Education Law 316

The New York State Teacher Resource Center and Computer Training centers support NYS's efforts to encourage higher learning standards. The purposes and expectations for Teacher Centers are outlined in Education Law 316

Teacher Centers are established to provide professional support and services within the state in order to

- ◇ Assist educators in assessing and meeting the learning needs of students
- ◇ Provide computer demonstration and training sites and programs for educators
- ◇ Promote educators' use of and involvement in educational research to develop and produce curricula and curricular material
- ◇ Provide educators with training for the improvement of teaching skills
- ◇ Provide a location and atmosphere to foster sharing and increased understanding of resources, ideas, methods, approaches, information and materials among educators
- ◇ Train educators to prepare students to use high quality technology and to teach critical thinking and related skills needed for the changing world community

Education Law 316 requires that a grant proposal be submitted annually by June 15th. Funding for NYS Teacher Centers is dependent each year upon the New York State's annual budget. The Waterloo Teachers' Resource Center was established in 1990 and is one of 126 centers across New York State.

The NYS Teacher Centers are linked by regional networks that provide teachers and school districts the opportunities to share resources, and to respond to regional, as well as individual needs and initiatives.
