darrogh Aldrich, nationally known Minnesota novelist. She is the author of "Earth Never Tires", "Peter Good for Nothing", and a recently completed novle, "Some Trails Never End". Some of the other attractions are colored movies to be shown by Clarence Swenson, a member of the C. B. S. correspondence staff in South America, and a full length movie with a newspaper plot.

In previous years the convention banquet and dance has been held in a hotel, but this year it will take place at the Coffman Memorial main ballroom.

Out of town attendants will stay at the Curtis Hotel which has supplied special rates for the occasion.

Because of criticism of previous years that too many events were held at the two-day convention, the contests will be discontinued. However the pre-convention contests will be held as usual with addition of ad make-up, a section for the most interesting advertisements.

The purpose of the convention is for different journalistic groups of the state to get together and discuss various problems of writing, as well as finding new ways to present the news and improve their writing abilities.

The Journalism Club has entered articles in the pre-convention contests which will be judged by the University of Minnesota professors. Delegates to the convention will be chosen this week.—L. J. A.

Berquist Unable To Return; New Substitute To Be Hired

"I wonder when Miss Berquist will be back?" This has been a common statement heard among the students in school, because they all have missed the little dark-haired teacher who has been teaching English, art and business relations to the junior high.

Last week an official report came from Mr. Kuefler that Miss Berquist, who, you remember, suffered injuries in an automobile accident this fall while she was enroute to Minnesota from Mexico, will be unable to be back this year.

Students and faculty members are sorry to hear of Miss Berquist's not coming back to resume her duties in the Forest Lake Schools this year, but they look forward to the fact that she may next year be able to take an active part in the educational life here.

Mrs. Anderson will still continue to fill Miss Berquist's place until a new teacher is elected to the position.—E. A. & M. H.

School Children Given Physical Examinations

The annual physical examination of our pupils was conducted on October 27-28, by the local physicians and dentists. Each pupil was given a slip showing which defects, if any, were found. Of course, the school has a record.

For a number of years the Board of Education provided for the examination of pupils who were new to our school. The only major exception occurred in 1936 when the entire pupil population was examined. This year the Board adopted a feasible system which seems certain to become a future policy. All pupils in grades 1, 5, 9, new pupils in other grades, and others who had evident defects that can be corrected were examined. This included 205 pupils.

By taking all pupils of the certain grades each pupil will be examined periodically at least three times during his school career. Naturally, it is sincerely hoped that the parents will arrange for additional check-ups.

It is very evident that parents cannot well afford to be satisfied by merely knowing that defects exist. The main benefit will be derived from serious determination to remove the handicaps. The Board of Education will consider the investment especially worthwhile if essential attention is given. The cooperation of all concerned is solicited.

Signed,
B. C. KUEFLER, Supt.

Ninth Grade Girls Study Unit On Dinners

The ninth grade home economics classes are studying a unit on dinners. They studied dinners and prepared dinner foods. They will now study a unit on desserts for dinners. They plan to bake cakes and make gelatin desserts.

The ninth grade girls have three projects which they must complete this year. They have their choice from many different things such as baking, sewing and remodeling.—J. B.

Programs Feature Education Week

Beginning on November 9 and continuing through November 15, all schools are observing American Education Week. The general theme prevailing during this week will be "Education for a Strong America," but a definite subtopic will be discussed each day.

A home room period from 9:00-9:20 will be set aside Monday to Thursday, besides Friday's regular home room period to discuss the day's theme.

The program for the week is as follows: Sunday: "Seeking World Order". The Student Council president, Donald Waller, has contacted the local pastors asking them to present the subject in their sermon on that day.

Monday: "Building Physical Fitness".

Tuesday: School will not be in session.

Wednesday: "Improving Economic Well- being". There will be an auditorium program at 3:00. Mrs. Grace McAlpine, Washington County Superintendent of Schools, will be the main speaker. Mary Jane Weisser will speak on "Women's Role Today", Marvin Weber on "Democratic Principles", and Donald Voelker will recite a poem written by Mrs. Clara Telander. The chorus and an instrumental ensemble will furnish the musical divisions. The committee in charge is Mr. Plourde, Mr. Nelson and Mr. Moede.

Thursday: "Safeguarding School Children"; "Strengthening National Morale".

Friday: "Learning the Ways of Democracy"; "Enriching Family Life", prepared by Miss Nelson.

The community-teacher get-together will begin at 7:30 in the evening. The teachers will welcome the parents in their home rooms from 7:30 to 8:25. At 8:30 a program will be given in the auditorium.

The program is sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary, Board of Education, Business Men, Study Club and teachers. The American Legion will furnish the speakers because they were the founders of American Education Week. The seniors who will be on the program are Dorothy Leuthner and Robert Holl. Miss Grace Johnstone will represent the faculty. Refeshments will be served about 10:00.

The public is invited to visit school at all times, but especially during American Education Week.—J. H.

Journalism Club Chooses Doris Pederson Chairman

Doris Pederson was elected program chairman of the Journalism Club at its meeting on Tuesday. Her duties will be to plan a program for the Journalism Club meetings.

The club is also taking steps on getting membership to the Quill and Scroll. This is an international literary honor society which gives its honors to the individual writers as well as to the student paper.

A committee, headed by Hazel Anderson, is working on a plan for an appropriate time to have the Journalism Club meeting. It now conflicts with Senior High Chorus and typing class; consequently many members are unable to be at the meeting for the full hour.

The club is also open for new membership; anyone desiring to join should do so at once. —P. T.

The freshman class had a program consisting of poems, solos and instrumental numbers. They also played games.

The sophomores played games during their social hour, and the juniors had for their program, musical numbers, duets and social games.

In the senior class a committee of Phillip Fladland, Dorothy Leuthner, Wallace Larson, Bob Holl, Donna Carlson, Judy Bengtson, Fred Holmquist, Donald Waller and Bob Elmstrom put on a radio program for the rest of the class.

Refreshments were served in some home rooms.—E. H. A.

Tramp-alongs Observe Hallowe'en With a Party

The eighth grade girls' club, the "Tramp Alongs" hed a Halloween party in Miss Booren's room October 29. Refreshments were served and the party lasted from 12:00 to 2:00. Ellen Mary Thompson was the chairman of the program committee.—J. H.

Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

• STARS INTERVIEWED

Saturday evening after the grand performance given by the KSTP Sunset Valley Barn Dance I ventured backstage to meet some of the stars.

I stood for a moment with a puzzled look and then I spied two very attractive girls, Katherine Kohls, with a big accordian, and Marilyn Mercord, who was gaily dressed in a cowgirl outfit.

Forest Lake wasn't a new place for Katherine to view because she lives out here nearly all summer. This summer she stayed about a mile from the Country Club and during that time she found Wagner's hamburgers delightful.

Kathy graduated from Wilson High School last January and has been on the Barn Dance since February. She stated it doesn't bother one to perform for an audience after a few times. She is taking tap dancing lessons. Kathy claims pretzels are her favorite food.

Marilyn Mercord who is also known as the Sweetheart of the Show, is a senior at the Prescott, Wisconsin high school. She is taking a general course, and belongs to the glee club and the choir.

Marilyn had originally intended to be a tap dancer and still wants to follow that desire.

Upon being asked if being on the show interferred with her schooling she replied, "No, you see I only travel with the show when they go on their Saturday shows; I don't go with them during the week."

• LOCAL GIRLS MAKE GOOD

Last but not least came Mary Lou Micken and Arlys Houfer, two F. L. H. S. students who appeared as guest artists on the show.

Mary Lou sang and Arlys accompanied her on the guitar. They both said they weren't afraid and that the entire cast was very friendly, especially Bobby Walker. After the show the girls were presented with a piece of anniversary cake and ice cream. They were also invited to be guests again in the future.

• SENIOR CALAMITIES

The seniors are really having their time being banged up and around, but now things seem to be pointing toward a fine recovery.

Spike Houle, a star football player, is back in school after an operation on his nose.

The other day Duane Crampton had the misfortune of burning down his father's machine shop, a lot of new machinery and Duane's own car.

• BE SPECIFIC, MISS SKOG

This little drama took place bright and early Monday morning in the assembly, with Miss Skog, Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Telander, who are generally the first arrivals to school, as the main participants.

Mr. Johnson, during the M. E. A., took part in a very interesting discussion at which Miss Skog was present.

Miss Skog: "Mr. Johnson. I want to congratulate you on your part in the discussion. It was very good. Oh, by the way—uh—er—a—who was that dark haired, interesting and very attractive young woman with the black hat on, who took quite a special part in the discussion?

Mr. Johnson: "Do you mean physically?"

Miss Skog: "No, mentally."

Council Delegates Attend Convention

St. Cloud was the scene of the tenth Annual Convention of the Northwest Federation of Student Councils, which was held last Friday and Saturday. Central junior high school, Technical senior high school and Cathedral high school were the hosts to this convention.

The Forest Lake Student Council was very ably represented at this convention by Billy Engler, Donald Waller, Joyce McGowan, Betty Lou Weisser and Miss Booren, the adviser.

Dr. Walter C. Coffey, president of the University of Minnesota, was the main speaker at the opening session of the convention which followed the registration by the various schools.

Directly following lunch, a tour was conducted to the St. Cloud Reformatory, where the conventionites were conducted through the institution. The different trade shops, the living quarters and the recreational facilities were the main points of interest in the tour.

Following the tour, panel discussions were held at which students from various schools led the discussions. Some of the topics discussed were safety, noon hour activities, home room activities, encouraging school spirit, school parties, honor societies and awards, high school publications and student elections.

Billy Engler, the Forest Lake Council official delegate, led a discussion on "High School Awards". Billy used the present award's policy of Forest Lake high school as the basis of his talk.

On Friday evening, a banquet was held in the St. Cloud Institute Building. Fredrick Hughes, a prominent St. Cloud attorney, was the main speaker of the evening.

Following the banquet, a dance was held under the sponsorship of Cathedral high school. Ray Sleevi furnished the music for the event.

Saturday morning, Carl W. Moen, representing the Conservation Department of the State of Minnesota, showed colored movies of the work carried on by that department.

John Marvin, president of the Northwest Federation of Student Councils for 1941, presided over the business meeting which concluded the convention.

At this meeting, the schools which are to provide the officers were elected. The president will come from Faribault and the vice president from Glencoe.

Roosevelt high school of Minneapolis, will act as host to the 1942 convention. According to the constitution, the secretary and the treasurer will come from the host school.

The Northwest Federation of Student Councils' delegate to the national convention, which will be held next year at Denver, Colorado, will come from St. Cloud Technical high school.

Virginia Dear, last year's delegate to the national convention also told of her experiences.

Don't Blame Pranksters – Probably There Are Spooks

It happened one night. Not to Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert, but to a couple of spooks who used to haunt the attic of an old school in Englewood Manor. The two were called by their ghost friends "The Haunter" and "The Hauntess" and they had lived quite happily in their little home for some 150 years.

But of course this couldn't go on forever. At a council meeting the school officials decided to tear down the building and replace it with a new one without an attic for they considered attics to be collectors of waste.

Oh, woe to the spooks! They were about to lose their home. Suddenly "The Haunter" struck upon a bright idea. He said to his wife "The Hauntess", "Let's have a gathering of the spooks next Friday night. It's Halloween, you know. We can have a rollicking good time and save our home also."

Well, "The Hauntess" was in a daze practically all week wondering about her hubby's bright idea. When Friday eve finally arrived, her wondering was over. Down in the hall a large gathering of spooks had formed with shovels and pails and a lot of other apparatus. "The Haunter" appeared and quieted the group.

"Fellows, we're about to lose our home unless something is done. The council has decided to wreck our home to make way for a new school. So that's why we're all here tonight. We're going to move our home to a more secluded spot."

So all night long the spooks did work, and they finally (after much effort) got their home moved. Next morning folks thought that prowlers had moved the building but such was not the case. And in case you've ever wondered who moves buildings to strange places on Halloween, you know the answer now. Some spooks have moved their home to what they feel is a safer, more secluded spot. The pranksters didn't have anything to do with it—not even with the doghouse you found moved into your backyard.—L. C.

Rangers Meet Rush City In Final Game

Forest Lake's battleworn and unfortunate victim of many bad breaks will attempt to win their last game of the season tomorrow. The Rangers have yet to taste victory and so they will be out to upset the blue and gold of Rush City.

