

MAINE CENTRAL INSTITUTE Founded 1866 PITTSFIELD, MAINE

OFFICE OF THE HEADMASTER

9 May 1967

Dear MCI Alumni:

At first thought, a school's 101st year might seem almost anticlimactic, when one recalls even the highlights of the centennial observation in the previous year. Actually, though, having paused to celebrate an important birthday, the School has forged ahead into its second century. We are making progress in many areas - curricular and extra-curricular alike. Our students once more are making an excellent record in college admissions; some of them have already been the recipients of fine scholarship awards. Our faculty is performing effectively, and the courses they are offering seem to be meeting the ever-changing demands of the times. In the extra-curricular areas, our music program is developing remarkably, as I am confident those of you who have been privileged to attend one of our concerts here or at other schools would be glad to testify. In sports, MCI has taken a major step in adding lacrosse to the roster of spring sports. The enthusiasm with which this step has been greeted by many of our boys has been most encouraging. The Outing Club director, aided by a number of the faculty, is confident the Club's Moosehead Lake camp will be ready for use next fall. The programs at the Johnson W. Parks Golf Course on the North Campus are in full swing, aided this year by the completion of a really fine clubhouse building for the recreational purposes of our students and faculty as well as for the summer patronage of the course.

It has been, then, a busy year at MCI. In a sense, it has also been a year of transition, as MCI prepares to open its doors next September without the majority of the local day freshmen. A new junior high school, erected by S.A.D. #53, will provide a ninth grade program for the vast majority of the first year students from Pittsfield, Burnham, and Detroit. MCI welcomes this move as an opportunity to strengthen its own program for boarding boys in the five classes, and for tenth through twelfth grade local day students, since the School will not be reducing its faculty and hence should be able to make even better provision for its students than has been possible with the heavier enrolments of the past.

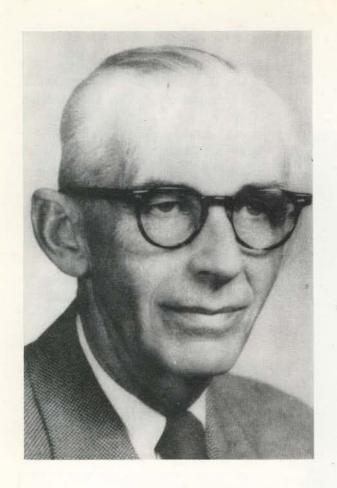

In the years ahead, MCI will continue to strive to merit the support and loyalty of its alumni body. MCI has been most fortunate in its first century to enjoy an excellent rapport with its former students. All of us at the School look forward with confidence to a second century marked by equally cordial relations.

I hope to see each of you at the Mid-Summer Reunion on Saturday, 5 August. Until then, or until you can plan an interim visit to the campus, my very best wishes for your health and happiness.

Sincerely,

Edward R. Stanley

Headmaster

Maurice L. Earle served as dean of men, coach and teacher at MCI from 1945 until 1953. He was a native of Litchfield, Maine, a graduate of Litchfield Academy and Bates College, where he also received a Master's degree. He taught at New Salem (Mass.) Academy, was principal at Camden High School and was principal at Wilton Academy prior to his distinguished work at MCI.

Friend and colleague Edward R. Stanley writes the following:

MAURICE L. EARLE

An Appreciation

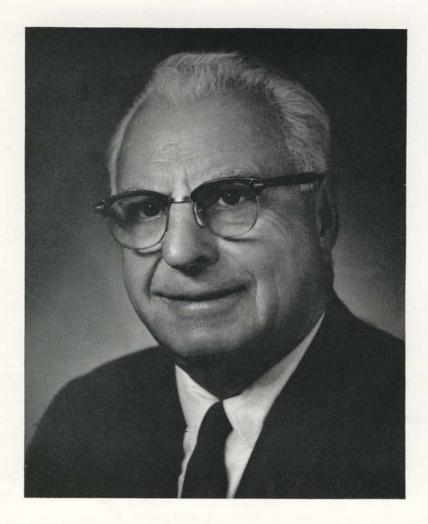

FIRM IN PRINCIPLE, fair in judgment, Maurice L. Earle was first a teacher; a teacher he remained throughout his life - even after he retired from active association with MCI in 1953. Thorough in all that he did, he insisted on thoroughness in his students, whether they were involved in a knotty problem in the history of the United States, engaged in studying in Alumni Hall during a cold winter evening, or entered in an event in a dual meet in track. The example he set for his students was not the least of his contributions to their lives and to the schools he served. Never asking that anyone - student or younger associate - do anything he could not or would not do himself, the Dean was devoted to the principle that the good school had lessons for everyone in every area of student activity. He worked hard to make his own significant contribution to whatever task confronted him, and he never shirked a responsibility. Maurice Earle was a loyal friend, a conscientious fellow worker, a dedicated teacher. He was all these things in an age when truly dependable men, willing to devote themselves wholeheartedly to the needs of their students, are far from commonplace. MCI is the richer having been privileged to have this man in a key position on its staff for eight years. He was missed when he left the School's employ; the mark he made on so many young lives, on the attitudes and philosophies of his colleagues, and on the programs and policies of the School live on. Here was a workman who labored hard and who never needed fear any judgment based on his product.

EDWARD R. STANLEY

MCI SALUTES

Warren S. Churchill

WARREN S. CHURCHILL considers that he retired as an oil industry executive in 1953. No one who knows him will agree. Warren maintains offices in Tulsa, Oklahoma that are not purely for show. He is also owner and operator of Myrtle Hill Farm, Colcord, Oklahoma — not, from all reports — a small spread.

A native of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, his formal education was confined to the state of Maine. He attended Waterville High School, MCI, Colby College and the University of Maine. Possibly the most important instruction came later . . . the hard way.

He served overseas for two years in World War I, and then turned his attention about as far West as he could. Warren pioneered oil drillings and oil production in both the American and Canadian Rockies; his adventures, even by modest description, should be written by a later Zane Grey.

He and Mrs. Churchill, the former Myrtle Margaret Sylvester, each year forward the educational goals of deserving Oklahoma youngsters. There could be no better service.

MCI is proud to salute Warren S. Churchill: oilman, farmer, gentleman.

The Date To Note!!

SATURDAY, AUGUST 5 will again see the annual Mid-Summer Alumni Homecoming at the old stamping grounds — the MCI Campus. We can't promise that the affair will be as spectacular and memorable as last year's 100th Birthday Celebration, but it certainly will be attempted.

A full schedule of events has been planned to keep those who wish reasonably active. The rest — and usually the majority — will be allowed, as always, to set their own pace. No alumni parades with strange hats, no lectures or softball games in the blazing August sun.

Good talk, good food, good memories, old friends, old buildings, new friends, new buildings: these make an MCI Reunion.

Your formal invitation will arrive shortly — but make plans now!

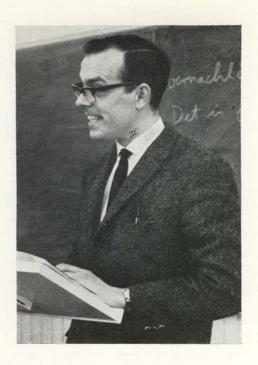

The MCI Alumni Association is sincerely grateful for the work of E. Burnell Overlock '24 during his presidency of the Association from August 1966 to August 1967. In spite of other pressing work — principalship of a large junior high school, no less! — he has directed the affairs of the Association through its finest year. To E. Burnell Overlock we offer:

Thanks. Nicely done!

One of many singing groups gathered during the fall and winter were "The Four Folk," a smiling cluster that included Janice Steward, Kathy Christie, Linda Dow, Nancy Christie. Considered great during their few appearances.

Otmar K. E. Foelsche, instructor in German at MCI, is a doctoral candidate at the John F. Kennedy Institute of the Freie Universitaet of Berlin, Germany. He joined the MCI staff in 1966, plans to remain for the academic year 1967-68. A native of Berlin, his present residence — when home — is Bremen. Mr. Foelsche is well qualified to contrast American and German secondary education; he has been both an exchange student and practice teacher at South Portland (Maine) High School.

EDUCATION ABROAD . . . Germany's Way

OMPARISONS of various educational systems have often been attempted, but they will always remain questionable undertakings. They leave the reader in a state of confusion rather than illumination. The reasons for this are obvious: No standards are accepted among the specialists for measuring absolute achievements of one educational system, transplantations of the system of one country into another country have almost always been unsuccessful, and last but not least we have to face the fact that educational systems are hardly ever static units. Any kind of comparison, therefore, suffers in validity because of the inconsistency of the dynamic forces present in any educational system, and because of the variety of approaches which are necessary to deal with these complex issues. Speaking from a general viewpoint: Any age group between 5 and 65 is, roughly, engaged in some kind of educational program, depending on the individual's relationship to the society. This paper does not attempt to deal comprehensively with all aspects of educational approaches in Germany. The author wants to limit the discussion to some aspects of education for the age group between 6 and 25. Furthermore he wants to put emphasis on the school system and will only devote small space to the university system.

A first methodological question which has to be raised is that of the "system." There is no such thing as a system — neither in any European country (with the exception of France) nor in the United States, when we talk about systems in terms of nationwide systems.

On the other hand, there are some traditional conceptions that supply a framework for educational systems. We shall therefore, first of all, analyze these traditional concepts and their presence in Germany's education.

Almost all European systems, the German system included, have a common background, which is also, historically speaking, the background of any American system. This background consists of the universal medieval approach to education. This approach had the basis of one common language Latin and the basis of one common authority — the Church. With the weakening of the Church's position during the late Renaissance and especially during the various reform movements, secularization and national elements were incorporated in the existing educational institutions, whereas the basic objectives were not changed.

We shall have to understand these historical objectives in order to comprehend today's set up in Germany. During the medieval period it was necessary to train an elite for both the Church and the State respectively. The individuals undergoing this training received all the available knowledge of their times, i.e., a thorough training in the classical disciplines, theology and even sciences. The number of educated individuals required by those societies was extremely small — their authority, from a twentieth-century viewpoint, unbelievably great. It is therefore not surprising that during that period a rigorous selection of the most able students took place. This aspect of selection is still an essential part of the German system, which we'll consider later on.

The second historical aspect which deserves attention is that of the control of educational institutions. The lessening of Church control did not necessarily mean more freedom for educational institutions, it simply meant that the states took over the responsibility of the Church. The control itself remained as rigid as ever before. From a twentieth-century viewpoint it simply means that education was considered the business of the nation. This concept, at least to a large extent, is still true for almost all major European countries. Several attempts have been made in the meantime to weaken state control, but only in the case of Germany, under certain extraordinary circumstances, this attempt was at least partially successful.

The third historical aspect which we have to consider is that of universality in education. As has been pointed out earlier, medieval times had equal emphasis on classical, theological, and scientific training around the standards of the Church. This ideal concept of being able to provide the individual with all available education cannot be maintained any more. Nevertheless universality is still present - under a different name; Allgemeinbildung (general education). Allgemeinbildung is the concept of providing the student with a basic training in all areas. For a majority of European educators the scientist needs to have a literary education, must know some foreign languages, must have some training in history and in the classics, as well as the philologist needs to have scientific training.

I consider these three aspects (selection, control, and universality) the most important ones of the German educational systems. There are of course other aspects which could be considered, but space does not permit any lengthy discussion of those.

The most interesting question for Americans is the administrative set up of the German systems. Roughly speaking these systems have been in existence since 1949. From 1945 to 1949 all educational systems were under the control of the Allied Powers. Before that the Nazis, the Weimar Republic, and the different German states under the set up of the Hohenzollern Empire controlled education. The number of entirely different governmental systems from 1871 until today explains to a certain extent today's systems which are somewhat disconnected from the great historical tradition. On the other hand, the extraordinary historical situation in Germany in 1945, made Germany into an experimentation ground for the educators of the Allied Powers. Since everybody realized that only education contained the hope of changing the "evil" Germany forever - various controversial attempts were made, but only one lasted. The Federal government was not authorized by the constitution of 1949 to get engaged in cultural affairs. Education was declared as constitutionally belonging to the governments of the states of the Federal Republic. So Germany has at this moment 11 (including Berlin — which is a state of the Federal Republic according to the German interpretation of that complex situation) different systems of education. There is, of course, some kind of nationwide authority: the Ständige Konferenz der Kultusminister (permanent conference of the secretaries for culture). The decisions of this conference are by no means laws. Even a unanimous decision of this body has to be ratified by the different state legislatures before it will become a law in a certain state. Each secretary runs his state with a number of Schulräte (school advisors — a non-political job). Teachers and principals are directly responsible to these Schulräte. A good Schulrat is constantly visiting classes and principals, giving advice, etc. Any teacher in a public school in Germany will be appointed for lifetime after a period of 5 years of successful teaching. The teacher is therefore a state employee, he automatically will belong to the state health insurance as well as to the state retirement plan. Salaries are not competitive. They depend on the size of the community, age, and number of children.

For an American observer there doesn't seem to be a place for a private school in this system. This is nearly correct. The number of private schools is extremely small. First of all, any larger community in Germany has a school for the handicapped and the slow learners. To transfer a child to these schools is relatively easy, and does not confront the community with any extraordinary expenses. Secondly, diplomas of any kind in Germany are only recognized when they are signed by a state official. It is extremely difficult for private schools to keep up to the standards of the public schools. Private schools which send their students for examinations into the public schools, where final examinations are always state supervised, can extend recognized examination papers.

Another question which might be raised from an American observer is the question of the parent's influence. This system doesn't have much room for the parent's influence. German schools have groups which are to a certain extent comparable to the American PTA — but these organizations cannot exert any influence upon the educational facilities or the methods of the school. They can only participate in extracurricular activities or voice their opinions through the press or other means of mass communication.

After I have tried to sum up the administrative set up we can finally take a look at the German schools, their different levels and all other practical sides. Basically the same entrance qualifications for elementary schools are used in Germany as in the United States. For the next four years of elementary school there are also hardly any differences between the United States and Germany. The first decisive difference comes up at the end of the fourth grade. Students who have shown superior intelligence will be recommended with parents' approval to institutions of higher learning (Gymnasien). Other students whose parents think or whose teachers believe that they could also qualify for these institutions of higher learning have to undergo thorough testing. About 17 to 20% of the whole student body will be accepted by these institutions. The remaining students will continue their education at the elementary school which is, by the way, not called elementary school in Germany but basic school (Grundschule). Every student has to continue his education until he is sixteen. After the eighth grade quite a number of students drop out in order to learn a trade — they nevertheless continue their education in vocational schools thereby fulfilling the requirements of the law. Another 20% of the total student body will also leave the basic school to receive a somewhat better training at the so-called middle schools (Mittelschule). These students receive a diploma after the tenth grade, which entitles them to enter junior colleges and engineering schools once they have successfully completed an apprenticeship.

This separation of the gifted from the average and slow students is obviously one of the most debated issues in the German educational systems. (East Germany, France, England and other European countries use a similar system!) This separation after the fourth grade is not any more applied in a very rigid way. Practically any students who qualify at a later date can move over to the Gymnasium. Which means that the so-called late developers are not neglected by the system. Another argument is based upon the fact that this separation nourishes the development of classes in the society. But observers mostly overlook the fact that the separation is based entirely on intelligence. The most important reason for this separation is the need for a special pre-university training. Only students who have successfully completed the Gymnasium are allowed to enter German universities.

This separation does not only include a change of school but also a change of teachers. All teachers in the Gymnasium are university trained, all other teachers are trained in teachers' colleges. (This, by the way, has caused the ironic situation that basic school teachers are much better trained in regard to methodology than gymnasium teachers.)

Starting with the fifth grade two entirely different types of schools are available in Germany. The basic school caters to the needs of its students. Students in these schools receive some training in language and sciences - but no good program has been developed so far which would incorporate the vocational needs of the students in the academic necessities. This section of the German systems is therefore the most debated part of the educational systems in Germany. The Mittelschule offers a program which is at least comparable to the education which is offered at a typical (if such thing exists!) American high school in the upper levels.

Very different, on the other hand, is the program offered at the Gymnasien. First of all, nothing is offered — practically everything is required. The students start in fifth grade with the following subjects: (numbers in parentheses indicate periods per week — Saturday, by the way, is a regular school day!) German (4), Mathematics (4), first foreign language (4), sports (2), history (2), Music (2), arts (2), biology (2), government (2), geography (2).

In grade 7 the second foreign language is introduced (4). In grade 8 physics (2), in grade 9 chemistry (2). In grade 11 the students have a choice of entering the philological department or the natural sciences department. Accordingly the number of periods for the languages will be cut down or the number of periods for natural sciences will be raised. The basic change is reflected by the introduction of the third foreign language (3) in the philological department, and the introduction of lab courses in chemistry, physics, and biology in grades 11, 12, and 13.

The classes have about 15 to 25 students. Contrary to American conceptions, the class stays together as one unit throughout these 9 years from grade 5 to grade 13. These classes also have their assigned rooms—the teachers have to go from classroom to classroom.

A student has finished Gymnasium after he has taken the final exam: the Abitur (maturity examination). This exam reflects the standards of this type of school.

The exam has two parts — oral and written. In the written part the student has to write a German composition. He is given 4 topics and has to select one of them and write in 6 hours a composition of approximately 1500 words. This section of the examination is highly characteristic for the emphasis which is put upon German as a subject. The next section of the written exam is in the first foreign language (mostly English). The teacher reads a story in English to the students and the students have to retell the story with their own words in about 3 and a half hours.

The next section contains four mathematical exercises in differential and integral calculus, in analytical geometry, and in spherical trigonometry. The last section of the written exam is either in one of the natural sciences or in the second foreign language, depending on the department the student belongs to.

The written exam is followed by the oral exam — about four weeks later. The students will be examined in at least one subject they do not know in advance. Mostly they have to face the examination commission in two or three subjects for 15 minutes each. The commission consists of teachers and school advisors.

Another question which has to be raised in connection with the Gymnasium is that of evaluation and grading. Flunking either German or mathematics means automatically flunking all other subjects. A student may flunk any other subject if he has sufficient "balance" in either German or mathematics. Two subjects may be balanced — any higher number means that the student has to repeat the whole year, i.e., all subjects.

The German schools do not grade with percentages. They use grade 1 through 6. 1 is the grade for excellent — which is very rarely given. 2 is the grade for superior achievements, way above average. 3 is the grade for average achievements. 4 is the grade for barely passing achievements. 5 is not passing any more, but indicates that the teacher believes that the student is able to do the work but is just lazy. 6 is given to students who are simply unable to perform according to the required standards. One 6 on a rank card means automatically flunking the whole course, A 6 cannot be balanced.

In addition to this a grade for behaviour and class participation is given on all report cards. (Report cards are issued twice every year.)

The few facts which I have presented here do not, of course, present an absolutely reliable picture. Let us therefore consider the problems which are discussed in present day Germany in regard to its educational facilities. It is generally recognized that the education supplied for the lower 80% of the student body in Germany is not any more sufficient. Several attempts are being made to enlarge the size of the middle schools and to upgrade standards in those schools. Another attempt is being made to increase the time which the student spends in basic school. Some of the German states have already basic schools up to the tenth grade. Another general complaint is that the universal approach to education in the Gymnasien is outdated - it's even called a waste of time and money. Educators nowadays ask for specialization at an earlier time, not after the Abitur.

The most debated issue in German education is the university. The German universities - once the nation's pride - are now no longer able to fulfill the basic needs of the nation. It would require too much space to point out all the arguments — the simple fact that it takes about seven years to educate an English teacher in Germany shows that there is a tremendous need for a change. This change is well under way at this very moment. The general tendency is to reorganize studies at the undergraduate level. The future set up at the undergraduate level at German universities will be very similar to American universities.

As was pointed out at the beginning — comparisons between different educational systems can hardly be done unless there were some absolute standards. From my subjective viewpoint, the Gymnasium is an excellent example of higher education for the gifted students. The rest of the German system needs definite improvement. Looking at the American system, the problem is turned upside down. Education for the masses is offered in excellent institutions, whereas the gifted students are somewhat neglected.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

AUGUST 6, 1967

100th Anniversary Celebration — 16th Annual Mid-Summer Reunion — Annual Report.

Senator Margaret Chase Smith, a trustee of MCI, addressed more than 600 alumni and guests at the annual Alumni Banquet and observance of the School's 100th Anniversary. Senator Smith was introduced by Headmaster Edward R. Stanley.

In her address, in which she praised MCI for its century of service to Maine and New England, Senator Smith concluded: "For the strong and lasting structure of MCI is built upon the solid foundation and footings of the integrity it so magnificently exemplifies and symbolizes — an integrity of such stature as to make me one of the fortunate trustees to be so proud of this great institution — Maine Central Institute – MORALITY – CONSCIENCE – INTEGRITY."

The address culminated a day of activity that began with registration at the Powell Memorial Library. In the afternoon the program included the rededication of Founders' Hall, formerly the Institute Building, the dedication of the Ruth Plummer Cook Music Center and a cornerstone ceremony at the newly completed boys' dormitory. A reception, honoring the Golden Anniversary Class of 1916, was held under the campus elms, supervised by Mrs. Edward R. Stanley.

William S. Coffin '33 was elected president of the Alumni Association at the business meeting following the banquet. Also elected were Norris Cianchette '40, vice president; Alma Patten '09, treasurer; Eleanor Toothaker '30, secretary. Named to the executive board of the Association were retiring president E. Burnell Overlock, Dr. Richard Berry and David Hall. Elected to the nominating committee were Jeanette Fitts, Gerald Fitts and Neil Wright. E. Burnell Overlock '24 presided over the business meeting, and at its conclusion was presented a gavel by Dana W. Sweet, executive alumni secretary.

Seated at the head table were Senator Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Rowe, Mrs. Geraldine Mann Brown, Sanger M. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Dana

GIANT BLUE AND YELLOW CANOPY served as a resting place during the day and as dining hall in the evening at last summer's historic Reunion and 100th Birthday Party.

W. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. E. Burnell Overlock, Headmaster and Mrs. Stanley. Music during the program was presented by Dr. Robert Parker.

A social hour at the Parks Memorial Gymnasium and an informal dance at the club rooms of the Peltoma Fish and Game Association completed the day's activities.

Respectfully submitted,

ELEANOR A. TOOTHAKER '33 Secretary MCI Alumni Association

Valerie A. Stein made a most charming Key Club Sweetheart at the annual Fall Prom. Val is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Stein, Pittsfield.

Mary Sweetland, Class Poet for MCI '05 and MCI Poet Emeritus, (poetess might be the better word) composed the following work after hearing of last summer's Reunion from brother Wayne, MCI '12. We think you will enjoy it.

REUNION

BY

Mary Sweetland

You searched my face as if to see What all those years had done to me, And I searched yours in swift review Of what those years had done to you.

When we as classmates had to part A sadness fell on each young heart, For well we knew our paths must stray And might not cross for many a day.

Life offered us an empty cup With choice of wines to fill it up; Sometimes we quaffed a sparkling brew And sometimes tasted bitter rue.

The table set, the wine was poured, And if we thought to thank the Lord And drink to Him as honored guest, He came and joined our simple feast.

And if we noticed, where we sat, Some hands that trembled, what of that? The choicest tree among the throng May tremble when the wind is strong.

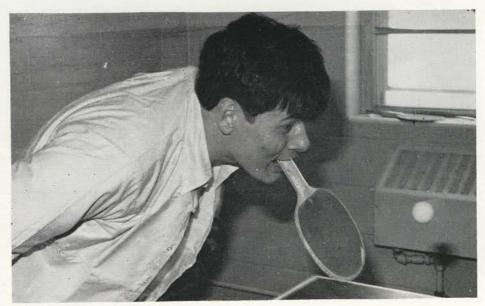

The cup of years went round and round And year by year, without a sound, It wrought a chain of friendships true, And precious as the morning dew.

To lightly hold the transient things: To firmly grasp the hope that springs Eternal, in the human breast; That is to live life at its best.

NOTES FROM THE CAMPUS

PUBLICATIONS . . . The Talisman, student newspaper, appeared during the past year in five editions, rather than six as previously. The move, by appearances, was a wise one. Advisor Oscar Auger and his crew of editors and assistants have had more time to to sift and sort materials, and have prepared a super senior special, honoring the graduating classes. Most notable improvement in the Talisman has been the quality of the art work. Mrs. Robert Hudson's work with budding cartoonists has been very evident. Haseltine, active in myriad school activities, has been the hard-pressed editor, with assistant editors Nancy Christie, Steven Shaw, Jeannie Hammond, Kathy Christie, Yvonne Susi, Norris Cianchette, Arline Daily and Dawn Martin. In addition there have been 18 assistants in the sports, society and features departments. Year book, The Trumpet, first edited in 1915 by Everett C. Hurd, this year has been edited by Nancy Christie. Norbert Young Sr. again has served as faculty advisor. Assistants to Nancy have been Robert Ashe, Reta Bickford, Nancy Chandler, Joan Gould, William LaBarge, Sheralyn McPherson and Valerie Stein.

ORGANIZATIONS . . . The Summa Rerum, school honor society, each year since its recent inception has played an increasingly important role in school activities. It has undertaken the planning, organization and direction of the annual Winter Carnival - quite a task - and has made plans for the orientation of new students in the fall of 1967, and has worked toward the formulation of a school handbook. Also in the works for the Summa Rerum is the possibility of a Spring Weekend, similar to the Winter Carnival. Membership to the Summa Rerum is earned by excellence in the several forms of school citizenship. The roster for 1966-67 included Susan Haseltine, president; Nancy Cookson, vice president; Sheilya Cookson, Brenda Rich, Bruce Hughes, Yvonne Susi, Neil Cross, Stephen Fendler, Gary Fitts, Gregory Patterson, Jeffrey Legge, Larry Small, Cheryl Foster, James Maynard . . . The Future Homemakers of America, with a paid membership of 40, the largest gathering in several

Parents of Bill Tedeschi, Rockland, Mass., will be pleased to see that Bill has been using his head.

Parents, brothers, sisters, friends, dined with their favorite student Parents' Day in October. A bright afternoon weatherwise; not so fine on the playing fields.

The Latin Club retained its reputation for frivolity, occasionally interlaced with good works. In this tableau they demonstrate, rather nicely, Why Rome Fell.

THE MCI BAND was not only the largest in years; it was the best. The Band was only one of several groups gathered and trained by Robert D. Hudson, director of music.

years, chose as its project for the year "to participate actively in projects for family, community and world improvement." Quite an order, but the girls made a good stab at it. The Homemakers sponsored dances, served refreshments during Parents' Weekend and at the Winter Carnival, conducted a rugged house-to-house canvass for the Heart Fund, held a Mom-Dad-Me banquet in April, and in May presented a fashion show for the benefit of the Frances C. Piper Scholarship Fund, to be offered in the amount of $100.00. Advisors to these busy beavers were Mrs. Roy U. Sinclair and Mrs. George F. Webber. Officers included Frances Worthen, president; Martha Young, 1st vice president; Ruth Rines 2nd vice president; Rebecca Huff, secretary; Nancy Elkins, treasurer; Vicki Kierstead, parliamentarian; Dianne Debay, historian; Dorothy Webber, chaplain; Betty Campbell, Jeanne Faloon, Gale Robbins, point chart . . . The Outing Club spent a fall weekend at Jo-Mary Lake, fished and skied at Moosehead in February, and in May worked at the new club camp at Moosehead Lake. The camp, incidentally, is now enclosed, with interior work slated for next fall. Principal assistants to advisor Wally Cunningham during 1966-67 were Allan Huttick, president; Greg Ball, vice president; Pete Stinson, secretary-treasurer . . . The Humanities Colloquium continued to meet weekly from December to May at the Powell Memorial Library to discuss literary and artistic works of merit. Outstanding programs were conducted by Robert Ashe and Susan Haseltine and by Mr. Norbert Young, the special guest of the final meeting, who spoke on the annual student exhibit of drawings and paintings and who also presented the Colloquium with a preview of some of his own op art. In addition to the regular meetings, the group sponsored a paperback book sale in the spring. Members set up displays at the Parks Memorial Gymnasium and worked as cashiers. The Club still showed a profit! Advisors to the Colloquium were Norval B. Lewis and Ronald E. Bessey. . . . The Dramatics Club, new this year to MCI, made a fine start under impetus provided by Mrs. Margaret Witham of the English faculty. The dramatists and would-be actors met twice each month to discuss stage techniques, play reading, and other pertinent studies. Major project for the year was the 3-act play, "A Date with Judy," presented in April. The play, the first 3-act comedy shown at MCI in years, was directed by Mrs. John Furbush, also of the English Faculty. Plans for another year include the drawing of a constitution and by-laws, and for more detailed study of play production. Officers of the Dramatics Club were

Yvonne Susi, president; Edward Rachins, vice president; Cynthia Feldmann, secretary . . . Robert Ashe was president of the fun-loving Latin Club, assisted by Drew Field, vice president; Sheilya Cookson, secretary; and Cheryl Foster, treasurer. The Latins did some good work. They made donations to the Sebasticook Association for Retarded Children, and supported Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for underprivileged children. There was, certainly, the annual Club Banquet bash, wine (Welch grapejuicetype), togas and song. Mrs. Hazel Earle again served as jovial warden . . . The Key Club continued to compile an impressive list of good works. Some of it: The group welcomed and guided boarding students during registration; they sponsored the first dance of the season, a get-acquainted affair, no charge; they served as guides on Parents' Night, they provided Christmas trees for all school activities; and annually the Key Club provides a scholarship to a graduating senior. Other nice things done were the sponsorship of a Little League baseball team during the summer, the promotion of a junior basketball league in the winter, a Halloween party was provided to keep youngsters off the streets. Above is just part of the list. Officers for 1966-67 were Kermit Badger, president; Bruce Hughes, vice president; Douglas Lloyd, secretary and James Toulouse, treasurer . . .

Members of the International Correspondence Club again contributed to the Postal Deficit by mailings in all directions. Officers were Susan Haseltine, president; Sheilya Cookson, vice president; Michael Wiers, treasurer . . .

PRIZE SPEAKING AND MANSON ESSAYS . . . Prize speaking, for the second year, was divided into Freshman and Sophomore contests, presented a week apart in February. This idea, long overdue, is sound. The evening is shortened — no more 3 hour marathons — and better attention may be given to individual speakers who, goodness knows, spend many hours in preparation for their moment on stage. Another innovation, and again we think a good one, is that quivering contestants are allowed to read their piece. if they wish, thus providing better opportunity for "oral interpretation," the complete idea of the contests. The program was well done; coaches Mrs. Norbert Young Sr. and Mrs. John Furbush deserve considerable credit. Also, Mrs. Paul V. Witham, as "coordinator." might take a bow for sharpening up what was becoming a stereotyped production. The kids? Oh, yes, there were some. Freshman winners were Katherine Christie of Newport and Richard Bryant of Pittsfield. Second places were earned by Susan Reifschneider, Pittsfield, and Scott Jones, same town. In the Sophomore Division Lynne Gould and Gregory Patterson, both of Pittsfield, took the honors; Beverly Dean and Kerry Martin, again Pittsfield, were close seconds. Faithful Alumni Association, as always, provided pitifully petite cash awards. (Used to be enough to put a kid for a semester through Bates - but no longer.) . . . The Manson Essay Contest, so sacred to MCI tradition that even innovating Mrs. Paul V. Witham dares not scuff up the format, was held for the 97th consecutive year in March. After all of those years it has finally been determined that winners henceforth will be recognized by having names on a plaque to be held in permanent possession of school. Fine idea, but surely tardy. First names on the memorial are Yvonne Susi, Pittsfield, and Harold Mosher, Union. Yvonne won with an essay an "A Man of Affairs"; Harold offered a bit on "Spelunking." Second places were earned by Gail Chandler, Pittsfield, and Drew Field, Detroit. One of the best and closest Manson Contests in years. Coaches: Mrs. Witham and Mrs. John Furbush . . .

MUSIC . . . It gets to be embarrassing to say for several years in a row that each season a particular program is "better than ever," but it will be said about music at MCI. Director Robert D. Hudson, severe taskmaster, has drilled interested students to the very highest of musical standards, vocally and instrumentally. There has been quite a program. Let's note: The Band was chosen to perform at a Republican rally featuring Richard M. Nixon at Waterville in November; Band and Chorus conducted tours to perform at Washington Academy, Lincoln Academy and Yarmouth Academy. Also the annual Christmas Concert, the annual spring "Pops Concert" and the fall variety show, "Campus Capers." In addition the MCI musicians were hosts to the 10th annual Maine Independent Schools Music Festival, which included a 200 voice chorus and an 80 piece band concert. Trips were made to Colby and Maine for interested students and in May a hootenanny was sponsored for the benefit of the Marie Bradford School for Retarded Children. In all, Quite a year!

