

Planning My Way to Work

A transition guide for students with disabilities leaving high school

Acknowledgements

We extend special thanks to the professionals, family members and self-advocate members of the Oregon Department of Education's Advisory Committee on Transition (ACT) for generously donating their time and experience to this project.

We also thank the family members, students, educators and other professionals that joined us for a full day meeting in spring 2019. During this meeting, they spent several hours reading each section of the guide and providing recommendations for improvements based on personal experience and expertise.

The Oregon Department of Education and the Oregon Council on Developmental Disabilities published this manual with help from the Oregon Department of Human Services, Office of Developmental Disabilities Services and the Vocational Rehabilitation program.

Welcome letter

Dear Students and Families,

This guide will help you be a leader in your life and stay organized as you transition from school to your adult life. Use the sections you care about most or use a section when the topic relates to what's happening in your life. Complete the worksheets by yourself, with your family or with your transition planning team. The eight sections are organized as follows:

Section 1 is an introduction to the transition planning process and self-determination skills that will help you be in control of your life. You will also learn about the Trajectory and Star worksheets you can use to organize your thoughts or make a plan.

Section 2 introduces the different parts of your transition team and person-centered planning strategies that help you identify and focus on your strengths and goals.

Section 3 describes different ways you might get a job and work toward a career by learning a skilled trade or earning a degree.

Section 4 explores supports to help you make decisions as an adult.

Section 5 talks about what you can do to feel healthy and safe as you build the life you want.

Section 6 helps you explore options and resources for living where you want to live in your community.

Section 7 describes services you may be eligible for that can help you reach your goals.

Finally, a glossary explains specialized terms.

Each section includes questions for you and your family to consider, examples of resources available to support you, and worksheets to help you stay organized and make a plan.

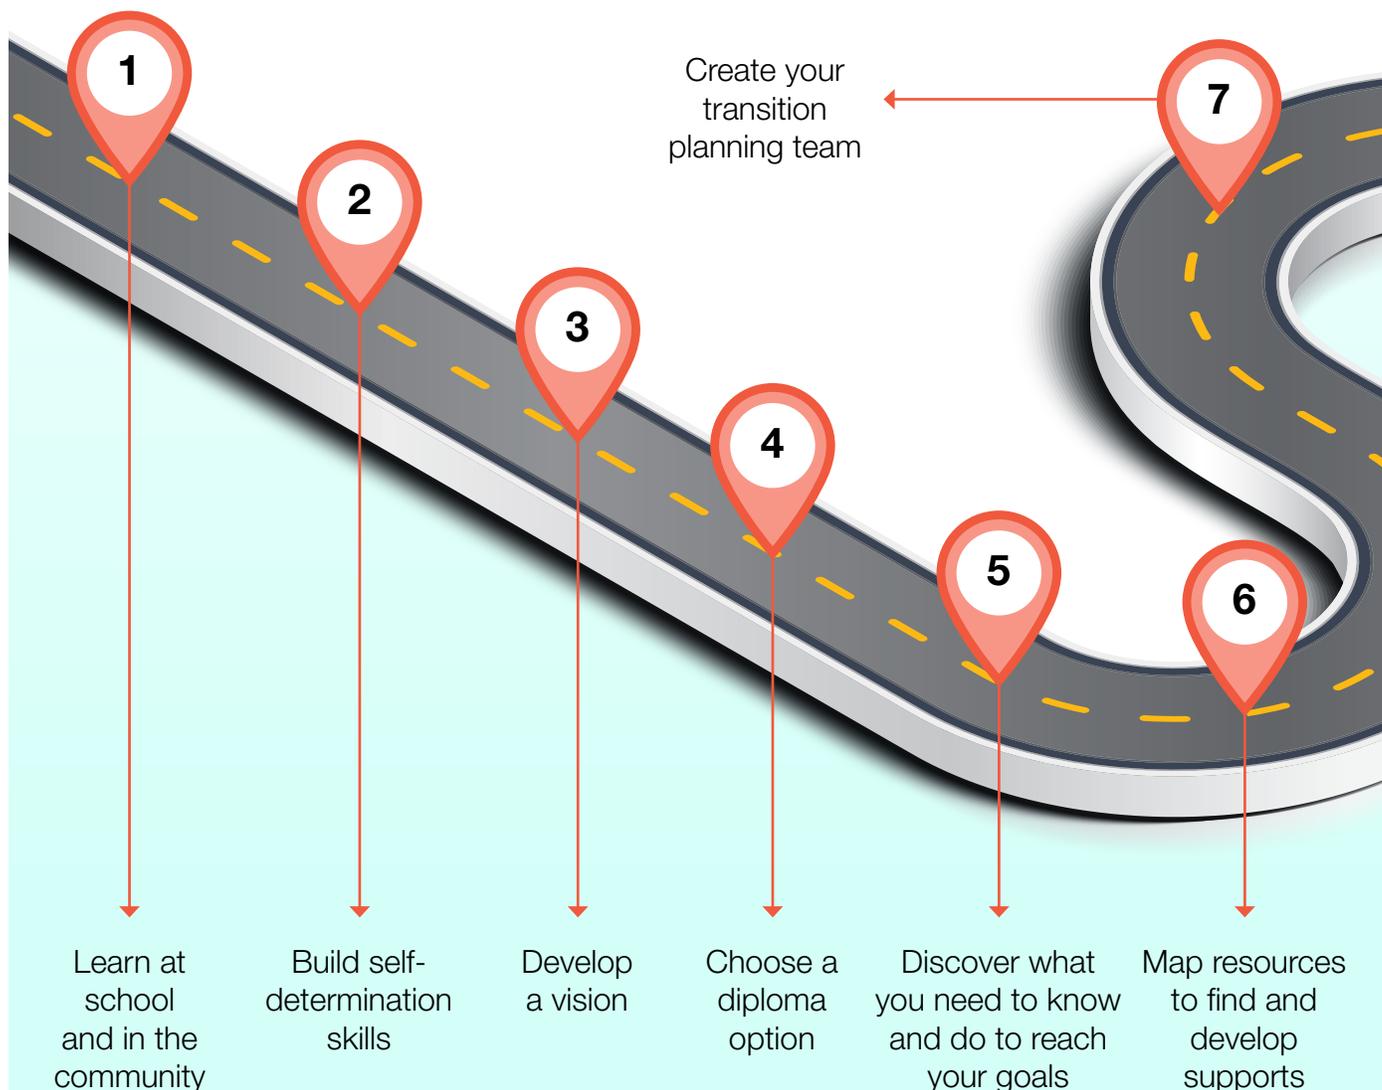

Examples of blank worksheets are available in the appendix.

