I AM GLAD to have this opportunity to report to MCI's friends on what I am sure must be regarded as an extraordinary year in the long history of the school. We opened our doors in September, 1968, with 282 students enrolled. Of this number, 218 were boarding boys; the remaining 64 were day students — 39 boys and 25 girls. This, of course, was the direct consequence of the decision of the Directors of School Administrative District No. 53, made on 17 August 1968, to educate the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade pupils of the three town districts in public facilities.

Immediately, and with certainly insufficient notice, MCI had to prepare to operate a somewhat different school. Class sizes, for example, plummeted from a very respectable average of 14 to an average of 9. Teacher loads likewise dropped from the fifty to eighty range into the fifteen to fifty range; some masters found themselves meeting as few as five students in the entire day. This situation, inevitably, posed problems as well as advantages. Small classes are excellent in many respects; classes which are too small, however, inhibit discussion, interchange of ideas, and the stimulation of competition. Under the circumstances, with MCI enjoying contractual relations with a faculty numbering forty-one, engaged to teach a student body in the 500-520 range, the school had little alternative than to make the best of a peculiar situation. This, I am convinced, we have for the most part done.

An obvious problem MCI faced at once was the sharp change in the social program of the school. Gone were the Friday and Saturday night "big" dances in Parks Memorial Gymnasium; it is difficult to arrange major dances for a group in which the boys outnumber the girls more than ten to one. In no small measure, this problem was met by the decision to open "The Huskie Hut" in the home economics room in the Cianchette Hall of Science. This spacious, attractive room—needed now only one period a day for the five girls enrolled in Senior Special Home Economics—readily lent itself to adaptation to a teen center for our students and their guests. The school's home economics instructor, Mrs. George F. Webber, willingly and effectively assumed the not inconsiderable task of running this center; she was ably assisted on Friday and Saturday evenings by faculty members and their wives, who voluntarily worked at "The Hut" so that our students would have a place to call their own. The Hut, with its juke box, its pizzas and hamburgers, its Coke and milk, to say nothing of what may well be the last 5c cup of coffee left in Maine, more than justified its existence this year. Open part of the time mornings, after school in the afternoon, and Friday and Saturday evenings, it was the focal point of the social life of our students. Not a few from the local public high school, many of them former MCI students, availed themselves of its facilities on weekend evenings. With small dances easily arranged here, interspersed with one or two major "Gym" dances to which our boarding boys invited their dates from away, the school made an honest, and apparently not completely unsuccessful, effort to overcome the social problem created by the sudden withdrawal of most of its girls.

In the area of athletics, many said, I am sure, when we opened in the fall that sports at MCI would be crippled by the loss of so many students, including a number of competent young athletes; at the very least, I am sure MCI was not expected to be able to function at all in the area of girls' sports. The sports year is completed as I write this, and Dana Sweet's reporting of the results of our fall and winter seasons is to be found elsewhere within this issue of The Alumnus; in the spring season, the high spot came, I am sure, when our baseball team defeated Bridgton Academy, previously undefeated in League competition, to secure a tie for the State Preparatory School title. Only once during the entire year were we forced to withdraw from a sport—and that came in the spring when enough girls did not elect to play softball to make it possible to field a team. Even here, the problem stemmed rather more from student involvement in other activities than from the inadequacy of the number of available girls.

Those of you who were privy to local rumors last August and September or who read some of the more lurid accounts of the local educational situation in the Maine press during the early fall, must have wondered, as many of us at MCI did, just how smoothly things would go between the students at MCI and those enrolled at the newly created Warsaw High School. It is a pleasure to be able to report the two groups have conducted themselves admirably in their relations with one another. Young people so often "keep their cool" better than adults. Certainly these young people have done so throughout this year. The two schools have cooperated well in those areas where cooperation was indicated. Mr. Ritchie, the excellent principal of Warsaw High School, has, I am certain, been no less anxious than I that our respective student bodies enjoy the best possible educational and recreational opportunities during this initial year of a new educational situation in the town of Pittsfield.

The real measure of the success of a school year is to be found, of course, in the academic progress of its students. By any standard, 1968-69 will have to go down as at least a reasonably successful year. As I write this, Mr. White, our director of studies, advises me 93% of our college preparatory seniors (postgraduate and undergraduate) have gained admission to one or more colleges. This percentage will increase as late admissions continue to come in; already it exceeds the equivalent percentage posted last year. Many of the instructors, as well as Mr. White, have told me they have found many of their students making stronger academic progress in the smaller school than they made previously in the larger MCI; this I have been able to confirm by my own observations and by conversation with my students. Next year, with a somewhat smaller faculty, permitting a pupil-teacher ratio of 9-1, it should be possible to arrange small sections in most subject areas without sections too small for effective academic progress. We hope we have profited from the experiences of the year, at least to the point where we shall be able to correct most of the weaknesses we have noted in the new school situation as well as to increase our gains from those new situations which have obviously proved to be basically advantageous.

I hope this report will be of some assistance to MCI's friends. Many of you, I am sure, have been concerned—if only as a consequence of some remarkably biased accounts of the events leading up to the decision of the local public school directors to withdraw their students from attendance at MCI this year. I hope each of you will understand this decision was not a decision of the MCI Trustees—nor was it, as it has so often been stated, forced by the Trustees. The fact that State of Maine children have attended MCI this year with their tuition subsidized by the State—indeed, two have been sent here as boarding students by the State, with the State paying the entire charge for board, room, and tuition—should clearly establish the fact that MCI stood ready in September, 1968, as she had for one hundred and two previous Septembers, to receive those local day students whose parents wished them to attend this school.

We shall be ready to open again for MCI's 104th year in September, 1969. It will be our earnest hope that this new year will be a good one, meriting the continued affection, confidence, and support of all MCI's friends.

THOMAS "SKIP" CHAPPELLE '58 and
JIM STEPHENSON '65

James B. Stephenson, Jr. '65, captain this past winter of the highest scoring basketball machine in University of Maine history, finished his own college playing career with a total of 1,518 points, a new Maine record.

The former captain of MCI's 1965 crew handily topped the former record of 1,352 points set by another MCI captain, Skip Chappelle, in a mid-February game at Colby College. Skip, now Maine Frosh coach, watched from the bench and was first on the floor to wring Jim's hand.

In a second game with Colby, the final of the season, Jim scored a record breaking 54 points, bringing his cumulative total to the staggering 1,518 mark. Jim's average of 23.8 points per game also set a Maine record.

Skip and Jim both wore numerals 34 at Maine. The number should be retired.

Joseph F. Cogan, director of physical education and instructor in science at MCI from 1924 through 1928, was inducted last winter into the Massachusetts Coaches Association Hall of Fame. Cogan, principal and for 24 years coach of basketball at Rockland, Mass., was coach of Association President Howie Ferguson at MCI in 1927.

In accepting the honor, Coach Cogan reviewed the role of a coach from an administrator's viewpoint. He emphasized, "many coaches forget to deal with the players with charity in mind. I found it was important to be close to my players and that the close relationship helped me in my capacity as principal." In short, the same attitude by which he so greatly influenced his MCI players of the mid-20's.

MARGARET S. WITHAM, Dean of Girls

Margaret S. Witham (Mrs. Paul V. Jr.) became MCI Dean of Girls in September, 1968, following the resignation in June of Mrs. Alice W. Sinclair, who had served in that capacity since 1959.

Dean Witham, a member of the English faculty since 1959, appears a logical successor to the exacting post. Her daughters, all MCI alumnae, are Anne '63, Pamela '65 and Susan '69.

The "Y-NOTS," MCI's contribution to the Y-Teens, chose for their first leaders ever—Pat Cronin of Newport, president; Sue Witham of Newport, vice president; Donna Mason of Pittsfield, treasurer; Linda Shorey of Palmyra, secretary.

THE JV BASKETBALL TEAM was the toast of the Winter Campus, racking up a much-envied 9 win, 3 loss record. Coach Mike Lumbra standing at left, alone among the coaches wanted a longer season.

WHITHER AWAY

Norval N. Lewis, English Faculty Chairman, is a graduate of Bowdoin College and holds an A.M. degree from the University of New Hampshire. He has instructed in English at MCI since 1953, and has been English Department Chairman since 1966.

WHAT DO YOU THINK should be taught in "English" classes? Literature (what sort?), grammar (which variety?), composition (of what?), history of the language (how detailed?), how to listen, how to read aloud, how to adjust, how to think, all of these or none of them?

And in the same vein, what methods would you use: lecture, recitation, exercises, group discussions, team teaching, or what?

What sequences of material and approaches should be used at different levels?—with students of varying abilities and backgrounds? Should there be a required core for all freshmen, all sophomores, etc., or should we try to individualize the materials and methods? Should we even advocate the progression of an individual student as fast as he can move, regardless of age or class designation?

These are a few of the problems that we have, in the past two or three years, made a strenuous effort to solve, at least as far as English at MCI is concerned. The one area in which there was little problem is the Reading Techniques courses, which are part of the English department for administrative and cooperative purposes, but, being taught by specialists, are for most practical purposes auto-nous. Each Reading Technician has five sections apiece, with a maximum of ten pupils per class meeting throughout the school year. The maximum of ten was arrived at because of two factors: limitations of space and extreme individualizing of programs. A student has normally been assigned to Reading Techniques on the basis of consultation involving Mr. Stanley, Mr. White (Director of Studies), the parents and the student.

