Cultural Sensitivity Trainings

Creating positive and inclusive environments inside and outside the classroom.

The Akron Public Schools cultural sensitivity trainings are presented at our school locations and departments throughout the area. Training sessions are typically six hours in length; however, we also offer condensed two-hour and three-hour sessions.

Sessions are taught by professional trainers, who have a unique understanding of culture and inclusivity in educational settings and the workplace. Our training staff consists of school counselors, school climate coordinators, administrative specialists and other partners of Akron Public Schools.

Through the cultural sensitivity trainings, we explore the following topics:

- School Culture and Climate Planning
- Exploring Bias and Microaggressions
- Strategies for Teaching Culturally Diverse Students
- The Importance of Teaching Through Relationships
- Understanding Your Students Beyond Academic Measures
- Family Engagement Strategies
- Supporting Students Who Live in Poverty
- Leading Diversity and Inclusion in the Workplace
- Dimensions of Diversity and Identity
- Exploring Institutional and Systemic Inequities
- Building an Inclusive School Community
- Finding Your Role as Advocate and Ally
- Ethical Leadership
- Creating a Positive Customer Experience

At Akron Public Schools, we are committed to creating understanding and inclusive environments for all students, faculty and staff members. For more information on trainings, contact:
