Many religions are practiced by students at SAMS. Students identify as Christian, Jewish, Muslim, Buddhist, and more. Some students do not identify as religious, or are atheist.

Regardless of which faith you subscribe to, or don't, it's good to learn about what your peers and colleagues believe and what matters to them.

Here is information about Ramadan, a major celebration in the Islamic faith that is celebrated for thirty days beginning March 23rd.

Try drawing or writing about this prompt:

It was a dark and stormy night, it could have felt peaceful, but I couldn't shake the the knot in my stomach.