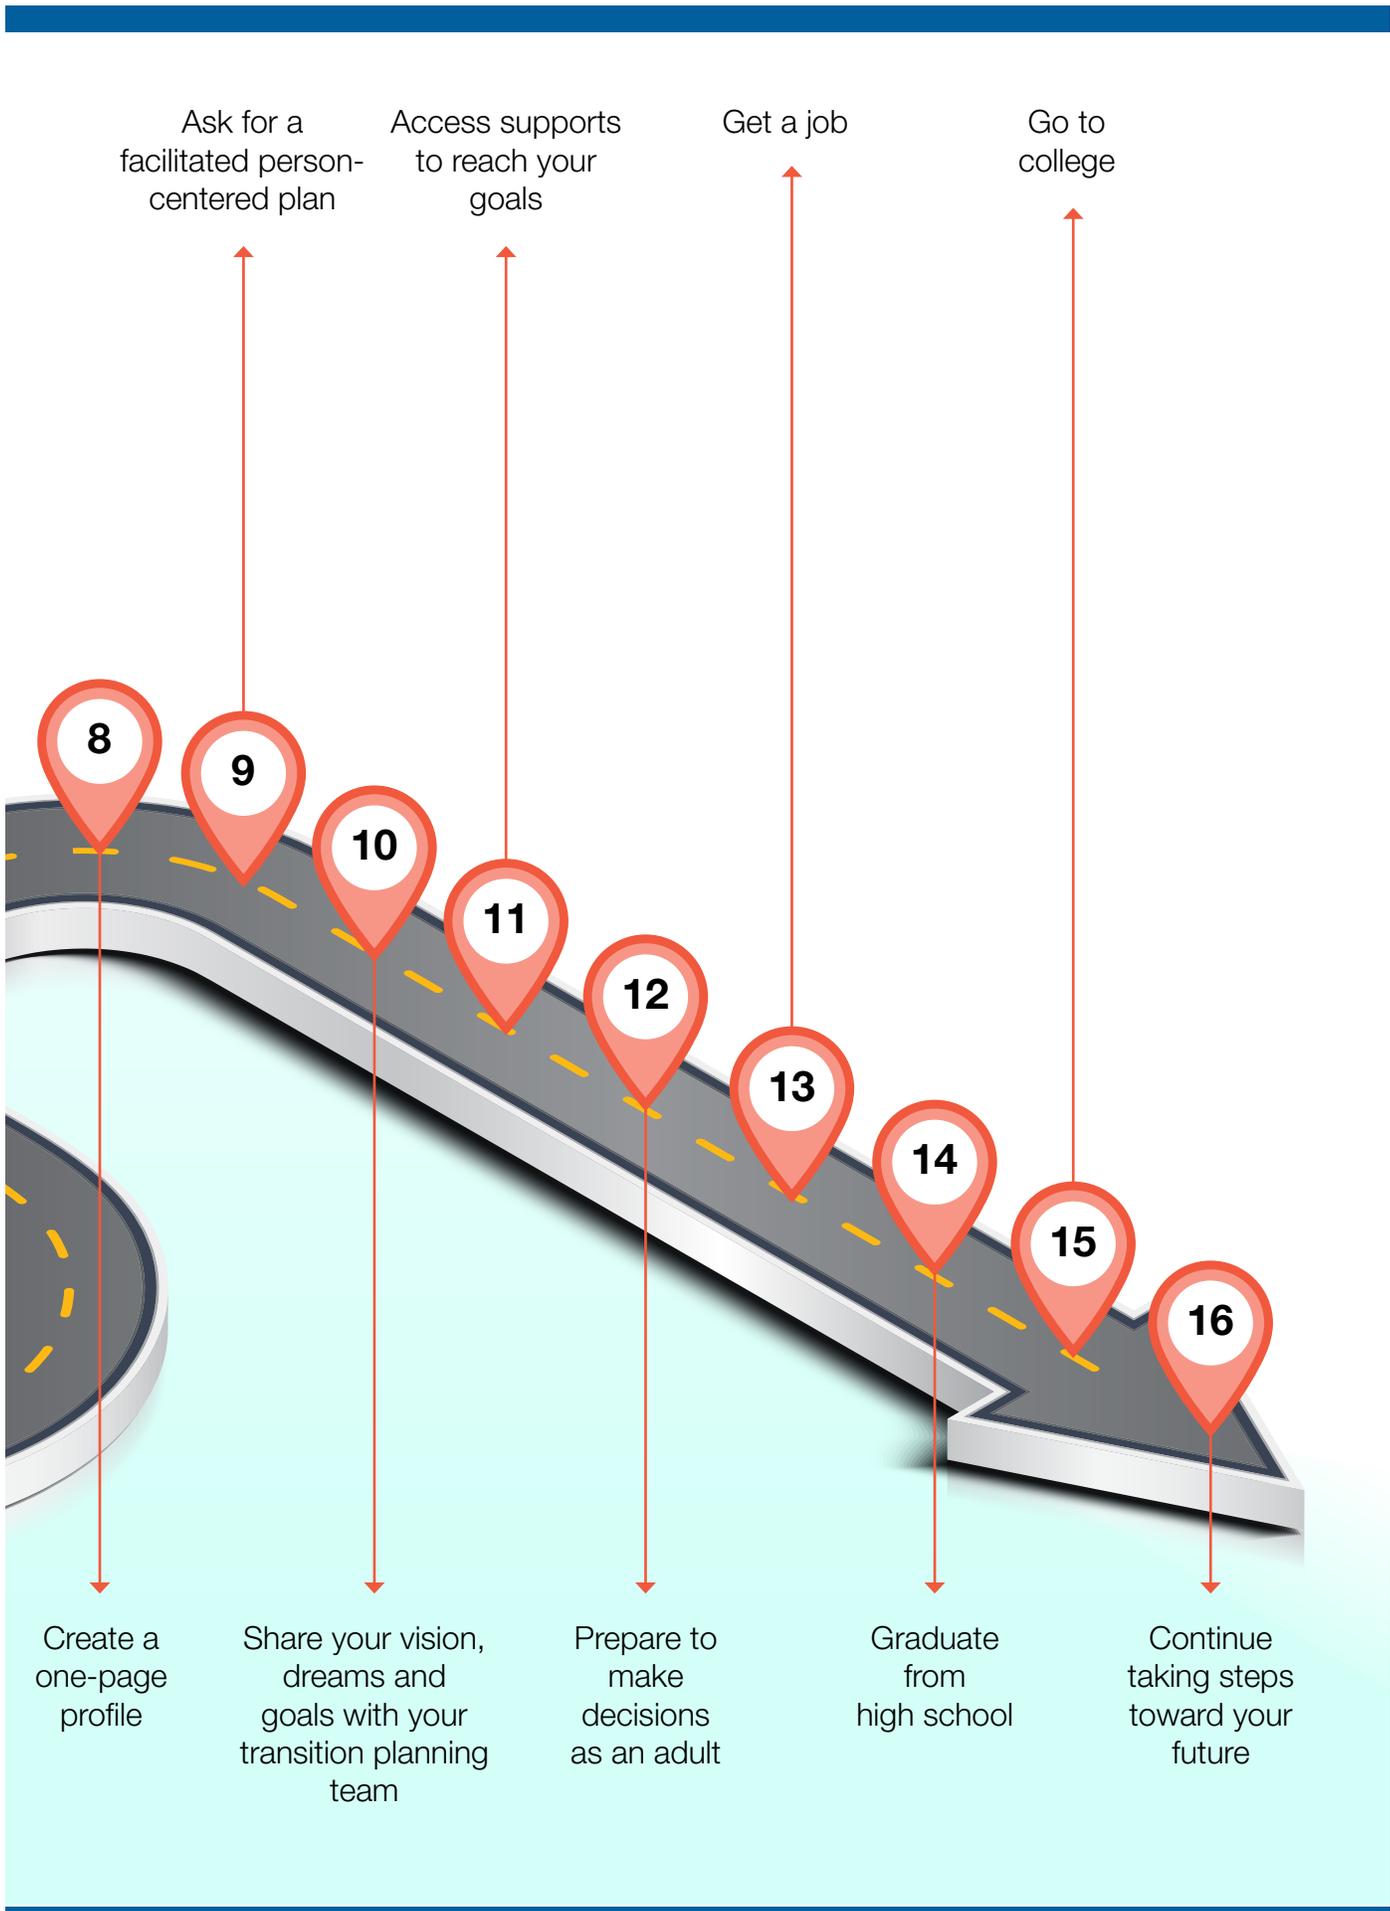

1. Introduction

Welcome to the Oregon Transition Guide for students and families!

When we talk about transition, we mean the time when young people are moving from high school to adult life – generally ages 14 to 21. Your journey is unique to you, but many people take similar steps along the way. This guide helps you think about those steps and figure out what is right for you. Welcome to your new road map to help you plan your transition into adult life!

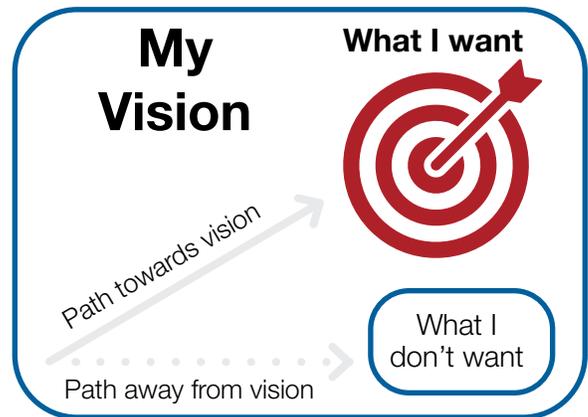

How students can use this guide

You are on an exciting journey from high school to adult life! What your life will look like is up to you. This guide is full of questions, resources and worksheets to help you organize your thoughts, create a vision for the future, make choices and decisions, and make a plan with help from your parents, teachers and others you choose. These questions are meant to prompt conversations. You do not need to answer all of them, and you may have some of your own.

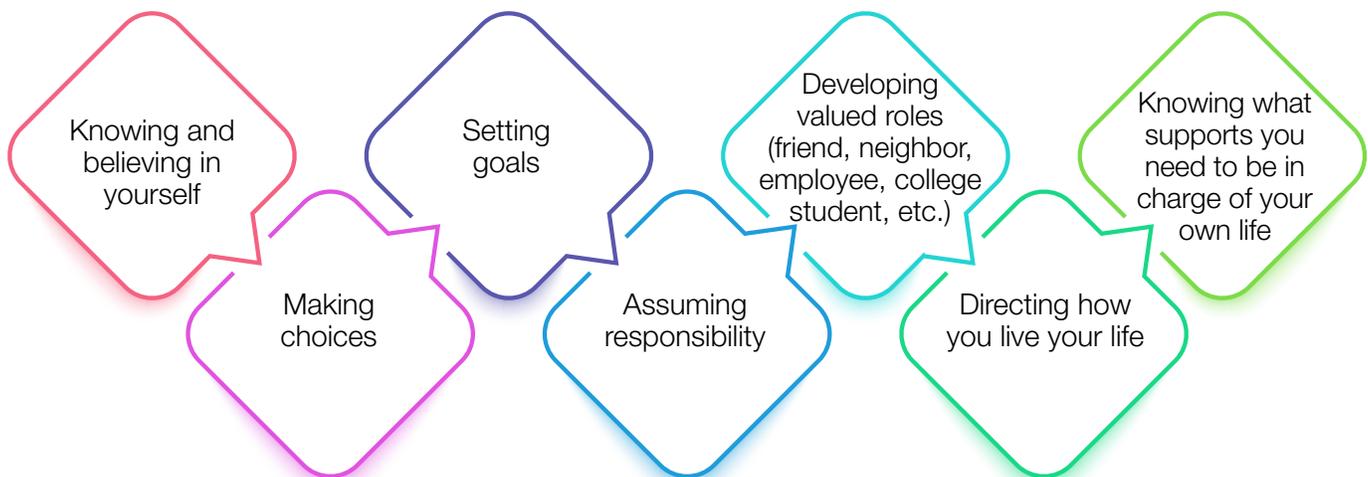

Why have a vision for your life?

Most people start dreaming when they are little kids of what they want their lives to be like. These ideas change as they learn, grow and gain life experience. As you get older, your vision becomes a target you aim for when you plan for life after high school. By having a vision, you are more likely to stay on your path, reach your goals and achieve your dreams.

During school, you will develop “self-determination” skills to help you reach your vision. Self-determination is a group of skills people use throughout their adult lives.

A few of the self-determination skills you need include:

How parents can use this guide

Transition is a time filled with change, growth and excitement — and sometimes fear and confusion. You play a critical role during your child’s transition from high school to adulthood.

This guide is full of questions, resources and worksheets to help you and your child organize thoughts, think about a vision for the future and how to get there, and work together. These questions are meant to prompt conversations. You do not need to answer all of them, and you may have some of your own. Students and families are most successful when students start planning early and drive the process — with help from family members, teachers and others.

How to use the worksheets

Trajectory worksheets

On the next two pages (and in most sections), you will find a worksheet to create your own trajectory. Trajectory means “a chosen or taken course” (American Heritage Dictionary). Use the worksheet for your big picture ideas — such as what you want your life to be like after you leave school. Your parents can help you create your path trajectory by asking you questions to help you develop ideas. A blank trajectory worksheet is also included in the Appendix for you to make copies.

- Start by listing a few things you want in your life after high school in the “What I want to achieve” bubble. We have included some questions to get you started.
- Under “What I don’t want in my life,” list a few things that you know you do not want in your life.
- The boxes along the solid arrow help you think about experiences you have already had, or experiences you need to have, to move toward your vision.
- The boxes along the dotted arrow help you think about experiences you have had — or want to avoid having — because they move you away from your vision, and toward what you do not want.

Star Worksheets

People use a combination of resources to have a good life. The Star Worksheet, which you will find in most sections, is a tool to help you and your family identify or “map” resources related to each topic in this guide. As you fill in your star, you may want to consider the many questions listed in “Star Worksheet Questions” as prompts to have meaningful conversations. You may not answer all of the questions, and you may have some of your own. You can also use the resources listed in the appendix to help generate ideas. Additional blank star worksheets are included in the appendix.

How can I explore supports to live where I want to live?
Do I qualify for services to help me get the support I need?

Star Worksheet: Mapping my Self-determination Resources

Write your goal in the center of the star. You are the expert on your life! Make a list on the below star worksheet of all the resources and assets you bring to transition planning meetings. See page 13 for questions and resources to get you started.

2. What is person-centered planning?

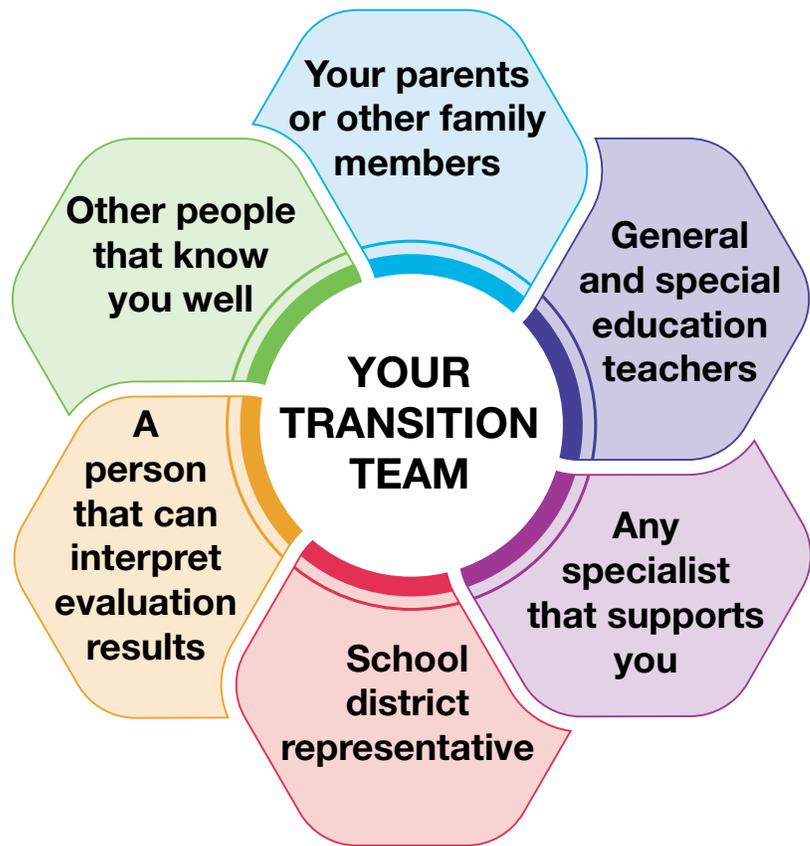

Person-centered planning

The best plans start with what we are good at and build from there. Person-centered planning is one strategy to help you do that. This section describes three person-centered planning strategies for sharing information with your transition team:

- The one-page profile
- Student-led individual education plans or IEPs, and
- The person-centered plan.