This will be the last high school game for seven seniors. These boys are Robert Holl, Robert Elmstrom, Richard McGee, Donald Furrer, Clarence Huber, Wallace Langdon and Alvin White. Rollin Houle, another senior, played his last game against Hinckley.

Not much is known about the Rush City eleven except that they made an impressive showing against the Rangers last year when they defeated the marroon and gold. Reports are that they have been defeated by the strong North Branch eleven whom we battled to a scoreless tie earlier in the season.

Mistakes and blunders by both teams marked the Hinckley game played a week ago yesterday on the Ranger's field. Hinckley's passing and the Rangers' end runs highlighted the game which ended in a scoreless tie. The majority of the game was played between the twenty yard stripes with the Rangers and the Polars both making impressive gains. End runs, paced by Houle almost spelled disaster for the Hinckley eleven when he raced down the field only to be brought down from behind.

Donald Furrer and Arnold Carlson were outstanding in line play for the Rangers with Houle, Holl, and McGee pacing the backfield.

Only four substitutions were made by coaches Von Wald and Hammond in this contest.

The starting lineup for the Rangers was: White L. E. Johnson L. T., Rucker L. G., Elmstrom C., Carlson R. G., Furrer R. T., Huber R. E., Holl Q. B., Langdon R. H. B., Houle L. H. B., McGee F. B. Substitutions for the Rangers were Jeans, Sahlin, Palmer, and Larson.—E. S.

Seven Clubs Furnish Curricular Interest

Six activity clubs and one honor club are prominent in the junior high.

The Junior High Scholastic Club was organized at the end of the first six-weeks period, and its membership only includes honor roll students of the junior high.

The seventh grade boys' activity club plans many interesting activities for the year. The officers are as follows: president, John Zion; vice-president, James Milner; secretary-treasurer, Gerald Lunzer.

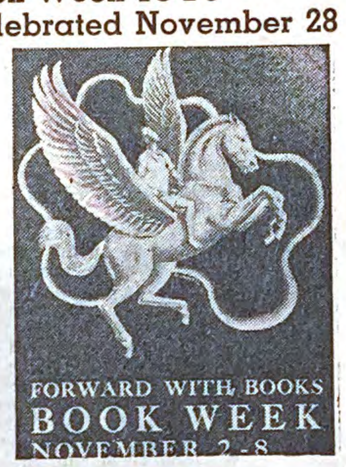

Tramp A Longs are the eighth grade girls. They have already begun plans this year by having a weiner roast. The leaders are as follows: president, Mary Voelker.

The Popular Sports Club is the eighth grade boys' club who are going to study all the sports. The officers are as follows: president, Godfrey Vacura; vice-president, Glenn Kunchier; secretary-treasurer, Herbert Elmstrom.

Freshmen Fifty-Two is the ninth grade girls' club. It is so named because there are fifty-two girls in the club. The officers are as follows: president, Helen Huber; vice-president, Esther Graton; secretary-treasurer, Betty Hopkins; reporter, Phyllis Johnson.

Sports Club is the name chosen by the ninth grade boys. The officers are as follows: president, Steve Tricola; vice president, Marvin Dittman; secretary-treasurer, Samuel Furrer.—P. J.

Book Week To Be Celebrated November 28

Spread Your Coats, Boys!

WANTED—As many boys as possible to escort or carry the girls, enroute to the buses, over the mud holes in the back of the school.

What!! No applications?? Well, what will the poor girls do then? Probably they will continue to paddle through the mud unless immediate action is taken by the school board.

It would be greatly appreciated by all to have crushed rock or gravel in place of the mud that's there now. Here's hoping that such a miracle will be accomplished soon. —E. A.

Alaska Girl Now Taking Post Graduate Course

Have you ever wished you could see Alaska? Well, we have a new student who comes all the way from there. She is Duane Lee who is taking a post graduate course here in preparation for nurses' training at St. Josephs.

In her school there were 14 in the senior class and eight teachers instructed the high school students. Up there the girls play basket ball, and Duane was a star forward on the team. She belonged to a Latin club, pep club and was associate editor of the school paper in her junior year.

During the winter, which is mild, the students ride home in the dark, but in the summer it is light nearly all night. The topography of Alaska is very mountainous with many rivers. On a clear day, one can see the coast of Siberia which is fifty miles away.—B. A.

Hot Lunches to Begin After Thanksgiving Vacation

November 25 is the date set for the serving of hot lunches. The hot lunches will be served under the same conditions as last year. If there are any changes that still seem urgent before the December meeting of the Board of Education, the office would like to know before the fifth of that month. The cooks this year will be the same as last year, Hedda Erickson and Mrs. Victor Engquist.—M. L. M.

'Debonnaire' 'Built on a Rock' New Band Selections

Mr. Moede has recently purchased for the band and chorus several new numbers.

The new band numbers are Debonnaire Overture by Erich Leidzen and Built On a Rock by Linderman.

The Kerry Dance, I Heard a Forest Praying and The Heavens Are Telling are the new choral numbers.

Some new instrumental numbers for special groups will also be purchased in the near future.

The band has been practicing In A Persian Market and the two new numbers which will be used in the future for concert numbers.

The chorus will sing two numbers, Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring and Morning Now Beckons, November 14 for the senior high program during American Education week.—L. J. A.

Inquiring Reporter Asks Opinions Of Seniors

While breezing around during noon hour, your inquiring reporter has been trying to find out what some of the lower classmen think of this year's seniors. Eileen Morrissey and Hazel Gray were cornered while putting on make-up in the locker room. When asked what they thought of the senior boys, they said, "Try to put it in a nice way that they're "drips" and "corny", but some of them are smooth." They both agreed that the boys should "date" more girls.

Tyrus Jeans was found on the balcony, surrounded by girls. Oh Romeo! He was asked what he thought about the senior girls. He got as far as "Confidentially", and didn't utter another word, but I didn't like the way he said it.

We went farther down the hall to find, Beatrice Trumball. She was busy eating an ice cream cone (with the aid of a few friends). Between swallows she managed to say that the boys were all right, but as yet she isn't very well acquainted. Corky Palmer very unwillingly paused before entering the building to answer a few questions. He thinks the girls are "swell".

This is all meant as a joke, seniors, but maybe some of these things can be worked on anyhow.— M. H.

Tomorrow's Home Room To Be A Social Hour

Presenting Miss Helland

From Spring Grove, Minnesota, comes our fourth grade teacher, Miss Helland.

She went to Spring Grove High School and after graduation, she attended the University of Minnesota. This is her first year of teaching, and she likes it very much.

Miss Helland is of French and Norwegian descent, the French half explains her dark hair and piercing black eyes. English and arithmetic are favorite subjects. Myrna Loy and Robert Montgomery (actress and actor), yellow and brown (colors), and she likes any food that has chocolate in it. Her favorite book is "Gone With the Wind" and "Rebecca" is the favored of movies. Ice and roller skating are her favorite sports. She likes teaching school, because she enjoys children.

"Active and very friendly", is her opinion of our town.

We may also add that since she is from the University of Minnesota she thinks the Gophers are the best ever and there is no doubt about their winning every game this season.—L. H.

Teachers Hear Noted Educators, Journalists

With the theme "Education for Today" as the predominating theme of all discussions and talks the Convention of the St. Paul Division of Minnesota teachers came to a close on Friday evening with a stirring message from Major George Fielding Eliot.

All the Forest Lake teachers attended these meetings which formally opened at 2:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the St. Paul Auditorium. At the opening session the Hamline University Choir under the direction of John M. Kuypes furnished the music. Walter Coffey, acting president of the University of Minnesota, and Myrtle Hooper Dahl, president of the National Education Association, brought greetings to the group. "The Far East in Turmoil" was the topic selected by James R. Young, prominent journalist, for the main feature of the afternoon.

OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

● Forest Lake has had a dismal football season this year but it could have been worse. We didn't lose by any top heavy scores such as we did to White Bear last year and furthermore the games this year have been closer than the games last year.

By coincidence our scores this year have run in order; 0-0, 12-6, 20-0, 13-7, 0-0. According to this I wonder how our last game will turn out. I think Forest Lake will finally come through to win.

Alumnus Sings In New York Opera

You all perhaps heard Yvonne Poirier, a graduate of F. L. H. S. in 1931, in her first audition for the Metropolitan opera on Sunday, Oct. 26 from New York over radio station KSTP.

During her trip to New York, Yvonne had all her expenses paid and also a drawing room on the train.

Yvonne began her music career in F. L. H. S. where she had the leads in many operettas. One of these operettas was the "Belle of Havana" which was her turning point from a pianist to a vocalist. Murray Ersfeld, her schoolday sweetheart, played the leading male part. Other classmates of Yvonne were Helen Van Syoc, Vivian Mattson, Barbara Whittman, George Peloquin, Thomas Ersfeld, Gladys Booren, Lorraine Telander, Earl Lellman and Clement Thurnbeck.

At the University of Minnesota she had leads in two operas and also participated in other musical organizations. Two of the famous teachers Yvonne has studied under are Otto Jellisan and Cecil Burder. Yvonne is not only an accomplished singer, but a good pianist. Her special training consisted of 2 years of piano and 3 years of voice at St. Catherines.

In the St. Paul Civic Opera, Yvonne had the leading role in "Madame Butterfly" and the "Chocolate Soldier". She only last year played an important part in the opera "Naughty Marietta."

Yvonne is now Mrs. Macmillan and she makes her home in St. Paul.—G. W. & B. A. S.

Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

● WHAT A JOY!

Our first vacation of the year comes today and Friday, October 23 and 24.

"What a joy!", chorused the students followed by, "What a relief!" the teachers' refrain.

Both the teachers and students are hoping for fine weather for a few days of being happy-go-lucky.

● NO HONOR!

Seniors who make the honor roll receive a honor pin, entitling them to the privilege of not having to be in a study room during their free periods.

To some this is a job, but alas Mary Jane Weisser. She has an honor pin but no study periods during the day!

● ARE YOU DEFENSE MINDED?

This is a question of current issue now being discussed in connection with national defense.

We the students of F. L. H. S. can do our bit in the defense program by gathering all the knowledge necessary to make our time worth while and make us a good citizen of this country.

Some have done their parts by relinquishing their silk stockings for cotton ones and the latest trend seems to bend toward the pig tails of the last generation.

● WE APOLOGIZE:

To you, Ronald Tolberg, for omitting your name from the list of honor students in the BREEZE last week.

Ronald who is in the 10th grade attained a rating on the "A" honor roll list.

● LITTLE DEEDS OF KINDNESS:

Spike Houle may not be a great humanitarian but to one little sparrow he is, indeed, a friend.

The little bird flew through an open window right into fourth hour English Monday afternoon. He flew madly from one corner to another only to hit the windows.

After much excitement he was caught by Spike and given his freedom, into the open air.

● A MODERN MISS' MISTAKE:

Mr. Robb at junior play tryouts had admonished the young aspirants to put as much expression as possible into the lines. Hazel Gray, reading a particularly romantic scene, really left the ordinary classroom for the realms of true romance and instead of inserting the name of the fictitious hero, out came the name of a local Don Juan.

● GENIUS IN DISGUISE:

A parent was encouraging his son, one of Miss Johnstone's pupils, to try to do the best work of the students in his class.

"Why, I was so smart that I knew all my A B C's and tables before I ever began school," said the father.

"Maybe, you were too smart!" came the innocent and sincere answer.

Zephyrs Trounce The Rangers 13-7

Bad breaks cost the Rangers another game at Mahtomedi last Friday. The Zephyrs took all the advantages to whip the Rangers 13 to 7.

In the first quarter Mahtomedi scored on a line plunge and went around end for the extra point. In the second quarter the Rangers took over, and McGee hit the line for the Maroon and Gold's only score. Houle marked up the extra point by going around end.

In the third period the Zephyrs scored their winning touchdown. The conversion was not good; the player was stopped just short of the goal line.

Early in the fourth quarter when the Rangers had started another touchdown drive Houle was knocked unconscious by a vicious tackle. With Houle gone, the drive slackened and the game ended in midfield.

Holl, Houle, Langdon, McGee and Johnson were outstanding for the Rangers.

