HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

Thank you to MCI's alumni, parents, students, faculty, staff and friends for your continued support!

From the Headmaster

Dear Friends,

How do you define Leadership? Can it be taught, or is it learned by "osmosis" through exposure to inspiring, charismatic individuals? Are we born with—or without—an innate ability and desire to lead?

Not easy questions to answer, are they? In over twenty years in education I've listened to and engaged in countless debates on the subject as it applies to school communities and students.

Here's what I do know. Inspiring young people to lead begins with some version of the following statement: "You can do it." Simple as that. The "it" could be large or small and apply to a moment or a lengthy span of time. And the teacher, coach, dorm parent or advisor who makes this statement must be someone who has earned respect and, most of all, trust. He or she is a role model so the "You can do it" carries with it a challenge worthy of a youngster's best efforts.

At a time when so many schools across the country are becoming cautious—cutting programs and teachers and opportunities—we're strategically expanding them in the firm belief that placed into the right situation with the right adult, every girl and boy can thrive, even lead.

Because each of you remembers (even if we didn't like it or fully understand at the time) the person at MCI who pushed, cajoled, disciplined and loved us—whatever it took. Those individuals made us who we are now and gave us that opportunity, even if just for a moment, to be a LEADER because he or she believed in us, likely more than we believed in ourselves at that vulnerable age. Was it Young, Pottle, Legge, Piper, Spear, Kingsbury, Bartlett, Mosher, Williams, Slagle, Dana, Bradshaw, Smith, Bessey, Veilleux, Earle, Russell, Haseltine, Card or someone else I've not mentioned? Was it in the classroom, dormitory, club, dining hall or on the field or stage?

All that we're doing now at MCI in our daily work, in our comprehensive fundraising, and in our planning for the future is so that many years from now, when today's students are sitting where you are at present, each has a name he or she remembers with the same gratitude. Someone who said, "You can do it." I can assure you that today's MCI teachers are as dedicated, demanding and caring as ever!

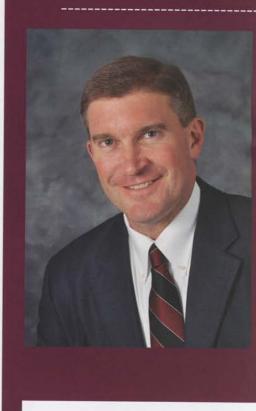

We can't do it without your continued loyalty, support and, yes, your contributions to our Annual Fund wherein you demonstrate your own continued leadership on behalf of this great old school.

Leadership: Service to and sacrifice for others. Thank you for your present and future leadership of Maine Central Institute.

Sincerely,

Christopher J. Hopkins

New Faces @ MCI

Susan Chase serves as department chair of Special Education at MCI. She received her bachelor's degree in family relations and human development and her master's degree in special education from Ohio State University. Susan is certified in the State of Maine as a K-12 teacher for disabled and severely impaired students and as a special education consultant. Since 2003, she worked as a special education consultant for MSAD #68 (Dover-Foxcroft).

Lori Conway graduated from the University of Maine with a bachelor's degree in child development and family studies and went on to receive her master's in counseling education from the University of New Hampshire. She is a Maine certified K-12 school counselor with experience in secondary school guidance counseling. Lori acts as an academic counselor focusing on college and career applications, dropout prevention, standardized testing, and schedules. She also serves as a member of the School's Student Intervention Team.

ERIC Day has a bachelor's degree in biology as well as a master's degree in teaching from the University of Maine. He is certified in the State of Maine to teach secondary life science. As the new science intern, Eric teaches one section of biology and two sections of chemistry. He also tutors students in the afternoon, helped to coach football, and is a dormitory supervisor in Manson Hall.

Doug Frati has a bachelor's of fine arts degree in printmaking from the Portland School of Art. He is an experienced builder, carpenter and gardener having owned D. Frati Building Construction and Renovation since 1983. Doug has been a volunteer in Pittsfield since 2004, most recently serving as the chair of the Pittsfield Library Building Committee. He serves as the assistant facilities director at MCI.

TERRY PFEUFER serves as the assistant post-graduate basketball coach at MCI. In addition, he tutors students in the mornings and is a dormitory supervisor in Manson Hall. Terry has a bachelor's in business administration from Robert Morris University and a master's in higher education administration from SUNY at Buffalo. Terry came to MCI from the Naval Academy Preparatory School in Newport, Rhode Island where he was head basketball coach.

LINCOLN ROBINSON received his bachelor's degree in secondary science education from the University of Maine at Farmington. Lincoln is not necessarily a new face on campus as he completed his student teaching at MCI in December of 2010 and has since served as a substitute teacher. Beginning this year, he is the associate director of student affairs. In his new role, Lincoln is responsible for handling attendance issues, in-school restrictions, and assisting in daily disciplinary issues. He also helped to coach football and lives in Manson Hall.

Rebecca Schouvieller received her bachelor's degree in history and German from Bowdoin College. Rebecca minored in teaching as well. She has taught history at Falmouth High School and Portland High School, and she has worked with many English as a Second Language (ESL) learners. She is certified in secondary social science in Maine. Rebecca teaches three Humanities history courses and two ESL courses. She lives in Alumni Hall and teaches ESL students in the after-school program as well.

Wayne Walton received his bachelor's degree in sociology from Ithaca College and is currently working on his master's in counseling from Alfred University. At MCI, he serves as the Manson Hall dorm director and also helps provide college counseling for athletes and post-graduates. Wayne came to MCI from the Kent School in Connecticut, where he was the director of residential life.