Your transition team

Your transition team meets at least once per year to support you during this transition in your life. When you meet, you will identify your goals for what you want to learn in school, what experiences you want to have, and what supports will help you succeed. This information goes in your transition plan, which is part of your IEP. You are the most important member of your team — after all, it's your life!

What is my role?

You get to lead if you want to! Or you can choose to participate but not lead. Your role is to share what you care about, your vision and goals for a good life, your strengths and what helps you succeed.

What is my family's role?

Your family's role is to support you during the planning process, help you access experiences and supports to reach your goals and help you to participate in or lead your IEP meetings.

One-page profile

A one-page profile is a great way to help people get to know you. It highlights your strengths and briefly shares your vision for the future. It also helps people understand how they can help you succeed. To create a one-page profile, complete the template on the next page or create your own. We've included additional resources and links to templates and examples on page 64.

What people like and admire about me. Write about your strengths, talents and skills. Ask your family or others who know you well for input.

What's important to me. Include the things you care about the most such as people, places, interests, hobbies and routines.

How best to support me. List specific kinds of support that help you have a great day. These are the things that help you feel successful.

My One-page Profile

What's important to me

How best to support me

Student-led IEPs

You can make sure your plan is based on what you want for yourself – not what others want for you – when you participate in your IEP meetings. Your family and your team can help you participate in ways you choose. The graphic below shows some ideas about how you can participate. Where would you like to start ?

Set a goal and track it with help from your family or teachers.

Share your progress on the goal at an IEP meeting in person or by video.

Share what you are good at, what's hard for you and what helps you in person or by video.

With preparation, respond to questions from your team.

With support, share progress on your goals, why you need your goals, how you feel about them and any data that shows your progress.

Talk about supports that help you in the classroom.

Suggest changes to your IEP.

With or without support, explain how goals help you and how you are working on them.

Invite team members to your IEP meeting.

Lead parts of your meeting.

Give more input on your classroom performance, goals and supports you need.

Talk about data that shows your past performance and progress on goals.

Facilitate all or some of your IEP meetings.

A person-centered plan

Another way to share important information about you is with a person-centered plan. Facilitated person-centered planning meetings generally take up to two hours and can be in your home or elsewhere.

- You invite your friends, family, teachers and others that care about you to participate.
- A trained facilitator uses structured exercises to collect information about you.
- Participants talk about your strengths, interests, possibilities and creative ideas to meet your goals.
- The facilitator records the information with words and pictures and compiles it into a printable document that you can bring to your transition planning meetings.

Anyone can ask for a person-centered plan. Tell your teacher you would like to schedule a facilitated person-centered planning meeting. He or she may be able to connect you with a trained facilitator.

3. What are my career and college options?

Like most young people, you are probably nervous and excited about getting a job, earning your own money or pursuing a career. In this section, you will explore opportunities to figure out what you like and don't like, and what you might like to study or do for work. Then you will explore or develop the supports that are right for you so you can get a job, learn a skilled trade or go to college and earn a degree.

Getting a job

Ideally, when you leave school, you will know what the summer and the next year will look like. You could leave school with a job or post-secondary education plans in place. Many young people start getting jobs during the summer or work part-time while they are still in high school. You can begin setting these goals and identifying the right supports to help you as early as age 14. You become eligible to get a job when you turn 16. Talk with your family and transition team so they can help you set a job goal and connect you to transition services, pre-employment services or other resources to help you reach your job goal.

Your team can also help you plan for specific career training or a degree. When you attend a training or degree program, you will be responsible for telling the program what support you need to be successful. Talk to your instructors about accommodations or tutoring. Accommodations vary from school to school. Contact the ones you are interested in to find out what they offer.

Career training and education

Trade school

A trade school (also known as a technical school) offers hands-on training for a specific job in a skilled trade career. Examples include an electrician, dental hygienist, plumber, certified nurse's assistant, paralegal, graphic designer, cosmetologist, welder or computer technician.

Apprenticeship programs

Apprenticeship programs train people to become skilled workers in a trade through paid hands-on work and classroom learning. Apprenticeships are considered full-time employment. Examples of apprenticeship jobs include a construction worker, iron or steel worker, health care technician, plumber, elevator installer, brick or stone mason, mechanical insulation worker, carpenter or concrete finisher.

Community college

Community colleges provide two-year degrees that can be transferred to colleges or universities. Community colleges offer workforce development and skills training. They also offer a range of noncredit programs, such as community enrichment programs and cultural activities that you can take for fun.

Online college

Online colleges allow students to take classes and complete a degree program completely online. Many traditional colleges and universities also offer online coursework or degree programs.

Four-year college or university

A four-year college offers undergraduate degree programs that lead to a bachelor's degree in a specific area of study. Students pursue a bachelor's degree to prepare for a profession, graduate study or both.

A university is a group of schools that offer both undergraduate and graduate degrees. At least one of these schools is a college where students receive a bachelor's degree. The other schools in a university are graduate schools where students earn advanced degrees such as a master's or a doctorate.

What is my role?

Your role is to share your vision and goals for future education, a job and career with your family, teachers and others who help you plan. If you go to college, you will be responsible to advocate for yourself, disclose your disability and arrange your accommodations.

What is my family's role?

Your family's role is to support you during the planning process, help you decide on the right diploma option, access transition services and support you to pursue future education, get a job and build a career. Your family can also help you advocate for yourself when you are in college or a training program.

4. How will I make decisions as an adult?

Turning 18 is both exciting and challenging. You are an adult who is responsible for your own finances. You can choose where to live, vote and legally make your own decisions. Making decisions is a learned skill. Most people talk with their parents, friends and others for help with making important decisions. In this section, you will learn about decision-making supports and resources.

Examples of decision-making supports

Supported decision making

Supported decision making is a process through which people use friends, family members and professionals to help them understand situations and choices so they can make their own decisions with support.

Representative payee

A representative payee is a person who can manage your government benefits such as SSI or SSDI payments.

Power of attorney

A power of attorney is a legal document that gives another person the right to act on your behalf for your financial decisions only. This authority can be limited (such as over a bank account) or broad and include a person's bank accounts, assets and property.

Conservatorship

A conservator only makes decisions about a person's money or property.

Guardianship

Guardianship is a formal legal process where a judge appoints another person called a guardian to act on behalf of an "incapacitated" person. Oregon law requires that guardians support the self-determination of the person to be as independent as possible in their decision making. Guardianship is risky in that it removes a person's legal rights to maintain control of their own life and make their own decisions. If a guardian is appointed, it is that person's job to make sure your rights are protected and support you to make decisions.