The starting lineup for Forest Lake was: L. E. Huber, L. T. Johnson, L. G. Rucker, C. Elmstrom, R. G. Carlson, R. T. Furrer, R. E. White, Q. B. Holl, L. H. B. Houle, R. H. B. Langdon, F. B. McGee. Substitutions for the Rangers were Sahlin, Palmer and Jeans.—E. S.

RONALD HILKEN
Class of '37

October 11, 1941

To Mr. Kuefler and members of the faculty.

It is only proper, while it is possible, that I thank you with all my heart for the training which you so ably assisted in giving me while I attended Forest Lake high school.

The training at Forest Lake has enabled me to take my place along side of college students and to hold my own with them scholastically. Soon I will be a second lieutenant in Uncle Sam's Army Air Force.

I want to share my victory with you for I owe my chance to you. Do not think of yourselves as mere teachers; rather think of yourselves as moulders of the character of future citizens, and builders of men and women of tomorrow.

Yours is to instill in them love for Home, Country and God. We will ably defend it for them but they should learn now what America means.

I want to thank personally Mr. Plourde and Miss Wayne my entrance exam.

If I can be of any assistance when I get home on furlough in the early part of December, I want you to feel for spending their spare time with me last winter before free to call on me. Again I encourage you to keep up the good work you are doing.

Respectfully yours,
Ronald W. Hilken,
Aviation Cadet,
U. S. Army Air Force
Kelly Field, Texas

Bill Engler Speaks At Convention

Donald Waller, Billy Engler, Joyce McGowan, Milton Jeans and Betty Lou Weisser, under the direction of Miss Booren, assistant principal, will journey to St. Cloud tomorrow to attend the 10th Annual Convention of the Northwest Federation of Student Councils.

Registration will take place on Friday morning at Central Junior High. After this a general assembly will be held with Walter C. Coffey, president of the University of Minnesota, as the main speaker. The representative to the national convention last year will also give a report of her trip to Boston.

Panel discussions on student problems will take place on Friday afternoon. Billy Engler, representing Forest Lake school, will speak at one of these groups on the topic, "High School Awards". The awards policy at Forest Lake school will be the pivot of Billy's talk.

After the group meetings, tours will be conducted. In the evening Cathedral High School will be hosts for a banquet and dance.

The work of the State Conservation Department will be the main feature of the Saturday morning meeting, after which the business meeting will be held.

Hammond Solovox Demonstrated Tuesday

Tuesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Leland Tyrell from Sheldon, Iowa gave a demonstration to the high school on the Hammond Solovox.

The Solovox has a full range of keys and plays one tone at a time.

The instrument is made by the Hammond Organ Company and is valued at $250.

It is tuned with a piano and it takes a great deal of coordination to play it.

Mr. Tyrell explained that it would be impractical for the home, but it is used widely in churches and orchestras.

Waltzes and music that has a slow tempo are the easiest to play on the Solovox.

The Solovox has been in existence for only a year and improvised music is usually played on it.—P. T. & A. J. M.

Note to All Clubs

On October 27, the Student Council will begin to charter the various clubs in this school. If at all possible, please have your club's constitution or charter there at that time. Give them to Dorothy Leuthner, council secretary, or else Don Waller, council president, on or before this date.—A. J. M.

Squint Eye the Fish

Squint Eye, the one-eyed fish in the aquarium in the science laboratory of Forest Lake hight school, was telling me (between bubbles) that he didn't like being made a public spectacle.

He is very modest, you see. Everyone looks at him and says, "Isn't he funny?" Another comment from Squint Eye was that since he is able to see with only one eye, he is continually bumping his head against the glass.

A new acquaintance whom Squint Eye introduced was Susy the Snail who is very slow but nice. Just at this point in came Lochlan and Jamie who said a brief "hello" and "goodbye". They were of Scotch descendants and were very thrifty. Now Squint Eye told me he had to leave because of an appointment with (?).

At this point in came Susy the Snail (he remained) who gave me various viewpoints on assorted subjects. On one question she said that in proportion to the size of the rest of the world, she and her relation were very fast. She added that they did not like being the center of jest. After this talk, which was very lengthy, Susie and Squint Eye, and the conversation was ended.—B. A.

Thanksgiving Play To Given Be Given

The freshman class is practicing on a play titled "A Thanksgiving Adventure" which they plan to give the day before Thanksgiving vacation.

Miss Booren and Mrs. Anderson are directing the play. Last Wednesday tryouts were held and characters of the play were chosen.

Shirley Mae Arndt will play the role of Alice Brent who chaperones. Marguerite Rainer will portray Jean Meredith, who is quarantined along with Eileen Schuetzler, who plays Madge Moore. Marion Anderson will play Amy Meredith, Jean's younger sister. Her brother Ralph Meredith will be played by Stanley Saxe who brings home Alfred Bakeberg as Bob Meade for Thanksgiving in the Meredith mountain home.

Herbert Truscott, played by Thomas Lehecka, lows Herbert. Evelyn Evens, played by Helen is an uninvited guest. A guard, Dale Moen, fol- Huber, comes to the Meredith home to share their Thanksgiving dinner.— M. R.

Teachers Attend MEA Today, Tomorrow

Today and tomorrow twenty-three teachers of our school Alma Mater will enter the Twin Cities division of the M. E. A. in St. Paul and discuss various school problems of general interest.

At the first session today at the Saint Paul Auditorium, James R. Young, journalist, will speak on "The Far East Turmoil". The third session tomorrow evening will consist of two special numbers: "National Planning for Education" by J. B. Edmondson, dean of the University of Michigan, and "What Shall We Teach the Child of Today?" by Roma Ganes of Columbia University. The fifth session will be a discussion by Major George Fielding Elliot on "War and Us".

A number of teachers are going to speak on "Good Techniques of Teaching Academic Subjects on the Secondary Level". The Forest Lake high school representative, Mr. Johnson, will have a part in this panel discussion.

Miss Davis

So quietly and unobstrusively did Miss Davis arrive to take over her duties that very few people realized that Miss Bruley's successor was here.

Miss Davis is a graduate of St. Cloud Teachers' college and formerly attended St. Catherine's. This is her first year of teaching, and she really enjoys teaching the sixth grade.

The sixth grade teachers' pet peeves are toothpicks and gum chewing.

Her outside interests include swimming and golf.

She also would like to see the world and states that graduating from college was her most thrilling experience.

Miss Davis' home town is Appleton, and she thinks Forest Lake is a very active and progressive town.—P. T.

Handford, Nelson, Mike, Moede Featured at Pepfest

There was a pep fest held yesterday to arouse pep among the students for the Forest Lake and Hinckley game.

This pep meeting was opened by the school song. The captain for yesterday's game was announced as Richard McGee.

Several new teachers, Miss Nelson, Miss Handford, Mr. Moede and Mr. Mike were introduced to the group. Each teacher gave a one minute or less pep-talk on arousing school pep.

The meeting ended with the school song.—A. J. M. G.

His talk was given on the activities on livestock yards and operation of the Cooperative Shipping Association. He stated in his talk that shippers who are members of the cooperative get a refund of about one-third of their commission expenses.—L. H.

"Assignment Books?" "Yes", . . Say Seventh, Eighth Graders

Recently the seventh and eighth graders were asked this question, "Do you think the seventh and eighth grades should have assignment books?"

Some typical answers are:

Colleen Peltier—"I think we ought to have them so we would have a definite place to keep our assignments."

Eugene Ruggles— "I feel lost without it. I made myself one".

Robert Gemeiner— "Yes, I think they're very useful".

James Crawford— "I think we should have them so we could have a convenient place to keep our assignments".

Patricia Lee— "Yes, we should have them, so assignments aren't lost or forgotten".

In the seventh and eighth grades 90 per cent of the pupils want assignment books, but only 65 per cent would keep them up-to-date perfectly.—J. H.

OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

● There is not much that can be said about the game last week except that we lost.

We out gained them both in the air and by rushing.

We made 20 first downs to their none (and we still lost). In this game, as in others, the breaks were against us. Mahtomedi made their first touchdown on an intercepted lateral and the other as a result of an intercepted pass.

On the last touchdown Forest Lake had held Mahtomedi for three downs, but on the last down they made it. There was little doubt in the team's minds that it was sneaked across after the whistle had blown.

● The best game of the week will be the game at Memorial Stadium between the Gophers and Michigan.

Most persons would be inclined to pick the Gophers, but watch for a victory from those Wolverines.

They have the line and the backfield; they outdo Minnesota at the ends, center and fullback.

Remember that they beat a good Northwestern team last Saturday. If the Gophers get beat, it won't be an upset.

Oh! 'Tis Fall

Oh! 'Tis fall! To choose hunting instead of school is a big temptation. Every week-end these little hunters go forth into the wilderness with high hopes.

They tramp through the woods over hill and dale, and down to muddy lakes to trap their quarry. Their faithful old hunting dog slowly tires himself out as his companion keeps trudging on in hope of seeing game.

Comes the sunset, and they drag their weary bodies into their cars. Their clothes have been torn by brambles and brush, and they give many excuses for not bringing anything back with them. The poor bedraggled hunter then arrives at home with his sad story.

They claim they saw a lot, but the brush was so thick that they couldn't raise their guns to shoot. Another tale is that they did hit their prey but that it fell into the lake or the dense brush, and they could not recover it.

This unfortunate human being, after all this torture, gulps the food that is placed before him and retires until late the next morning. —E. S.

Rustling Leaves

By June Baker

• CONGRATULATIONS:

Go the F. L. H. S. students who attended the United States Marine Band concert Wednesday afternoon. Comments were made from various people about the very appropriate way the students conducted themselves. The students of F. L. H. S. were said to have acted the most mannerly of any high school group attendinf the concert.

• HALFBREED:

Proud as a peacock was Mr. Moede last Thursday when he told his classes that he had something in common with the Lyceum program performers.

As most of you already know, Mr. Scheurer is German and Mr. Williams is Welsh.

The fact that Mr. Moede is both Welsh and German (halfbreed as he says) made him feel very well pleased.

• BACK AGAIN:

To the drudgery and slaving for many an hour over her home-work is Delores Bernier. Delores, a graduate of the class of 1940, is taking a post graduate course consisting of stenography and typing.

She was quoted as saying, "I've come back to brush up on my stenography and typing in order to take a civil service examination." Delores would like to become a stenographer or secretary.

Upon being asked what she thought of going to school now, she declared, "It is fun".

• FAVORITES

It seems that everyone has his favorite food, hobby, type of clothing, etc. After inquiring around I found the following favorite movies of these students:

Richard McGee—Robin Hood.
Judy Bengtson—Rebecca.
Roger Boraas—Dive Bomber.
Spike Houle and Hitler—Gone With the Wind.
Gloria Sanderude—Tobacco Road.
Tyrus Jeans—Boy's Town.
Eleanor Frenning—Shepherd of the Hills.
Marlys Larson—The Great American Broadcast.

• SWEETS FOR SWEET

The bee is said to be a domesticated insect and a producer of honey, so naturally he seeks sweet things.

Last Friday during the lunch hour a bee was seen buzzing around in the assembly. Many girls were disturbed by this, but as Aileen Morrissey who let out a nice little scream. It seems that Aileen dosen't care for sweet things or does she?

• FOOD FOR THOUGHT

It has been suggested that laughing gas be used to stop the grief, pain and tears brought about by the report cards.

Some cards were very nicely done up in blue marks but others looked like Christmas Cards.

Rangers To Vie With Zephyrs Tomorrow

The Rangers will travel to Mahtomedi tomorrow to wrangle a victory from the Purple and Gold. They have yet to win a game this season while the Zephyrs have won one, lost one and tied one.

The Lincolntown aggregation has seven lettermen and five regulars to comprise the first eleven. Reports indicate that they are weak in reserves and that the team is small.

Last year the Zephyrs took the Rangers into camp with a 19-0 tally in a game on the home field. North St. Paul, the team which defeated the Rangers in the homecoming game, beat the Purple and Gold by 7-0.

Capitalizing on breaks and power the Black and Orange of White Bear defeated the Rangers last Friday. The final count was 20-0 with the Rangers threatening to score several times in the last two periods. It was White Bear's homecoming game so they were out to upset the Rangers. They scored in the first quarter after some hard driving down the field.

The Bears' second and third scores came in the second period, one on a pass interception near the goal line and the other on a line plunge. During the third quarter the Rangers held possession of the ball during the majority of the period. It was during this period that the Rangers threatened to score several times. The fourth quarter was uneventful with the game ending in midfield. McGee in the backfield and Carlson in the line played great ball for the Rangers.