Hailong Wang received both his bachelor's degree and his law degree from Fu Dan University in China. He worked at Dai Ling University since 2009, most recently as the Chairman of Foreign Languages. At MCI, Hailong teaches four Chinese level I classes as well as one Chinese level II class and lives in Rowe Hall. Hailong was chosen to represent China in the Chinese Guest Teacher Program through a competitive application process conducted by Hanban and the College Board. The College Board places Chinese guest teachers into American high schools that have been chosen for their proven excellence in language study and their willingness to host qualified teachers from China. This year Hailong is among 176 Chinese guest teachers teaching at approximately 240 elementary and secondary schools across 33 states.

MCI Chamber Choir performs at the Maine State House

The MCI Chamber Choir performed on the fourth floor of the State House in Augusta on May 31, 2011. They sang the National Anthem, America the Beautiful and An American Salute (America, Johnny Comes Marching Home, Shenandoah, Battle Hymn of the Republic). The Choir, which consists of about twenty-five singers, was formed in April 2011 to enhance MCI's vocal music program offerings and to accommodate singers who achieved high scores on their vocal tests. MCI's Choir is conducted and accompanied by MCI Music Teacher Gerry Wright.

Learning While Teaching: MCI Faculty Recieve Advanced Degrees

Four MCI faculty members received their master's degrees in the past year and several more are in the process of doing so. Science Department Head, Carole Boothroyd, received her masters in curriculum and instruction from St. Joseph's College, Science Teacher Sarah Brown received her masters in curriculum and instruction from New England College, Human Development Teacher Susie Furrow '81 received her masters in health and wellness with an emphasis on adolescent addiction from Vermont College and Art Teacher Jill Schvartz received her masters in curriculum & instruction: integrating the creative arts from Lesley University. MCI strongly encourages all faculty to take continuing education / professional development courses. The School pays for up to six graduate credits per year for each faculty member. In addition, MCI also awards four faculty fellowships each year during Senior Chapel. The fellowships, named for Doug Cummings, Adrien Hallee, Herbert Newhouse '23 and Roger Percival '45, entitle the recipients to attend the professional development program of their choice anywhere in the United States during the coming year. The recipients of the faculty fellowships are individuals who have demonstrated by example a profound commitment to their own professional development as educators.

Students and Faculty Visit Sister School in Japan

Eight MCI students (Andrew Schanck '12, Andrew Farris '13, Gabrielle LaGross '12, Josina Young '13, Katie Bigelow '12, Adam Ogden '12, Shantel Lausier '13, and Nigel Klein '12) traveled to Tokyo and Aomori, Japan on November 5 - 13, 2011 with faculty members Susie Furrow '81 and Sarah Brown as well as Suzanne Hopkins. The trip was a reciprocal visit to MCI's sister school, the Aomori Minami High School. The students stayed with host families during their visit in Aomori and took part in English, art and calligraphy classes. They also had the opportunity to visit the Asamushi Aquarium, the Sannai Maruyama Archaeological Site and AUGA, a marketplace where they were able to sample local foods. Prior to arriving in Aomori, the students and faculty visited Tokyo and saw additional historic sites such as the Sensoji Temple, the Imperial Palace East Gardens and the Tokyo National Museum.

Athletics @ Maine Central Institute

Cl's fall sports season started with pre-season practices on August 15. There were approximately 160 students participating in our seven fall interscholastic athletic programs.

Homecoming 2011 was a big success. A large crowd watched the football team's game against Foxcroft Academy. Enthusiastic crowds also attended the field hockey, girls' soccer, and boys' soccer games at a sun-splashed Manson Park on Saturday. The second annual MCI Athletic Hall of Fame Induction was held on Saturday evening of Homecoming Weekend. Four inductees were honored with a dinner and ceremony. The MCI Captains Club members were in attendance, as well as the entire PG Basketball team and coaches.

MCI hosted the School's first home cross country meet in decades. Boys' and girls' teams from Bangor, Lawrence, Messalonskee, Skowhegan, and Waterville ran in a competitive and exciting race. Many MCI faculty, staff and students were at the meet as volunteer helpers, or just as race spectators. The cross country boys' team came in 10th place in the Regionals. Sammy Gachagua '12 earned KVAC 1st Team All-Conference honors. Gachagua also came in 10th place in the Regional meet, and 28th place in the State Championship meet.

The golf team ended the regular season with an 8-2 record and came in third in the KVAC Shoot Out on September 29. They competed in the KVAC Qualifier on October 4, with the top 4 teams qualifying for the State Team Championship. Gavin Dugas '15 qualified for the State Individual Championship and was KVAC 1st Team All-Conference.

The football team ended the regular season with a 61-16 win over Dexter and a 4-4 record. They lost to 2nd place Orono in the Eastern Maine quarterfinals.

Field hockey lost 3-2 (2 OT, and 2 Penalty Corners) to Central High School in the Eastern Maine quarter-finals. Michaela George '12 was named KVAC 2nd Team All-Conference, Katelyn Sousa '13 received a KVAC Honorable Mention, and Heidi Duncombe '15, Katie George '15, Katie Hughes '15 and Cassie Miller '15 were named KVAC All-Rookie.

Paula Arias '12 was named KVAC 1st Team All-Conference in girls' soccer and Aaron Park '12 was named KVAC 2nd Team All-Conference in boys' soccer.