In the course, the instructors have not only used the standard Otis IQ and Differential Aptitude Tests, which are administered to all entering students early in the year, but also administered individual tests designed to pinpoint the reading deficiencies, whether speed or comprehension, vocabulary or concentration, or some other, less obvious, problem. This year the Nelson-Denny diagnostic reading tests were administered to all students by their English teachers, who scored the tests with standard scoring devices. Results were recorded and mimeographed in the main office, so that both English teachers and Reading Tech. teachers as well as other interested faculty might have access to the scores.

At the very beginning of the year, each Reading Tech. teacher has attempted to individualize as much as possible the student's program, using such materials as classroom libraries of paperback books, reading accelerators, tape recorders, Reader's Digest and practical English—a surprisingly wide variety of materials packed in small rooms (L-7 and S-1).

The major planned innovation for next year is to organize the programs as one-semester courses, with the reservation that some students will, if they need and want a second semester of the course, be allowed that. In this fashion, we can probably serve about one hundred students (approximately the same as this year) with somewhat smaller classes for the teacher (enabling improved individualizing of instruction) and at the same time releasing one teacher for the three- to four-fifths time to concentrate on organizing and conducting both in-class and extra-curricular speech and dramatics activities.

In the English I-II-III-IV programs we have had more problems in curriculum, partly because of an unfortunately high turnover of instructional staff and partly because of the multitude of options that are available. Even though many people still believe that because a person speaks English he can teach it, a belief fortunately not held by our Board of Trustees and Administration, it is the extremely rare instructor who is fully prepared to teach all of the multitude of options available under the heading English, to students whose reading ability may vary from fifth or sixth grade to fourteenth, and whose age may vary from thirteen to twenty.

Our overall policy, therefore, has been to encourage each instructor to teach what and how he is most comfortable teaching. If one instructor gets the best results by lecturing, O.K., even though that method is not highly approved by the majority of experienced English teachers; if another wants to concentrate a good deal on grammar, or on epic poetry, O.K. This apparent laissez-faire policy does not, however, imply anarchy. Rather, we have over the years both increased supervision by the Department Chairman and also developed certain agreements, both tacit and stated in the department syllabus, even aside from supervision by the Department Chairman.

One agreement is that much composition should be done on all levels. Another is that students should, ideally, be stimulated to read voluntarily as well as be required to read both intensively and extensively. A third is that instruction must be started at the level the student is capable of, not the level we wish he were capable of.

Thus, in the freshman class this year we have one group doing much the same work as a sophomore class and surpassing the latter: on the other hand, at least one senior group is working on much simpler material than either freshmen or sophomores. But we hope that each individual is accomplishing what he is capable of, not necessarily what we wish he were.

On very general terms, our freshmen and sophomores are working largely with reading and writing descriptive and narrative prose, with a bit of poetry, while juniors and seniors concentrate more heavily on expository and argumentative prose, including the Manson Essay in the junior year and further work with library research in the senior year, with varying proportions of fiction and poetry. This combination of library work in both junior and senior years provides a useful and varied body of instruction and practice, as the Manson Essays are normally "free" investigation — finding material on a subject of one's own choosing—culminating in a lengthy paper; while in the senior year we have been increasingly concentrating on the "casebook" or "controlled research" method, in which all of the source materials are contained in a single paperback volume, and numerous brief documented papers are written using the excerpts in this volume as sources. This method allows for thorough, intensive practice in differentiating between fact and opinion, determining and allowing for biases, and evaluating the degrees of authority of different writers on a subject. This casebook approach is proving helpful with a variety of students, both those who have "done" research papers and those who have had no experience in such work.

No two years are exactly alike. Next year, for instance, should be a very exciting year because of a single experimental innovation: making available a number of elective courses in various aspects of English in addition to the usual English I-II-III-IV sequence. The existence of such electives will allow those students who wish, to expand in the humanities rather than in the sciences, and it will allow the instructors to ride pet hobby horses.

At press time, the specifics have not been fully determined, but the plan at present is to have a number of one-semester courses offered by at least four members of the English department, the courses generally to be open to any interested students regardless of class, but only with the approval of the Director of Studies. Some of the possibilities are Russian literature in translation (perhaps two separate semesters, short stories in one and plays in another), a somewhat detailed course in the history of the English language (perhaps including both "foreign" influences and principles of change), a course in comparative grammars as well as one in conventional grammar as a review, one in "creative" writing, examination of the various Arthurian stories, and a writing workshop (for those who need special help), as well as courses in speech. This is just one of the ways in which we hope to make the English program at MCI fit even better the needs of the students.

Judging whether a program does indeed really help the students or merely provides a Carnegie unit or so is not an easy task, since results are likely to be intangible; who knows what alterations of a person's path may be caused, either positively or negatively? But one measure of a program for the college-bound is obvious: how the students stack up in their freshman college English courses.

Fortunately, the University of Maine routinely sends to the School the grades of students from MCI, at the end of the first semester. For the past eight or ten years, in tabulating these grades we have found that with slight variations about half of the students maintain the same letter grade as made at MCI, while the other half drop a letter grade, though there has been a slight tendency for a small percentage to increase one grade. The most recent tabulation follows:

Total U. of Maine Freshmen from MCI 1968: 40

Total taking English: 32 (call this 100%)

Total taking Freshman Composition: 25 (78%)

Total taking Modern Literature: 7 (22%)

ALMA

Alma Ellingwood Dow '40 concluded 18 years of service to MCI in April 1969, to accept a position at Pittsfield's Seabasticook Valley Hospital.

Alma's title at MCI was secretary to the Executive Alumni Secretary, but the description is misleading. She worked, and most graciously, during the registration of students, served as a study hall and detention proctor, watched football games in the rain, supervised group photos of our girls, met airplanes, took kids to doctor's appointments and to driving tests, measured for caps and gowns, much else, and still kept Alumni Office affairs in order. Her enthusiastic operation of grinding, jarring, thrashing machine for manufacture of mailing plates, still echoes in the minds of those left behind.

She can remember Alumni, by name, by Class and in person, from '93 through 1969.

Alma is missed.

Of those taking either Freshman Comp. or Modern Lit., approximately 40% maintained the same letter grade, 22% rose one letter grade;

31% dropped one letter grade;

6% dropped two letter grades.

Of course we are proud of the students who improved in grades, but we are equally proud of those who did not find English either easy or enjoyable but who have performed creditably just the same. We hope that we have made the transition easier for them.

Several implications of this superficial study become evident: (1) in general, our students are well prepared for English at such institutions of higher education as the University of Maine; (2) our standards may be slightly more stringent than they should be (but what happened to the 31% who dropped a letter grade?); or, conversely, the grading standards at the University are becoming less stringent.

We should welcome communications from any alumni, particularly of the past few years, who would care to present constructive criticisms as to what we are doing right or what we should improve. Such comments would be especially helpful from alumni who have not attended college, although we are always happy to receive constructive criticism from any alumni, especially if specific suggestions can be included. We do especially wonder, though, how we could improve our program for those who are not college-bound; and we promise not to pay any attention to "mistakes" in any such communications!

After all, if I might be pardoned a very personal though platitudinous comment, are we not all — parents, alumni, faculty, administration — ideally, working together to improve constantly the opportunities of those who come after us?

Readers caring to respond to Mr. Lewis' commentary on the direction of the instruction of English at MCI should address constructive criticism to Norval B. Lewis, Chairman of the English Department, MCI, Pittsfield, Maine.

Bill E. Fahey, Jr. '62 is one of very many MCI graduates enrolled in the Armed Forces of the United States. The following single description of courage and dedication is reported in the Alumnus for 1969 to salute all who serve, at home and away.

First Lieutenant William D. Fahey, Jr., United States Marines, twice recipient of the Purple Heart and wearer of the Presidential Unit Citation, has been awarded the Navy Commendation Medal for "heroic achievement" while acting as an artillery forward observer with the Fourth Marines, Third Marine Division, in connection with operations against the enemy in the Republic of Vietnam.

This story began in September, 1967, when Bill's company came under intense enemy small arm, rocket, mortar and artillery fire while conducting a mission in Quang Tri Province.

To quote the citation:

"Unhesitatingly exposing himself to the heavy volume of fire, Second Lieutenant Fahey moved forward to a vantage point from which he skillfully directed effective artillery fire against the well camouflaged enemy emplacements.

"Although wounded, he ignored his painful injury and steadfastly continued to direct and control friendly artillery fire, thereby preventing the North Vietnamese force from encircling the Marine position.

"His bold determination and aggressive fighting spirit in the face of extreme personal danger were instrumental in inflicting more than 100 casualties on the enemy."

Currently Bill is serving at Quantico, Virginia as a platoon commander at basic school for officer candidates. He and wife Cassandra and son Bill III reside at Triangle, Va.

MAJOR GENERAL ROY E. LINDQUIST, U.S.A. (Ret.), MCI '25, Alice Murch Lindquist, MCI '27, and their family.

The Roy Lindquists of Washington, D. C., managed a family reunion in August, 1968, with the above picture the happy result.

The photo was taken prior to Robert's return to Vietnam for a second tour, this time as a district advisor in the Third Corps area. Roy, Jr., has also served in Vietnam and is now commanding a battalion in the Training Center at Fort Bragg, N. C.