The starting lineups were:

Forest Lake (0)		White Bear (20)
Huber	L. E.	Horne
Johnson	L. T.	Vadnais
Palmer	L. G.	Ratte
Elmstrom	C.	Clemens
Carlson	R. G.	Peterson
Furrer	R. T.	Wyland
White	R. E.	Podrin
Holl	G. B.	Passett
Houle	L. H. B.	Buchan
Langdon	R. H. B.	Fredrickson
McGee	F. B.	Cardinal

Substitutions for Forest Lake were Blanchard, Jeans, Larson, Sahlin, Rucker and Engquist.

M. R. and F. F. A. Hold Joint Meetings

Members of the M. R. Club and the F. F. A. had a joint meeting on Tuesday night, October 14. Everyone met at the school and then went to Simmons' Point where all enjoyed a weiner roast.—J. S.

Presenting Mr. Moede

What man teacher is a brunette, has blue eyes and a dainty little moustache? He arrived at Forest Lake from Moose Lake, but his home town is Mankato.

Have you guessed who? If not, here is some more.

He is married and has taught school for seven years. As yet he is a bit undecided, but he said he thought they would like Forest Lake very much.

He hasn't any favorite actors or actresses, but he likes all Nelson Eddy pictures. He likes all music, but "jazz". "It isn't music, but just noise", he added.

Have you guessed who yet? Well, now you'll know.

He likes anything to eat that is food. His pet peeves are gum chewing and candy eating in his classes.

Unlike most other people his favorite color is lavender. His favorite instrument is the clarinet, and he teaches music.

Oh, the cat's out of the bag now for sure. Of course, it's the band director, Mr. Moede.—B. A. S. and G. A. W.

Education Brings Democracy

There are a number of students in any school, grade school or high school, who feel that it is a waste of time for them to attend school. They spend their time doing as little as possible to get by, and go to school no longer than necessary. Some would not go to school at all if it were not required.

Almost any student will tell you that he would be glad if he did not have to go to school, but nearly everyone really wants to attend. Just a week or two ago the papers showed a picture of a group of children picketing a school and asking to be allowed to attend. These boys and girls were the sons and daughters of men working in defense industries, and because the town had boomed these people lived in a trailer camp, therefore the children were not allowed to go to school.

The free public school is a privilege few children fully understand. In Europe only children of the rich and upper middle class attend schools of higher education, and some of the poor never get a chance to attend school. The result is that the poor have less education and cannot understand the government. They consequently have little or no voice in the affairs of their country.

If we did not have our free public school system, the chances are that we might not have a democracy.

Fifty to a hundred years ago many people received little or no education, and we had a democracy, but in those days the government was far less complicated than today. Only the educated can well understand our government and are able to voice their opinion and have it used.

Considering every viewpoint, our public school system gives us much to be thankful for.—C. W.

Junior Class To Give "Christopher Bean"

Mr. Robb has chosen "The Late Christopher Bean" by Sidney Howard as the play to be presented by the Junior class.

The tryouts were held Monday and Tuesday evening. The description of characters is as follows:

Dr. Haggett is a stout, undistinguished rural medical man of fifty. Susan Haggett is a pretty girl of nineteen. Abby, the help of the Haggett family is a Yankee villager, of a wistful prettiness, simple and serious.

Mrs. Haggett is definitely Yankee and about the same age as her husband. Unlike him, she has assumed certain cityfied airs in dress and bearing which, she feels, lift her above the standards of her native village.

Ada Haggett, a girl of twenty-six, fancies her baby prettiness and babyish manner.

Warren Creamer, the village painter and paper hanger, is a personable, self satisfied youth in his early twenties.

Tallant, is a smooth, youngish and shabbily-dressed New Yorker. Rosen is an oily and too affable Jewish gentleman of middle age. Maxwell Davenport is an elderly and distinguished gentleman.

The play will be presented December 5. In the next issue of the paper the cast will be published.—L. J. A.

Mr. Johnson To Speak At M. E. A. Convention

M. E. A., October 23 and 24 will mean more than vacation to many of Forest Lake high school.

During these days five Student Council members, namely: Donald Waller, Billy Engler, Joyce McGowan, Betty Lou Weisser and Milton Jeans, accompanied by Miss Booren will participate in a convention at St. Cloud.

The same plan as last year is being followed in the M. E. A. convention this year. It is a kind of democratic plan where teachers throughout the state of Minnesota participate in the program.

Forest Lake high school has had its part in these conventions for a number of years. Last year Mr. Plourde and Miss Skog represented our school, and this year Mr. Johnson is Forest Lake's delegate.

Mr. Johnson will discuss "Good Techniques of Teaching Academic Subjects in the Secondary Level."—G. S.

Forty-four Students Make Honor Roll

A sixty-eight per cent increase over last year's first report period honor roll marked the 1941-42 first report period's list when report cards were released yesterday. The total number of students on the listing this first period was 42.

The eleventh grade leads with eleven people on the list.

A new high was reached when five persons made the "A" honor roll. These people are: grade 8, Jeanette Houle; grade 10, Roger Boraas, Curtis Wilson; grade 11, Wesley Tolberg.

Persons on the "B" honor list are: grade 7, James Janssen, Alice Richards; grade 8, Herbert Elmstrom, Eugene Ruggles, June Sandrude, Mary Carol Voelker; grade 9, Shirley Mae Arndt, Melvin Boettcher, Phyllis Johnson, Zane Johnson, Rachael Marier, Morris Osterbauer, Marc Shoquist; grade 10, Avonelle Alldritt, Evelyn Dawson, Shirley Jean Hegg, Dorothy La Motte, John Nelson, Ruth Rohner, Dayton Williver; grade 11, Lois Jeanne Arndt, Billy Engler, Hazel Gray, Carrel Johnson, Roger Johnson, Ruth Johnson, George Mitchell, Melba Sahlin, Mae Shoberg, Patricia Tricola, Franklin Williver; grade 12, Judy Bengtson, Donna Carlson, Robert Holl, Florence Shosten, Donald Waller and Mary Jane Weisser.

Jerry Holmquist Pilots Freshman Class of 102

Would you believe it? Gerald Holmquist is but 5 feet 1½ inches tall and weighs only 96 pounds but he is still the president of the Freshman class of 102! One of his mostly used nicknames is Jerry and the Place you are most likely to hear it is on any athletic field.

He goes out for football, basketball, and he's really good and you can expect to see him one of the stars of the teams soon.

Jerry lives on a farm where he can get plenty of his favorite mashed potatoes with gravy. Blue and Green are his favorite colors but he plays no favorites in subjects or movie actors or actresses. He likes being freshman class president and thinks they all are a swell bunch. —S. M. A.

Maslowski and Sahlin New Noon Activities Supervisors

Emil Maslowski and Melba Sahlin will pilot all country students during the forthcoming Noon Hour Activities program. This was decided by the Student Council at its last meeting.

This program will carry through from Thanksgiving to Easter. The council also chose two assistant supervisors to aid in the numerous tasks of the supervisors. They are Delorea Paul and Wallace Larson.

Emil, a transfer student from Centerville last year, took an active part in his class' share of the part Noon Hour Activities program during the season. He also provided rhythm to the band with his clarinet.

Also an ardent clarinet player, Melba will act as game leader for the senior high girls. A junior, she is studying stenography I, higher algebra, English and American history.

43 Music Students Hear Marine Band Concert

About forty students of Forest Lake high school attended the afternoon concert of the United States Marine Band on October 8. This band is the President's own, and is one of the most famous in the country.

The band began in 1775 when the Continental Congress decided "Let there be Marines." Captain William F. Santelman is the present director, and he is taking the band on a tour of "48 cities'.

Some of the numbers which were especially enjoyed were: "On the Trail" from the Grand Canyon site, "March of the Toys" by Victor Herbert, "Street Scene" by Newman and the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" by David Bennett.

The program closed with the audience and band joining together in the Star Spangled Banner. About 8000 boys and girls participated in the singing, while all lights were dimmed and a spotlight was played upon the American flag. The sight and concert will long be remembered by all those who attended.—L. J. A.

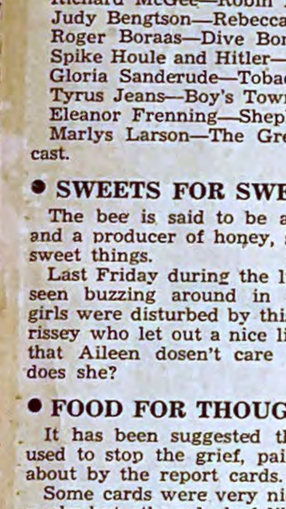

Two High Rating Students Carry Six Subjects Each

Two ambitious students are Wallace Larson and Mary Jane Weisser who are both taking six subjects each. A student must have an average of 85 in order to take more than four subjects. The carrying of six subjects (when not necessary) is not recommended even though the student is very capable, because there is no time for study and participation in extra-curricular activities which are very important. Extra-curricular activities are meant to round out and complete as much as possible a student's life.

Pay For Your Season Ticket

Eighty-eight pupils in grades seven through twelve have not paid for their season tickets. Following is a listing of unpaid tickets: grade 7-14; grade 8-21; grade 9-19; grade 10-15; grade 11-12; grade 12-7.—M. B. and V. J.

Will You Come With Me To Ciphering Bee?

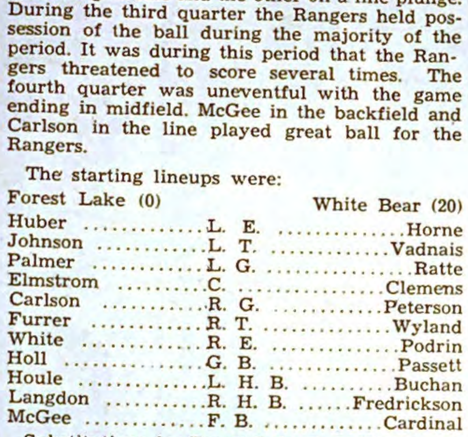

Did you ever stop to think what the students in F. L. H. S. did for entertainment when there were no show houses, roller skating rinks or bowl[illegible]s? OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

● The game with White Bear was the hardest play that Forest Lake encountered this season. Play was bruising, and most of the players are limping around town. Even if Forest Lake did lose, White Bear took the worst physical beating. I noticed at the Minnesota-Illinois game that two White Bear boys were on crutches, and one was wearing splints on his leg.

Forest Lake's offense worked very well and the main reason for the loss was their poor defensive play.

The score should, perhaps, have read 6-0 in White Bear's favor because their other two touchdowns were unearned. One resulted from an intecepted pass and the other was helped by a penalty.

● This year's hockey fans will see a lot more action, but the play will not be as smooth as in other years. The reason is that most of the team are unable to get players from Canada which has the majority of the good players. To replace these young players from colleges and schools are being used. Most of these men have little experience but have been waiting for the chance so they will be out to make a name for themselves.

● Bob Elmstrom started talking about his duck hunting dog on the way to White Bear, and was still talking about him after the game. He says he'll bring the paper to the door—will retrieve a stick. I know he carries the paper, but when you get it, it's all torn up. As for retrieving a stick, he comes ba[illegible] about a week later with the stick.

● How could Sp[illegible] expect Illinois to beat Minnesota? Just a pe[illegible]ample they had a 178-lb. man in the li[illegible]new [illegible]ist 247-lb. Urban Odson. I think that's artic[illegible] to explain why Illinois lost.

● THIS WEEK'S is [illegible]'LIGHT:

"Pupil Inventory" Home Room Topic

Home room for last Friday's discussion was "Pupil Inventory' in which each boy and girl was given a list of things to check on the personal appearance of the opposite sex. Each student could express his likes and dislikes. Other interesting topics for this year are social hours, "Forward with Books", "Value and organization of Noon Hour Activities", "Should I Quit School and Go to Work?", "Scouting", "The Movie Comes to Town" and many other topics which will prove interesting to all who participate.—B. A.

Kate Seredy's "Good Master" Is Interesting

Let's peek into a new junior high book "The Good Master" by Kate Seredy.

This story is about a boy, Janssie, who lives with his mother and father on a farm in Hungary.

Janssie's cousin Kate comes from the city to live with the family, and her headstrong ways and ideas are set right by the kindly understanding "Good Master".