Nancy Beverage Hughes '87 was a standout four-year athlete in field hockey, basketball and track and field. She was a captain in all three sports both her junior and senior years. Hughes was named Second Team Field Hockey All-State in 1984, and earned First Team All-State honors in 1985 and 1986. In track and field, Hughes holds the MCI school records in both the 400 and 800 meter races. In 1986, she was the State Champion, and set the Class C state record in the 400 meter race. Hughes won the State Championship in both the 400 and 800 meter races in 1987. Hughes was also a member of the MCI Student Council and president of the National Honor Society. Hughes went on to be a standout four-year field hockey player at Bowdoin College. She earned All-State honors in 1988, 1989, and 1990. Hughes was a captain her junior and senior seasons, and was named a Northeast Division III All-American in 1989 and 1990. She was also named the Maine Player of the Year in 1990. Hughes graduated from Bowdoin College in 1991. She was MCI's field hockey coach from 1991 to 1993, and 1996-1998, and was the field hockey coach at Bangor High School in 1999. Hughes returned to MCI as an English teacher in 2006, once again taking over as head field hockey coach in 2007.

George Newhouse '54 was a standout athlete in football, basketball and baseball at MCI. He starred on the 1953 basketball team that won the Maine State Prep School Championships and the New England Prep School Champions, as well as the 1954 team that won the Maine State Prep School Championships. Newhouse was the second leading scorer his senior season. He was a standout offensive and defensive tackle on the 1953 Maine State Prep School Championship football team. He was also the catcher on the 1954 baseball team that won the Maine State Prep School Championship. Newhouse was a member of the National Honor Society and was the MCI Master's Cup recipient in 1954. Newhouse went on to play two years of basketball and baseball at the University of Maine. He was the leading scorer on the undefeated 1954-55 Maine Freshman Basketball team. Newhouse received a degree in agricultural engineering, was inducted into the Scabbard and Blade Military honor society as a Distinguished Military Graduate, and commissioned in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers upon graduation from the University of Maine in 1958. Newhouse and his wife Leah raised one daughter and four sons, all outstanding student athletes at MCI. He also served on the MCI Board of Trustees from 1975 to 1995, serving as president for two years. Newhouse was inducted into the MCI Hall of Fame in 1983.

Paul Legge graduated from Wilton Academy in 1929 and received his BS from the University of Illinois in 1935. He also received his master's degree from the University of Maine in 1953. Legge was a dedicated educator. He taught at Wilton Academy, Jay High School and then at Maine Central Institute for 32 years, retiring in 1976. As the head of the MCI Science Department, he provided specifications for the design of the Cianchette Science Building. Legge also coached football, basketball and baseball at MCI. "Teaching and coaching: A lifetime of Guidance," which Legge chose as his epitaph, is a fitting description of his life. A member of the Masonic Lodge AF & AM, Legge was very active in the Pittsfield community. He was especially active on the Parks and Recreation Committee for Manson and Hathorn Park. He built the baseball diamond at Hathorn Park, named Legge's Diamond, where he ran the youth leagues for years. After retirement, he continued coaching baseball in Mattoon, Illinois, and spent winters in Sebring, Florida. He moved to Christiansburg, Virginia in 2002 to live with his son and daughter-in-law. Legge passed away on July 7, 2008. Legge's son and grandson accepted the award.

Julie Treadwell graduated from Orono High School in 1980 where she was a stand-out three-sport athlete. Treadwell then went on to play basketball for four years at the University of Maine. After graduating from the University of Maine in 1984, she became a Physical Education teacher and coach at Maine Central Institute. Treadwell coached the MCI girls' basketball team from 1984 to 1997. She coached the first two girls' soccer teams in MCI history in 1984 and 1985. Julie also coached softball at MCI from 1991 to 1994, and field hockey from 1999 to 2004. In addition, she was the head softball coach at Colby College from 1986-1989. From 1997 to 2000, Treadwell served as MCI's Associate Head of School and Athletic Director, and then as Director of Athletics and Activities from 2000 to 2008. She was the Kennebec Valley Athletic Conference President and Athletic Director of the Year in 2002-03. Treadwell was a member of the select panel that created the Sports Done Right document that is now used as a template for schools in Maine and across the nation. In 2008, Treadwell became the Director of Physical Education and Athletics at the Holton-Arms School in Bethesda, Maryland. Treadwell received the 2008 MCI Distinguished Achievement Award, was inducted into the Orono High School Athletic Hall of Fame in 2009, and was named the 2010 District 2-A Athletic Director of the Year.

Guest Artist Program continues its 12th year

MCI's Music Department welcomed Trent Austin for the School's annual guest artist visit October 31 and November 1. The visit allowed about 45 music students in five different music groups the opportunity to work with Austin and culminated with the fall jazz concert on November 1. The annual two-day visit allows students to not only perform with a professional musician, but also work with that person and practice with him / her beforehand. Austin has performed with such artists as Tony Bennett, Natalie Cole, Joe Williams, Clark Terry, and Bob Wilber. Most recently Austin was a featured trumpet soloist with the prestigious Artie Shaw Orchestra (a position he held for 11 years) and is currently highly in demand in the Boston area as a trumpet soloist. He is on the faculty at the University of Southern Maine, teaches "on call" trumpet lessons throughout the Boston area, and has a highly successful private studio in the Boston suburb of Salem, Massachusetts.