DORMITORY COUNCILS . . . Student dorm leaders are almost as important as housemasters in the direction of many dormitory situations. May almost be underlined. The function, primarily, of the various dorm councils is to provide a liaison between students and the faculty and staff. Our boys invariably make good choices in their own selection for leadership. As: for Alumni Hall - Allen Huttick, president; Paul Grindell, vice president; John Leonard, secretary. Rowe Hall - Winfield Gurney, Kermit Perry, Eric Proctor, Stephen Russ, William Sternburg, Robert Vantiss. For Weymouth Hall Eric Hayward, president; Walter Birt, vice president. The New Dorm went with Greg Becker, president; Thomas Moran, vice president. Fine choices all. ASSEMBLIES . . . Frequent assemblies kept non-student students happy every other week or so. There were still things to be learned or appreciated. Example: It was possible to find who had won awards in fall, winter and spring sports. Those alert could hear and delight in a variety of superior musical artists and soloists. The Key Club had a Maine State Trooper to warn and advise; the Armed Forces told of things that might (gulp!) be anticipated.

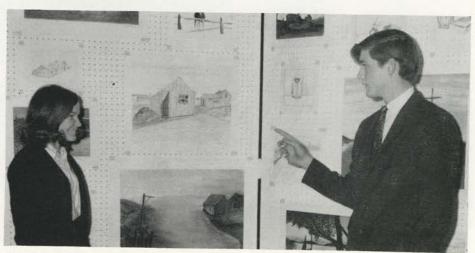

Bruce Hughes, captain of the football Huskies, was presented the Coaches' Trophy by Dave Lahait '60. The Trophy is emblematic of outstanding contributions to the team. Corecipient Wayne Ray was absent at the ceremony.

Senior Jeff Gilmore of Alumni Hall and Batavia, N. Y. won the Maine Prep School Ski Jumping Championship for the second consecutive year. Jeff finished fourth in the Eastern Prep School Meet in jumping. He is shown with just a couple of his trophies.

Winter Carnival Queen Kathy Starbird presented the Carnival Trophy to Scott G. Bailey, president of the fifth-year class. Scott's prepper-types compiled the highest totals in Carnival competition. The award was made at the Sno-Ball, concluding event of the winter weekend.

Norman Bradley Jr. of Rockport, Mass. indicates fine points of his work to Mary Ellen Gordon of Pittsfield. Norm was one of 25 student exhibitors in what has become an annual Spring Art Showing.

MCI IN SPORTS

Success — in terms of winning — varied greatly in MCI sports during the fall and winter seasons of 1966-67. Some outstanding records were made; there were some bleak moments. Let's review.

HUSKIES FOOTBALL . . . The varsity Huskies won no games in 9 outings. Their play was always exciting, they were never blown off the field. Coach Dave Lahait has offered no excuses - but we will. The competition over the past two years in the Class "B" Pine Tree Conference has grown too strong. It's a matter of mathematics. MCI, with its smaller undergrad enrollment simply cannot compete favorably with schools with three or four times its eligible-male population. A new league, or new opponents, must be sought and quickly. Back to the season: Pat Patterson was named best offensive back by Coach Lahait; Alex Luria was singled as outstanding defensive player. Good news: Pat will be back next year as a senior, Alex as a junior. Outstanding players included Gary Fitts, Howard Salley, Tom Ingraham, Nathan Haynes, linemen; and backs Jeff Legge, Dave Varney and Bruce Parker. The JV Huskies were a bit more successful, if that is the word. They won a memorable contest against the Madison JVs 6-0 under the direction of coach Al Murray. Lyford Beverage '61 was the envy of the football coaching staff. His sturdy freshmen won 3 games, lost 2. Fine prospects from this crew are Robert Rodgers, Dan Cianchette, Mark Susi, Ted Susi and Scott Jones.

CROSS COUNTRY . . . Coach Norbert Young Sr. found nothing but happiness under greying autumn skies as his whippets knocked off Bangor, Hebron, the Bowdoin Frosh, the Hinckley School, North Yarmouth Academy, the Maine Frosh, Kents Hill and, finally, swept the Maine Prep School Meet. Most of the running was in the rain; Coach Young ruined three hats and several pairs of shoes, but worth it. The victory over the Maine Frosh incidentally, was the first in ten years. Barry Reilly was captain of this unbeaten team, generously supported by Steve Loveless, Marty Mullin, Mike Raymond, Bob Moody, Randy Charlton and Steve Norton, not necessarily in that order across the line.

SOCCER . . . Rod Smith's soccer bouncers did not enjoy one of their best seasons. There were plenty of troops, but little experience. If the season had been extended another 7 or 8 weeks the final tally of 1 win, 1 tie, might have been considerably improved. In the next-to-last game MCI bumped Kents Hill on their own field 3-2, and in the final contest tied a rugged and experienced Bridgton aggregation 1-1. Fine, and improving, players included Doug Latham, Bob Ciampa, Alex Tredinnick, Win Gurney, Jim Topping, Barry Dagan, and Bill Albair. Ted St. Pierre directed an equally green - or more so - crew of JVs to 2 wins and 1 tie over a 7-game program. The wins were against Kents Hill; the tie, with the Hinckley School.

FIELD HOCKEY . . . Coach Malaka Russell and her field hockey girls faced the same awesome problem as their counterparts in football and soccer. Plenty of troops, plenty of drive, but little experience. "Tookie's" gang was spangled with willing neophytes who frequently found it difficult to belt the elusive pellet in proper directions. They fractured a few enemy shins but scored fewer goals. Pillars of strength were veterans Linda Dow, Nancy Cookson, Shelley Martin and Sheralyn McPherson. Oh, yes, the season. One win, 1 tie, over 7 games played.

PREPPER BASKETBALL . . . 11 wins against five losses was the record for another fine Prepper squad. Two losses to North Yarmouth Academy were all that separated the Preppers from an invitation to the New England Prep School Meet. Notable victories were over the Maine Frosh, the Colby Frosh and the Bates JVs. Dave Lahait's warriors included Eric Hayward, Dick Prone, Jim Boissoneau, Armand Doiron, Dave Cannan, Mike Angelica, Allan Poole, Steve Ralph, Bill La-Barge, Bill Sternberg, Jim McCue, Tim Fahey and Ray Poirier.

HUSKIES BASKETBALL... Things were not as rosy with the undergrad Huskies. To get quickly to the point, they won 1 game, dropped the remaining 16. In beating Dexter H. S. early in February our Huskies snapped a 22 game losing streak - extending from the previous year - which may have given satisfaction to some, but certainly not to hardworking and understandably harassed first year coach Peter Fisk. Again, the group was young, and given another year of the same fine coaching the Huskies may again be threats in their tough league. All the boys worked hard; perhaps outstanding were Nick Susi, Pat Patterson, Greg Ball, Greg Lobikis, Jeff Legge (great in three sports) and Larry Small. The JVs did a bit better, winning 3 out of 15 under coachmanship Arnold Dunning, MCI '62. The Freshmen, directed by Lyford Beverage '61, also won 3 from a 10 game schedule, making Lyford, in terms of percentages, the winningest basketball coach for 1966-67.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL . . . Another weepy tale. Mrs. Russell's young ladies were not the scourge of their league. But then, considering the total of 15 hours practice time for the varsity and JV teams, they didn't do badly. The varsity cluster won 3, lost 5; their juniors won 2, lost five. Several real close ones, but close doesn't count, Erica Susi earned the coveted Basketball Trophy; Linda Dow, Shelley Martin, Dawn Martin, and Sheralyn McPherson, good in any sport they attempt, were leaders of the pack.

SKI TEAM . . . Thankfully, another bragging item. Bob Boulrisse's wool clads at one time or another snowed just about every team they met. To say it better, no one trimmed them twice. The Hinckley School, Colby Frosh, North Yarmouth Academy, Belfast, Dexter, and Fryeburg Academy were a few of the fallen. Jeff Gilmore won the jumping title at the State Prep School Meet for the second consecutive year. Some superior skiers were Gilmore (certainly), Steve Fendler, Fred Ehrlenbach, Mike Fendler, Eric Cianchette, Ricky Parkhurst, Rocky Cianchette and Doug Latham.

RIFLE TEAMS . . . Another good winter for coach Frank Haseltine, this year assisted by Mort Remick. His shooters were iron-nerved, steady-handed. MCI gunners placed first in their division of the Junior Postal League; the "B" group finished second

The soccer varsity worked hard and enthusiastically; the green squad won 1, tied 1.

Our field hockey girls were as rugged as ever, but missed the gazelle-like speed of reveral society from the previous year. Only 1 win and 1 tie were salvaged from a 7-game slate.

Coach Norbert Young Sr.'s cross country hoofers swept through their fall of 1966 schedule undefeated, including perfect scores against the Hinckley School and North Yarmouth Academy. Yes, they also nailed down the Maine Prep School Meet.

Life was made jollier for the cheerleaders; this winter their lives were brightened by the inspirational presence of Bob Stearns and Howard Gosman. Brave lads!

in theirs. When questioned about the "C" and "D" teams, coach Haseltine blushed nicely. In shoulder-to-shoulder competition MCI marksmen outgunned Waterville and split matches with Husson College. Seeded first six marksmen, not in this order, were Ben Mathews, Laforest Mathews, Louis Lizotte, Yvonne Susi, Dave Nash, and Camille Derosier. At the all-important Hampden Regional Matches, team captain Ben Mathews had the highest score in the kneeling position in his division and Louis Lizotte took second high aggregate and high in the sitting position in his own division. In all, a fine showing.

SPRING SPORTS 1966 . . . Too late for inclusion in the Alumnus of last year, spring sports in 1966 was worthy of brief reporting. Mostly, as a determined reader will find, the Town of Pittsfield was not kept awake of nights by joyful ringing of victory bells. Still, a reporter must tell.

PREPPER BASEBALL . . . As good a place to start as any. The Preppers did not salvage a game from their ninegame schedule. No particular excuses, only a large lack of experience. Coach Al Murray, patient Coach Al Murray, could count Garland Dubey, Lou Drake and Claude Sniezek as his seasoned players.

UNDERGRAD BASEBALL . . .

Coach Dave Mosher, with a mostly sophomore group, reached a high point in the spring of '66 when his Huskies knocked Cony High School out of the lead in the Kennebec Valley Conference. Unfortunately, that was the only pinnacle. There were no other wins. Good ball players were pitchers Ralph Debay and Mike Morton, and stickmen Bruce Hughes, Dave Varney and Doug Varney.

TRACK . . . Norbert Young Sr., as usual, did well with the men available. They beat Kents Hill and North Yarmouth Academy in dual meets, placed second in the Maine Prep School Meet behind Hebron. The Maine and Colby Frosh were just too tough. Bill Lindblom picked up points in tossing the javelin, Bill LaBarge showed class in the pole vault. The real strength came in running events. The combination of Eleven wins, 5 losses, was the record for the Prepper basketballers. The fine season included wins over the Maine Frosh, the Colby Frosh and the Bates JVs.

The softball girls, for the life of them, could not get past Kents Hill but otherwise showed a good 4-2 record in the spring of '66.

Far and away the winningest baseball team in 1966 was the array of freshmen and sophomores put together by Ted St. Pierre, front row, extreme left. These JVs — so called — won all but one of their 8 games.