The story tells of Kate and Janssie's races on horseback across the plains, their fun at the fair and their trouble with the gypsies. There is also the shepherd who made wood carvings and whose tales they listened to until sundown.

This is a colorful story of the customs and quaint way of the Hungarian people.

The book is beautifully illustrated by Kate Seredy who was born in Budapest, Hungary. Miss Seredy has spent most of her summers on a ranch in the Hungarian plains.

Miss Seredy now lives in the Ramapo Mountains of New Jersey in the midst of hundreds of acres of wild life.—J. W.

Harry Kraskin Instructor For Tap Dancing Sessions

Lessons in tap dancing and acrobatics will again be offered to the students who are interested in such activities.

Harry Kraskin of Minneapolis will be the instructor.

The lessons will be given on Thursday afternoons in the school beginning on October 9. This first lesson was free, but all others are to be paid for. The price is $1.00 for a three month's course.

Those interested must apply for the course as soon as possible so that arrangements can be made for pupils to be excused from classes or from study periods. Registration blanks can be secured at the principal's office.—E. A.

Through the Office Window

By Assistant Principal Miss Booren

Next week marks the re-organization of the Junior High Scholastic Club of the Forest Lake High School which was first organized a year ago. This club will comprise pupils in grades, seven, eight and nine who attain an average of 90 or above and have no failure or incompletes. No wonder, there is so much enthusiasm and interest shown in the results of the first six weeks report grades. The charter membership for this year's oganization will be detemined during this week, after report cards are distributed, so that the eligible students may plan the organization for next week.

The purposes of this club are:

1. To help pupils who are likely to become leaders in the senior high school to be better fitted for the positions which may be available to them at that time.

2. To make ideal leaders in a democratic school.

3. To gain experiences which are usually not available to junior high school pupils.

4. To create a wider range of interests.

The activities of the club are many and varied and are planned by the members themselves. Many interesting places in and around Forest Lake were visited last year. Several outstanding speakers were secured and the club sponsored one auditorium program.

All present indications are that the club will attain and may exceed last year's record of eleven charter members. It is hoped that the membership will increase during the year as a result of higher scholastic attainment by students throughout the junior high school.

Girls Club Has Weiner Roast

Hot dogs! That was the cry of the eighth grade girls' activities club, commonly known as the Tramp-alongs, as they held their weiner roast at Boehm's boat landing last Wednesday, October 8.

The Tramp-alongs, sponsored by Miss Booren, plan on having four parties during the year. The class has already divided into four committees of six or seven girls each.

Scheurer, Williams Duo Well Liked

"I achieved success by studying fourteen years before my first performance," stated Mr. Scheurer between performances of the Scheurer-Williams' Musical last Thursday.

Born in Cologne, Germany, he studied for fourteen years at the Cologne Conservatory of Music and the Berlin Conservatory of Music. Mr. Scheurer came to the United States in 1907 and was a member of the Boston Symphony orchestra for two years.

He plays a Francisca Stradivarius violin and values it at $13,000. The violin he plays in the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra is valued at $5,500.

He stated that his most exciting performance was at his commencement exercises at the Cologne Conservatoryy of Music, when he played Brahms' Concert. Then he added with a twinkle in his eye, "Because my girl friend was in the front row".

He has performed in all the countries of Europe and considers Sweden the most beautiful.

Mr. Scheurer entertained the interviewers and Mr. Moede backstage by making freak sounds on his violin.

Mr. Scheurer added to the interview by saying he composes and has played on the radio many times. He also added that he is very much married and has four sons, all of them musicians.

Mr. Williams was born in South Wales, England. There he became interested in the harp at the age of 8 years. His uncle was a harpist and any time Mr. Williams could sneak into the corner, where the harp was kept, he would play on it. His uncle soon found that his nephew had quite a bit of talent. As soon as he was of age he attended the London Royal Academy of Music where he received his training. Mr. Williams won two scholarships in London, therefore furthering his musical education.

He came to America in 1906 on his honeymoon. America fascinated him so he decided to come back and has been here ever since except for frequent visits home.

Mr. Williams belongs to the Minneapolis Symphony where he is now solo harpist. His favorite composers are Mozart and Hyden, but likes to play all classical music.

Like most people he has a hobby. Yes, it is swimming. To the reply Mr. Scheurer added, "Yes, and I have to hold him up, he swims like a big rock."

Mr. Williams explained to his audience much about the harp and certain characteristics of a good harpist. He has a Wurlitzer harp which is valued at $2,800 and another one valued at $5,500 which is kept in Minneapolis.

"Composing music for a harp is really very simple," said Mr. Williams. His first composition will be published in New York soon. He was kind enough to play this selection which was dedicated to his three months old grandson.

The largest audience performed to by Mr. Williams was 15,000 people in Berkley, California. He has also performed before all the heads of Europe, but considers his most exciting performance playing in darkness in a theater to stop people from getting panicky.

When asked what he thought of swing, he relied, "It's all right in its place. I believe any music is good when played well, and poor when played poor".

These two artists are now on a four week tour. After this they will again be teaching at the University of Minnesota.—A. J. M. and P. T.

Rustling Leaves

• NEW PAINT JOB

We wonder whose artistic ability was applied to Jerry Miller's face on the way home from Pine City. To inform those students who are in the dark about this subject, we will enlighten your minds. It seems that some girl's lipstick got missplaced and was soon spread all over Jerry's face, with eyebrow pencil as the finishing touch.

• SCHOOLMATES

During the summer Marvin Weber attended University High School where he enrolled in higher algebra, solid geometry and trigonometry. While he was there one of his cloest friends was Paul Scheurer the son of Karl Scheurer. Mr. Scheurer is one of the stars on the Lyceum program to be given today.

• WATCH FOR—

Something different and exciting is in store for the students of F. L. H. S. Be on the lookout during the dates November 2-8.

• IT'S REALLY RUSTLING LEAVES

It seems that the Girl Scouts have joined the Monday night rally with the BREEZE reporters. Both of the clubs meet in the assembly. With leaves here and typewriters there, it's rather confoozin' but not amoozin'.

• QUACK! QUACK!

"October's trees are golden brown,"
"October's leaves are falling down."

This is the time all hunters play truant from business and school. Bob Elmstrom, a little bit wiser than some, went hunting Sunday morning, and was rewarded with 8 mudhens (ducks to you).

• COLUMBUS LET US DOWN!

The following article is contributed by Laerne Alm.

A precedent was broken this year when Doris Pederson, a Forest Lake resident, captured the title of Homecoming queen.

For three years previous the Homecoming queen has been chosen from Columbus township. In 1940 the title went to Lois Bergerson, in 1939 to Eileen Miller and in 1938 to Lorraine Sivigny.

Rangers To Tackle Bears Tomorrow

Tomorrow the Rangers will tackle the Orange and Black of White Bear. The "Bears", as they are called, have already suffered two setbacks this year; one at the hands of Anoka by a 7 to 6 decision and the other to Stillwater by a 19 to 0 count. This means that the Marroon and Gold had better be wary for the Bears will be out for their first win.

It is also the Orange and Blacks' homecoming tomorrow so you can rest assured they will pack all the punch and power they have into the game.

The Bears have six lettermen returning and four of them fill out the backfield with two in the line. Last year the Bears won 3, lost two, and tied one, one of the wins was a 34 to 0 victory over the Rangers.

The Lakers should have plenty of support at the game, for it is a student trip tomorrow with all students who wish to go, going.

Piloting the "Bears" will be Coaches Bradley and Chupich with Von Wald and Hammond at the helm of the "Rangers".

Last Friday the Green and Gray of Pine City took the Rangers into camp with a 20 to 0 defeat. This is the first time the Rangers have been defeated by the Dragons in four years.

Cracking the Ranger line was Pine City's objective and their pounding was effective. It happened many times that the Rangers secondary stopped these submarine plays after the Green and Gray broke through the line.

The Dragons scored on a series of plays in the first, third, and fourth periods. In the last session the Ranger backfield functioned fairly well with Houle getting away for a number of nice gains.

Outstanding players for the Rangers were Houle and McGee with McKusnik, Rypkema and Kick playing outstanding ball for the Dragons.

The lineups for the game were:

Forest Lake (0)		Pine City (20)
Furrer	L. E.	Gardner
Houle	L. T.	Bearnt
Holl	L. G.	Glasow
Jeans	C.	Boo
Langdon	R. G.	Thore
McGee	R. T.	Silesky
Huber	R. E.	Kraft
Johnson	Q. B.	Kick
Palmer	L. H. B.	McKusnik
Elmstrom	R. H. B.	Westrum
Carlson	F. B.	Rypkema

Substitutions for Forest Lake: Sahlin, Rucker, Larson, Blanchard, and White.

Rollin Houle was captain for Forest Lake.

Presenting Mr. Hammond

Have you seen a medium sized man with black hair, hazel eyes who wears glasses? Well if you have, it was Mr. Hammond, our industrial arts instructor in the junior and senior high school.

His home town is Lake Crystal, Minnesota. He attended Mankato State Teachers College. Mr. Hammond majored in industrial arts and social studies while in college and, of course, his favorite subject is industrial arts. His ambition when he was a small boy was to run a locomotive. I am sure many people agree with him when he says his favorite is ice cream.

His favorite actress is Bette Davis and his favorite actor is William Powell. His opinion of our town and school is tops. He helps coach the football team, and he thinks they are a swell bunch of kids.—R. A. C.

Waller and Engler Attend Convention

Billy Engler and Donald Waller will represent the Forest Lake Student Council at the tenth annual Northwest Federation of Student Councils convention which will be held at St. Cloud, October 24 and 25. The hosts will be Central Junior high school, Cathedral high school and Technical high school.

Registration will be the first matter of business for all delegates, after which a general assembly will be held with Mr. Walter C. Coffey, President of the University of Minnesota, as the main speaker.

Each year our council has been well represented at these conventions. This year Billy Engler will discuss "Our Awards Policy", at one of the panel discussions which will be held Friday afternoon. Tours will be conducted following these discussions.

Cathedral high school will be the hosts for the banquet and dance which will be held Friday evening.

The main business meeting will be held Saturday morning at the Central school.

Joyce McGowan, Dorothy Leuthner and Milton Jeans will make up the remainder of the Forest Lake delegation. Miss Booren will act as chaperone to the group.

Juniors To Sell Candy At All Interscholastic Games

While watching the football game don't you often wish you could casually munch on a good candy bar?

This is by all means possible because the Juniors are always ready to serve you at the football games. So why not buy your candy from the Juniors, and you will help them have a bigger and better annual.

Personality, Manners Preferred by Students

When questionaires were sent out to several members of the junior and senior classes at Forest Lake both grades declared that having a good personality was more important in school relationships than being beautiful, handsome, or having money.

Everybody should be able to dance, they answered, but not everybody has to be a jitterbug.

Juniors and seniors both agreed that good manners are important for high school people.

It seems that the senior girls prefer brunettes the boys follow in their footsteps.

Junior girls stick strictly to brunettes also, while the boys prefer blondes.

The senior boys want their sweethearts a little extraordinary. Boys of the junior class are more on the conservative side and want them to be interesting conversationalists.

A note to the girls: All the boys notice too much liprouge or nail polish.

'It's quite original,' 'Corny', and 'Appetizing', are some of the remarks made about feminine jewelry.

"I want a girl friend who likes outdoor sports," is a familiar cry from many of the high school boys.

Schools First Head Rings Old Bell Here

What do you think it would have been like to teach here in the year 1893?

Well, during a recent interview with Mr. R. F. Swails, the first head of the Forest Lake school, just that sort of a question was answered.

"I was the only teacher for 60 pupils and we were all in one room," stated Mr. Swails. "The next year they built an addition to the room and bought a schoolbell, and I rang that bell for fifteen years!"

"The schoolbell brought the children to school and the hickory stick took care of them after they got here." He also added that his office might as well have been the woodshed because he spent so much time there.

Although there were no restaurants in the village, he informed us that he had very good meals. He was single so he would board at the homes of various students and the meals were delicious.

Some of the prominent families of that time, and they still are, were the Houle's Rahms, Yorks, Bantas, Simmons and Andersons.

After he left here, he taught in Zimmerman, Aitken county, Big Stone county and Houston county.

He now lives in Acton, Indiana, and this is his first trip to Forest Lake since 1909.