Visual Arts Enhances Fall Jazz Concert

This fall, Art Teacher Jill Schvartz contacted Dean Neal to find out what music would be performed at the fall jazz concert. Her class then reviewed the music and chose one song on which everyone could do a reflective visual piece. The students listened to Cantaloupe Island by Herbie Hancock, in its various versions, as they painted. They also discussed what the music meant to them, how it made them feel and what they thought about the colors and movement that might be apparent in the song. To complete the project, the class hung their canvases in the gynasium for the audience to reflect upon during the concert.

Drama Team performs "Anything Goes"

MCI's Drama Team got out their tap shoes and performed their Fall Musical production of Cole Porter's 1934 musical comedy Anything Goes on November 18th and 19th. Anything Goes was directed by Rachel Damon and featured a cast of 27 students. The cast worked ten to fifteen hours a week beginning in early September to mount the ambitious musical production featuring tap dancing sailors and show girls. Set aboard the S.S. American, a steam ship headed from New York to London, Anything Goes features the antics of an eclectic group of characters. Billy Crocker (Joe Bowman '12) stowed away to be with the debutante Hope Harcourt (Meri Berthelette '12) who was engaged to Lord Evelyn Oakleigh (Alex Harvey '15). Reno Sweeney (Sarah LaGross '13), a nightclub singer, and Public Enemy #13 Moonface Martin (Kevin Belgard '15) teamed up to aid Billy in his quest to

When I listened to this song, I saw a lively city. The fast pace seemed like the bustle and maze of buildings. When the song slowed at certain parts, it then reminded me of a sloping countryside... so I painted both from a distance. The song also reminded me of a dinner party, so I made it dusk and added stars to lighten the mood. The leaves I put in to add rhythm.

Back to the Future:

December 17th in St. Petersourg in 1892, the ornate blue and silver curtains of the Maryinski lheatre opened to Tchaikovsky's newest ballet score, The Nutcracker. The Tsar himself, Alexander III, strong, burly, and six foot four, was in the audience with his lady, he Empress Maria Fyodorovna, and their five children, including young Nicholas, who would be he last of the Tsars. When the final act ends in the now famous Land of the Sweets, Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker refrain, turned soft and slow now, as it draws the ballet to ts close, accompanies ballerinas clad in black and yellow as honeybees, assuring us that there will be sweetness and honey forever which, if you are Russian, far, far north of where sugar cane grows - is a Christmas assurance that s comforting indeed. So we can magine that the Romanov family eft the show with visions of honeybees dancing in their heads. We know that Alexander, known as the last true autocratic tsar, loved the show, contrary to some critics who had not yet gotten used to Ichaikovsky's revolutionizing efect on ballet.

We don't see the little bees anymore in today's Nutcrackers. They seem to have given way to scenes of little girls awaking from the classic Christmas dream about Prince Charmings and candy.

n a dark, overcast, and frigid But the Nutcracker at the scary. Skowhegan Opera House this Thanksgiving Weekend, featuring fifteen MCI students, representing seven US states in a cast of forty dancers - Andrei Bossov's new, revised Nutcracker - was made specifically to suit Skowhegan's classic old Opera House. Andrei is from St. Petersburg where the Nutcracker was born; and he is a traditionalist. The bees are back! In Andrei's new Nutcracker we are back to the future. Many, many bees populate Andrei's revised Land of the Sweets, little eightyear-old bees, one little boy bee, teenaged bees, and even a virtuoso Queen Bee, portrayed on alternate performances by Charlotte Hovey '12 and Mollie Sharples '13. The many sweets that make Nutcracker Christmas are back, as well; the Spanish Chocolate, French Marzipan, Chinese Tea, Arabian Coffee, and Russian Roasted Sugar. All is topped off, of course, with daring leaps and manly turns by a handsome prince, Renato De Leon '14.

> Back to the future and another change: Andrei's revised Nutcracker is a Christmas miracle that rescues an aging down-andout toymaker, Drosselmeier. Just when things are their bleakest, money running out, old age setting in, toys losing their luster, and seeming certain eviction for nonpayment of rent. Dream-like, his toys come to life, some good, some

There is the traditional chase scene through the snow -Mouse King in hot pursuit of girl turned princess and nutcracker doll turned prince.

The snow scene is always my favorite - indispensable! Ballerinas in white tutus, becoming the snow flakes that foil the evil Mouse King by covering the tracks of the loving couple.

The magic of Christmas restores the old toymaker's business, and assures his continued livelihood without fear of eviction after all. Gifts are bestowed on him by his landlord, Dr. Stahlbaum and the Stahlbaum family - miracle gifts that he first beheld in his dream about the Land of the Sweets. Suffice it to say, neither Dickens' Scrooge turned into a happy and generous Christmas well-wisher, nor Cervantes' Man of La Mancha in his final chorus of "Dream the Impossible Dream" can top what comes to pass to uplift Herr Drosselmeier on Christmas. Like the Romanov family 119 years ago, Bossov's audiences this year go home humming the tunes and singing the songs, with the assurance of the honeybees, that sweetness and honey will dwell in the Land of the Sweets, forever.

So, Andrei Bossov has done it again. As a soloist who danced the Nutcracker in the same Maryinski Theatre where the Imperial Family first beheld it, as a choreographer who made ballets for the dancers of the same 271-year-old ballet company that performed for the Tsar, Andrei has the authority as well as the creativity to make change that while original, is at once traditional as well. No other Ballet Master whom I know of in this country can do that.