CAMPUS NOTES

Not since boys were required to wear neckties and jackets many years ago, has there been such a dramatic change in the MCI scene as was presented in September 1968. The difference was numerical: approximately 220 day students less than the previous year. There were just as many activities, clubs and organizations, although there were shifts in emphasis. For example, the Future Homemakers, largely home economics oriented, suspended operations in favor of the new Y-Teens, a group that embraces wider interests. Other changes will be noted.

ALUMNI HALL'S Bugs Bunny was latest of the consistently fine snow sculptures produced at Winter Carnival each year by the dorm's residents. Bugs was awarded second prize.

ORGANIZATIONS . . . The Summa Rerum, MCI's nearest approach to an honor society and by the nature of its make-up — requisites of scholarship, leadership, citizenship and sports participation—limited in numbers, again assumed direction of the Winter Carnival Weekend as a major project. The Carnival was properly garnished by plenty of snow and attractive visitors, and generally considered a success. Peter Gulick, Dean of Students, enjoyed the support of president Greg Patterson and secretary Sue Witham in providing guidance to this influential cluster. . . . The MCI Key Club, steered by N. Blake Bartlett, again implemented good works for school and community. In a trial election during the fall the Club's poll correctly forecast a Nixon victory, muffed badly at the state of Maine level. Working services were offered to the Seabrook Valley Hospital, the Chandler Nursing Home, the Town Library, the Town of Pittsfield, and to local churches; luckily not all called at once. Officers included Greg Patterson, Richard Curtis, Paul Burke. . . . The Student Consultative Council was formed this year to work with the Headmaster and faculty to provide liaison between students and administration. Particular task of the Council is to provide and implement suggestion relating to improvement of social activities. This crew, in any year, could prove a powerhouse; all must have been previously elected or appointed to responsible posts in social, class, dorm or editorial organization. Named to this first-such council were Tom Stewart, Philip Steele, Greg Patterson, Doug Latham, James Rowe, Harold Johnson, Linda Shorey, Patricia Cronin, William Cunningham, George Anagnost and Brian Troupe. . . . School brain trust, the Humanities Colloquium, began meetings, as usual, just prior to Christmas recess. Topic for the year's study was announced as "The Bible as Literature," rather different from any preceding core study. Basic works for this examination were the Bible (King James Version) and Mary Ellen Chase's commentary "The Bible and the Common Reader." Members made a serious attempt to examine the Bible as literature, not as an expression of religious belief, making it essential to examine the writing in the light of the beliefs and backgrounds of the authors of the various books of the Bible. A valuable part of the meetings, according to advisor Norval B. Lewis, English faculty chairman, was the spirited give and take, over a wide spectrum of topics, following the formal meetings. Most faithful attendants were listed as Robert Bridges, Kent Chaplin, William Cunningham, Steve MacDonald, Jeff Rahn, James Rowe and Wayne Sanftner, with special commendations to Linda Shorey of Palmyra and Susan Witham of Newport who frequently braved snow and stuff to be present. In addition, the work at the meetings of English faculty member Bill Richardson was particularly appreciated. . . . The Judo Club, another new one, was gathered by English instructor Henry Weiner. Judo, to the uninitiated, attempts to bridge a gap between wrestling and the ballet, with overtones of mayhem and high tea. An assembly, featuring Mr. Weiner and the Club, was vastly appreciated by students convened. Much bowing and scraping by contestants, robed in shortie pajamas, followed by violent laying on of hands. Members of the cult (yellow belt) included Dick Brown, Don Smith, Pete Wales, Roland Tabor, Jim Charles, Craig Farkas and Scott

Derick. . . . Eighteen members of the German Club met monthly at the beck of Otmar K. E. Foelsche, advisor and instructor in German. Hearty Teutonic jollity was distressingly evident prior to Christmas recess: Plattdeutsch caroling rent the calm, bratwurst and potato salad festooned each chin at the marathon annual party. Later, through the Club's efforts, Herr von Keudell of the Boston Consulate, Free Republic of Germany, addressed a number of students and guests regarding the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia and its implications. As a prime project, the Club made arrangements for a tour of 15 students to Germany in the summer. Lucky students, from MCI and neighboring high schools, will live with German families for a month and will study German at special schools. Advisor Foelsche has been assisted in trip plans by the German Consul General and by the Pedagogical Exchange Service. Club leaders have been Kathy Christie and Lary Ball. . . . Yet another new formation with a vast potential for meaningful works is the Forestry and Wildlife Conservation Club. Not to be confused with the long-established Outing Club, the Foresters were gleaned by faculty member Arnold A. Dunning to explore rudiments of forest and game conservation on MCI's extensive wooded acreage at the North Campus, between the Johnson W. Parks' Golf Course and Pittsfield's Spring Road. Extensive cutting of trash growth has been accomplished, primarily along a spring-fed brook, to provide a dam and pond. Trout and waterfowl will thrive, it is hoped, where tangled alders died. Forestry chieftains were Alan Litchfield, George Anagnost and Richard Brown. . . . Students from all five MCI classes were found on the Dramatics Club roster. Reading techniques instructor Mrs. Anna H. Furbush explained details of drama and staging to more than 20 members. Major opus for the year, a three-act production, was cancelled a few weeks prior to showing; the old complaint, too many players committed to other projects. Officers were Sue Witham, Becky Burke, Linda Viger and Kathy Christie. . . . The Outing and Conservation Club, our old favorite, worked all fall at the Moosehead Lodge, insulating here and there, installing a fantastic self-destruct toilet system, and generally prettying the grounds. Certain sensitive visitors during the long winter noted, however, a large lack of heat in both dining and sleeping quarters, something to be remedied by another snowfall. Most weekends found skiers and ice fishermen in residence, with the fishermen conspicuous, during the short days, huddled about miniature Franklin stove and opened oven of electric range. Duck hunting and fishing were on tap during the fall; smelting, salmon and trout fishing, fiddleheading, in the spring. Student leaders were Kirk Fitts, Eric Garland and Brad Cahill; Wally Cunningham, Dave Pickle and Pete Bradshaw provided faculty direction. . . . MCI's Romans of the Modern Era, who years ago discarded the prosaic "Latin Club" handle, instead of thrashing about inventing Latin word games, this year wisely offered a series of movies, including "The Mainland of Greece," "Colors of Italy," "Islands of Greece," and "The World of T.W.A.." all offered by anonymous airline. Instructive and relaxing. Money for good deeds was raised by selling maroon and white shakers at basketball games, thus insuring continued employment of janitors. Mrs. Hazel M. Earle provided faculty advice; Mark Field, Dale Lowe, Susan and Johnna Furbush were student officers. . . . More than half of MCI's girl enrollment joined the new Y-Teen group, calling themselves the Y-Nots. It's a good question. Affiliated with the Bangor-Brewer YWCA, the Y-Nots have met twice each month, with plenty of action for the 19 members. Gallant faculty advisor Mrs. Margaret S. Witham committed herself and the gang to a Halloween hayride, a series of slumber parties, a Christmas party for pupils of the Marie Bradford School, a food sale, assistance at the Sno-Ball and at the Huskie Hut, and swimming parties. Serious business was confined to discussion of teen problems. The Y-Nots' aims are four-fold: service, fund-raising, social and educational. First officers were Pat Cronin, Sue Witham, Linda Shorey and Donna Mason.

Under serious consideration, at the last of it, was importation of a well-matched set of beavers for building the dam, like. Shown are the first officers of the Club, Alan Litchfield, Richard Brown, George Anagnost, and advisor Arnold A. Dunning.

PUBLICATIONS . . . Newest campus publication is the Masardis, a 50-page literary effort by students and faculty. Objective of Masardis is to present a cross-section of MCI writing and thought in areas of poetry, prose, art and documentation. Response has been remarkable, reams of contributions, some of them "from unusually interesting sources," according to advisor W. Kent Olson of the English faculty. Editor-in-chief has been Kenneth Reeves, assisted by Eric McCann, prose editor; John Bazzinotti, poetry editor; Leigh Shorey, managing editor. . . . The Talisman, school news sheet for many years, has appeared only sporadically. It's been very good, what we've seen of it. Reason for the few editions, we suspect, is that the talented staff formed by advisor Bill Richardson is spread too thin, as it were; active in just about everything the school offers, this crew. Boss editors have been Linda Shorey and Mike Simonds; Kathy Christie, features and society; Laurie Fitts, sports; Jim Rowe, art; Brian Mooers and Susan Furbush, business, Linda Viger and MAINE GAME WARDEN NORMAN GILBERT was besieged by questioners following his lecture at the school's Hunter Safety Course, required each fall for student huntsmen. Warden Gilbert is one of several guest instructors who donate their time and expert experience each September to promote safe shooting on the Sebasticook hunting grounds.

Linda Sweet, lightning proofreading; Jackie Mercier, Pat Cronin, Donna Condon and Sally Cookson, typists; Dale Lowe, Bev Deane, Johnna Furbush, Becky Burke and Wendy Murdock, general slaves. . . . The Trumpet, school yearbook since 1913 and for more years than he likes to think about a collateral responsibility of Norbert Young, Sr., boasted its staff of James Rowe, Linda Shorey, Dianne Debay, Doug Latham, Susan Furbush, Dean Homstead, Wendy Brooks and Donna Condon. A fair slice of the above doubled as Talisman staffers, likely to the annoyance of both Messrs. Richardson and Young.