He stated that his one wish before leaving was to ring the schoolbell that he had rung for 15 years, so as our interview ended, he and Mr. Kuefler went to ring the bell. Most likely many of you heard it that afternoon.

Scheurer, Williams To Give Lyceum Program

Today, October 9, Karl Scheurer and Henry Williams will present a program of violin and harp selections as the second Lyceum program of the school year.

Karl Scheurer joined the Boston Sympathy in 1907 as first violin and solo violin player. He was engaged as second concert master for the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra in 1909 which position he filled with distinction for ten years. Mr. Scheurer's long association with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and later as solo player has made him popular with thousands of people.

Henry Williams began his studies with the harpist of Queen Victoria and King Edward, John Thomas. He later studied with Richard Borker, one of the greatest harp teachers of all time. For his wonderful playing, Mr. Williams has won nine first prizes of gold and silver medals.

There will be two other Lyceum programs presented later this year. There will be the American Song Bag Company for grades 7-12 and the Hanley Marionettes with a show for the grades 1-9.—D. P.

Sunlamps Installed In First Grade Room

A bright, sunlighted room with pure fresh air is the snappy future forecast for the little first graders this year. Don't be surprised if you see them with bright rosy cheeks and sunburned backs this winter.

All this will come about from the two new ultra-iolet ray sunlamps installed in the first grade room.

It has long been known that sunlight is beneficial to man. In the early 20's it was discovered that sunlight, acting upon ergasterol, a white crystal line substance under the skin, converts it into vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin.

Vitamin D helps to build up the general system, and thus brings about sound bone and body tissue which helps to build up one's strength and energy against disease.

During the winter months only four per cent of the sun's ultra-violet rays reach the earth. In industrial sections no rays reach them in the winter time, because of the distant angle of the sun from the smoke-laden atmosphere. The death rate is low during the summer but just the opposite in the winter.

These ultra-violet ray lamps provide the necessary ultra-violet rays that we are deprived of during the winter months and help in preventing rickets, impetigo and other infectious diseases in children.

An infra-red lamp has been obtained for the athletes in the school. It is to be used for the treatment of all minor injuries.—J. B.

Majorettes Attend Summer Twirling Sessions

Drum majorettes this year are: Elsie Hanson, Audrey Hauble, Renee Spangenberg, Louise Crete, Hazel Gray, Aileen Morrissey, Ruth Rohner, Johanna Jesperson, Jane Bergerson, Arlis Houfer, Rita Hauble, and Marguerite Rainer. Most of these girls attended the school for drum majors and majorettes sponsored by the Winter Carnival Association during July and August. Instructors at the school were Patsy Phillippi, Ted Mosio, Don Lee, Ruth Henzel, Dorothy Kelbe and Sam Bregger.

These instructors are outstanding in their field and gave the girls much help in their work.

Rolls, Spills, and All-Point Landings

If you thought it was part of Uncle Sam's newly made defense unit, going throught its paces, you were mistaken—because—

The Freshman Fifty-two, girls activity club, sponsored a roller skating party for the whole freshman class.

Norma Jean Graves acted as hostess. She gave free use of the roller skating rink, while the girls club furnished the refreshments.

The skating party began rolling Friday night, October 3 at 5:30 in the evening.

We hope you weren't surprised if you heard certain uncanny sounds and noises during the party.

P. S. Several rolling were made as the party was patronized by nearly the whole freshman class.—M. R. & N. B.

Donald Voelker Heads New Biology Club

A new biology club is being organized under the direction of Mr. Nelson. On its first meeting two weeks ago officers were elected, they are, president, Donald Voelker, vice president, Wallace Olhow, secretary and treasurer, Curtis Wilson. The club meets every Friday, second period. At the last meeting the club selected a name, which is Natura Studio, the Latin words for nature study. The club plans to study all phases of biology. A committee under the direction of Wallace Olhow has been appointed to write the constitution.—L. H.

Music Students To Hear Marine Band This Evening

Tonight a school bus will take the students of the music classes to St. Paul to hear the United States Marine Band concert. The Marine Band is undoubtedly one of the finest traveling bands today, better even than the Army and Navy bands.

All of the men in the band are talented and considered to be the best in their specific fields. After the concert the performers will remain on the stage and answer any questions the high school musicians may want to ask about any particular part of the instruments and how to improve tones.—L. J. A.

If You Start Chawin' You'll Get A Jawin'

The following article is about gum and its chewers, and it is dedicated to Mr. Robb because of his dislike for it. If you have noticed, there is a little sign on his door which reads "No gum please". If you walked up to Mr. Robb with your mouth full of gum, he could probably tell you are a romantic chewer, a happy chewer or a philosophical chewer. Decide for yourself by the following description of each.

A romantic chewer gives himself away by the very slow movement of his jaws, and the continuousness of this movement which has a regular rhythm. The funny face contortions are typical of him.

The happy chewer has the fast jaw movement and many times snaps and clicks. He probably talks or does other things in fast rhythm with his chewing.

Last but not least comes the philosophical chewer, who like the romantic chewer is slow, but has a definite air in so doing. Out comes part of the gum in a string until it has no strength and is about to bust when back in it goes. So go the motions of this thoughtful fellow.

Have you picked out yourself among these listed? Don't be too shocked if one of the above definitions suits you to a "t"—L. J. A.

Fifteen Girls Report For First Scout Meeting

Fifteen girls from the fifth and sixth grades reported at the first girl Scout meeting on Monday and have expressed a desire to become official Tenderfoots this fall.

Jacqueline Weisser, Jeannette Houle, Mary Voelker, Mariella Weber and Marceline Houle expect to work on more advanced projects and have expressed interest in taking charge of some of the recreational activities of the troop.

The first part of last Monday's scout period was spent in hiking and gathering leaves and fruits of trees which will later be pressed, classified and made into a collection.

The troop is also interested in learning how to recognize the various species of Minnesota trees by their general appearance, shape of their leaves and the type of fruit.

The later part of the patrol meeting was spent in playng games.

Journalism Club Discusses "What Is News" At Meeting

The last meeting of the senior high Journalism Club was on September 30.

After assignments were given out there was a discussion on the topic "What is News" and "Judging News Interest". The first topic was to distinguish between news and what is not news such as features and editorials. The latter topic concerned the reader's interest in a story and its newsworthiness.

At each meeting a new phase in journalism is discussed in order to enable the members to learn more about news as well as to enable them to write better stories.—E. A.

OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

● The game last Friday was the poorest played game of the season so far. It was one of those games where the players thought they were doing everything right but everything went wrong. Blocking was better than average but tackling was still high both in the back field and in the line.

● One big reason for defeat at Pine City was lack of confidence after Pine City scored the first touchdown. After the first touchdown there were just a few of the boys talking it up. Boy, if there is anything that peps up a team it is a continual chatter among the players.

● In this week's spotlight.
Richard "Fibber" McGee weighs 170 pounds and plays fullback position.
His kicking was one of the few highlights of the first three games, and his knack of line plunging has many a time picked up a first down.
Arnold "Stinky" Carlson weighs 157 pounds and plays either right or left guard. He played a good defensive, but his light weight handicaps him on the offense. He shifted from tackle last year and has a year of play left.

● This year's basket ball schedule may undergo many changes. Most likely two games will be sought with a team from St. Paul.

● The game with Illinois Saturday will be one of the highlights of the Minnesota football schedule because they have not played Illinois since 1924. That year they stopped "The Galloping Ghost" Red Grange to defeat Illinois 24-7.

● Tomorrow's game will be the toughest of the season. It will be White Bear's homecoming and they will be more than ever set for the kill

Miss Burkee Now Instructor At Hamline University

You probably all remember Miss Mertrice Burkee, the former commercial teacher of Forest Lake high school. Miss Burkee is now employed at Hamline University. On September 1, she began her services as the instructor in secretarial studies at Hamline.

Miss Burkee attended Hamline University for two years and in 1934 she graduated from the University of Minnesota with a Bachelor of Science degree in commercial education. In August of this year she obtained her Master of Arts degree in commercial at the State University of Iowa. She has had experience teaching in the high schools in Minnesota at Renville, Fergus Falls, Owatonna and Forest Lake.—B. A. S. & G. A. W.

Five New Periodicals Added To Library List

When you go to the library for something to read or for information, you might look at the "New Yorker", "Life", "Saturday Review of Literature", "The Nation" or the "Theatre Arts Monthly" These are all new magazines in our library this school year. Of course, the usual magazines which were on the magazine shelf last year are still available.—B. M. A.

Through the Office Window

By Supt. B. C. Kuefler

Last Saturday the office received official notice that the Revenue Act of 1941 provides a 10% Federal tax on school admissions, beginning with October 1, 1941. This means a 1c tax on each admission of 10c or fraction of 10c.

Tickets hereafter are to show the price of the admission,, Federal Tax, the total of the two items, and are to be serially numbered. Such tickets have been ordered but will not be available for several weeks. Until new tickets arrive, we will need to collect the tax in addition to the 25c and 10c tickets being sold.

One of the first questions to arise was whether the usual admission absorb the tax or whether the tax should be added.

On Monday afternoon a number of class officers and faculty advisers met and favored adding the tax. The student council that same afternoon unanimously concurred.

There are several good reasons for this general agreement. Business practices that policy, other institutions will do likewise, costs connected with functions are bound to be higher than normally, pupils and adults will more fully realize their fair obligations to the government.

Until further notice the general admission will be 25c plus 3c. Any special ten cent ticket will be 10c plus 1c, which applies to reserved seats if wanted at a few programs.

We sincerely hope and believe that this plan will be enthusiastically accepted as entirely feasible.—B. C. Kuefler.

There's mystery going around in a certain freshman English class.

Rangers To Invade Pine City Tomorrow

The Rangers will invade the premises of the Green and Gray of Pine City tomorrow to degrade the hope of a win in their homecoming game.

This game is a student trip for the Rangers' followers so they will have plenty of support from the sidelines on their first game away from home.

Pine City promises to be a tough team for they have a total of nine lettermen returning. Comments are that the Dragons have a heavy line and a fast backfield.

The fast backfield is attributed to the fact that all the boys are back who filled these positions last year. Pine City's regular quarterback will not be seen in tomorrow's lineup, however, because of an injury in the Hinckley game.

The Dragons won 1 game, lost 4 and tied 1 last year. One of these losses was attributed to the Forest Lake eleven who defeated them 6 to 0. Pine City has already checked in a victory this year defeating the Polars of Hinckley 30 to 0.

The pilot of the Dragons will be Kenneth Sandboe with Von Wald and Hammond leaders of the Rangers.

The Polars first counter came after a number of wide sweeps, fakes and reverses around the ends. The Red and Gray's winning points came midway in the last session when Works of the Polars plunged over the Ranger goal line. McGee, Jeans and Holl of Forest Lake and Hanner and Works of North St. Paul were the outstanding players of the game.

Plans for bi-annual have already been made. As for the publishing company, only Buckbee-Mears has made a bid on the price and type of annual. Violin and Harp To Be Lyceum Feature

The Scheurer-Williams Duo will be presented on October 9 at 9:00 o'clock for grades 3 to 8 and 10:00 for grades 9-12.

Their performance will consist of some of the most beautiful works in all musical literature. Mr. Scheurer will play the violin and Mr. Williams will play the harp.

Karl Scheurer joined the Boston Symphony in 1907 as first violin and solo viola player. In 1909 he was engaged as second concert master for the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra which position he filled for ten years. He was at one time conductor of a philharmonic club that has traveled throughout the northwest. He was also head of the violin department at the University of Minnesota.

Henry Williams was born in South Wales. This country is renowned for its production of great harpists, because the harp is the national instrument.

Mr. Williams began his studies with John Thomas, harpist for Queen Victoria and King Edward. He studied later with Richard Barker one of the greatest harp teachers of all times. His remarkable playing has won him nine first prizes which include gold and silver medals. He has been solo harpist for the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra for many years.

Admission for students is by season tickets. The price of admission for the public will be 25c.—D. P.

"Lassie Come Home" A Stirring Story

"Lassie Come Home" is a stirring story of a dog's love of his master by Eric Knight.

Lassie is a beautiful pure bred collie ... When she was given to Sam Carralough, she was just a puppy. Lassie grew up to love Sam's son, Joe. Every day when school let out, Lassie would be at the gate waiting for Joe.

