School Board Recognition of Clark Creek Elementary School STEM Academy Assistant Principal Laura Casey -- Named 2023 National Outstanding Assistant Principal

Summary Explanation and Background

Laura Casey, an assistant principal at Clark Creek Elementary School STEM Academy, is one of 19 elementary school leaders nationwide to earn the annual honor presented by the National Association of Elementary School Principals (NAESP). She was nominated by the Georgia Association of Elementary School Principals. “This award program seeks to recognize and reward the important contributions assistant principals make in schools and communities, and NAESP commends Laura's continued dedication and commitment to ensuring the success of all children.”

A 22-year educator, Ms. Casey served as a classroom teacher for all grades from kindergarten through fifth during her tenure before serving as an instructional lead strategist at Hasty ES Fine Arts Academy. She was appointed to serve as assistant principal for Woodstock ES in 2020 and for Clark Creek in 2021, and earned the 2022 Georgia PTA District 13 Assistant Principal of the Year award for elementary schools with more than 750 students.

As part of the honor, Ms. Casey has been invited to the national association's annual conference this summer in Maryland, where she and her fellow award winners also will be honored. She additionally will be honored at the state association's summer business meeting and fall conference awards banquet.
