Work to date

- Discussed pros and cons of our current grading systems
 - Link to document coming soon (see slide 5)
- Read and discussed current research/literature on grading practices
- Processed ideas from the research using the following chart

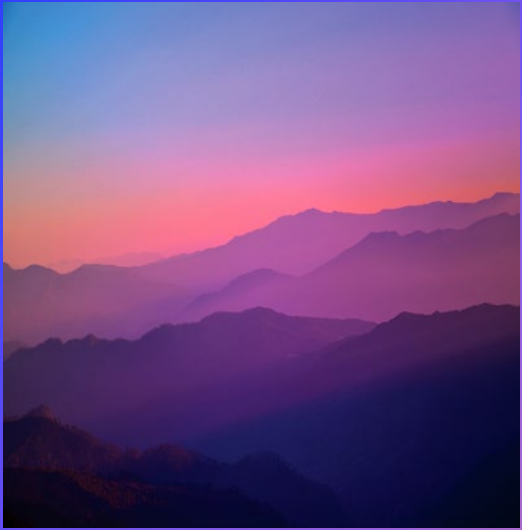

What would we like to make sure we consider?	What do we have wonders about?	What are some things that concern us?
--	--------------------------------	---------------------------------------

- The questions we've generated are available to review by following this link
 - We don't have answers, yet, but want to share the questions we have been discussing, and would like to know what questions you have
- If you have questions that you would like us to address, please participate in the following ThoughtExchange. This will be open until December 16

Literature/Research

- If you have come across research around grading practices, please share with one of your building representatives, so that it can be shared with the committee
- The book we have been reading is Grading for Equity by Joe Feldman. If you are interested in reading this, please let one of our committee participants know

Next Steps

- Continue to consider research/literature to help answer the questions
- Research other secondary schools who have transitioned to using equitable grading practices
- Create a webpage on our district website to ensure that meeting agendas and notes are available for review
- Prepare for hosting Focus Groups with various stakeholders