PRIZE SPEAKING AND MANSON ESSAYS . . . In preparation for the Alumni Prize Speaking Contest a smallish group of four sophomores and a single freshman, top of the speaking crop for the two classes, rehearsed for weeks under the direction of Mrs. Hazel M. Earle, language faculty chairman. All came out winners. Not really, of course, for not even great-hearted Alumni Association could afford five cash prizes. But all showed championship colors; it was rumored that the judges battled backstage. Laurie Fitts, only freshman speaker the previous year, benefited from that seasoning, took first award with her steady version of "A Cup of Trembling," a dramatic reading. Rebecca Burke was named to second place, followed, in program order, by Johnna Furbush, Leigh Shorey and David Harnum. Leigh, the freshman speaker, should be an odds-on favorite next year. . . . The Manson Essays have been written and judged, then spoken and judged for 99 years, according to best research. Rules have remained the same: restricted to members of the junior class (all must make a stab at this), the Mansons are evaluated first on a written version of an original essay based on research, with the finalists again judged on the oral presentation of the essay. The written version score is averaged with that of the oral, to arrive at the winner. Kind of complicated, but fair enough. Linda Viger offered "Correctional Institutions and the Female Offender," to win first money, followed by Larry Murinson and Alan Litchfield. English instructor Margaret S. Witham guided the Manson production through both the written and oral phases.

MUSIC . . . Although the music program found fewer participants during the year, fine programs were again presented by Director Robert D. Hudson. The annual Christmas Concert was of the high standards expected from Hudson productions and featured voices and brass. The Spring "Pops" Concert spotlighted a small chorus, accompanied by guitar, a string quartet, recorder and brass instruments. Most effective. MCI students again were represented at the All-State Music Festival, the Maine Independent Schools Music Festival and with the Colby Band. A full-credit music appreciation course and a number of music assemblies have been an important part of the MCI total program.

MCI IN SPORTS

FOOTBALL . . . A season that concluded with a tally of one win, one tie, and three losses might not gladden the spirit of just any coach, but to Norm Trottier it represented solid achievement, the best record for Huskies football in many a moon. At the sultry September opening with Old Orchard massive Huskies pushed their down-state guests the length and breadth of Manson Park for three periods, to lead at that time by one scrawny touchdown, 7-0, having missed by inches on other opportunities. Summer-fattened Huskies, with too few practice sessions, then lolled and languished, watched with dull interest the still-lively visitors knot the game in waning minutes. Black-visaged coach Trottier swore a crash weight-loss program. A visit to Traip Academy the following Saturday was a bit of a bust, but Parents' Weekend was quickened by noisy bell ringing following a thoroughly satisfying thumping of Gould Academy 34-12, in a game sparked by long, rambling runs by Mike Bouchard and some flashing defensive derring-do by Alex Luria that included an interception for a T.D. . . . The following two games, with North Yarmouth Academy and Hyde School, were less than successful, shall we say, and no one at MCI really regretted a 12 inch snowfall that cancelled the finale with deadly Kents Hill. . . . Fine players were captain and quarterback Greg Patterson, Luria and Bouchard, plus captain-elect Guy Patterson, Fletch Landesman and Rick Milligan, all juniors. . . . The Huskie JV's won two, lost four. Fire-eating coach Lyford Beverage directed his thin (numerically) valiants to spectacular wins (example: 40-0 vs Kents Hill JV's) and equally distinctive losses (example: 0-53 vs Cony H. S. JV's), providing Lyford a full spectrum for vocabulary changes, rung with fervor. Key operatives for this intriguing group were John Baroni, Kip Files and handyman John Gormeley, all of whom found action, at times, with the varsity.

THE FOOTBALL HUSKIES showed flashes of greatness before injuries and ineligibilities slowed them down toward the end of the 1968 season. No MCI feelings were really hurt when snowfall cancelled the last scheduled game.

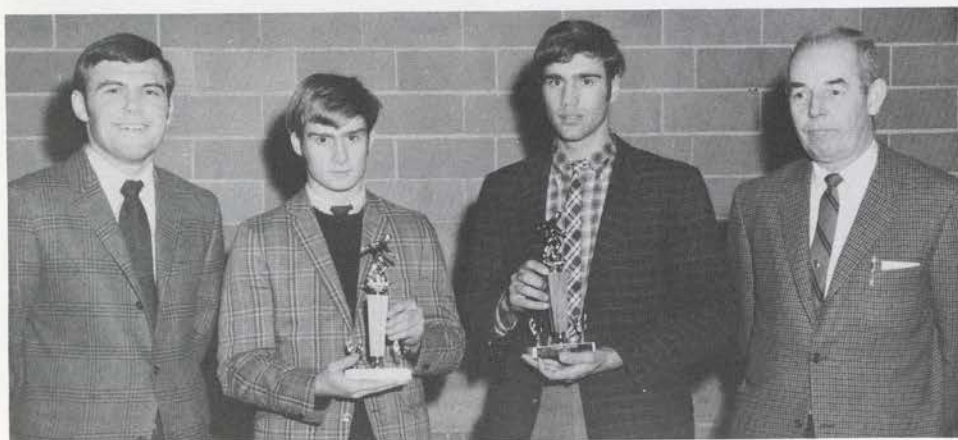

VARSITY SOCCER BOOTER WON 3, dropped 5 games over an action-packed fall. Coach Ken Olson, white shirt, is a former U. of Maine captain in the sport.

A HUNTER-SAFETY COURSE, held for a week in September each fall, is a requisite for students planning to pot Sebasticook Valley wildlife. Instructor Wally Cunningham shows more-or-less interested cadet shooters how to plug a shotgun. Note: they pass the course—or no hunting!

THE RODERIC L. SMITH Soccer Awards, presented for the first time in 1968, were earned by David C. Dupouy of Topsfield, Mass., and Gary L. Gray of Plymouth, Maine. Shown with Dupouy and Gray are Coach W. Kent Olson and Athletics Director Smith.

MCI'S SHARPSHOOTERS finished 6th in a field of 16 clubs at the Big One, the New England Regional. Not quite what Coach Frank Haseltine wished, but not bad, either.

CROSS COUNTRY . . . As has been almost habitual in recent years, MCI's "Special Breed," the long distance runners, the lonely plodders of darkening autumnal twilights, gracefully and in the most polite manner lost their first four outings. Irked, coach Norbert Young by scowls and head-wagging indicated disapproval and, as so often in the past, his turf boulevardiers, now possibly in shape, swept the remaining five meets. In Dave Mendell coach Young had possibly the best prep school runner in Maine, but who, until the mid-season transition, lacked proper support. Other outstanding runners were the Goodridge twins, Dennis and Darrell, and Dan Keedy, Gordon Robards, Cris Crowley, Peter Evans and Dick Sullivan. Wins were from Unity College, North Yarmouth Academy, Kents Hill, Hyde School and Gould Academy.

SOCCER . . . W. Kent Olson, formerly University of Maine captain, did a fine job in his first coaching stint, directing MCI's booters through a 3 win, 5 loss siege in a rough league. Rough is right. The opening battle with Hinckley School (won by MCI 1-0) saw ambulances at a premium at Manson Park; two Hinckley lads suffered broken legs, and there were other injuries, all in a cleanly played five minute span. Whoosh! . . . Perhaps memories of that crunching September afternoon induced a sort of delayed trauma; in any event, the old scoring punch faded as the season progressed. Lots of spirited action, though, including what coach Olson considered the Huskies' finest hour, a losing venture against North Yarmouth Academy, 2-0, which saw MCI dominate all facets except the vital one, that of poking ball to net. Outstanding players included Gary Gray, Dave Dupois, Doug Latham and Steve MacDonald. Steve, a resident of Port Elizabeth, South Africa, playing in the goal for for the first time, wound up third best in the league at that sensitive position. . . . Otmar K. E. Foelsche, JV coach and accomplished linguist, could not, with all the tongues at his command, persuade a better than 2 tie, 6 loss performance from his eager, inexperienced pupils. Trouble started early in October with a 2-0 loss to Piscataquis Valley High School and endured through the first week in November (on a somewhat encouraging note) when a 0-0 tie with the Kents Hill JV's drew the curtain. Foelsche named Steve Merrill his outstanding player, Paul Burke the most improved.

FIELD HOCKEY . . . It's too bad that our field hockey girls could not have met Oak Grove five or six times during the season. Might have been a great fall. As it was, they bounced the O.G. ladies twice, 2-0 and 1-0, for the only wins in a seven game schedule. But before we moan, it must be remembered that MCI opened in 1968 with less than 30 girls on campus, all of whom, as one might expect, were not hockey players by any nature, inclination or desire. The fact that Tookie Russell could gather a crew of 15, and accept a mean schedule, drawn months in advance, speaks worlds for the splendid spirit of the troops and, indeed, for Coach Tookie herself. A boy-girl numerical relation of something like 9 to 1 makes for a splendid social whirl of the girls but does not necessarily provide for powerful field hockey, basketball and softball teams. Enough of lecture. . . . With the exception of one tough morning at Kents Hill our kids were never really out of any game, never quit running or scrapping. Donna Mason, Linda Shorey and Kathy Russell would have starred on any team in the state. For the rest, there were no JV's, all played, all were Varsity and well-earned the distinction.

PREPPER BASKETBALL . . . Not the year for the Preppers. Plenty of hustle by hard workers, some outstanding individuals, much enthusiastic encouragement by Coach Beverage and these, all of these, could not change the final total of 3 wins, 12

LAURIE FITTS, a sophomore, was awarded the Malaka Russell Basketball Trophy for excellence in that sport. Coach "Tookie" made the presentation.

