

What is Title I?

- Title I is one of the nation's oldest and largest federal programs supporting elementary and secondary education.
- Through Title I, the federal government disburses money to school districts based on the number of students who qualify for free or reduced lunch in each district.
- Students are selected based on their academic needs

Title I is Based on Three Important Ideas:

1. All students should have a fair, equal, and significant opportunity to obtain a high-quality education and to reach, at minimum, proficiency on state academic standards and assessments.
2. Local districts, schools, and parents know best what their students need to succeed. The Title I program allows them to decide how to use these funds to implement research-based proven practices to help students who are failing or who are at risk of failing in school.
3. Parents are partners in helping all students achieve. They have the right to be involved in the design and operation of their school's Title I program, and, at the same time, a responsibility to help their children succeed in school.