Wherever they go in life, regardless of whether they dance professionally or never dance another step, MCI students who studied with Bossov will carry with them a deep appreciation of the rich culture of ballet. For some, it may mean simply more enjoyment at the theater. Others may write as critics. Others will pass the love of dance on to their children - and stories about Andrei, and what is was like, taking ballet from an internationally known artist. For those who join professional companies, the name Bossov will stand out on their résumés. Handed down the generations from the Court of Louis XIV of France and then, through the international malaise of masters who were drawn to Russia in the 18th and 19th centuries - Petipa, Cechetti - then native Russians of the 20th and 21st centuries - Fokine, Pavlova, Vaganova, Baryshnikov, and Bossov, himself - all of them, will leave a mark in the hearts and minds of our grads.

-DEFINING LEADERSHIP

As the student leadership group on campus, MCI's Student Council is taking this year's School theme of Leadership: Service to and Sacrifice for others very seriously. At the beginning of this school year, the Student Council ratified a new constitution, one that redefined its role at the school to be more centered on student culture and student voice. A dedicated group of officers spent hours during the summer (and last spring) discussing the change, considering implications and deciding how to present to the full Council the goals and the paradigm shift that led to the new constitution. The new constitution also directly challenges the Student Council members to be leaders with their classmates and to accept the personal responsibility that accompanies leadership roles. In addition, the Student Council has split the traditional Student of the Month award into two awards: the Academic Student of the Month and the Student Leadership Recognition Award. Students nominated for the Leadership Award are positive role models; are active and positive school citizens; and are ethical, friendly and courteous and encourage others to be their best. They have also begun a student forum to give the student body increased opportunity to have a voice in what is happening on campus.

After learning about the many changes that are taking place on campus as the students redefine and revamp leadership roles, we were motivated and inspired to look further into the topic of leadership here at MCI and asked the following questions of some influential leaders in the MCI community: What is your favorite MCI memory? Who was the most influential "leader" in your life while at MCI (faculty member, coach, etc.)? What does leadership mean to you (how do you define leadership)? Please relate an MCI experience or write about what you learned at MCI that helped you to lead in some fashion later in life. As you will see through the article, MCI has actively fostered its students' and alums' life-long learning, character development and leadership growth by providing the knowledge, skills and experiences that benefit them over a lifetime.

ALLISON SINCLAIR '12 STUDENT COUNCIL PRESIDENT, SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT (PITTSFIELD, ME)

FAVORITE MCI MEMORY: My favorite MCI memory is hosting girls from Aomori, Japan each year. It is such a wonderful opportunity to build relationships with these girls, and I will cherish their friendships forever.

MOST INFLUENTIAL "LEADER" IN YOUR LIFE WHILE AT MCI: My most influential leader in my life while at MCI would have to be Tanya Kingsbury. Not only is she the Spanish teacher here, but the Student Council advisor as well. She is such a strong woman, and has influenced the person I have become in many ways. I admire her confidence in who she is and what she believes in, and hope that I can be a strong leader just as she is.

DEFINING LEADERSHIP: To me, leadership means positively influencing those around you to make the right decisions, and if they don't, encouraging them to do better next time.

EXPERIENCES AT MCI THAT WILL HELP ME TO LEAD LATER IN LIFE: At MCI, I have learned that being an effective communicator is one of the most important qualities someone can possess. The best thing to do is talk to people one-on-one. In doing so, you will build stronger relationships than you can imagine. Human interaction makes the greatest impact.

DR. ALLEN DYER '63 SENIOR HEALTH ADVISOR, INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL CORPS (WASHINGTON, DC)

FAVORITE MCI MEMORY: I loved Winter Carnival, which in so many ways captured the MCI spirit: coming together with friends, working on shared, big projects, the snow sculptures, decorating the gym, the bands, the dances, and the festive, relatively carefree moments.

MOST INFLUENTIAL "LEADER" IN YOUR LIFE WHILE AT MCI:

I recall fondly many inspired and inspiring teachers, committed to conveying the subjects and committed to their students: Charles Berndtson, Peg Witham, Gilbert Spear, Peter Bradshaw, Frank Hazeltine, Fred Kohler, Hazel Earle (OK, I didn't take Latin, but it was inspiring just to know she was there), Janet Forbes, Paul Legge, Tom Huston, Kemp Pottle, John Dana, Tom Burgoyne and others. To single out one in particular, I would mention the headmaster, Edward R. Stanley, who set a tone of decorum, civility, hard work, and high expectation. When I talk with MCI friends or read about what alumni are doing in their lives and communities, I see how much the ethic of work and service has permeated the lives of so many of us who were really privileged to be part of that sort of educational community.

DEFINING LEADERSHIP: I think balance, empathy, and respect were values that were conveyed through work and play, classroom and extracurricular, town and out of town, day in day out, give and take (or take and give), trying to understand the perspective and concerns of others. I was once advised by one of my mentors never to take an administrative position because anything I did could be reversed. It wasn't advice I followed, but advice I have never forgotten. I think what endures may be the values framework one creates that allows others to succeed, rather than any specific accomplishment. Leadership is more about communicating a vision for a better organization, though taking the hard decisions may contribute to that understanding. EXPERIENCES AT MCI THAT HELPED ME TO LEAD LATER IN LIFE: I think the Manson Essay was a much more formative experience than I realized at the time. All those steps were wonderful preparation for big projects to follow: deciding on a topic, consultation with supervisor, reading and more reading, stacks of 3x5 index cards, organizing, outlining, writing, and rewriting and rewriting, preparing for oral presentation, memorizing, meeting the deadline, facing anxiety, mastering anxiety, overcoming procrastination, facing the lights, facing the music, reconsidering. Breaking down big projects into lots of bite size chunks was an important lesson that has served well in preparation for many things to come and a reminder that big projects can be broken down into manageable bits.