George Shiraga, Ian Jenike, Barry Reilly and Barney Keenan was most formidable.

GOLF . . . Golf was a bright spot. John Dana and assistant Pete Bradshaw returned the MCI diggers to winning ways, 5-2 for the short spring. Wins were over the Maine Frosh, Foxcroft and Wilton Academies, and Mt. View High School. A Father-Son Tourney was inaugurated at the Johnson W. Parks Course. A pleasant finale to a good season.

TENNIS... Tom Thompson's racketeers won 3, lost 4, for what must be considered a purely average season. Wins were at the expense of Skowhegan H. S. twice, and the Hinckley School. Losses were to the Colby Frosh, South Portland High, the Maine Frosh and Hebron. Big Jim Manning and Jack Horton were frequent winners.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL . . . 4 wins, 2 losses added up to a good season for our ever-enthusiastic girls. The two losses were to old nemesis Kents Hill. Mrs. Russell's stars were Linda Clukey, Fran Worthen and Linda Dow.

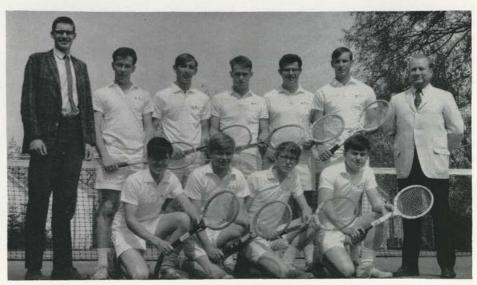

JV BASEBALL . . . Not usually mentioned in the Alumnus, the JVs for '66 certainly deserve notice. Coach Ted St. Pierre molded a group of freshmen, plus a few sophomores, into a unit that won 7 out of its 8 contests. Only loss was the last game of the season, to the Lawrence JVs.—Should have rained that day!

The 1966 tennis team won 3, lost 4, during an interesting rain-spangled spring. Jim Manning, standing, second player from right, was seeded number 1.

Golfers in 1966 got back into a winning stride, taking 5, losing 2, over an abbreviated season. Contributing factor to wins was availability of the new Johnson W. Parks Golf Course, completed the previous fall.

The MCI ski team was one of the best in years. This gaily dressed crew, all in identical beanies, did notable work during the winter of 1967.

The Johnson W. Parks Golf Course boasts one of the best-equipped and shiniest pro shops in Maine. Shelly Martin tries out a new putter, Sanger M. Cook '17 offers advice, pro Dana attempts to sell Greg Hobbs a new golf bag. Indeed a busy spot!

MCI's New Course Open to Alumni Golfers-Popular With Students

More than 5,000 rounds of golf were walked off at MCI's Johnson W. Parks Golf Course during its first full season of operation, April 29-November 1, 1966. This figure, according to course pro, John P. Dana '49, is a conservative one. John ought to know his arithmetic—he doubles as head of the MCI math faculty.

During the 1966 season more than 75 memberships were established, both family and single, there were 26 junior memberships and handicaps were made to more than 50 youngsters to the age of 18. John's figures do not include 7 deer, 47 foxes, 35 rabbits and one moose seen avoiding the pro shop to duck greens fees.

This new season—to date—has shown a 25% increase in all categories, except moose.

There are several reasons. A coffee shop-lounge has been completed during the winter, the pro shop and locker rooms, things of beauty, have been refurbished. Also, nation-wide statistics indicate a great surge in interest in the gentle—and sometimes not so gentle—game.

Students, from both Dorm and Town, have absolute priority on the course when school is in session. During the summer months, however, probably most of the play is by members and visitors. A check one day last summer showed car registrations from 13 states and Canada. Fine publicity for both the course and the School.

Alumni visitors are most welcome. A drawer in the office of Headmaster Stanley is stuffed with complimentary passes for just such important personages. Take advantage!

MCI BUILDERS

MCI BUILDERS, numbering 27 to April 21, 1967, did notable work in bolstering the present Fund Effort by $5,765.00.

Through their gifts of $100 or more, our Builders have generously demonstrated their continued faith in the School as it enters its second century of service to Maine and — indeed — our World.

A LIVING ENDOWMENT

By April 21, 1967 more than 530 Alumni and Friends of MCI had offered $9,584.00 to the current Alumni Development Fund — at that time a half-way point in the Fund Effort. It is pleasantly anticipated that by the August 15 deadline the Fund will have for the seventh consecutive year exceeded previous records. Most encouraging!

Membership in the Dollar-A-Year Club, earned by those whose gifts have equaled or exceeded in dollars the number of years since graduation from MCI, is indicated in bold type; numbers in parentheses indicate separate gifts made by an individual during the present Fund Effort.

Complete and final listings will be published in the Fall Newsletter, mailed to all Alumni following the termination of the Fund Year, August 15, 1967.

To all Alumni - sincere thanks for generous support.

CLASS NOTES

PRIOR TO 1900

Again this year the Alumnus is privileged to present at the head of its Class Notes section a listing of the School's Senior Alumni to the year 1900. We hope that this directory will be of interest and may be of help in locating old classmates and friends. 1892 Maude Brackett Hyde, Woodlawn, 91

Helen A. Thomas, 51 Concord St., Malden, Mass.

Callie Butler Tibbetts, Newcastle,

1893 Isabel Lothrop Vaughn was much interested in the 100th anniversary issue of the Alumnus, according to her daughter, Marie. Her uncle, Dr. Floriman Taylor was one of the earlier trustees of MCI and his wife Nell Taylor, taught music at the Institute.

Annie Gilman Crowell of Corinna sent regrets at not being able to attend MCI's 100th Birthday Party last summer, because of lameness. We wish she could have attended.

1898 Lona Perkins Ransden has lived at the Hotel Ardmore, Brockton, Mass. for 33 years. She was part time desk clerk at the hotel for 15 years, and is now retired. She has many happy memories of MCI days and of classmates.

1899 Helen A. Thomas is another MCI Senior Alumna who has happy memories of MCI, looking back to those days with a great deal of pleasure. She taught school for 42 years and is now living with friends in a nice apartment in Malden, Mass.

1905 Class Agent AMORETTE PORTER Box 370, Skowhegan Maine

According to Amy Porter, Class Agent to MCI '05 for a number of years, this will be her last season in that capacity. Her work has been invaluable to MCI; her departure from the post of Class Agent will be regretted, but we are comfortable in the knowledge that Amy will continue to be "the tie that binds" for '05, if on a more informal basis. Her notes follow:

There are not many changes to be recorded. Mildred Schermerhorn has sold her home in Jamestown, scattered her possessions among her relatives, and is happily settled in Hall Memorial Home, 73 Forest Ave., Jamestown, N. Y., feeling secure and cared for.

And Bill Schenk has a comfortable little apartment in his son's home at 33 Hunter St., West Newton, Mass. This winter he has spent part of his time there at Bill Jr's and part back in Byfield with daughter, Betty Harwood.

Archie Hayden writes of a grandson in the Army at Anchorage, Alaska, who is a ski instructor at one of the nearby slopes. Archie's oldest granddaughter graduated from Bates last spring. She and her husband are employed now on her father's big vacation center in East Madison, N. H.

Zana Prescott is busy in church and community activities. The home that she is in, with about a hundred and fifty retired folk, both men and women, is quite different from the one we know here.

Jean I. Fuller '62 became the bride of Seymore Burch Jr. '59 in December 1966, Jean, among other accomplishments, has been Maine Blueberry Queen, and has represented Maine in the Miss U.S.A. competition at Detroit, Michigan.

Good reports are in from Flora Lucas Blaisdell, Mary Webster Patton, Dr. Higgins and Mrs. Charles Snow. Mary Sweetland is still remembering all the old friends, though her poor eyesight keeps her from writing so much. Olive and Albert Partridge have been in Florida again this winter. They are evidently slowing down like the rest of us.

Mrs. Charles Magoon was still in the nursing home in Mesa, Arizona. Her niece is hoping to get her into a new one nearer home.

A nice letter from Vera Bryant Kendall told of the trip her daughter and husband had through the interesting cities in Europe last summer, and of how they kept Vera seeing it all through their letters. Then they spent a week with her in Ocean Park. Vera was then recovering from a fall when she had injured her ankle and had been in the hospital for a while and then on crutches for three months.

1906 Class Agent HARRY W. ROWE 374 College St., Lewiston, Maine

Let us quote Leta Young of Newcastle, Maine: "The long, hard word 'peripatetic' might apply to me this year, for I have ambled about not only from Maine to Florida but also in Egypt." "Peripatetic" certainly applies! Oh, yes. Leta also included Lebanon, Syria, the Holy Land, Turkey and Greece in this tour, and hopes to be in Pittsfield, Somerset County, Maine this August.

Esther Morrison Dale considers that she has many blessings. Few would disagree. Daughter Ruth, Mrs. Brewster G. Sedgwick, her husband and four children reside in Birmingham, Michigan, where Sedgwick Opticians maintains offices. Son Robert is married, has two sons. He is the owner of Dale Piping Co., Buffalo, N. Y., specializing in valves and piping for industry.

valves and piping for industry.

Cynthia Rollins Harris had a severe shock in January 1966 and has been confined to a Bangor nursing home since. Her home address: 25 Otis St., Bangor, Maine.

In a most welcomed note, Mildred Man-

In a most welcomed note, Mildred Manter Jackson said nicely, "Ever increasing pride in the growth and development of our Maine Central Institute." Mildred's address: 723 Beacon St., Newton Ctr., Mass.

1907 Class Agent FREDERICK R. WEYMOUTH RFD #2, West Valley, N. Y.

From late December to early February Dr. Clair E. Turner and Mrs. Turner conducted a study tour around the world in the interest of public health and health education. He has recently made a gift to Bates College to promote interest and participation in debating through annual awards to Bates students who have shown interest and integrity in debate. A varsity debater in college, Dr. Turner believes that debating is one of the most valuable learning experiences for students and one which is a lifetime asset in a variety of careers.

time asset in a variety of careers.

Leora E. Prentiss, River Rd., R2, Waterville, Maine, is National Retired Teachers Association State Director for Maine and has recently been appointed treasurer of the new Advisory Committee for the State Retirement Fund. Last summer she attended the NRTA Convention in Minneapolis, returning safely in spite of the ungracious airlines strike!

Class Agent LEO W. BLAISDELL East Franklin, Maine

Class Agent Leo Blaisdell has again wintered at Clearwater Beach, Florida and has again bragged about the wonderful Florida weather. Makes hard reading for those left in frigid snow-bound Maine during January and February! Leo was batting out three golf sessions a week while in the South, much to the distress of Alumni Office secretary Alma Ellingwood Dow '40, who had to wait until mid-April to test MCI's 9-hole course.

A nice note from Eunice P. Gilley, widow of Dr. Philip F. M. Gilley, in which she expressed regret that she has missed MCI Reunions. Since the passing of Dr. Gilley she has not been able to muster the courage. Members of MCI '08 may, hopefully. be able to change her mind. Mrs. Gilley's address: Southwest Harbor, Maine.

