DIRECTOR'S NOTE

In 2017, the first play in many years was performed on the Stewart Elementary stage. Lion King, Jr. was chosen to bring students together over the shared experience of theater. With the help of parents, the school, and talented and brave kids—this incredible story was brought to life. The original cast has all moved on from Stewart, but they left behind pieces of the play they helped build. These pieces are left both in the hearts and shared memories of the people who participated, as well as in the actual set pieces, props, and costumes they wore. The laughter and triumphs of this first cast of kids set the tone for the plays to come and gave courage and enthusiasm to students who joined in the years since then.

One theme within Lion King is the idea that those who come before us continue to live in us and watch over us. Thinking about that first play, I realized that it was time for it to take its place in the circle and return to the Stewart stage! As we prepared Lion King this year, we learned we need to remember who we are and take our place in the circle of life. This year's cast was perfect for the part, as we have some especially wild animals to help bring the show to life! Every student has put their heart into sharing this story with you. Learning songs, practicing drums, and memorizing lines and choreography have all been accomplished with much enthusiasm. I feel blessed to have been able to work with each one of them and I know you will feel their love and excitement as they share this story with you.

We are thrilled to be able to REMEMBER where things started and those who lead the way. And now to share this story in OUR way and leave something...for those who will come after.

A BIG THANK YOU!

For the past several months, we have been saying we “Just Can’t Wait” as we have been trying to “Be Prepared” to show you all that we have worked on. We “Can feel the Love Tonight” through the hundreds of volunteer hours that have been shared to help make our show possible. Every part played a huge role in “The Circle of Life” of creating an amazing show—from painting sets, to creating props, designing t-shirts, setting up chairs, helping with costumes and at rehearsal...the list goes on and on. We thank each and every one of the parents and families that donated their time and shared their talents with us.

A few volunteers went above and beyond and deserve an extra shout out. Thank you to: Christina Hilton, Chrif Perry, Spencer Frohm, Jennifer Pantelakis, Tiffany Stacy, Lance Larsen, Clara & Evan Lewis, Robyn Brown, Ali Morris, Jessica Neumann, Staci Nielsen, Ashley Justensen, Wendy Jones, Inger Darden, and Christie Henderson.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

J.P. Stewart administration, faculty, and staff for supporting the play and helping us have this unifying experience at our school.

J.P. Stewart custodial staff for helping keep our school clean and providing after hours help during our performances.

The Hope Squad for creating posters to advertise the play.

Coach Courtney Johnson for letting us take over the gym for a couple weeks.

Mrs. Melanie Phelps, our INCREDIBLE art teacher here at Stewart, who takes the time with each class throughout the school to create a work of art to display so that each student at our school can feel a part of this show, even if they weren’t able to physically be in it.

Lynn Clayson for taking on the huge task of being our videographer. Lynn takes hours of his own personal time recording, editing, and creating a copy of our show so we can remember this experience forever!