"When I talk with MCI friends or read about what alumni are doing in their lives and communities, I see how much the ethic of work and service has permeated the lives of so many of us who were really privileged to be part of that sort of educational community."

JOO YI '98 TEAM MANAGER, TENCENT (SEOUL, KOREA)

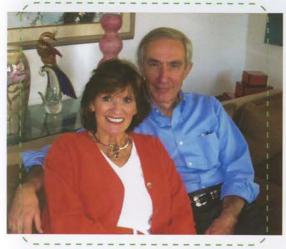

FAVORITE MCI MEMORY: Senior year, Winter Carnival where I believe we built Disney sculptures (Mickey and Donald) to take the win. Loads and loads of snow made it tough but lots of fun as well.

MOST INFLUENTIAL "LEADER" IN YOUR LIFE WHILE AT MCI: Mrs. Deb Rozeboom - mentor, inspiration, host mom, AP English teacher, American Mom

DEFINING LEADERSHIP: A leader to me is someone that leads by example. The inspirational part is actually witnessing how that leader treats those around him/her. Just telling someone to do something or act a certain way doesn't really motivate people unless the leaders themselves are actually practicing what they preach.

EXPERIENCES AT MCI THAT HELPED ME TO LEAD LATER IN LIFE: Being a foreigner, the cozy town of Pittsfield and the atmosphere of MCI has instilled the importance of a close-knit community and how good it feels to belong somewhere. The memories and friendships I have made at MCI have definitely made me grow as a person and for that I will always be grateful.

DEFINING LEADERSHIP-

JUDITH VACCHINA '62

PRESIDENT, AMAZATTO FOODS (PLEASANTON, CA)

FAVORITE MCI MEMORY: 1960, when Mrs. Sinclair appointed a few of us from her class to escort U. Senator Margaret Chase Smith from another class to ours. Talk about feeling special, we knew just he important she was as Mrs. Sinclair had done a fine job of telling us.

MOST INFLUENTIAL "LEADER" IN YOUR LIFE WHILE AT MCI: Mrs. Sinclair, she was stern, kind and caing. She was meticulous of herself and our class. There was a special elegance about her. Others were M Cunningham, Mrs. Sidelinger and Mrs. Pottle. Each one of these teachers was at MCI because they low teaching.

DEFINING LEADERSHIP: Leadership to me, means being able to facilitate people to find their best streng to achieve their goals, and building confidence. Some people need to be led requiring each step to dictated and some thrive with free reign. Knowing the difference is the key to good leadership. Be patie kind and understand it takes time to find your place. My mother always said "kindness, you get more wi honey than vinegar." She was right.

EXPERIENCES AT MCI THAT HELPED ME TO LEAD LATER IN LIFE: I think we had excellent instructors, peop who cared and took their job seriously. Our classes were small and we had the attention we needed. I w too young to appreciate what we had and, to be honest, if I had paid more attention I would have learn a lot more. I've been very lucky.

PETER CIANCHETTE '79

VICE PRESIDENT OF BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT, CIANBRO FORMER UNITED STATES AMBASSADOR TO COSTA RICA (SOUTH PORTLAND, ME)

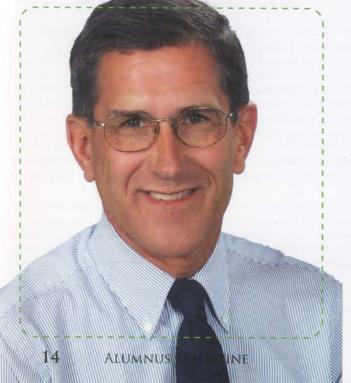

FAVORITE MCI MEMORY: I was proud to be a part of MCI and have so many fond memories of my time there – the excitement of earning leadership positions in our class or sports, starting in my first varsity football game, ski team trips to Aroostook County, Winter Carnival, the fellowship of Key Club, and being inspired by some really great teachers (although it might have been years later when I truly realized they had inspired me!) Looking back, what is most prominent in my mind is the sense of respect between the diverse student body, those students and the faculty, and the school as a whole with Pittsfield.

MOST INFLUENTIAL "LEADER" IN YOUR LIFE WHILE AT MCI: Headmaster Harry "Pinky" True

DEFINING LEADERSHIP: I've always subscribed to President Dwight D. Eisenhower's theory: "Leadership is the art of getting someone else to do something you want done because he wants to do it." At the time, I never could have imagined how the opportunities I had at MCI to experience and practice leadership skills would serve my life in so many ways.

EXPERIENCES AT MCI THAT HELPED ME TO LEAD LATER IN LIFE: MCI has a unique relationship with Pitts-field, and no doubt serves to strengthen the strong sense of community which exists in the Central Maine area. It was there I first began to understand that once you have the privilege to experience true community, that you have an obligation to give back to it. To this day, I credit growing up in Pittsfield and my time at MCI, coupled with the teachings of my parents, for what has been an important part of my life: a strong belief in public service and the desire to work to improve our communities.

"I've always subscribed to President Dwight D. Eisenhower's theory: 'Leadership is the art of getting someone else to do something you want done because he wants to do it."