Iva B. Willis of Harmony, Maine earned her A.B. degree at Colby College and a Master's degree from the Teachers College of Columbia University. Iva has had an interesting and varied career in teaching, business, and wide travel, as well as assist-ing in her home and with her family as needed.

Old friends Nellie B. Allen of Brattle-boro, Vt. and Isa Herrick Packard of Harmony again were dormitory residents at MCI during last summer's 100th Anniversary and Homecoming. This has become almost an annual pilgrimage, most welcomed by their many MCI acquaintances!

New addresses: Arthur G. Fisher, 8306 Garden Grove Blvd., Garden Grove, Calif.; Meredith Maxfield Emery, Willowick, Ohio

Claude R. Weymouth of Memphis, Tennessee hopes one day to return to Pittsfield for an annual MCI Mid-Summer Alumni Reunion. We certainly hope that he will do so. Claude is president of the Weymouth Construction Co., Memphis, and one of the best-known general contractors in his adopted state. His adddress: 177 St. Andrews Fairway, Memphis, Tenn.

1910

Class Agent SADIE SANFORD McCRILLIS 31 Hartland Ave., Pittsfield, Maine New addresses: Lelah Gilman Smith, Hartland, Maine; Earle C. Phillips, 2121

Wayne Ave., Abington, Pa.

Hazel Young Grinnell has been doing a bit of traveling. Our last report indicated she was visiting the Highgate Ostrich Show Farm, Oudshoorn, South Africa, Zululand, and planned to spend a couple of nights in a game preserve. Great courage is indicated!

Harold Bickford was a most welcomed participant in last summer's Reunion, Harold found it most interesting to see the physical improvements that have been made at MCI in the 56 years since he graduated. Harold's address: 224 Temple Ave., Old Harold's address: 224 Orchard Beach, Maine.

Gladys M. Bigelow, St. Albans, Maine, is a member of the Board of Directors of the Scott-Webb Memorial Hospital, Hartland, and class agent for her Simmons College Class of 1915. Gladys still lives in the house in which she was born, nearly 75 years ago!

Ray Badger of Pittsfield, long prominent in local politics and now retired, is currently serving on the Town of Pittsfield's Board of Assessors.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon W. Haines (Ruth Tucker '10) of Yarmouth, Maine have spent the past two winters in Florida. Last October on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary they spent the happy occasion at Niagara Falls.

FIFTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CLASS

Class Agent
HAYWARD T. PARSONS
2200 Industrial Bank Bldg., Providence, R. I. Iona Tibbetts Britt, now retired, still does occasional substitute teaching in Saugus, Mass. Iona's home was in Harmony, Maine during her years at MCI. She later graduated from Gorham State Teachers College. Iona has three children, nine grandsons and one granddaughter. Her address: 55 Essex

St., Saugus, Mass.

Wayne Sweetland, long lost from MCI to enjoy last summer's Alumni Homecoming. Wayne came early, and by his own admission had a great time. His address: 26 Linden Ave., Cranston, R. I.

Mary Fowler Packard is thinking ahead. She has a house trailer ready for occupancy when she retires, which she says won't be long! Mary will be delighted to have old friends drop in. She will be located on

Rt. #9 and 202, between Albion and Unity. In May 1966 Gwen Griffin had a very serious heart attack and for the next month was dependent on the services of a nurse. For the first three weeks she was a bed patient. She is now living on the first floor of her home in Melrose, Massachusetts and getting along nicely by herself. She was unable, however, to attend MCI's Centennial gathering on the Campus August 6th and was greatly disappointed to miss the festivities and the opportunity to greet her 1912 classmates and other MCI friends. Gwen hopes to attend 1912's 55th Anniversary reunion in 1967. Pearl V. Harris is keeping house for her sister, a public health officer in charge of three North Carolina counties. Pearl is active (very!) in the Grace Episcopal Church, the Federated Women's Club and the League of Women Voters. Her address: Box 176, Waynesville, N. C.

New addresses: Mr. and Mrs. James W. Robinson (Ruth Deering), Palmyra, Maine; Lauretta Henzie Loeffler, 1207 John Anderson Drive, Ormond Beach, Fla.

Anne Anderson Keyes is bookkeeper for McKenney's Garage and Oil Co., Newport, Maine. Anne's address: 108 Elm St., New-

Everett (Sam) (Shep) Hurd had a particularly fine reason for not being able to attend last summer's Reunion. Was in London at the time.

Class Agent BETH RUSSELL McCAUSLAND 72 Rawson Rd., Wollaston Mass. (or)

Box 594 Farmington N. H.

New addresses: Marguerite Libby Ellis, MRA Box 223, Brewer, Maine.

Clare Linscott Tower, now several years retired, is living in Fairfax, Virginia with her younger daughter and her husband. Clare is not far from Washington, D. C., which she frequently visits to attend social events. She has found many interesting people in the Washington area but finds they are constantly moving to new fields of en-Clare will spend the summer in deavor. Massachusetts with her other daughter and four grandchildren. Does not expect to get to Maine but, as she says, "One never knows.

Ray Marsh bowls with the Senior Citizens League in his home city, Portland, Maine, and also fashions hooked rugs. His son John works for the State Department, presently in Washington, but has seen service in India and Jordan. Ray's daughter Miriam lives in Vienna, Virginia.

Leona Woodman Curtis of Skowhegan has sold her oil business.

Winona Whitehouse Harvey lives in Newport, Maine. Her husband has retired. She taught for 20 years following graduation and worked for 20 years at the Snowflake Canning Co., Corinna. The Harveys have one son and four grandchildren.

Orin Haskell and his wife spent their spring vacation in the Bahamas.

Beulah Nickerson Hawes is secretary to the Texas Society of Mayflower Descendants. Kate Dow Nichols is enjoying life in beautiful Santa Cruz, California.

Hazel Adams Plummer of Bradenton, Florida won five ribbons at the local flower show last year. She must have a very green thumb!

Class Agent Beth Russell McCausland and husband Mack '15 late last summer enjoyed an extended Hawaiian trip. They stayed at the Reef Hotel on Waikiki Beach and made air trips to all of the other islands, even visited a leper colony on Molokai. Quite an adventure!

Ellen Cunningham Banister of Farmington, N. H. keeps busy by hooking beautiful rugs, making her own attractive clothes and those of her three granddaughters.

Leonora Runnals Frost resides at 4 Flagg St. Place, Augusta, Maine. Her son Charles is guidance counselor at the Livermore Falls (Maine) High School.

Pearl Varney Merrill and her husband live in St. Albans, Maine. He is retired, having served 40 years as a rural mail carrier. They have three children. Clayton lives in Deep River, Conn., runs his own machine shop; Clifford lives in Niatic, Conn. and works for Electric Boat at Groton; Shirley, a lieutenant in the Navy, is currently doing post graduate work at the University of Washington in Seattle.

1915

Class Agent HOMER F. RAY

425 Old Shawnee Road, Milford, Delaware Miss Nancy Jean O'Donnell, grand-daughter of Beth Russell McCausland '14 and Frank L. McCausland, has been awarded the Silver Wings of an American Airlines Stewardess after completing training at American's Stewardess College, Fort Worth, Texas. She is the first girl from Nevada accepted as an American Airlines Stewardess, and one of 45 successful candidates selected from among 750 young women. Miss O'Donnell, born in Boston, is a graduate of Bishop Gorman High School, Las Vegas. Before joining American Airlines she was employed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. She has been assigned to American Airlines flight duty out of New York City

Mrs. John Robert Kline (Eunice Story, Class Teacher to '15) was very active in the Swarthmore Women's Club and the Poetry Circle, Swarthmore, Pa., during the fall and winter with her programs and books reviews. She was with her children, in and near Swarthmore, for the holidays and spent the rest of the winter with her cousin in Mt.

Dora, Florida

Dorothy M. Crawford has sold her home in Waterbury, Conn. where she had lived for 36 years, and has moved into a small apartment which she very much enjoys. Her address: 52 Murray St., Apt. 2C, Waterbury, Donnie Getchell McCully keeps busy at 142 Church St., Oakland, Maine. She plans to be in Pittsfield for the Reunion in August.

The Raymond Blaisdells spent last fall touring Morocco, Spain and Portugal and wintered in Largo, Florida. When home, Ray's address is 115 Pine Ridge Rd., Waban, Mass.

Leslie L. Black leads an ideal life of retirement: six months in Florida, six in Maine at Boothbay Harbor. Leslie does concede that there's no place like Maine!

Thelma Worthen Mills could not get to MCI last summer because of the sickness of her husband, George. He is better now and Thelma hopes to see us at the next Reunion.

Jennie LaDame spent the month of March in Florida. She still makes her home in Pittsfield.

Cards to the Homer Rays from Karl McKechnie and his wife; Mary Drake Maloney, Doris Kenniston Cockell and her husband, Mildred Emerson Sevey, Thomas Parker, Martha Tucker Velma Griffin, Ruth Morse Webber, Laila Walton Winship and Floyd, Vera Emery Hanson, Thirza Colby Fairbrother and Maurice, Phyllis Estes Norton, Edna Tracy Hayward and her husband, Mildred Goodell Tasker, Rosamond Woods Abbott and Ted, Doris Mace Goode and Mark, all indicate that they have enjoyed their various homes during the past

"Fod" McCausland and wife Beth '14 enjoyed a trip to Hawaii last fall, as did Cecil McNally and his wife. Neither family knew the other was going, so they did not meet in the 50th State.

The Rays had a beautiful card from Tressa Emerson Benson and her husband Ben. Ben is an artist, and the face of the card was covered by one of his original prints. They may come to Maine for the Reunion in August — we hope so!

Raymond L. Kendall, professor at Bates College, retired after 33 years of service at Bates. He joined the Bates faculty in 1933 when he was then principal of the high school in Franklin, N. H. At Bates he took part in a teacher visitation program designed to help the admissions office, with a special emphasis on scholarships and student aid, and became campus testing coordinator as well as working in the field of teacher placement. Ray's address: 44 Wellman St., Lewiston, Maine.

While in Mt. Dora, Florida the Homer Rays called on Eunice Story Kline, 1915 Class Teacher, who was spending some time with her cousin there. She sent regards to all her students.

1916 Class Agent HELEN LIBBY RAY

425 Old Shawnee Road, Milford, Delaware New addresses: Elmer C. Estes, RFD, Sinclair Hill Rd., New Hampton, N. H.; Esther Copeland Ring, 20 N. Hayman, Colorado Springs, Colo.

"Across the miles" greetings came to us during the holidays from many classmates. Our thanks and appreciation to all who remembered us at that time.

The Class of 1916 regrets the passing of two classmates shortly after our reunion. Marion Morse Bartlett and Raymond Wright. Both were with us for our Fiftieth last August.

Stella Salisbury Seekins spent the winter with her children, visiting first in Brewer and then in Rochester, N. H. Last October Stella added to the facilities of Seekin's Camps on Moosehead Lake by the purchase of an adjoining camp and large dock. She planned to return to the lake about April first and supervise some improvements on her newly acquired property.