What is my role?

Your role is to share your vision and what is important to you with your family, teachers and others who help you plan. You will also talk with your family about what you need to make good decisions that keep you happy, healthy and safe.

What is my family's role?

Your family's role is to help you understand situations and choices so that you can make the right decisions for you. They may also help you think about what kind of decision-making supports make the most sense to meet your needs for independence and well-being.

We all want to feel healthy, and the choices we make can help us get there. Some of the most important things we can do are take care our mind and body, build healthy relationships, act responsibly, take charge of our health care, and stay active. In this section, you will learn about options and resources to help you feel as healthy as possible.

Do I have opportunities to learn and practice skills I will need to live on my own?

Relationships

Who can help me figure out how to rent an apartment or own a home?
Who can I count on when I need a hand or a shoulder to cry on?
Who loves and cares about me and can support me in this transition?
Who do I know that has a living situation I like?
What are my friends' plans for life after high school?
Who do I know that I might want to move in with?

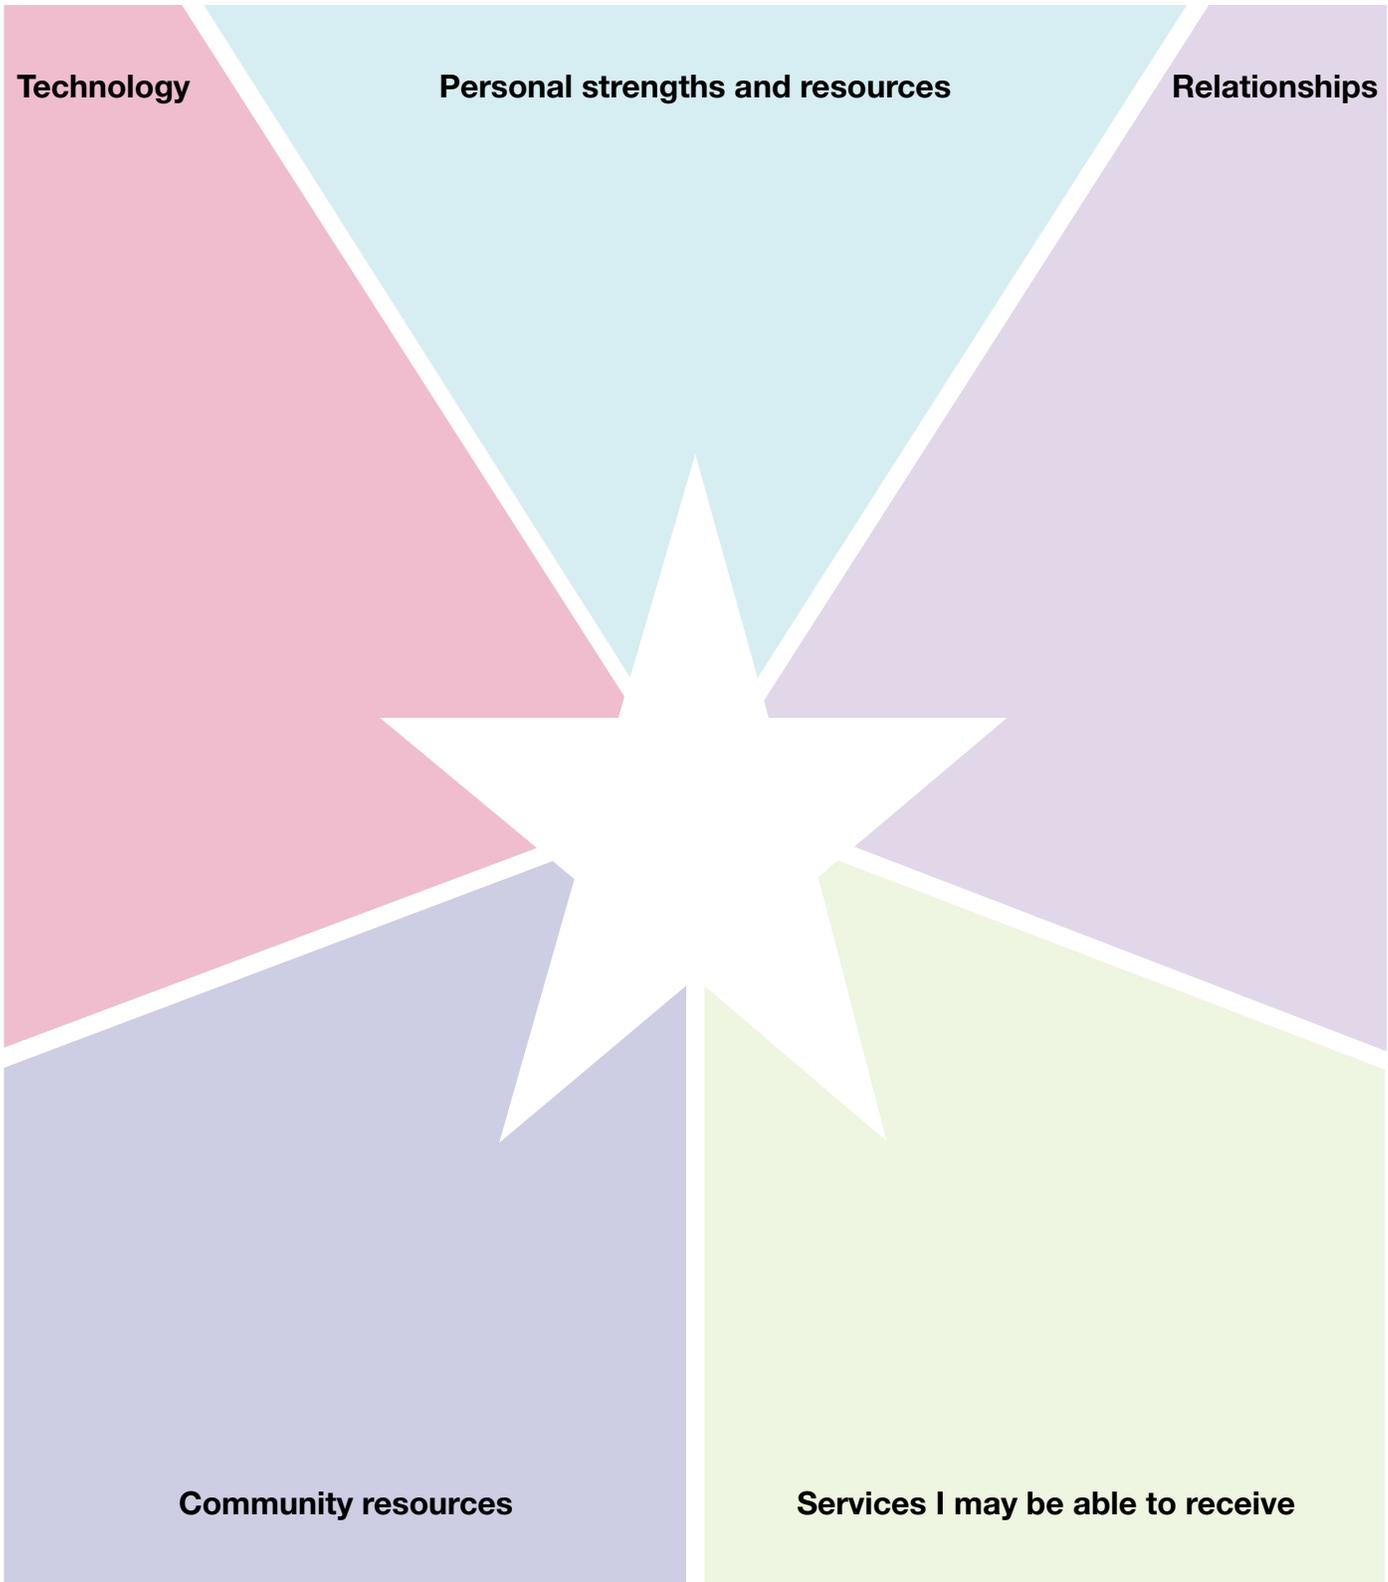

Services I may be able to receive

Can I get help from agencies or programs that can help me afford a place I want to live?
Are there programs that will help me save money?
What kind of services or supports can I get that can help me live as independently as I like?