DEAN HOMSTEAD '69 Owner, Bud's Shop 'n Save Supermarkets (Pittsfield, ME)

FAVORITE MCI MEMORY: Meeting new people, making lifelong friendships, being expose to new experiences and cultures and watching and participating in the growth of the School are my favorite memories of MCI, both as a student and as a trustee. It would be hard to carw out one favorite memory. It has been the whole MCI experience.

MOST INFLUENTIAL "LEADER" IN YOUR LIFE WHILE AT MCI: Although there were many influential leaders while I attended MCI, David Mosher stands out as the most influential one He was a great educator, a very genuine individual, always willing to help others and shar interesting stories with his students. He bridged the gap between educator and student and without compromising his leadership role.

DEFINING LEADERSHIP: Respecting others, sharing knowledge, being inclusive, offering opportunities whenever possible and trying to make the best decisions is how I define leadership.

EXPERIENCES AT MCI THAT HELPED ME TO LEAD LATER IN LIFE: While at MCI, I learned to go the extra mile in order to resolve differences and to respect the fact that others may have different views. This came about when MCI and the District split for two years.

Dr. Susan Haseltine '67

RETIRED, ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR FOR BIOLOGY, U.S. Geological Survey (Oakton, VA)

PAVORITE MCI MEMORY: Surprisingly, one of my favorite MCI nemories is sitting in Latin class and contemplating the "Putate" sign hat Mrs. Earle had posted behind her desk. This quote seems to nesh with what my whole MCI experience gave me the ability to do. Whether Humanities Colloquium, trying to decipher that Hamlet ext in English, studying Russian history as opposed to the US, or figiring out what liquids to combine in chemistry, everyone emphasized xpanding your thoughts and discovering more than one way to get to solution or different understanding of the situation.

IOST INFLUENTIAL "LEADER" IN YOUR LIFE WHILE AT MCI:

here were so many excellent teachers and mentors at MCI while I ttended - Mr. Lewis made literature and the beauty of the written vord appreciated even before content; Mr. Bradshaw and Mr. Bartlett nade history come alive so that you wanted to see the rest of the vorld; Mr. Stanley and Mr. Dana were always ready with advice and ounsel with just enough humor to carry the day. But I would have say that Mr. Gil Spear, who taught me geometry, was the most influential. He had a disability and came to class every day in his heelchair, used the devices of the day - crude by modern standards communicate effectively and was such a great teacher that he made lane geometry interesting! He was an inspiration and a spur to all of s to use our abilities and make our way in the world.

DEFINING LEADERSHIP: Leadership can come in many forms, but one nust have a clear, long-term vision of a goal or destination to lead. If nat vision is comprehensive and consistent, then leadership requires ommunication and inspiration to other folks who can help reach the oal. It also requires a clear set of values and standards of what is cceptable in dealing with the rest of the community while striving oward the goal. All for one must be put in a one benefiting all per-

XPERIENCES AT MCI THAT HELPED ME TO LEAD LATER IN LIFE: At ICI, we were always encouraged to expand our horizons and try new nings. One of the things I did was to sign up for a college course in hysics at the University of Maine one summer. It turned out that ou needed calculus to succeed in this course and the MCI students ere not prepared for that skill. So several of the math teachers at ICI pooled their skills and traveled to Orono several nights a week give us a concentrated tutorial in calculus. This lesson of striving the goal even if you have to fill in some holes with extra work, or of ot giving up just because one part of effort is not going so well, has een repeated over and over in my professional career. All substantial reams and goals have tough spots and require much effort with other eople over the long term. MCI and the people there taught us we ere up to those challenges and that the rewards of accomplishment ere well worth pursuing.

(SACO, ME)

FAVORITE MCI MEMORY: There isn't only one favorite memory - I certainly made great acquaintances, I was fortunate to be learning from instructors of excellence. This was the time and place to find one's talents.

MOST INFLUENTIAL "LEADER" IN YOUR LIFE WHILE AT MCI: The headmaster, Mr. Stanley, was honest, open and always visible. A great role model!

DEFINING LEADERSHIP: A leader is someone who consistently thinks outside of the box and has a clear view of the future. Leadership is having the ability to communicate effectively and to mentor a diverse group of people to work together toward common goals, resulting in success!

EXPERIENCES AT MCI THAT HELPED ME TO LEAD LATER IN LIFE: MCI, during my years, reinforced my family values, helped me to better focus on my potential and what the future might hold. It provided me with great academic preparation for university/college work and the post-grad year was a real springboard to future accomplishments.

Congratulations to the Class of 2011!

101 members of the Class of 2011 received their diplomas on June 5, 2011. Of the one hundred and one, 86% have post-secondary plans and 14% entered the workforce. Thank you to the many alumni and friends who have provided scholarships to help the students in their future endeavors.

As I look over the many faces sitting beside me today, my perceptions of them are washed away. I no longer see the people they are, but the people they will be. I see the future doctors, the future soldiers, the future teachers, and even the future celebrities. I have washed away how I used to see my classmates and have given them a new beginning, with the new chapter starting in our lives. Look around at each other, and see what we are going to become in life. Look forward to our achievements, to the changes, and to everything ahead of us. The future is just waiting for us. Update on the Strategic Plan 2010-15

Maine Central Institute will provide a 21st Century curriculum which provides students with excellent academic, analytic, and collaborative and wellness skills to excel in post-secondary endeavors.