Myrtle Pushor reports that she has now retired. Last fall, during a teacher shortage at Westfield High School, she returned to teach in the commercial department for the duration of the emergency. As Myrtle wrote, "Let's plan a meeting again in 1967!" Please keep this in mind, Sixteeners!

Hazel Pushor Reagan and her husband are enjoying their usual interests and hobbies at home so much that they were not even tempted to go south this winter.

Etta Gray Collins spent part of the winter visiting friends in Long Beach, California. The day her card came, reporting 70 - 80 degree temperatures there, we were having a record-breaking spell of cold and snowy weather in Delaware. We were glad to hear that Etta was enjoying a well-deserved vacation in a warmer climate.

Van and Amelia Haskell Stevens (Ed. Note: The only two '16ers who married within the Class) stayed at their Peaks Island cottage until late September. They entertained eleven of their family at Thanksgiving and spent Christmas with their daughter and family in Pittsfield. Their grandson, William Cunningham, is a freshman at MCI this year and a member of the ski team.

Ruby Dodge Sawyer and her husband enjoy their retirement home in Newcastle and planned to stay there for the winter. They keep busy with hobbies, and Clifford's work in advanced ceramics produces some fine pieces.

Alice Jones keeps very active with her rug hooking — and is taking three and a half hours of lessons three times a week. During the summer she had many house guests at her Cape Cod home.

Because Horace Newhouse was serving on the jury during November and December, he and Anne-Marie could not spend Christmas with their son, Bob, and his family of eight children at Providence, R. I., as they usually do.

Iva Gould Hollis entertained her granddaughter for the holidays. She reported warm, pleasant weather the early part of the winter in Pittsfield.

Glendon Libby has supplied the Class with duplicate slides he took at Reunion so that we may all enjoy them next August. Elmer Estes and his wife have moved to a new location about two miles from New Hampton, N. H. (See address above.) Their place has many kinds of fruit trees and small fruits, and, being in the vicinity of Laconia and Lake Winnepesaukee, it should be an interesting and scenic spot for re-tirement living. Elmer's oldest son (Carl A. '39) is a colonel in the Air Force, and his youngest son (Ralph A. '45) is working for Grumman in New York, making space equipment for future moon flights. Their other son is a television engineer on Mt. Washington, N. H., and can be tuned in by weather reports. Olive Mayo Toft was hospitalized for five days in the early winter for a complete check-up. Her Christmas note reported that she was better and expected to return to his parents every evening as he gives the work soon.

Edith Mitchell is enjoying retirement in Unity, Maine, where she and her sister Leola 23 live. Leola is still teaching.

Alton Durgin reports that his duties leave him only six hours a day at home. Despite his busy days he has kept in touch through letters with the activities of our Class. After a severe illness in the summer, he spent two weeks convalescing at his son's cottage on Lake Ontario. At last reports he was working again, with a very full schedule.

Mildred Webb Bailey visited her daughters, one in Portland and the other in Pennsylvania, this winter.

Rather frequent letters from Hazel Chandler Weston have given us interesting bits of news about several Sixteeners and other alumni, as well as long-past events of which we had not heard. She mentioned that many years ago she was employed at the Camden A&P Store while Jesse Bates was manager there. What a memory she has, recalling our days at MCI!

The Roaming Rays (Homer '15) "stayed put" pretty well this winter and enjoyed the usual number of guests. We are now, in early March, planning to leave the middle of this month for several weeks in Florida, with a visit at Marion, N. C., en route. We hope to see many of you at MCI next

August.

(Ed. note: Many thanks to Helen for another fine batch of '16 doings!)

Walter (Jake) Colby reports that both a grandson and a granddaughter are now in Scouting and doing very well. Several years ago Walter was awarded the Silver Beaver, the highest award in Scouting and recently received a plaque, reading as follows: "Presented to Walter Colby on behalf of the Massachusetts Recreation Society in appreciation of many years in the field of recreation — December 1966." Walter retired on March 15, 1967. He has a great-grand-daughter nine years old, who is "quite a Walter says. The Colbys are planning to be at the Reunion in August.

The Rambling Rays (again, Homer '15) this past March spent an evening in St. Petersburg, Florida with Harry J. Wright '13 and Olive Ward Wright '19 at the home of mutual friends.

1917 GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY CLASS Class Agent

LYDIA BICKFORD SUSI

37 Lancey St., Pittsfield, Maine New addresses: Mr. and Mrs. Floriman M. Hathaway (Helen Harris '19) 6053 Buffalo, Van Nuys, Calif.; Carolyn Smart Gray, RFD #2, Corinna, Maine; Mr. and Mrs. Newman Young (Ruby Hackett '16), 1080 NE 25 Ave., Pompano Beach, Fla.; Ruth Moore Johnston, Hamden Highlands, Maine; Grace Crocker Thomas, Islesford, Maine; Chester L. Nelson, 267 Pearl St., Bangor,

Two "lost" members of the Class of '17 have been "discovered" during the past year.

Dr. Harry W. Rowe '06 proved to be an old hand at cornerstone laying at ceremonies last August celebrating the completion of the new boys' dorm — as yet unuamed.

Helen Rowe Smith, it has been learned, resides at Blue Hills Falls, Maine; Wallace N. Lee, a resident of Lebanon, Maine, may be reached via the Milton Mills, N. H. post-office. Delighted to have you both aboard!

Bertha Wheeler Carter says that there is not much news to add except that she is enjoying a very busy retirement. Travel, gardening, writing, cooking, etc., seem to occupy her time, plus five grandchildren who are frequent callers at Carters' Corners, Etna, Maine. "Pittsfield

On the Sebasticook," a definitive yet lively history of Pittsfield, was published late last spring by Sanger M. Cook. Sales were brisk from the start; those interested in obtaining any of the few copies remaining - certain to become collectors' might well contact Sanger in Pittsfield.

Class Agent HELEN CHILDS SHOREY RFD #2, Pittsfield, Maine

Class Agent Helen Childs Shorey (address above), School Service Director for thirteen years in Southington, Conn., retired in June 1966. After twenty years of School Service Work as Director, Helen has returned to Pittsfield to make her home near her family. She was honored on her retirement by the Southington Education Association, the Southington School Lunch Service Association, and the Connecticut School Food Service Association, of which she was secretary of the executive board.

Ervena Goodale Smith has spent the fall and winter travelling in Europe with her husband Joseph, semi-retired, Ervena has spent the winter in California near her son and family, and future plans call for location in or near Portland, Maine. (Late Ed.

note: Rockland, Maine.) Dr. John A. Small retired from Rutgers University June 30, 1966 with the rank of Professor of Botany, Emeritus. He has been teaching general biology (laboratory) and plant ecology at Wheaton College during this spring semester. Frank Milan came to Deer Isle, Maine in 1923 as principal of the high school.

After a stint of seven and a half years Frank got the job of Rural Carrier and kept at that for 34 years until his retirement in December 1965. That winter he worked in his shop restoring old furniture and substituting a bit at the high school. Last spring Frank did some carpentering and in September went back into teaching! He is presently involved as coordinator of a work experience class, plus a class in algebra, with the prospect of more algebra to be added. No rest, Frank!!

Vernon A. Libby, general manager of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau since January 1955, was forced in September by health conditions to retire from that job and take a less active role — as management consultant for the Better Business Bureau. An editorial in a leading California daily, commenting on Vern's resignation, said in part: "Libby . . . has strong feelings on the need for observance of the highest ethical standards in advertising and selling he refrained from coercive tactics and employed, instead, calm persuasion and appeal to reason. Since the whole concept of the Better Business Bureau is based on voluntary self regulation of business and industry, the Bureau could not have had a better man to serve as general manager for the past 12 years.

Harold E. Cook has been with the Hall & Knight Hardware Co. of Lewiston since 1936, as engineer and outside salesman and since 1948 as manager of the plumbing and heating division. Harold was married in 1930 and had one son, tragically lost in a sliding accident when six years old. Harold occasionally sees Linwood (Zeke) Dwelley, when they just might hash over the famed Class of '18 Class Ride.

Late news item reads that Class Agent Helen Childs Shorey and Gerda Weeks Millett returned from a winter's vacation at Waikiki Beach, Honolulu and subsequently spent some time with Gerda's daughter in California and also with son Tom '48. Tom is with the police force in El Monte, California, and Gerda and Helen had a tour of the department, learning how a big city police force operates with all its modern equipment.

An interesting note from Harry P. Brann. Harry from New Port Richey, Florida writes that while he is mostly retired he does contract work for large corporations, does site studies, real estate planning reports, and the like. Some retirement! Harry has been working in many different states. For example: in 1966 he did a job for Linde Air Products Co., covering lands in and around Youngstown, Ohio and later the same year did work for the Western Union Telegraph Co. in Georgia, Alabama and West Virginia. He has not been idle. Proof: his family consists of 2 girls and 2 boys, all married and well, plus 12 grandchildren, and as of late April, 2 more on the way. Harry's address: 43 Lexington Ave., Beacon Hill, New Port Richey, Florida. 1919

New addresses: Olive Taylor Cory, E.U.B. Church Camp, St. Mary's Ohio; Ruth Moore Johnston, Rt. 2, Box 40, Hampden Highlands, Maine.

Olive Taylor Cory (address above) has moved to a small home; her husband, Charles, retired from active ministry in the church in June, 1966. Olive regrets that she was unable to attend last summer's Alumni Day; really enjoyed it two years ago.

The Clarence Days (Ethel Reed '20) may be found at RD #2, Middlebury, Vt. Clarence is working part time, on a semi-retired basis for Middlebury College as plant engineer.

Class Agent HENRY W. NASON

366 Farmington Ave., Plainville, Conn. New addresses: Martin C. Moran, Apt. 2, 235 Main St., East Hartford, Conn.

Basil W. Hunt has retired from a most successful career with the General Motors Corporation. He joined General Motors in 1927 as a junior accountant, subsequently became involved in assignments as an auditor in the company's world-wide subsidiaries, finding himself involved in the Far East and later in South America, where he was married in 1931. At the termination of WW II Basil became Supervisor of Overseas Audits for G.M. Daughter Susan has graduated from the University of Michigan Nursing School and plans to marry an Air Force trainee in June. Basil's address: 17 Woodside Park, Pleasant Ridge, Michigan.

Vera Goodale Bailey is still active in church and women's groups in her com-munity of Rockland, Maine. She and husband Philip are well represented in their church choir. Phil's business is life insurance.

Henry Nason (address above) has earned a United States Patent entitled "Hydrofoil Stabilizing Means for Watercraft." Quite an amazing improvement, we understand, over previous hydrofoiling, and may even be applied to sailing craft. The invention relates to stabilizing devices for watercraft moving in a body of water and, more particularly, the invention is concerned with a hydrofoil type of stabilizing apparatus for sailing craft, motor driven boats, and other watercraft.

> 1921 Class Agent FRANCIS W. SMILEY Box 216, Pittsfield, Maine

New addresses: Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Withee (Marjorie Merrithew '26), 24 Bates St., Pittsfield, Maine; Edna T. Lenfest, Box 35, Acton, Maine; Vernon B. Lenfest, 19 Concord Square, Boston, Mass.

