Our work that supports safety, security, climate and culture

See. Hear. Share. is one of the public facing elements of the Tulsa Public Schools' Security Profile. This initiative addresses the foundational elements of School Climate and Reporting systems by giving staff, students, parents and the broader community a confidential method to contact Campus Police 24 hours a day by phone, text or email. This system has received threat tips, bullying information, child endangerment reports as well as lower-level concerns such as traffic and signage.

The Safe and Healthy School Plan aligns with the emergency operation planning recommendations by the OK Crisis and Readiness Emergency Services. These plans are continually reviewed to reflect the nation's best practices. The Safe and Healthy School Plan provides instruction on crisis response, drills, and drill reporting for the district. Tulsa Public Schools works closely with Tulsa Police Department and Tulsa Area Emergency Management Agency when developing response and reunification plans.

Behavior Threat Assessment Team

Tulsa Public Schools Behavior Threat Assessment Team is modeled from OSDE's Student Behavioral Threat Assessment System. Campus Police, Student and Family Services, Tulsa Police Department, COPES, as well as Tulsa District Attorney's Office are some of the rotating teams that review and make recommendations.

Site Assessments and Site Safety Evaluations

Risk and vulnerability assessments are a vital tool to consistently evaluate the needs to individual schools. These are performed by cross functional teams to ensure inclusions of a variety of subject matter experts' perspective to address needs in an efficient matter under the guidelines of the Oklahoma School Security Institute model.