Star Worksheet: Mapping My Community Living Resources

Write your goal in the star. With the right support, anything is possible! List ideas that help make your goal possible in each category. See page 6 for questions and resources to get you started.

7. What services may I be able to get?

We use a variety of services and supports to reach our goals and move toward our vision. Eligibility is generally based on income level, where you live and any diagnosis you may have received. In this section, you will learn about programs and services you may choose to access if you are eligible.

You will learn:

- What kinds of help different programs offer
- Who to contact if you are interested
- Your role in leading your services and supports
- Your family's role in supporting you to lead
- Who you might invite to be on your transition team.

What types of services and supports could be available to you?

- Transition services
- Developmental Disabilities services
- Vocational Rehabilitation services
- Oregon Health Plan
- Social Security benefits

Transition services

Your school district offers many transition services to help you reach your goals and prepare for adult life. These services depend on your goals and look different for each student.

Transition services. Transition services can begin as early as age 14 at your request. Before you turn 16, your teacher and other members of your planning team will help you and your family develop a transition plan based on your dreams, goals and vision for the future. Your transition plan is part of your individual education plan or IEP. Services such as the ones listed below are based on your unique preferences, interests, needs and strengths or PINS.

- Assessments such as interest inventories, on-the-job training or interviews with you
- Specific instruction to develop skills such as balancing a checkbook or cooking
- Work experiences such as workplace visits, practice interviews or internships
- Community experiences such as volunteer opportunities or tours of colleges or places you may be interested in
- Related professional services to help you reach your goals such as social skills training
- Curriculum to help you graduate with the right number of credits for the diploma option you choose.

Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS). These services are individualized and focused on preparing you to enter the workforce based on your work or career interests.

- Job exploration counseling helps you learn about your skills, interests, abilities and learning style, as well as about local businesses that may be a good fit for you.
- Work-based learning provides exposure to different workplace settings, local job opportunities and in-school and after-school work experiences.
- Counseling on post-secondary education and transition services help you explore next steps after leaving school, learn about college or get connected to ongoing support options.
- Workplace readiness training helps you build social skills, learn how to get and keep a job, and understand supports you can receive at work to be successful on the job.

- Self-advocacy training helps you speak up for yourself, talk about your strengths, ask for the supports you need and develop decision-making skills.

Diploma options. You can choose from four diploma options.

Oregon Standard Diploma

- This diploma is available to students that complete 24 credits at grade level, with or without accommodations.
- All colleges and universities accept these diplomas.
- A wide array of federal financial aid is available.

Modified Diploma

- A Modified Diploma is available to students that do not complete 24 credits at grade level with accommodations due to disability or medical condition.
- Some colleges or trade schools accept these diplomas.
- Some financial aid is available.

Extended Diploma

- This is available only to students who do not meet standard or modified diploma requirements.

Alternate Certificate

- An Alternate Certificate is available to students who do not meet standard, modified or extended diploma requirements.

If you plan to attend college and pursue a degree, check out the Oregon Standard Diploma or Modified Diploma.

Opportunities for college or federal financial aid are limited with the Extended Diploma and Alternate Certificate. You can still take college classes and be involved on campus. However, you will not be eligible to receive a degree or federal financial aid.

If you do not receive an Oregon Standard Diploma and have an IEP, you are eligible to return to school for transition services until age 21. During this time, you will focus on building skills for transition from school to work and adult life.

Who do I contact?

Talk with your teacher and other members of your transition team to make sure the transition services, pre-ETS and diploma options align with your goals and vision for life after high school.

What is my role?

Your role is to share your vision and goals for a good life with your family, teachers and others who help you plan. Contact your teacher and ask for a planning meeting any time your needs, goals or vision change. Your job is to dream big!

What is my family's role?

Your family's role is to support you during the planning process, help you decide on the right diploma option for you, access transition services through your transition plan and support you to take steps toward your good life.

Who can I invite to be on my transition planning team?

You may want to invite any agency or outside service providers that are not already on your team. They can share information they have learned about you and talk about available services or resources that you and your team can access to help you reach your goals. Your team's job is to be creative and supportive as they help you plan for your good life. With a diverse team, the right supports and some creative minds, anything is possible!

Office of Developmental Disabilities Services

The Office of Developmental Disability Services, or ODDS, offers an array of services that help people meet their goals. These services help people live, work, learn and enjoy community life. You can receive developmental disability (DD) services in all aspects of your life, including your home, the community where you live, on the job or in a foster home or group home.

What services do they offer?

Case management services: Your case manager will help you develop an individual service plan, or ISP, that includes the services and supports you feel best meet your needs. Your ISP is based on your vision for a good life and includes services and supports you choose to help you get there.

State Plan services (K Plan)

- Skills training to learn new skills and increase your independence
- Behavioral consultation and supports
- Respite care to give parents or primary caregivers time off
- Assistive devices or technology to increase your independence
- Help with personal care (such as moving around your home, eating, bathing and getting dressed)
- Help with chores (such as housekeeping, laundry, managing medications, meal preparation and shopping)
- Community transportation to access services or community resources
- Home modifications to make your home safe and accessible to you

Waiver services

- Environmental safety modifications to the outside of your home
- Training to manage staff you hire to support you
- Training for family members that support you
- Specialized medical supplies to address medical needs
- Vehicle modifications
- Nursing services
- Specialized diets
- Employment services to develop work experience, gain skills, find and keep a job and advance in a career (see page 56)

Employment services

Like many young people, you may be excited about getting your first job. These services can help you do that and more.

- Employment Path is a time-limited service that supports a person to gain work experience and develop skills.
- Small Group Supported Employment Services help a person develop skills to achieve an individual job in the community.
- Discover/Career Exploration is a person-centered planning process to find a job that matches a person's interests and strengths.
- Job development: A job developer learns what kinds of jobs a person wants and doesn't want, visits with potential employers, helps with job applications, and interviews and identifies or creates positions in the workplace.
- Job coaching: A job coach helps a person learn the tasks of a new job, transition to a new position or advance toward career goals.

Who do I contact?

Contact your local community developmental disability program (CDDP) to find out if you are eligible for services. Find your local CDDP here: <https://www.oregon.gov/DHS/SENIORS-DISABILITIES/DD/Pages/county-programs.aspx>.

What is my role?

Your role is to share your vision and goals for a good life with your case manager, your family and others who help you plan. Contact your case manager or ask for a planning meeting any time your needs, goals or vision change.

What is my family's role?

Your family's role is to support you during the planning process, help you access the services and supports in your ISP, and support you to take steps toward your good life.

Who can I invite to be on my transition team?

Your case manager can share information about available services and service providers you and your team can access to help you reach your goals. Who is on your team is up to you.

Vocational Rehabilitation

Vocational Rehabilitation or VR offers a variety of services to help people with disabilities prepare for, get and keep a job they like. Services are provided by a VR counselor.