THE OUTSTANDING SKIER AWARD, one of MCI's most coveted, was earned by Doug Latham, right. Doug was a specialist in Nordic events. Coach Bob Boulrisse made the presentation.

THE UNDERGRAD HUSKIES won 4, lost 8, with several of the losses categorized as squeakers. Nothing wrong with the team that a basket here and there couldn't have helped but that, alas, was the story.

PAUL CALDERON of the basketball Preppers, front, with ball, set a school scoring record of 66 points in one game.

THE FASHION-PLATE SKI TEAM dressed its Nordic types in dazzling white, its Alpine chaps appeared in natty blue. And the boys could ski, and well.

losses. No real height; tallest man on the starting five reached 6' 1", and against college freshmen squads, in particular, this beckons adversity. There were bright moments. Paul Calderon set a new school record of 66 points in one game, during a 124-115 lacing of Eastern Maine Vocational Institute. Paul averaged 37 points per game, to lead MCI sharpshooters Mike Wisniewski, Mike Hoxtor and Jim Brewster, all fine players. . . . The wins were from EMVTI (twice) and Higgins Classical Institute; losses were from the likes of toughies Maine Frosh, Bates JV's, Colby Frosh, Bowdoin Frosh, Husson Frosh and others.

UNDERGRAD BASKETBALL . . .

The undergrad Huskies measured the Hinckley School twice, Gould Academy and Kents Hill once each, for their four wins over a twelve game stretch. Losing scores were all respectable and the Huskies proved their right to membership in the Maine Prep School League. Greg Lobikis and Greg Patterson were singled by coach Darrell Jones for excellence on the courts, but it was team balance down the line that supported the Huskies through a good if not brilliant season. . . . JV coach Mike Lumbra at mid-season modestly predicted a 9 win, 3 loss final reckoning for his junior warriors and darned if he wasn't right. His well-drilled youth movement on the first day of February dunked Gould Academy JV's 64-62, and during the remainder of the short month took hapless JV's from Hyde School, Hinckley School, Gould Academy (again), North Yarmouth Academy and Kents Hill, to make Mike an honorable prophet and prodigy. Some of the lads helped: Laforest Mathews, the only senior of the bunch and in his first year of basketball, Dale Andrews, Alan Litchfield, Kip Files and Jon Dana were leading exponents of the Lumbra System.

OUR BASKETBALL GIRLS, lean numerically, achieved their finest hour in a 37-33 win from Nokomis H.S. JV's. Shown is the whole bunch: reserves, varsity and coach.

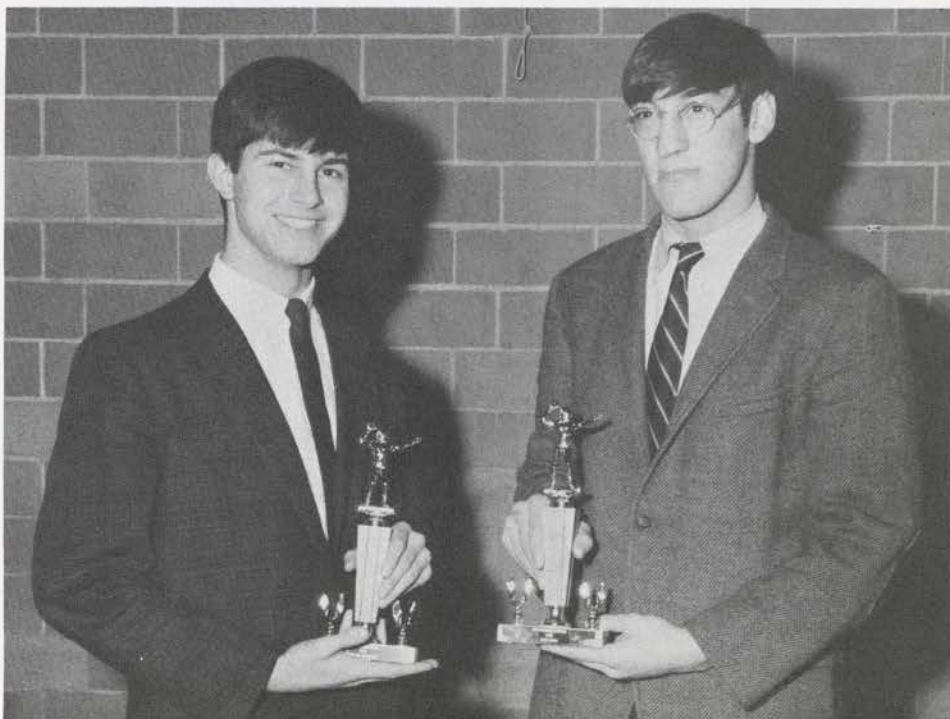

GIRLS' BASKETBALL . . . Six players make the complement, the whole force, of a girls' basketball team. For her Varsity, Junior Varsity and Reserves, Coach Tookie could trot out seven performers and one manager. There were no JV games, and one reserve. The solitary bench warmer was no individual; exigencies of the contest required frequent changes for the single seat. In short, all saw plenty of action. . . Who won what, like? Well, on Thursday, February 6, starting at 4:00 p. m. at the Parks Gym, Becky Burke, Sally Cookson, Pat Cronin, Laurie Fitts, Donna Mason, Linda Shorey and Marcia Stanley, aided honestly at the scoring table by manager Johnna Furbush, collectively edged JV's from populous Nokomis High School 37-33. There were six other games, some rather close, but right now they don't seem to count much. Becky was high scorer, Donna and Laurie also starred, but, really, all were great.

SKI TEAM . . . Snow was no problem for coach Bob Boulrisse and his natty boomers, plenty of it, late and soon. At schedule's end it was still coming; resort areas were reporting coverage in feet instead of inches (literally). Strongmen Doug Latham, Darrell and Dennis Goodridge in the cross country, alpinist Pete Koledo and journeymen jumpers snowed teams as Hinckley School, North Yarmouth Academy, Skowhegan High School and Waterville High School during the early going. Later on in February things got tougher. Key personnel became ineligible via academics (but not the aforesaid) and there were injuries. MCI placed (or showed) a good third in the State Prep School Meet, trailing Gould Academy and Kents Hill, and ahead of Hinckley, North Yarmouth Academy, Hyde School and Hebron Academy. The State "AA" Meet and the New England Prep School ground followed, our dwindling crew showed up, modestly remained inconspicuous.

RIFLE TEAMS . . . Shooters during the winter resumed their furious after-school clatter at the Founders' Hall 50-foot range. Coaches Frank Haseltine and Mort Remick attracted the usual numbers to their subterranean pit and discovered some riflemen. Larry Mathews, Guy Harris and Paul Burke were probably the most consistent, leading the "A" team through a 4-3 program in Postal League shooting. The "B" through "D" teams burned much powder

SPRING SPORTS 1968

Spring sports in 1968, not reported in the Alumnus for that year, are worthy of note. Historian Polybus in 150 B.C. wrote, roughly, "That historians should give their own side a break, I grant you; but not so as to state things contrary to fact . . . Readers should be attentive to and very critical of historians, and they in turn should be constantly on their guard." With this firmly in mind, we proceed.

PREPPER BASEBALL. . . The Maine Prep School League is tough enough, but when college frosh outfits take two-thirds of the schedule it makes for some long afternoons, Coach Al Murray might advise. And "take" was just about it. But the 3 win, 8 loss record cannot tell of three extra-inning games that, with a bit of luck, could have made the season 6-5. Wins were from Unity College (varsity), Hebron Academy and North Yarmouth Academy; the extra-inning marathons with Kents Hill, Hinckley School and Bridgton Academy; the losses were to Colby, Maine and Bowdoin frosh, some of them twice. In long Mike Parquette Coach Murray had what he considered one of New England's finest schoolboy players, an opinion shared by scouts and other coaches. Mike pitched, worked behind the plate, and maintained a steaming batting average. Other outstanding Preppers were pitcher Rick Simonds, Jeff Gray, Don Moore and Eldon (Don) Hunt.

UNDERGRAD BASEBALL. . . For the second year hand-running the Huskies gained a playoff post in the Kennebec Valley Conference, all the while playing such "LL" rowdies as Cony, Gardiner, Skowhegan, Waterville, Belfast, Lawrence, Rockland, Mt. View, Winslow and Madison. Coach Dave Mosher glowed and swelled to watch sluggers Jeff Legge (.370), Pat Patterson (.385), and Greg Patterson (.450), plus clutch-hitters Larry Small and Larry Mathews pound their way to 8 wins, 3 defeats.

Righthander Ralph Debay and lefty Wes McGibney divided mound time, each managing, over the season, an earned-run average of less than one run per game. Good coaching will tell. Dave Varney, Scott Hall and Les Lawrence dazzled defensively and a strong bench provided aid and comfort. The 1-0 play-off loss to Gardiner saddened, but could not erase the spirit of a great MCI team.

DEAN OF STUDENTS Peter Gulick, center, puffing, provided heavy artillery for a faculty soccer team that advanced to semi-finals in an October round-robin tournament with dorm squads.

TRACK. . . Soggy grounds cost Coach Norbert Young much practice time and caused cancellation of a couple of meets, but he still found opportunity to field a representative MCI track team; that is, a better group than most Maine prep schools could claim. During the month of May, maroon shirts showed the way to North Yarmouth Academy, Hinckley School, Kents Hill, Hyde School and Unity College, and in the State Prep School Meet at Hebron finished second to the host club. Junior Doug Latham was unbeatable in the 440; following the regular season Doug entered the Class "L" Meet at South Portland, ran his favorite distance in 50.8, winning the event and breaking the old MCI record made in 1949 by Richard (Dick) Getchell. Other point-getters over the schedule were pole vaulter Pete Larabee, Mike Bouchard in the broad and triple jump, and high jumping Dick Stickney.