One day Joe comes out of school and doesn't find Lassie waiting for him. He hurries home, bewildered, thinking that Lassie might be sick or hurt. When he reaches home, he finds his father has sold Lassie to a duke for a considerable amount of money. Lassie finally runs away from the duke and returns to Joe. Joe's father enraged, tells the duke that if she escapes one more time he'll keep her. The Duke then takes Lassie to his home in Scotland.

How Lassie finds her way home, four hundred miles of hard travel, you will find when you read this stirring story of a dog's love to its master.—M. L. M.

Homecoming Event A Great Success

A parade, football game, queen crowning and a dance highlighted the seventh annual Homecoming festivities which were held last Friday.

The morning was a general rush with all classes and clubs putting the finishing touches on their floats. At 11:30, Richie Petersen, the local druggist, headlined the pep fest which was held in the high school gymnasium. Other talks were given by Coaches Von Wald and Hammond.

The prize winners in the parade were as follows:

Primary division: second grade.
Intermediate division: fourth grade.
Junior High division: ninth grade.
Senior High division: sophomores.

Promptly at 2 p. m. the Forest Lake eleven kicked off to an eager North St. Paul aggregation who later turned the tables and won the game by the score of 13-6.

Between halves of the game, Miss Doris Pederson, senior class belle, was crowned queen of the day's festivities. Lorraine Spescha and June Baker were her attendants while Donald Waller, the newly elected Student Council president, crowned the queen.

The drum majorettes acted as a military guard during the ceremony by forming an arch for the queen and her attendants to march through. Richard Johnson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Johnson, acted as the page for the queen.

The festivities were closed with a dance sponsored by the Alumni and held at the Rainbow Room of the Commercial Hotel. At the dance the queen and attendants were presented with gifts.

Eva Strecker won the $5.00 bonus for selling the most Homecoming buttons previous to the celebration. The $5.00 prize was donated to the juniors by Mayor Stack to be used as such an award.

Miss Burkee Now Instructor At Hamline University

You probably all remember Miss Mertrice Burkee, the former commercial teacher of Forest Lake high school. Miss Burkee is now employed at Hamline University. On September 1, she began her services as the instructor in secretarial studies at Hamline.

Miss Burkee attended Hamline University for two years and in 1934 she graduated from the University of Minnesota with a Bachelor of Science degree in commercial education. In August of this year she obtained her Master of Arts degree in commercial at the State University of Iowa. She has had experience teaching in the high schools in Minnesota at Renville, Fergus Falls, Owatonna and Forest Lake.—B. A. S. & G. A. W.

Music Students To Hear Marine Band This Evening

Tonight a school bus will take the students of the music classes to St. Paul to hear the United States Marine Band concert. The Marine Band is undoubtedly one of the finest traveling bands today, better even than the Army and Navy bands.

All of the men in the band are talented and considered to be the best in their specific fields. After the concert the performers will remain on the stage and answer any questions the high school musicians may want to ask about any particular part of the instruments and how to improve tones.—L. J. A.

Five New Periodicals Added To Library List

When you go to the library for something to read or for information, you might look at the "New Yorker", "Life", "Saturday Review of Literature", "The Nation" or the "Theatre Arts Monthly" These are all new magazines in our library this school year. Of course, the usual magazines which were on the magazine shelf last year are still available.—B. M. A.

Through the Office Window

By Supt. B. C. Kuefler

Last Saturday the office received official notice that the Revenue Act of 1941 provides a 10% Federal tax on school admissions, beginning with October 1, 1941. This means a 1c tax on each admission of 10c or fraction of 10c.

Tickets hereafter are to show the price of the admission,, Federal Tax, the total of the two items, and are to be serially numbered. Such tickets have been ordered but will not be available for several weeks. Until new tickets arrive, we will need to collect the tax in addition to the 25c and 10c tickets being sold.

One of the first questions to arise was whether the usual admission absorb the tax or whether the tax should be added.

On Monday afternoon a number of class officers and faculty advisers met and favored adding the tax. The student council that same afternoon unanimously concurred.

There are several good reasons for this general agreement. Business practices that policy, other institutions will do likewise. costs connected with functions are bound to be higher than normally, pupils and adults will more fully realize their fair obligations to the government.

Until further notice the general admission will be 25c plus 3c. Any special ten cent ticket will be 10c plus 1c, which applies to reserved seats if wanted at a few programs.

We sincerely hope and believe that this plan will be enthusiastically accepted as entirely feasible.—B. C. Kuefler.

OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

● All kinds of alibis could be made for last week's game, but I would have to say the refereeing was the worst I've seen. Carlson, Furrer and Johnson took most of the illegal hitting with the fist and kicking in the legs. As for the game it was well played until the last quarter when Forest Lake was pushed back to their goal by a 15 yard penalty and an end run by Weber. Blocking is far from Hammond's expectations and the tackling looked sloppy in the second half.

● One of the biggest improvements in the St. Paul City conference is the new Central Stadium. Year before last they lacked funds because of no place to play football. This year 3 games last week drew 15,000 fans, the climax coming with the Wilson-Murray game, which drew 8,000 people. That's more than they draw in the State Conference.

● Good use of the new substitution rule was made in the Stanford-Oregon game last Saturday, Stanford making 80 substitutions and Oregon State 49, for a total of 129 substitutions during the game.

● Tomorrow is the game at Pine City and is their home-coming. We know little about Pine City only that it will be about the same as last year—a team we beat 6-0.

As long as we were beaten on our homecmoing let's go up to Pine City and spoil their homecoming for them by beating them.

Facts and Figures in Queenly Portions for Homecoming

The truth is revealed. The three candidates for Homecoming queen have tossed their secrets to the Breeze and have come across with facts that have troubled feminity down through the centuries.

With much coaxing and outright threatening the candidates consented to have their figures measured.

All of the candidates are much the same size. June has 36 inch hips, Doris 36 and Lorraine 34. Doris and Lorraine have 27 inch waist lines and June only a 25.

Not very often does the modern girl consent to being weighed, but Doris (118 pounds), June (112 pounds) and Lorraine (a mere 104 pounds) ascended the scales without a bit of hesitation.

Doris, 5 feet, 2 inches in height, is taller than June and Lorraine but by only one inch.

Not only have the girls "oomph" figures, but they are also active in many school activities. June is an ardent journalist. Incidentally she might be the regular BREEZE columnist. Coming to Forest Lake last spring from Harding High in St. Paul, June has leaped to a high spot of popularity in the senior class. June also lends her soprano voice to the senior high mixed chorus.

AT PRESS TIME YESTERDAY, THE BREEZE LEARNED OF THE ELECTION OF DORIS PEDERSON AS THE 1941 HOMECOMING QUEEN.

Another journalist is Doris Pederson. She is a blonde, dutiful, active member of G. A. A. and M. R. and she is an honor student. Doris has represented her class by being junior class reporter is now the senior class secretary.

Olive-skinned Lorraine Spescha also plays an important role in the senior class. She was class president in her sophomore year, vice president in her junior year and is still a class officer, now holding the office of senior vice-president. Lorraine is also a member of G. A. A.

The coronation of the queen will take place during the halves of the game. The clothes each will wear have not been definitely decided but June is contemplating on wearing deep rose; Doris, white; and Lorraine pink. The dresses will be ankle length and the queen and her attendants will carry bouquets of flowers.

Cimaxing her reign over the festivities, the queen and her attendants will be guests of honor at the Homecoming dance.

Gifts will be bestowed on the queen and attendants, by the alumni who is sponsoring the dance. A floor show which will be presented at eleven o'clock will be given in honor of the queen.

The dance will be held at the Rainbow Terrace, Commercial Hotel.—P. T.

Rustling Leaves

• INDIAN SUMMER

With autumn come thoughts of parties. The world has changed to a much more beautiful place. The leaves are turning from a deep shade of green to beautiful shades of orange, yellow, red and brown. The grass will soon bear a blanket of leaves and in the air a trace of the chill.

With autumn come thoughts of football games and weiner roasts. There's nothing like a crisp evening with a harvest moon, a crackling fire and lots of weiners. Of course, on the other hand, there's nothing like a rainy, muddy night, you stalled in a pasture, no wood, no fire, cold weiners in soggy buns with no mustard.

Oh, yes, we still think autumn is the most wonderful season of the year.

• CHEMISTRY, BAH!

Where were you during fifth period Thursday? We're not checking up on skippers, but if you did skip we don't blame you. If you were in the building at all, you'll know what we're talking about. It seems the chemistry class have started their experiments again. Wonder what the recipes are for those peculiar odors. And to think they work it all up in an hour!

• FRIENDLIEST PERSON

As you all know Edna Frenning, last year's valedictorian, is now going to Cable Business College.

Last week a box of candy was offered as a prize for the person who got acquainted with the most girls at the school. That is, knowing something about them in a certain amount of time.

Well, Edna was the person who acquired many new friends and the candy.

• LUCKIEST PERSON

Is Gloria Sanderude who won $50 last week on bank night at the Forest Theatre.

Upon being asked what she was going to do with the money she answered that she wasn't sure, but most likely would put half of it in the bank and buy clothes with the other half.

• WE APPRECIATE IT!

An improvement of the book shelf in the back of the assembly has been shown over that of last year. Much credit goes to Evelyn Palmer, who is in charge of keeping it in order. We hope the seniors will do their part in keeping it attractive.

• BUSY BEE

All was quiet in the stenography room until a little bee turned up to pester our future stenographers.

After buzzing around two students the bee alighted on Mr. Mike and after much persuasion flew into the open air.

Christenson, Rainer Win Poster Contest

"Maroon the Polars" was the slogan used by students of grade school, junior high and senior high, who entered the Homecoming poster contest, which ended on Friday, Sept. 19.

There were two prizes offered for the two best posters in the intermediate grades, junior high and senior high. The first prize in all cases was 75c and second prize 50c.

The winners of the contest in senior high school were Ethel Jane Christenson, first and Betty Marie Anderson, Marie Winnick, second.

In junior high, Marguerite Rainer won first and George Glassco second.

The winners in the intermediate grades were Francis Johnson, first prize and second, Marianne Rainer.

The judges of the contest were Mrs. Adolph Kemper, Mrs. O. E. Peterson and Mrs. Kenneth Von Wald.

Contestants of the event in senior high were as follows: Ethel Jane Christenson, Betty Marie Anderson, Marie Winnick, Eleanore Osterbauer, Bernice Dupre, Marlys Larson, Evelyn Dawson and Marguerite Rainer.

Contestants in junior high were: Ellen Mary Thompson, Dorothy Peterson, Jeannette Houle, Dolores Rosckes, George Glassco, Iva Alm, Joyce Engquist, Shirley Olson, Florence Bronczyk and Rose La Motte.—J. S.

OVER THE GOAL LINE

By Bob Holl

• The game last week came up to expectation in full even thought it was a tie. Forest Lake made a good showing even with-standing the fact that they have had little game competition in practice. The blocking was better than average, but more vicious tackling is needed. At times, during the game, some of the boys looked like they were playing touch ball.

• C. B. S. radio news editors report that the first thing their foreign news commentators ask is "How did the Dodgers come out?"

• A good reason for the close race in that National League between St. Louis and Brooklyn is their batting and fielding. Brooklyn leads in batting with .274 and St. Louis is second with .272. Both are tied at .973 in fielding. Brooklyn's Pete Ruser is leading the league with .335 average while Estel Crabtree of St. Louis is second with .232.

• Tomorrow Forest Lake should stand a chance to break into the winning column becouse North St. Paul has been riddled by graduation and they have practically a new team with little experience. From reports the team is very fast in the backfield. Their main loss and our greatest trouble last year, Carle, has graduated.

Welcome – Coming Guests!

Homecoming. What gala thoughts the day brings back to the hearts of graduates long departed from these deep halls of learning.

Take a long look across the whole nation and there you'll see them-grads of F. L. H. S. in every walk of life—in the army, the navy, marines, in politics, opera, journalism, teaching, show business, clerking, housekeeping, medicine, pharmacy and countless other occupations.

Once—they trod the stairs—were the backbone of our school.

Once—they skipped classes—whispered in study halls.

Once—they applauded a speaker—roared and cheered for their home town team.

Tomorrow as Homecoming becomes a reality for one day more their laughter shall fill the rooms—their feet shall step lightly across the greens of the campus—and they once again shall cheer their home town team to a tremendous victory.

