School Board Recognition of Woodstock High School Assistant Principal Dr. Meagan Waid -- Named 2022-23 Georgia Assistant Principal of the Year

Summary Explanation and Background

A Cherokee County School District leader has been named the 2022-23 Georgia Assistant Principal of the Year!

Woodstock High School Assistant Principal Dr. Meagan Waid was one of three leaders announced as finalists for the award presented by the Georgia Association of Secondary School Principals. The award, which is open to high school and middle school assistant principals statewide, recognizes “outstanding school leaders who have succeeded in providing high-quality learning opportunities for students.”

The judges selected a winner based on achievement in four categories of specific standards: personal excellence, collaborative leadership, personalization and curriculum, instruction and assessment. Dr. Waid will represent the state in the competition for the national title.

In addition to her critical role as a member of Woodstock High School's administration and leadership team, oversees curriculum. She also is responsible for the school improvement plan, schedules, student services, the language arts and social studies departments, the AP (Advanced Placement) program, the middle to high school transition, online learning opportunities, graduation ceremonies, honors and awards nights and academic letters.

Dr. Waid will represent the state in the competition for the national title.