TENNIS. . . Coach Tom Thompson's schedule was abbreviated by rain, mist, wet courts and the other assorted miseries that go with wearing sneakers. Not to Tom's regret, however.

The shorter the better, this spring. Only a double handful of candidates reported in April at the Vickery Courts, about half of whom recognized the cry of "Love—forty." They soon learned. Three matches were played and three lost. Dick Drum and Dick Wise won games; Alan Kelley and Joe Keller showed promise.

GOLF. . . We don't know what the School's actuaries might say, but the Johnson W. Parks Golf Course is paying off in at least one respect—that of building great MCI golf teams. The 10-2 record of Coach John Dana's linksmen was possibly the best in the state. This, plus the use of the course for troops of recreational golfers, underscores the value of the Parks Estate gift. Lessons in the gentle sport were administered by MCI swingers to Milo H. S., Higgins Classical, Hyde School, Bowdoin Frosh, North Yarmouth Academy, Wilton Academy, Colby Frosh, Unity College. Pointers were learned from Maine Frosh and Cony High experts. There was great team balance; perhaps most consistent match winners were Jon Dana and Jim Maynard.

LACROSSE. . . Lacrosse is most effectively attempted in hot blood. It's something like duelling with sabres or wrestling crocodiles. One must have a flair, a bent, an active death-wish. Oddly, each spring finds coach Pete Gulick surrounded by winter-pallid youth eager to learn the basics of pounding heads with crooked sticks. During the season considered, there was an overflow of volunteers; an impromptu JV aggregation headed by rough-necks Bruce Parker, Jeff Farkas and Frank Porteus went undefeated through a short program. The varsity managed only two wins during nine games, but had much savage fun. Alex Luria led the scoring pack with 9, followed by Mike Fendler 4, Mike Flaherty 4, and Chip Fendler 2. The Cossacks with the longest clubs, the defense and mid-fieldmen, included Jim Remley, Jim Nichols, Burleigh Curtis, John Kelly, Dale Kitching, Charlie Clark, Dave Gauvin.

The MCI BUILDERS, 27 in number to May 23, 1969 have contributed $6,290.98 to the current Development Fund, entitling them to recognition as true "Builders" of a strengthening MCI.

The School salutes its Builders, whose gifts in the amount of $100 or more represent the solid base of our Development Fund.

A LIVING ENDO

(AN INTERIM REPORT)

The Trustees of Maine Central Institute acknowledge with deepest appreciation the gift of a fine residential property on Easy Street, Pittsfield, through the will of Sidney F. Jones, late of Pittsfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were highly respected citizens of the local community and good friends of MCI.

To May 23, 1969 more than 300 Alumni and Friends of MCI had offered to contribute to the Fund, scheduled to terminate August 15. This represents a considerable amount of their support to the School.

Membership in the Dollar-A-Year Club, earned by those whose gifts have been made for one or more years since graduation from MCI, is indicated by bold type; numbers in parentheses indicate the number of individuals during the present Fund Effort.

Complete, final listings will be published in the Fall Newsletter and the final determination of the present Fund Year, August 15. To all who have helped-

FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

The Trustees of Maine Central Institute recall with grateful memory the names of friends and alumni whose annual donations, capital gifts, and bequests have been such an important factor in the School's growth and achievement in the past years. Of growing importance, however, is the need for future bequests, both large and small.

In naming MCI as a beneficiary or residuary legatee, one should realize that he is selecting the one best means of perpetuating, through his estate, his own hopes and prayers for a better America and a better world through education.

The Headmaster or Trustees will always appreciate the opportunity of discussing with friends the subject of bequests.

The following form is simple—and it can be used for any amounts.

"I GIVE AND BEQUEATH to the Trustees of Maine Central Institute, a corporation located in the Town of Pittsfield, Maine, the sum of dollars to be used for the general purposes of the School at the direction of the Board of Trustees."

Detach and Mail

DO YOU HAVE A FRIEND whose son or daughter you might wish to recommend to MCI? If so, the first step is to have an MCI catalogue sent to the student or the parents.

MCI, of course, would like to receive your recommendations of boys you feel might be interested in a sound and comprehensive independent school education.

Use this form, or send details to the Director of Admissions.

CLASS NOTES

1893 Isabel Lothrop Vaughn, 50 Forest Ave., Everett, Mass., still retains an active interest in the "Old School." She sent regrets at being unable to attend the Reunion last August, her 75th MCI Anniversary! She and Annie Gilman Crowell, Corinna, Maine, a member of the same class, share the distinction of being MCI's oldest alumnae of record.

1901 Lena Butler Richards of St. Albans, Maine, celebrated her 88th birthday in March with a host of friends who came with gifts and good wishes. In a recent note to the Alumnus she said, "At the age of 88, am still able to live alone and enjoy my home and friends." Our congratulations!

1903 Dr. Carl H. Stevens, 18 Franklin St., Belfast, Maine, has been in medical practice since 1911. He is a widower and his son, John, died in March 1968 at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Togus, Maine. Daughter Alice, Mrs. Richard W. Sullivan, now lives in New Hampshire. There are six grandchildren and grandson, John, a senior at the University of New Hampshire, hopes to be a dentist.

1905 Still most actively concerned with the Class of '05, despite her "resignation" two years ago, Amorette Porter has managed to keep in touch with just about every member. "Amy" is still the School's most reliable link with '05. Her address: Box 370, Skowhegan, Maine.

Archibald C. Hayden, East Madison, N. H., was ill during the fall, but is reportedly fine again. Archie's home is beautifully located, adjacent to one of New Hampshire's finest ski areas.

Class Agent

HARRY W. ROWE

374 College St., Lewiston, Maine

Missing for some time from the Class List, Gladys Leighton Duval has been happily returned! Her address: 15 Fairfax Road, Milton, Mass.

In June 1968 Harry W. Rowe was elected Secretary for the Standing Committee of the Maine Historical Society.

Dora Norton Billings, 824 So. David Ave., Stockton, California, has had her third stay in a convalescent hospital in less than two years. In July 1968 she fell and fractured a hip, the latest in a series of mishaps. She deeply regretted not being able to travel to the August Reunion, remembering with great pleasure her 50th Anniversary in 1966.

Frederick R. Weymouth, Class Agent to MCI '07 for many years, has resigned from this post because of ill health. He is wished a speedy recovery. His address: RFD #2, West Valley, N. Y.

New address for Addie Glover Keirstead is 36 Cary Ave., Lexington, Massachusetts.

Leora E. Prentiss is very active in her office as National State Director for Maine of the National Retired Teachers' Association. She flew to Washington, D. C., last summer to attend the Biennial Convention of the organization. Her address: River Road, R. #2, Waterville, Maine.

Class Agent

SADIE SANFORD McCRILLIS
31 Hartland Ave., Pittsfield, Maine

Earl C. Phillips divides his time between Lake Worth, Florida and Perkiomenville, Pa., and keeps busy at both locations. In Florida Earl manages a resort apartment; he works part time as a pharmacist during the summer.

MCI '10 was well represented on Campus at August's Reunion. Among those registered were Sadie McCrillis, Gladys Bigelow, Harold Bickford, Raymond Whitmore.

1911

Helen Philbrick Ward writes that two of her sons, Gerard and Allen, who formerly lived in Colorado and Utah, have returned with their families to Maine to live. Her daughter's husband, Lt. Col. Lawrence Nickerson has returned from a tour of duty in Vietnam and is presently with his family in Spokane, Washington. Another son, Dr. Gerald Ward and his family, of Colorado, are spending two years in Austria. Helen's address: Thorndike, Maine.

1912

Class Agent

HAYWARD T. PARSONS

290 Succotash Road, Wakefield, R. I.
Alice Cowan Osgood has a new address: 11636 Coggins, Sun City, Arizona.

Iona Tibbetts Britt also writes from a new address: 512 Central St., Saugus, Mass. Iona's daughter lives in Santa Clara, California; her two oldest sons are in the Air Force; Jay, 12 years old, is at home. Iona's oldest son is still with Eastman Kodak in Rochester, N. Y., and has five children, one of them in college. Youngest son, John, and his wife and two boys, live in Milwaukee. Iona boasts three children and ten grandchildren, in three states.

A new address for Merton C. White: 11 Park St., Colebrook, N. H.

1914

Class Agent

BETH RUSSELL McCAUSLAND

72 Rawson Road, Wollaston, Mass.;
Box 594, Farmington, N. H.

Ralph A. Donald and Lawrence R. Eaton are now neighbors, about a mile apart. Larry, on a visit to Ralph, liked what he saw, sold his house in Arlington, Mass., bought a place on the Cape. Their addresses: Ralph may be found at Lower Brook Road, So. Yarmouth, Mass.; Larry at 22 Johnson Lane, West Yarmouth, Mass.

New address for Herbert C. Ellis is RFD #2, Brooks, Maine. Herbert had previously resided in Fairfield, Maine.

Marguerite Libby Ellis (Mrs. Ancel) now lives in Mahopac, N. Y., with her son.

