Please complete the assignment from Thank You For Arguing before August 19, 2022

Students entering AP English Language should possess fundamental skills in inquiry (research), analysis, and informed argument.

You will READ:

► texts that represent a clear rhetorical situation (e.g., topical nonfiction) ► texts that speak to one another through a variety of genres ► texts that could be read in an introductory composition class in college ► texts that require teacher direction for students to discern meaning

You will:

► WRITE on a regular basis about what others have written ► understand how selected readings provoke responses from multiple perspectives and thus generate public discussion ► be given the opportunity to immerse yourself in substantive texts — ones that require several days or weeks to read — as well as texts that can be read and reread within a single class period ► be spending at least 6 hours per week (both inside and outside of class) engaged in reading and writing

You will SET LEARNING GOALS:

► for the class, and for yourself ► you will measure and reflect on your own growth as a writer, reader, and thinker ► You will have fun as you learn! (We promise!)