What services do they offer?

- Assessments to measure your strengths, work skills and interests.
- Counseling to set a job goal, choose VR services and make informed decisions to reach your goal
- Independent living skills, such as learning how to take care of yourself, manage your money or use community transportation
- Assistive technology to help you communicate or complete work tasks
- Training to learn the work skills you need to reach your job goal
- Job placement services, such as help with applications and resumes, practicing for interviews, identifying job leads and working with your employer to get the disability accommodations you need to be successfully employed

Who do I contact?

Contact your local VR office to find out if you are eligible for services and schedule an orientation. Find your local VR here: <https://www.oregon.gov/DHS/EMPLOYMENT/VR/Pages/Locator-Schools-Families.aspx>

What is my role?

Your role is to share your vision for employment with your VR counselor, your family and others who help you plan. Contact your VR Counselor or ask for a planning meeting any time your needs, goals or vision change.

What is my family's role?

Your family's role is to support you during the planning process, help you access the services and supports in your IEP and support you to take steps toward your good life.

Who can I invite to be on my transition planning team?

Your VR counselor can share information about available services and service providers that can help you reach your goals.

Social Security benefits

The United States Social Security Administration (SSA) is federal agency that provides financial benefits to people with disabilities and people who have retired from working.

What services do they offer?

- Social Security Disability Insurance, or SSDI, is a monthly cash benefit paid to people that meet the SSA eligibility criteria. This benefit is tied to a person's work record and is available to the worker or the worker's dependents.
- Social Security Income, or SSI, is a monthly cash benefit paid to people with disabilities, the elderly and the blind to help them meet basic needs for food, clothing and shelter.
- Many people believe if they work, they will lose their disability benefits. This is seldom true! In fact, people with disabilities can earn income from work and keep their benefits by accessing benefits counseling, work incentive and other programs, such as an ABLÉ savings account.
- Benefits counseling is provided by a certified benefits counselor. He or she will help you understand how income earned from work affects your benefits and access work incentive programs.
- Work incentive programs help you find a job or start a business, keep your cash (SSI and SSDI) and Medical benefits while you work, or save money to go to school.

Who do I contact?

To apply for Social Security:

- Apply online at www.socialsecurity.gov.
- Call 1-800-772-1213 to make an appointment at your local Social Security office or to set up an appointment for someone to interview you by phone. Find your local Social Security office at <https://secure.ssa.gov/ICON/main.jsp>.

To make an appointment with a benefits counselor:

- Contact the Plan for Work Program at Disability Rights Oregon (DRO) at pfw@DROregon.org or 1-800-452-1694, x 227 (toll-free) or 503-243-2081.
- Contact the Work Incentives Network at 1-800-661-2571. Leave a voicemail with your name, contact information and interest in benefits counseling.

What is my role?

Your role is to share information about your income or employment goals and ask questions about work incentives and other programs that can help you reach your goals.

What is my family's role?

Your family's role is to help you access SSI or SSDI, benefits counseling and work incentive programs, and to help you take steps towards your good life.

The Oregon Health Plan

The Oregon Health Plan (OHP) provides Oregonians access to coordinated health care through coordinated care organizations (CCOs). A CCO is a local network of all types of health care providers that include physical health, addictions and mental health, and dental care providers. These providers work together in their communities to serve OHP members.

What services do they offer?

- Dental services such as cleaning, fluoride varnish, fillings and extractions, dentures, crowns, sealants, root canals and urgent or immediate treatment
- Medical care (such as routine checkups and other appointments) from a physician, nurse practitioner or physician assistant
- Vision services
- Hearing aids and hearing aid exams
- Home health nursing
- Immunizations and vaccines
- Labor, delivery and post-partum care
- Lab tests and x-rays
- Medical equipment and supplies, such as diabetes testing strips or crutches
- Physical, occupational or speech therapy
- Prescription drugs

Who do I contact?

You can apply for the OHP at any time. Enrollment is always open. To qualify, individuals and families must meet income and residency requirements. You may also qualify based on age and disability status. Apply online at <https://one.oregon.gov/>.

If you want the application in your native language or help completing the application in your native language, call 1-800-699-9075 (TTY 711). OHP specialists are available to help Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. You can also find free help by visiting www.OregonHealthCare.gov to find community partners in your area.

What is my role?

Your role is to be an active participant in your health care. Choose a doctor or clinic once you are enrolled, set up regular wellness checkups and dental exams, ask questions, be on time to appointments, provide information to your health care providers and follow through on your treatment plans.

What is my family's role?

Your family's role is to support you to take care of your health care, help you access health care services and support you to take steps toward your good life.

8. Glossary

Conservatorship

A conservator helps you by making financial decisions on your behalf about your money or property.

Developmental disability

A developmental disability is defined in Oregon as a condition that begins before you are 22 years of age or 18 years of age for an intellectual disability. This type of disability begins in your brain, directly affects your brain and is expected to continue throughout your life. A developmental disability may also affect things such as your ability to communicate, clean and take care of your body, get dressed, and develop social skills.

Guardianship

Guardianship is a formal legal process where a judge appoints another person called a guardian to act on your behalf. If you have a guardian, that person is required by Oregon law to help you take charge of your life and make decisions as independently as possible.

Individual education plan, or IEP

If you receive special education services, you will develop an individual education plan, or IEP, with your planning team. Your IEP describes what specialized instruction and related services you will receive to help you learn and achieve your goals.

Individual support plan, or ISP

If you receive developmental disabilities services, you will develop an individual support plan or ISP that describes your goals and which support services you will access to achieve your goals. It also identifies who is on your support team and how they will support you.

Individual plan for employment, or IPE

If you receive employment services from Vocational Rehabilitation (VR), you will develop an individual plan for employment or IPE. Your IPE is a written plan that describes your employment goal, the steps you will take to achieve your goal and other people or resources that can help you get the job you want.

Pre-Employment Transition Services or Pre-ETS

Pre-ETS are individualized services for students with disabilities ages 14–21 that focus on preparing you to enter the workforce based on your work or career interests. These services include job exploration, work-based learning, workplace readiness, self-advocacy and post-secondary counseling.

Post-secondary education

Post-secondary education refers to any formal education you receive after completing high school. This can include attending an apprenticeship program, a trade school, an online college, or a four-year college or university.

Power of attorney

A power of attorney is a legal document that gives another person the right to act on behalf of your financial decisions only. This authority can be limited, such as over a bank account, or be broad and include your bank accounts, assets and property.

Representative payee

A representative payee is a person who can manage your government benefits such as SSI or SSDI payments.

Supported decision making

Supported decision making is a process you can use with friends, family members or others that support you to help you understand situations or choices. This will help you make your own decisions with good information and support.

Supports

A broad term used to describe the help you receive to reach your goals.

Transition plan

Your transition plan describes your goals for life after high school and includes specific school, community and work-based experiences you need to accomplish to get there.

Transition vignettes

Story 1: Jose

Jose is 14 years old. He loves art and animals. He especially loves to draw animals and wants to help them in some way when he gets older. Jose lives in a pretty big town in Oregon, and has 30 kids in his class at school. He likes living with his mom, his older sister and his two cats. He does not like how loud their upstairs neighbors are and would love to have a yard because he wants to get a dog. He has a friend, Ann, who got a support animal that helps her feel calm when she gets overwhelmed, and he thinks that would be great. Until he can get a dog, he loves going to the animal rescue in his neighborhood. Jose benefits from routines and does not use words to communicate. It is very frustrating when people don't understand him. He does not like when people assume he doesn't understand things or when other people make decisions for him.