To these grads, the student and faculty of Forest Lake's schools extend a most hearty welcome.

They hope that seeing the team plunge down the field for a score and watching the smiling queen receive her crown will bring back some of that glamorous school-day sparkle to your eyes—that you may laugh and dance and meet old friends at the alumni ball—that you'll go home tired and happy to dream of gladsome scenes in the old, red-brick schoolhouse and then awake once more to the realness of the world where you sell and buy, fight, fly airplanes, sing, write, cook, teach and engage in your countless other occupations.—L. C.

First Homecoming Queen in F. L. H. S. Five Years Ago

Six years ago tomorrow the Forest Lake High School held its first homecoming celebration. At that first homecoming Miss Joan Bernier reigned over the school as the homecoming queen.

A week ago Joan married Willard Houle who played football at that game. Now Joan will be queen again, but this time she will reign over Willard.

The last six years the school has considered Homecoming as the outstanding school event. From year to year this event has improved. Thus the student body plans to see many people out in sporting togs and in great spirit to see the "Rangers Maroon the Polars" tomorrow.—B. A. S.

From The Office Window

BY SUPT. KUEFLER

Welcome alumni. We hope that you will take an active part in all festivities of the day.

The school district number 56 is interested in showing historical data so a record can be made as to the history of the district. If any person, young or old, should have such information, would he kindly inform the school as to such matter and it shall be investigated.

In regard to Mr. Plourde's recent article on enrollment, I, too, have taken particular notice of the interest of both parents and students for this coming year. This is a fine thing, and I hope it will continue in future years.

Since July 1, 52 reference blanks have been received at the office asking for recommendations. The letters have concerned students, teachers and former employees. It does not include transfer students. This is a remarkable record, indeed.

We would greatly appreciate the cooperation of parents as to the matter of sick children in school. If your child does not feel well would you please keep him at home until he is perfectly well so as not to spread communicable diseases to other people in the student body. —Supt. Kuefler.

Viking Tilt Ends Tie, Meet Polars Friday

With "Maroon the Polars" the victory cry the Rangers will be out to smash the Red and Gray of North St. Paul tomorrow. This game will be the highlight of the annual homecoming festivities tomorrow.

The encounter promises to be hard fought for both teams hae had the experience of a game. The Rangers won their homecoming til last year when they overpowered the Pine City team for a 6 to 0 victory. Last Friday the Polars conquered the Mahtomedi eleven in a hard fought game which ended 7 to 0 in favor of the Polars' club. In the Rangers versus Polars encounter last year the Polars mastered the situation for a 13 to 6 decision.

Gamely fighting back and knocking down the many threatening passes the Rangers held the North Branch Vikings to a scoreless tie last Friday. At the end of the first half the Rangers were decidedly the underdogs of the game. During the second half the Vikings uncorked a passing barrage which did not prove very effective.

Midway in the third quarter, Moses of the North Branch aggregation intercepted a Ranger pass and ran for a near touchdown before he was downed by the combined forces of Bill Jeans and Spike Houle. A short pass over the goal line again almost spelled defeat but was dropped by the intended receiver.

In the last quarter the Rangers got their machine rolling when several passes were completed for some much needed yardage. The Rangers then made a few short gains but were set back by penalties for overtime in the huddle.

The game ended with Bob Holl almost breaking away for a touchdown. Bud Huber's pass receiving and Richard McGee's punting were the sparks of the Rangers' team.

Game statistics are: first downs, Rangers 5, Vikings 5; passes attempted, Rangers 6, Vikings 14; passes completed, Rangers 3, Vikings 3; punting average, Rangers 40 yards, Vikings 41 yards; total yards gained, Rangers 145, Vikings 230; total yards on penalties, Rangers 15, Vikings 15.

The starting lineup for the Rangers was Houle and Huber at ends; Johnson and Furrer at tackles; Palmer and Carlson at guards; Elmstrom at center; Holl at quarterback; Jeans and Langdon at halves; and McGee at fullback.—E. S.

Sixteen New Girl Scouts

Sixteeen new members to Girl Scouts attended the second meeting of the year last Monday.

The leaves that were collected were mounted. Mariella Weber and Marceline Houle served refreshments.

Rangers Meet Polars Homecoming Game

The Homecoming enthusiasm which has been brewing in classrooms for the past week will be given its release tomorrow.

Don't be surprised if you hear a yell from some student asking for Jim to 'hurry up and bring those tacks or where is that crepe paper?' These will be the last minute touches on the floats entered by all classes and individuals in the parade which will start at 1:30 at the south end of town, go up to the blinker at the north end and back to the school. Prizes will be given for the best float in each division. The judges are Mrs. Adolph Kemper, Miss Ole Mattson and Miss Maud York.

The highlight of the day will be the football game between the Rangers and North St. Paul which begins at 2:00 p. m. Between halves of the game the Homecoming queen will be crowned. Either June Baker, Doris Pederson or Lorraine Spescha will receive this honor. By paying for your season ticket in full or buying a Homecoming pin from the juniors you will receive 25 votes for the girl you wish to be queen.

The Homecoming dance sponsored by the Alumni will culminate the day's activities. Tickets for the dance are 25 cents and they may be purchased from members of the Alumni or Mr. Johnson.

To you the alumni of Forest Lake high school is this day dedicated. May it bring back many pleasant memories of your former school days. —L. J. A.

Campaigns Close With Council Election Tomorrow

Either Franklin Williver or Donald Waller will rise to the much publicized office of Student Council President after the election of the president which will take place tomorrow at 9:00.

During the past two weeks, a heated campaign has been raging through the halls and it will be a close race during the election.

Directly following the election in the home rooms, the council will meet and cast the electorial votes for the deciding factor of the matter.

Duck Season and Hay Fever

Duck season opens October first, but one class of freshmen seems to have a combination of a hay fever sufferer and a honker in their midst.

At least once in every class the silence is broken by AH-CHOO!!!

When the silence finally resumes it is again broken by HONK! HONK! HONK!

Don't be alarmed freshies, no ducks are flying over your heads——it's just "Tall John" and his nose.—E. S.

Boy Scouts Meet Tonight at 7:30

Under the direction of Henry Wilson, scoutmaster; Donald Dorgan, assistant scoutmaster, and Billy Engler, senior patrol leader, scout troop No. 137 is holding its regular meeting at the school every Thursday night at 7:30.

Any boy interested should attend the meetings.—J. S.

Under the direction of Mr. Moede and Louise Crete, the drum majorettes will receive pointers on their new routine during the next few weeks.

On Monday mornings they will have a combined practice under the supervision of Mr. Moede. The majorettes plan to work up new routines for performances at football and basketball games.—H. G.

Win with Williver, or Walk Away with Waller

As you know, I am a candidate for election as Student Council chairman. My opponent is Don Waller, the senior class president.

On the surface, this contest may seem to be a mere contest between the juniors and the seniors, however, this is not the case. There is far more involved than a mere inter-class struggle.

I'd like to ask you, the electors, a few questions. As right-thinking citizens of Forest Lake High School you'll find the answers for yourself.

First would you place a person who has no interest in the future benefits to be derived by active Student Counci agitation in a responsible position? No, you would rather place the person who will have an interest in the benefits because of attendance in the year to come.

My worthy opponent has (or will) promised devotion to and responsible handling of all activities of the Student Council that have been I promise them to you in an even greater amount.

It will be my policy to cut red-tape to the bone and get rid or revise any cumbersome activities o fthe Student Council that have been out moded or outlived their usefulness. I will demand results from the various committees appointed by the Student Council. Many of these have not been functioning properly in the past due to incompetence of committee members or laziness. You may be sure that all appointees from now on will be competent and active.

I believe in school spirit, and this is something that needs bolstering at Forest Lake. Cheers are half-hearted and ridicule is rampant. We go into contests with a defeatist complex. We should remember that the contest is never over until the final whistle blows.

I shall continue the various worthwhile policies of the present Student Council and attempt to enlarge their scope. I am determined to be broadminded in all matters.

I will fill the office of student council president to the best of my ability.

—Franklin Williver

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT BODY:

I wish to acquaint you with the principles upon which I shall base my actions should you see fit to elect me to the presidency of the Student Council.

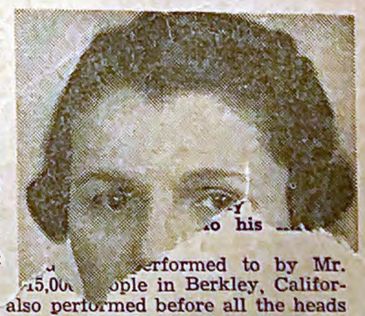

I will do my best to uphold the democratic principles of the institution. I will be fair and impartial to each and every member of the student body.

The council concerns itself mainly with extra-curricular work and I being greatly interested in these activities will do my utmost to encourage greater interest in these various clubs, athletics, etc. I am in favor of having a question box again this year because it gives each student equal opportunity to express his or her ideas on ways of improving the school management thus encouraging greater interest in school affairs. Student Teacher Day was a success last year, because it gives the students a chance to see what the teachers go through each day.

Yours for Courtesy, Fairness, and Cooperation.

Don Waller

Introducing Miss. Handford

Introducing a new teacher on the Junior High Staff—Miss De Ette Handford from St. Paul. She is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and formerly taught at Olivia, Minnesota.

Miss Handford indulges in teaching mathematics, general science and history.

Bowling, going to the movies and athletics are her favorite pastimes. She thinks Homecoming is a grand idea as it creates a lot of enthusiasm among the students.

Miss Handford is a brunette of medium height who has fresh alive look in her brown eyes. She has an interest hobby of collecting classical records.

Upon being asked what the highlights of her days were, she replied that working on the school paper and athletics were the most ories.

In her opinion Forest Lake is a s was of age

When asked what he thought of swing, he replied, "It's all right in its place. I believe any music is good when played well, and poor when played poor".

These two artists are now on a four week tour. After this they will again be teaching at the University of Minnesota.—A. J. M. and P. T.

Thelma Melford Weds Myron Cedarholm

The Faith Lutheran Church was the scene of a pretty candlelight service on Saturday evening, September 6, when Miss Thelma Melford, daughter of Mrs. Anna Melford, Forest Lake, became the bride of Mr. B. Myron Cedarholm, son of Rev. and Mrs. Anton Cedarholm also of Forest Lake.

Rev. Oscar Lund, pastor of the church, performed the marriage ceremony. Prenuptial music was furnished by Miss Olga Bomgren, soprano, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte- Deis and "Beloved It Is Morn" by Aylward. She was accompanied by Mrs. B. C. Kuefler. A girls' octet, with whom the bride had worked when she taught at Benson, sang "Silent As Night" by Bohm-Lester, accompanied by Mrs. Verne Richards, also of Benson. At the close of the ceremony, while the bridal couple was kneeling at the altar, Miss Bomgren sang "Seal Us With Thy Spirit".

Organ selections were rendered by Mrs. Melvin Johnson, Almelund, who also played the wedding march. She used as processionals Soderman's "Swedish Wedding March" and the traditional Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin." Mendelssohn's Wedding March served as recessional. The bride entered with and was given in marriage by her brother, Leslie Melford.

The bride's gown of white satin was designed with a yoke of white lace, gathered bodice, a full skirt extending into a long train. Her double veil of fine net fell from a coronet of lace. She carried a bouquet of all-white roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Wilma Westburg of Hopkins, and the bridesmaids, Miss Eunice Melford, Forest Lake, sister of the bride, and Miss Virginia Raap, Chicago, cousin of the bride, wore identical gowns in the Victorian style. They were fashioned with fitted velvet bodices and full length taffeta skirts in matching shades of hyacinth blue, orchid and deep rose. The junior bridesmaid, Miss Faith Chell of Buffalo wore a similar floor length gown of gold taffeta. The attendants carried bouquets of talisman and Briar Cliff roses.

Jason Cedarholm, St. Paul, brother of the groom, served as best man and the ushers were Ralph Melford, Robert Carlson and Deane Carlson, all of St. Paul.

The bride is a graduate of Gustavus Adolphus College and has been engaged as vocal music instructor in the Benson High School. The groom, since his graduation from the University of Minnesota, has been attending Eastern Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

A reception for 125 guests in the church parlors followed the mony. Assisting as hostesses Miss Arlene Johnson of Sti and Miss Bernice Anderson est Lake.