Beth Russell McCausland and Mack found plenty of snow this past winter at "The Farm," their beautiful all-season retreat at Farmington, N. H. No danger of starvation if marooned; Beth each fall and summer puts away enough preserves from Mack's several gardens to supply Strafford County. Mad River, just down the hill, is stiff with trout; pheasants scratch and strut like barnyard roosters along the periphery of the well-manicured lawns, deer have found a haven.

New addresses: Mr. and Mrs. Newman Young (Ruby Hackett '16), 2170 N.E. 44 St., Lighthouse Point, Fla.; Ursula Snow Boutillier, 140 Fowler Ave. Ext., Meriden, Conn.; Grace Crocker Thomas, Mechanic St., Norridgewock, Maine.

Sanger M. Cook, to quote a headline in the Pittsfield Advertiser during June 1952, was "Instrumental in Swinging the Vote" of Maine's delegation to Eisenhower's camp at the State Republican Convention held that year in Bangor. Now it has been announced that Sanger's name will be included on the Republican Memorial that has been placed at the Gettysburg Memorial Site. The Memorial was commissioned in 1952 commemorating those Republican National Delegates who were entrusted with "those awesome powers of decision which have so profoundly influenced the course of the Republican Party and world events." Sanger has been a prominent figure in Maine politics since 1932, when he was first elected to the Maine House of Representatives. He also served in the State Senate for four years.

New addresses: Linwood C. Bussell, 50 Forest St., Westbrook, Maine; Clara Bean Lacy, 1327 Westbrook St., Portland, Maine.

Mark Hurd last fall was elected finance officer of the Oakland (Maine) Republican Town Committee.

Madalyn Jordan Howell is retired but keeps active with the Penobscot Barracks' Ladies' Auxiliary, Veterans of World War I. Her address: MRA, Box 15, Bangor, Maine, although she actually lives in Hampden.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY CLASS

Class Agent

ELAINE MARDEN BROOKS
180 High St., Portland, Maine

New address: Olive Taylor Cory, RR #2, St. Mary's, Ohio.

June Lanpher O'Connor and husband, Edward, plan to work for another year or so and then retire from the insurance agency with which they have been associated for many years. June and Ed enjoy their nine grandchildren and feel "very fortunate to have their family around." Their address: Hardwick, Vermont.

Clarence R. Day and Ethel Reed Day '20 have bought a house in Sarasota, Florida, where they will spend their winters. Rest of the year they will be found, as formerly, at their home in Middlebury, Vermont, R.D. #2.

Class Agent

HENRY W. NASON

366 Farmington Ave., Plainville, Conn.

New addresses: Alice Whitten McDougall, 535 S. Curson Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.; Ethel Lee Wardwell, Isleboro, Maine.

Alice Whitten McDougall (see new address above) has sold her home and is living at the Park LaBrea Towers, in a lovely apartment with a beautiful view. No special news, says Alice!

1921

Class Agent
FRANCIS W. SMILEY
Box 216, Pittsfield, Maine

New address: Vernon B. Lenfest, 678 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

Eda Leathers Thompson has retired after thirty-five years of teaching in State of Maine elementary schools. We sincerely hope that Eda is enjoying herself at her Carmel home.

Christine Colson Mayhew has moved from Searsport, Maine, to 233 Pleasant Street, Concord, N. H. Christine is a staff nurse at the Christian Science Pleasant View Home, Concord.

Class Agent
GILBERT A. SPEAR
Main St., Pittsfield, Maine

The Alumnus regrets to report the death in April, 1968, of Lyle W. Folsom of Springvale, Maine, husband of Mary Rhodes Folsom. Most sincere condolences from her many MCI friends are offered to Mary.

At the end of the school year in June, 1968, Leland L. Thurlow retired from 21 years at the New York Military Academy, Cornwall-on-Hudson. Leland had served his school as instructor in math, head of the math department, assistant guidance director, and work in the field of admissions. His new address: 724 Chapin Road, Aberdeen, N. C.

Everard E. Hall, 23 Payson Road, Falmouth Foreside, Maine, is presently with the Ballard Oil Co. of Portland. Everard retired from the Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, Portland, in 1966.

Isabel Frame Wright has spent the winter in Jonesboro, Arkansas. Her husband has been confined in a hospital, the result of a fall in October. Isabel's home address: 211 Channing Ave., Ferndale, Michigan.

Ever alert for an excuse to get to Maine, Irene Tibbetts Traskers is looking forward to 1972, 50th Anniversary for '22! Her address: Saybrook Road, Haddam, Conn.

A note from Wilbert H. Cook indicated that he had arrived at Madeira, Portugal, for a stop-over on an extended tour, and was heading for Morocco. Will's address, when home: Box Corner, Bradford, N. H.

FORTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CLASS 1924

Class Agent
E. BURNELL (BUN) OVERLOCK
66 Presidents Road, Buzzards Bay, Mass.
"Bun" has a good crop of notes, as usual. He will tell the tale:

Will Landry, who lives at 16 Wilcox Street in Warwick, R. I., is a most loyal member of our class and frequently takes time to keep me informed as to his activities. He is busy as a beaver doing carpenter work, which explains his absence at last year's Homecoming Day.

A letter in February from Maurice Graves, Austin, Texas, informs me that he is keeping busy in retirement with considerable church work but last year visited Yucatan and this winter (now past) will spend three weeks in Guadalajara in Mexico. Last June Maury and Mrs. Graves took time to visit Brunswick for his 40th at Bowdoin. From there they drove to Montreal for Expo 67 review.

A letter from Orlando, Florida, from Virgil Lancaster tells me that he is "trying out" retirement for a year and so far has enjoyed it far more than he had anticipated. The Lancasters will come north to Vermont in June where they have a summer residence.

The latter part of January I recieved a letter from Ruth Palmer Harribine, who was spending the winter in Pittsfield. In the fall Ruth took a trip to London from Boston and visited Denmark, Norway, and Sweden and finally the greater part of the British Isles before returning to the states. Ruth always writes a newsy letter which is most enjoyable to read.

Frank Carter, who is living in Worcester, writes that he is still employed by A. A. Meola & Sons Milk Co. but is also doing some work for one of the railroad companies. Frank for a number of years worked for the New York Central R. R. and the railroad fever has never left him.

As I write this in May, I understand Guy Sawyer in Garland is just coming out of hibernation for the past few months. Maine had a real old-fashioned winter and Guy wrote me that he was keeping busy shoveling a path to the road.

The Overlocks did get to the British Isles last summer and enjoyed the beautiful scenery in England, Scotland and Ireland. They are dividing their summer this year between Washington, Maine and Gray Gables, Bourne, Mass. The invitation to drop in to see them when on the Cape is still good.

Class Agent
MIRIAM McMICHAEL ROBINSON
46 Lafayette St., Newton, Mass.

Thelma V. Ham is chairman of the French Department at Thornton Academy, Saco, Maine, and enjoys her free moments at her home by the sea in Wells, Maine. During the summer of 1967 Thelma traveled to France for a short but pleasant stay.

Kay Files Clay and husband Vaughn '26 announced in October the marriage of their daughter, Cynthia Katharine, to Philippe Henri Brunon. The ceremony was performed at Eglise de St. Pierre de Clages, Valais, Switzerland.

RENE DEVOE

109 S.W. 41st Ave., Miami, Florida

Frances Small Farr from Pond Road, Manchester, Maine, indicates that nothing is particularly new, that she is into her second year of retirement from the State and is loving it more each day! Frances' reports from the shores of Lake Cobbosseecontee are always welcome, if only to refresh our spelling!

Class Agent
ANDREW J. KARKOS

83 Lancaster Ave., Lunenburg, Mass.

Howard L. Ferguson's daughter, Suzanne, is teaching in Needham, Mass. She is the wife of David Yeo, son of Dr. J. Wendell Yeo, vice president of Boston University. Howard has been elected president of the newly-formed Massachusetts State Baseball Association. His address: 133 Lowell Ave., Newtonville, Mass.

Andy Karkos and Irene Reynolds Karkos '21 are both planning to retire from education this year. They are building a home in Plymouth, Mass., where their daughter and her husband are living and teaching. They enjoyed a visit this past winter to Jamaica, not by way of Cuba!

Beatrice Bickford Redman, Danville, Maine, has one daughter, two grandsons. Bea describes herself as "housewife."

1929

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY CLASS

Class Agent
C. WALTER EVANS
691 Lenox St., Athol, Mass.

A new address for Dr. Charles M. Barbour: Wingate Lane, West Hartford, Conn. Daughter, Betsy Anne, is a senior at Wellesley College; Charles M. 3rd is in his third year at the Graduate School of English at the University of Virginia.

GIRLS STILL HAVE no trouble winning in vocal competition. Headmaster Stanley appears pleased that Laurie Fitts (center) and Becky Burke were named to first and second places in the Alumni Prize Speaking Contest.

Stanley B. Parsons operates the new Belfast Motor Inn, Belfast, Maine. The Inn is one of the finest on the extensive Waldo County seacoast.

1932

Class Agent

BARBARA STANLEY McLEAN

5817 Park Drive, Margate, Florida

Barbara Stanley McLean was unable to come from Florida to enjoy Maine lobster at the August 1968 Class Agent Luncheon. Perhaps one of these summers!

Nelson E. Laughton, son of Edward L. Laughton, Hartland, Maine, was a June 1968 graduate from the United States Military Academy at West Point.