Jose's trajectory for a leading his own IEP

Past life experiences

Positive: People had high expectations for Jose. He visited the zoo, raised two cats from kittens, visited dogs at the humane society and took care of his neighbor's dog. Jose's drawing was put on display at school. He took swimming classes and loved it, is very expressive with his body, and easily picks up on using technology.

Not positive: Jose had a hard time in school until he got to use an iPad to communicate. He doesn't have a good way to communicate when not at school. Jose gets bored after school, causing his parents to struggle with his behavior when he is bored and sometimes punishing him for "bad behavior."

Future life experiences

Positive: Visit Wildlife Safari, see the ocean, learn how to play "Magic the Gathering," take dogs for walks by himself, learn more about whales, go to college, go to a Ducks football game, join the swim team, volunteer at the humane society, develop his own presentation about what he wants and doesn't want in his IEP, share that presentation with his team to start the meeting.

Not positive: Missing field trips and school events, spending too much time bored at home, people telling Jose what to do, no tools at home to communicate, IEP goals he doesn't like.

Vision for the future

Wants: Have a cool job, help animals, live near mom and sister, get around town by himself, have a big yard with a dog and chickens, live with his friends, eat pizza every day, have his own phone, go to University of Oregon and be a Duck, have a girlfriend.

Does not want: To live with mom forever, wash dishes, get up early, have upstairs neighbors, be lonely, not be in charge of himself.

Integrated supports star

Personal strengths: Compassionate, gentle with animals, great with text messaging, physically strong, loves water, strong-willed, benefits from iPad for communication and organization, start creating own presentations using iPad or text messaging.

Relationships: Sister, mom, friend Ann (could learn about how she got a service dog), classmates, art teacher (could connect with local art classes), Jim who works at the humane society (good source of information on how to volunteer), PSW Tom (could help Jose connect with more fun after school activities based on his interests), neighbors with dogs who need to be walked (could be done with PSW at first). Any connections to swim team?

Technology: iPad (has access at school, needs access at home), smart phone (has access to mom's but does not have own), text to speech apps (downloaded on iPad at school), ways to order pizza online without having to call, PowerPoint or Keynote to make presentations, YouTube videos about how to make presentations.

Community: Humane society, community pool, art classes, comic/game stores where people play "Magic the Gathering," parks where dogs can be walked, public library with computer access, Apple Genius Bar appointments to learn how to use Keynote to make presentations.

Eligibility: Consider service animal, PSW services through ODDS, IEP goals and diploma option to pursue college, pre-employment services, ABLE account to start saving money for college or further education.

Story 2: Emily

Emily is 16 years old. She loves to sing and act on stage. She has two best friends. She also loves to read, especially Harry Potter. Emily lives in Southern Oregon and loves to visit California, especially the Redwoods and Universal Studios. She dreams of performing at the Shakespeare Festival. Emily lives with her mom and dad and her grandmother. Emily uses hearing aids and a wheelchair to get around. She benefits from speech to text technology as she has a hard time controlling the movements of her left hand. She wishes she could do more things on her own at home. She gets frustrated that she can't visit her best friends because their front doors have a step to get in.

Emily's trajectory for her good life

Past life experiences

Positive: Inclusion in general education classrooms with her two best friends, theatre club members who know and value Emily, opportunities to try new things (like singing, performing on stage with Children's Theatre, going to a play at the Shakespeare Festival, going to Universal Studios), going into the doctor's office without her mom or dad for her last checkup.

Not positive: Missing out on sleepovers hosted at her friends' houses, seclusion in special education classrooms without her two best friends, no privacy from mom or dad, getting detention for talking too much with her friends in class, missing out on driver's education when her friends went, adults trying to help her with everything.

Future life experiences

Positive: Be able to get around town by herself, participate in HS graduation with her two best friends, apply for internships at the Shakespeare Festival, host sleepovers at her house, cook dinner by herself, practice making own decisions and asking for help when needed, start earning some money and save for theatre camp, go to prom.

Not positive: Feeling left out, being bored over the summer, not graduating with her two best friends, missing out on prom.

Vision for the future

Positive: Go to college, perform on a big stage in front of a lot of people, have a job she loves (be a director), live with her two best friends in California, get married, make a lot of money.

Not positive: Get left behind, have other people do everything for her, not have enough money to do the things she cares about, not get to make her own decisions.

Integrated supports star

Personal strengths: Determined, friendly, great smile, works hard in school, beautiful voice, brave, adventurous, wants to learn how to write a play, creative.

Relationships: Mom, dad, grandmother, two best friends (Maria and Lisa), singing teacher, theater club members, theatre teacher, mom's co-worker who volunteers at the Shakespeare Festival, grandmother's friend who used to act.

Technology: Laptop or iPad with speech to text apps, toaster oven and microwave, adaptive kitchen tools, portable ramp, more modern motorized chair.

Community: Children's Theatre, school choir, public transportation, Parks and Rec theatre groups, theatre groups for little kids looking for volunteer support.

Eligibility: PSW services through ODDS who can help Emily learn to prepare meals by herself, home/vehicle modifications to increase independence, IEP goals and diploma option to pursue college, pre-employment services, ABLE account to start saving money.

Story 3: Liz

Liz is 20 years old. She wants to work in a hospital and help take care of people. Liz spent a lot of her early life in and out of hospitals and developed strong relationships with some of her nurses. She has a passion for helping people heal and loves books with pictures and diagrams of the inside of the body. She can point to the parts of the heart where she has had surgery and enjoys spending time visiting little kids in the hospital. Liz has low muscle tone and wears glasses. Liz benefits from people who understand her speech. She enjoys helping others when needed.

Liz's trajectory for her good life

Past life experiences

Positive: Liz made strong relationships with the nurses who supported her during her time in the hospital, Liz learned early on how to advocate for what she needed while in the hospital, Liz was given books about whatever she was interested in. Liz volunteered in the hospital one day a week since she turned 16 and has many friends through volunteering at the hospital.

Not positive: First heart surgery was at 3 days old. Liz missed many early childhood experiences because she was often in the hospital. Many professionals had low expectations for her future. Liz was bullied some in school and didn't make many friends her age because she missed so much school early on.

Future life experiences

Positive: Getting a paying job in the health care field, making friends who share her passion for helping people, turning 21 and getting to go to the bar for happy hour with friends after work, graduating from school, learning more about nursing.

Not positive: Continued low expectations others have for her, lack of transportation to work, missing doctor's appointments, lack of exercise.

Vision for the future

Positive: Work in the hospital and help people, live in her own apartment, get married, go to happy hour with friends, make her own money.

Not positive: Live with mom and dad forever, not feel proud of herself, not make her own money, get sick a lot.

Integrated supports star

Personal strengths: strong advocate, knows a lot about the body and health, connects with kids really easily, careful about taking care of herself and staying healthy (washing hands, visiting doctor, exercising, eating healthy food), patient with people, compassionate.

Relationships: Mom, dad, nurse Amy, other volunteers at the hospital, next door neighbors

Technology: Smart phone for schedule and reminders, apps to use public transportation, mobile banking and budget support.

Community: local hospital, local community college, library, public transportation.

Eligibility: PSW through ODDS, transition services at school, IEP/ISP, ABLE account, mom's health insurance and Medicaid.

Exploring Life Possibilities

There are many options for living, working, and playing in the community. What might have been great 30 years ago, may not work for today's vision of a quality life in the community. This tool is to help individuals and families look at a variety of life options in each of the life domains, some of which are traditional or historic and no longer preferred by many, some that are known and tried, but not necessarily the norm, and others that are new or unfamiliar to individuals, families and professionals.