The School will develop a self-contained "9th grade academy" to support the transition from middle school to high school. ~ MCI Strategic Plan 2010-15

With significant academic and social changes between middle school and high school, the 9th grade is a pivotal year for students. This transitional year often necessitates additional resources and a high level of personalized support from peers, families and teachers. To help address that need, MCI created the Transitions Academy, a three-week program that takes place before the start of the school year. This program helps students with the anxiety of a new campus as well as with new, increased academic and social requirements. While the Transitions Academy has been a great success, the need for greater, longterm support of 9th grade students was determined by MCI's strategic planning process. The strategic plan recommended that the School "develop a self-contained '9th grade academy' to support the transition from middle school to high school." The Academy needed to continue throughout the school year, allow for greater communication among faculty members, and better promote strong study and organizational skills. As a result of the Strategic Plan, a committee of parents, SAD 53 and MCI staff was formed last spring to design the new 9th Grade Academy.

What is the 9th Grade Academy?

The 9th Grade Academy consists of a core team of four faculty specialists who teach only 9th grade students. The specialists, English teacher Abigail Hartford, history teacher Jeremy Taylor, math teacher Jaime Kearney, and science teacher Jessica Talbot, work together as a unit to plan classes and discuss their students' needs. One of the benefits of the academy model is that it gives the specialists a common preparatory time that allows for curriculum planning across all studies. While the students can choose from the same courses and electives as 9th graders in previous years, they now have the added benefit of a team of faculty who are focused on providing consistency across the curriculum. This model also gives the faculty regular time to discuss students and focus on those who are struggling. Because the faculty members are able to discuss how a student is doing in a more holistic manner, they are quickly able to recognize students who need additional support and create and execute plans that provide specifically what the students need. "We have done some really great interventions with students, giving them academic support or even recommending that they talk with the personal School's counselor," Hartford explained. "We are able to put more plans in place because we are much more aware of what is happening with our students. Because all four of us are on board, there is a much greater chance that the plan will be implemented successfully."

Jaime Kearney uses her smartboard in her Algebra I CP course.

In addition to increased communication among the faculty specialists, there are also new academic programs or supports in place. Each specialist holds an "open classroom" once a week during lunch to provide students a time to see a teacher for additional help and also time to complete their homework. The Academy features structured study halls with options to take an enrichment reading class or a "focus" class that enhances study and organizational skills. Students can be shifted in and out of the reading and focus classes as their needs change.

The Academy is also focusing on improving technology skills and incorporating technology more into their curriculum. To help accomplish this, the faculty recently started using iPads in the classroom. The Academy is hoping to become a pilot program for the one-to-one computing program the School has envisioned in the Strategic Plan. Kearney uses an interactive smartboard in her math classes and the faculty all work to encorporate multimedia presentations and other technology-mediated tools that grab the students' interest. "What we are teaching is still the same but we are now gaining the capabilities to help students learn in ways they are interested," explained Talbot. "Most students already have a base level of technical knowledge. We want to propel them forward to a higher level."

Already, the faculty specialists are seeing improvements. "I have a chance to make a huge impact during this transitional period in a 9th grade student's life," says Taylor. "It is rewarding to see both my and the students' hard work pay off." Though the students have only completed the first quarter of the school year, failure rates have already decreased compared to previous years.

Like the 9th grade students finding heir way through their first year of nigh school, the core team is tweaking and enhancing the 9th Grade Academy s they learn what works best. "This s all new to us," said Hartford. "We re slowly bringing in new pieces and mproving." Plans to add a mathemates enrichment class are already being iscussed for next year, and Kearney nd Talbot are talking about the poential for team-teaching math and scince courses. The core team is excited bout the possibilities and the benefits hat the Academy offers. As Hartford tates, "We are four people who want to e here helping students. We want to o this. We chose to do this."

MCI Alumni Receive Honorary Diplomas

Nancy Mercier McGinnis'61 and Terrance Frederick'61 both attended MCI but due to circumstances beyond their control, had to leave before receiving their diplomas. Though they have always been considered alumni by their classmates and the School, in honor of their 50th Reunion, Headmaster Chris Hopkins was delighted to present Frederick and McGinnis with honorary diplomas. "It was with great honor and delight that on behalf of the past and present boards of trustees, I conferred diplomas to these two loyal Maine Central Institute alums," he said.

MCI Welcomes New Board of Trustee Members

MCI is pleased to welcome new trustees Susan Smith England '73 of Rhode Island, Jeffrey Hathorn '64 of Florida and David MacGown '86 of New York to the Board. England, Hathorn and MacGown join 27 other board members and offer a wealth of experience and dedication to the School. For a full listing of the Board, please see page 3.

Pattersons offer 2-for-1 Challenge to the MCI Community

Trustees Gregg'69 and Elaine Patterson, who care deeply about MCI's students, have stepped forward to offer The Patterson Challenge - a two-for-one $50,000 matching challenge to all MCI alumni and community members. For every additional $1 contributed to the Annual Fund, the Pattersons will provide $2 to the School's endowment. "We have always been supportive of the outstanding programs MCI offers and the terrific faculty, staff, and administrators who serve the students," the Pattersons explained. "But delivering those programs and services requires funding, especially Annual Fund gifts and unrestricted Endowment gifts which go straight to the 'bottom line' of the operating budget. We created the Patterson Challenge to encourage MCI alumni and friends to join us in taking the Annual Fund to a new level. The dollars that we all contribute translate directly into more opportunities for MCI students now and in the future." This generous initiative will help advance the School's strategic direction of growing both the Annual Fund and MCI's endowment, both of which are critical to the quality of the MCI experience.