1933

WILLIAM S. COFFIN

23 Greenwood St., Augusta, Maine

Sara J. Cowan was honored at a housewarming party in February at her new home in Portland, Maine. Sara is a teacher at Deering High School, Portland.

Arthur W. Danielson wintered in Florida, and at last report was headed for Martha's Vineyard, Mass. Art is retired and presently considering a look at Alaska. Sounds great! His address: Box 1211, Vineyard Haven, Mass.

Bernard A. Kidder, Sr., is owner of the Gardiner (Maine) Fruit Co. Married to the former Katherine Grimes, Bernard has three children: Bernard, Jr., who works with Dad; Carol Ann Back, a dental hygienist in Florida; and Richard, MCI '60, teaching in the Augusta School System.

THIRTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CLASS

Class Agent

MIRIAM PALMER GATES

Box 68, Charlestown, N. H.

Isabel E. Reed has returned to the United States after serving as an instructor in nursing in Paraguay for 3½ years. Her experiences, as outlined in a Christmas letter from Paraguay, included great opportunities to study Paraguay, its politics, economics and people. Isabel explained the brighter side, in part: "Personally I have enjoyed the experience. The country always has beautiful trees with flowers blooming almost constantly. My house is very nice and I have a small but pretty patio. You know I like to work in the garden but I have a gardener who comes twice a month. I have a maid who lives in and she does everything, cooks, cleans, laundry, etc. She is wonderful—does all the marketing too. When I have a party for 40 people we plan the menu together and that is all I have to do. I am going to be a little shocked in the States when I have to do everything myself, don't you think?" Yes, Isabel, we think! Her address: School of Nursing, State U. of N. Y. at Buffalo, Buffalo, N. Y.

Class Agent

IVA CIANCHETTE CREGNOLE

So. Main St., Pittsfield, Maine

New addresses: Janet Brooks Deraps, Snakeroot Road, Pittsfield, Maine.

Dr. Frederick A. Waldron, 34 Auburn St., Concord, N. H., was elected president of the New Hampshire Bowdoin Club for 1968-69. Richard, son of Dr. Fred and Marjorie McCully Waldron '36, is majoring in chemistry at Bowdoin.

Marion Crawford Hutchinson, 1240 Tuscarawas St., Beaver, Pa., has a married daughter in Georgia, a married son in California, and a daughter at Thiel College, Pa. There are four grandchildren. Marion is active with her long-time hobby, photography.

The husband of Hilda Bradford Lake, Colonel Gordon Lake, Sr., has been serving in Vietnam with the Air Force. Daughter Linda, who went to the University of Maine, is married to a psychologist, recently made Hilda a granny, and is living near McGuire AFB, New Jersey. Son Gordon, Jr., is with the U. S. Army, training at Walter Reed Hospital.

Class Agent

AUBREY W. VOSE

4664 Del Moreno Dr, Woodland Hills, Calif.

New addresses: William M. Hanson, Rt. #1, Box 473, Casa Grande, Arizona; Charles W. Mitchell, Stratham, N. H.; Andrew M. Laughton, 4 Blossom Lane, Wayland, Mass.; George T. Bryant, M.I.T., 77 Mass. Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

In September 1968 Phyllis James Frink visited Nova Scotia, near Yarmouth, on her first trip out of the United States. Son Robert is a member of the hospital division aboard the U.S.S. Ozark. Phyllis is still employed at Standard Romper, Brunswick, Maine. Her address: 1204 Washington St., Brunswick.

Son of Avis Randall Dyer, Allan R. Dyer '63, who attended Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, Calif., last year, is now back at Brown University, Providence, R. I., and is in the fifth year of the 6-year Medical Program. Daughter Pauline Dyer DesMarias '65 lives in San Francisco, California and is employed by the Bank of America. Avis' address: 34 Shaw St., Newport, Maine.

O. Lionel Pomeroy has been appointed Executive Director of the Maine State Employees Association at Augusta. Lionel's background for this important post includes duties as chairman of Pittsfield's Board of Selectmen, Town Manager of Pittsfield and City Manager of Brewer, Maine.

Class Agent

ROBERT N. HUBBARD

31 Summer St., Pittsfield, Maine

New addresses: V. Davidson Wilson, 324 Hawthorne St., Lake Park, Florida; Newell R. Goodridge, 77 Florentine, San Francisco, Calif.

Fred L. Perkins has been appointed director of the Maine Education Department's Newspaper in the Classroom program. The post involves extensive travel throughout Maine, demonstrating to principals and teachers how they can introduce and use the news of the day most effectively in their schools. He came to his new position from Rockland (Maine) High School where he was team leader of a teaching project which for five years had used newspapers in daily classes. Previously he had been principal of Warren High School, an English instructor at Union and Rockland High Schools, and was associated with Radio Station WRKD, Rockland. Fred and Eleanor Davis Perkins '39 reside at Warren, Maine.

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY CLASS

Class Agent

RITA BOUCHARD NORTON

2318 Jefferson Highway, Pineville, La.

New addresses: Betty Lane Cole, Apt. 8, 87 Farrwood Dr., No. Andover, Mass.; Elmer W. Leonard, RFD #1, Colchester, Conn.

Class Agent Rita (address above) extends a sincere invitation to visit to any of her many MCI friends who may find themselves in lovely Louisiana. Anne Bouchard Van Asselberg '44, with three schoolage children, lives nearby, as does Dena Bouchard '39, Operating Room Supervisor at the Veterans' Hospital. Rita's daughter, Dena, is attending Mount Holyoke College; son, Walter, is in his second year at Tulane University in New Orleans.

Robert E. Maynard and Jean Purinton Maynard '41 were honored at a party in February celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. Bob and Jean were married in Pullman, Washington, while Bob was enrolled in Air Force Cadet Training during WW II. There are three children: Jack, MCI 65; James, a student at Warsaw High School, and Peggy. The Maynard address: 7 Waverley Ave., Pittsfield.

Class Agent

ROBERT M. MOULTON

832 Sawyer St., So. Portland, Maine

New addresses: Virginia F. Almonte, 3126 S.E. 17 Pl., Cape Coral, Florida; Phyllis Wren Wilcox, Thorndike, Maine; Lawrence E. Wright, 54 Somerset Ave., Pittsfield, Maine.

Frank T. Haseltine is author of an article in the fall 1968 edition of Maine Fish and Game, publication of the Maine Fish and Game Department. Frank's piece is entitled "Maine Hosts National Amateur Field Trial" and describes the field trials in June of 40 of the nation's top retrievers. Frank, an instructor in biology at MCI, is vice president of the Maine Retriever Trial Club, Inc.

1941

New addresses: Vesper Boynton, 206 W. Trinity Ave., Durham, N. C.; Emery W. Flavin, 296 Rt. 32 N., New Paltz, N. Y.

John D. Susi has been appointed exclusive representative for United Farm Agency, Inc., at Pittsfield and neighboring communities. United is one of the largest brokers of rural and suburban real estate. John will operate his office from his home at 42 Peltoma Ave., Pittsfield.

1942

Class Agent

ARLENE FREDERICK BEARDSLEY

25 Congress St., Portland, Maine

New addresses: Ruth Bean Parkman, 15 Hackmatack, Manchester, Conn.; Lea Lawrence Maling, 861 Catalina Dr., Denbigh, Va.; Herbert C. Scribner, 100 Bridge St., N. Vancouver, B. C., Canada.

Willard W. Lehr, Jr., of the Lehr-Hammond Insurance Agency, Pittsfield, has been re-elected chairman of the Maine Insurance Advisory Board. Matthew Scott has been promoted to the position of Regional Fishery Biologist for the Belgrade (Maine) region. Matt joined the Maine Fish and Game Department in 1962 as an Assistant Regional Biologist. He and Kathleen Field Scott '54 have two sons. Matt presented an interesting article in the winter 1968-69 edition of the Maine Fish and Game Magazine, entitled "Cusk—Maine's Fresh-water Cod." He suggests that the cusk is better than it looks; not hard to believe.

Susan Robinson developed itching feet, and so started a tour of the U.S.A. in trusty Chevy Corvair. Got as far as Denver, liked the West, so explored Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Colorado instead of traveling to the Coast. Sue found a winter job at one of the winter resorts at fabled Aspen, Colorado, has been busy learning to ski and meeting interesting people. May travel on in the spring. Sue's home address, as pretty as anything Colorado might offer—at least to prejudiced State of Mainer—is Apple Hill, Enfield, Penobscot County, overlooking Cold Stream Pond.

Chief Warrant Officer Edward H. Jewett has returned to Vietnam, following what must have seemed a too-brief tour in the United States. Ed has had more battle time in a helicopter than we like to think about; some day we hope to nail him for tales of his experiences. Quite a guy.

Class Agent Judi Burke Simonton (see address above) thinks that Nevada is probably OK, if you don't mind 100 degree heat most of the time, but she will be glad to return to Maine. Present plans call for her to be back in Camden, 6 Cedar Street, by the middle of June. Judi has a couple of news notes and we will report them verbatim:

"Donald Fenton was in Las Vegas in March and called me. He was smoking a big cigar at the Hotel Sahara. He and his wife, Nancy, hosted company dealers on a trip to Morocco, North Africa. Before the Christmas holidays they moved into their brand new home."

"Vin Littlefield was relaxing in his poolside room here in Adult Disneyland and rang my number. Even though he had to leave Las Vegas the next morning, I had time to catch up on his job. He was here to organize a trade show for the New Jersey office of the telephone company. His afternoon was filled with work, work, work! He was interview-