Christine Colson Mayhew graduated as a Christian Science Nurse from the Tenacre Foundation, Princeton, N. J. in October 1966. Christine hopes, as we do, that she will soon have a permanent address in Maine.

FORTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CLASS

Class Agent GILBERT A. SPEAR Main St., Pittsfield, Maine

New Addresses: Mary Rhodes Folsom, 9 Howard St., Springvale, Maine; Irene Fogg Molony, Box 222, Orono, Maine.

1923 Class Agent
23 Sylvan Rd., So. Portland, Ma'ne

New addresses: Arabelle McCrillis Mac-Phee, Box 127, Skowhegan, Maine. MCI Trustee William A. Macomber, well known throughout Maine for his distinguished career as a teacher, coach and college administrator, was honored at the traditional Colby Night Dinner in October. Bill is Director of the Division of Adult Education at Colby College.

Leola A. Mitchell is now instructing in English at the Unity (Maine) Junior High School. Leola has had a long and interesting career in Maine education, including posts in Howland, at Higgins Classical Institute, and as principal of Besse High School in Albion.

1924

Class Agent E. BURNELL (BUN) OVERLOCK 66 Presidents Road, Buzzards Bay, Mass.

New addresses: Cornelia Adair Cole, 13 Park St., Waterville, Maine; Ruth Wilkinson Stoughton, 8331 Larson St., Garden Grove, Calif.; Maurice E. Graves, 8010 Honeysuckle, Austin, Texas.

Ruth Wilkinson Stoughton (see address above) is a great admirer of Bun Overlock's news letters. (Note: Even Alumni Office admits he does a good job!) Ruth, now a widow, is working in insurance billing at a hospital. She has one daughter, four grand-children, living in Connecticut. Ruth hopes someday to make a class reunion!

Early and enthusiastic arrivals to last summer's Reunion were Wilfred J. Landry and wife Mary. Will and Mary had a most eventful summer, one that included a family reunion in New Brunswick, Canada. Will is from a family of 10, 7 girls and 3 boys, now wicely scattered. It must have been quite a party. The Landrys also visited with their daughter Rosemarie and son Robert Sweet, and three Landry granddaughters, Cris 13, Ann 11, and Dianne 7. Will is looking forward to an early return to MCI.

Richard "Cutter" Tibbetts made his usual fall pilgrimage to Palermo, Maine in November and was registered as one of the lucky hunters. Quite a trip from Delaware to take in pursuit of the wary buck. You really have to enjoy venison or that stimulating Maine air!

Frances Noble still resides at 20 Grove St. in Pittsfield and is employed at one of the local department stores near the old Bijou.

Another newsy letter from Goldie Bragdon Bryant who apologized for her absence at last summer's Homecoming Day. Her daughter-in-law and grandchildren arrived that day for a month's visit. She is looking forward to Homecoming this year. She writes that on a recent trip to Pittsfield she heard the MCI bell ringing — which brought back a flood of memories. On her ride home to Madison with husband Colby she jotted down the following thoughts which she is sharing with us:

A sound is many thing,s to many different people, As a church to some a sanctuary to others just a steeple. I heard the bell of MCI ring ng clear through the winter air, And tho it had been many years, my mind went way back there.

I was a freshman going timidly up the walk, Proud to be a ''freshie'' even though too bashful to talk Then on through the years, until graduation day, And all the while the bell rang on, its beautiful message

In how many minds has this bell left its mark? Lightening how many minds through sunshine and dark? Through how many countries over the years Has memory traveled, during laughter and tears?

May this bell long ring over campus and town Keeping faith with the youth who are seeking renown. May they go forth with pride, their sights ever high So the bell may peal out, "Well done, MCI."

Any and all members of the Class of '24 who visit Cape Cod this summer have a cordial invitation to look up the Overlocks who are located two miles from the Bourne Bridge in the Gray Gables section of Bourne.

A note from Walter O. Gordon. Walter retired in Oct. 1965 as Professor Emeritus

Class Agent MIRIAM McMICHAEL ROBINSON 46 Lafayette Rd., Newton, Mass.

Esther S. Bussell, who has sent some of her former students onward and upward to teaching posts at MCI, is Chairman of the Department of Education at Lyndon (Vt.) State College with rank of professor. Esther's address: Box 57, Lyndon Center, Vt.

Norman G. Hodgkins, Carmel, Maine was another from '25 who enjoyed last summer's Alumni Reunion. Norm offered: "Keep going for the 200th!"

Phillip T. Vroom, husband of Effie Walker Vroom, retired recently after 29 years of service with the Central Maine Power Co.

1926

Class Agent RENE DEVOE

109 S.W. 41st Ave., Miami, Florida

Recently retired from seven years of pediatric nursing at the Milford (Mass.) Hospital, Theo Davis Walker is now doing private duty nursing. Theo has been married for 31 years — and happily, she adds!

According to a private grapevine, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Louder (Ruth Mudgett '24) became the grandparents January 11 of David Karl Allers. Little David made his appearance at Cumberland Center, Maine.

> 1927 40th ANNIVERSARY CLASS

Class Agent ANDREW J. KARKOS 83 Lancaster Ave., Lunenburg, Mass.

The marriage of her youngest daughter August 7, 1966 prevented Winifred Atwell Nordmark from attending the MCI 100th Birthday party on the 6th. Perhaps this year, Winifred. Winifred's address: 32 Wood St., Woodville, Mass.

Class Agent Andy and wife (Irene Reynolds '21) drove to California last year, left their car on the beach, and flew to Hawaii for a tour of island hopping. Quite a vacation, by all reports. Car was still on beach, ready for leisurely trip to their cottage in Belgrade Lakes, Maine. Andy is a guidance counselor at Fitchburg (Mass.) High School and finds it most rewarding.

Class Agent ALICE CONROY CRABB 219 Richland St., So. Portland, Maine New addresses: Frances Maynard Condy, 1209 Wellington Rd., Colonial Heights, Va.

A nice note from Charles M. Thomas.
May we quote? "Late in June, I noticed a Maine registered car in our apartment parking lot. Next day, my wife noticed a young man at the car and mentioned I had gone to school in Maine. He turned out to be John Elderkin of Pittsfield, MCI class of '62!! He had recently married Andrea Fowler (MCI '62) and was visiting her grandmother here in Kansas City en route to their new home in San Antonio, Texas, where he'll continue his schooling under the GI From them I learned that Arnold Dunning '62, son of Audrey Green Dunning 36 is returning to MCI in a teaching capacity. Many people known to me in 1936 were familiar to these young people in '66. On July 3, 1966 on the way to the Imperial Shrine Session in San Francisco, I met Alice and Roy U. Sinclair in the Los Angeles Airport and rode with them on the plane to S. F. When I was at MCI, Roy was my mentor — he is now Potentate of Ban-gor's Anah Temple and his charming wife is now Dean of Girls at MCI!" Most interesting, Charles. FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

The Trustees of Maine Central Institute recall with grateful memory the names of friends and alumni whose annual donations, capital gifts, and bequests have been such an important factor in the School's growth and achievement in the past years. Of growing importance, however, is the need for future bequests, both large and small.

In naming MCI as a beneficiary or residuary legatee, one should realize that he is selecting the one best means of perpetuating, through his estate, his own hopes and prayers for a better America and a better world through

The Headmaster or Trustees will always appreciate the opportunity of discussing with friends the subject of bequests.

The following form is simple — and it can be used for any amounts.

The "Governor Powers of Maine"

Albert L. Partridge of Watertown, Mass., MCI '04, historian and Alaska buff, has discovered a stereopticon view of a never-ending line of miners and packers struggling up the Golden Stair Trail of Chilkoot Trail during the great Alaskan gold rush of 1898. He noted that, surprisingly, one man was packing what appears to be half of a rugged canoe. If it is indeed a half, the other half would also be on the trail and, presumably, arrangements had been made to joint the two ends at a pre-arranged rendezvous.

Through his jewelers glass Mr. Partridge then determined that the prow of the odd craft is lettered "Governor Powers of Maine." Llewellyn Powers, for whom MCI's Powers Hall is named, was governor of Maine from 1897-1901, which covers the date of the picture.

Canoe manufacturers in Maine and Canada have been unable to shed light as to what person from Maine (again, presumably) might have undertaken the certainly miserable trip up the notorious Chilkook—lugging a sawed-off canoe!

Old Stereopticon View

Intriguing questions: Who was the goldrusher who knew that Llewellyn

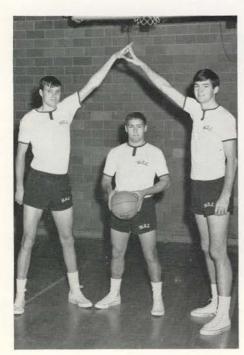

Powers was governor of Maine in 1898? Who remembers or has heard of the story of the heartbreaking undertaking involved in the packing of a canoe—in two sections—over the Golden Stair to remote Lake Bennett?

LACROSSE ESTABLISHED AT MCI

LACROSSE, a game abandoned by thoughtful Indians as being too rough, was introduced at MCI in the spring of 1967. Thirty-five candidates responded to the call from coaches Rod Smith and Peter Gulick and, surprisingly, most of them stuck it out.

The boys took one game—from North Yarmouth Academy—in an eight-game schedule in the established Maine Prep School Lacrosse Lengue. Coach Gulick, at least, was quick to point out that it was a constantly improving outfit: they dropped their first game to Kents Hill 0-13, the second contest with the same club was lost by a relatively modest 2-5 tally. Well, that's one way of looking at it, coach.

Mike Angelica is not really this short; it's just that Dick Prone and Jim Boissoneau are rather tall. The three were important members of the winning basketball Preppers.

PORTLAND ARTIST LENNY HATCH '58, a graduate of the Portland School of Fine and Applied Arts, conducted an exhibition of his paintings at the Powell Memorial Library in October. Lenny here discusses "The Villa" with Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Lynn of Pittsfield. It is a fact that he is considered one of Maine's most promising younger artists—a statement not lightly made. A number of his pieces at the MCI showing were "on loan"; several more were purchased during the 2½ hour public presentation.

Dear Fellow Alumni,

In the first hundred years of its existence MCI has made great strides forward. The founding fathers possessed imagination, initiative and energy to undertake the establishment of the school. It took courage, money and hard work to accomplish the task. However, they did not stop at that point. They went further by endowing the succeeding generations not only with the physical assets of buildings and equipment but also the characteristics which enabled them to begin the undertaking.

The growth of the physical plant, particularly in the last twenty-five years, has been very satisfying and the Staff and the Board of Trustees are to be commended for their efforts. They are also to be commended for the assembling of a faculty which maintains high teaching standards and keeps MCI among the top ranking preparatory schools of New England.

At the start of the second century of its existence, MCI is in a fine position. Its able and dedicated headmaster, staff and faculty are prepared to continue the work of educating our young people. Many changes of our times face them, and it is obvious that they are thinking ahead to meet the challenge.

The formation of school administrative districts throughout the State with the program of developing area high schools is bound to have its effect upon MCI. Although it is expected that MCI will continue to have day students, they may not be as numerous as in the past. However, with the expansion of its dormitory space, more resident students can be cared for, and assisted by its substantial endowment the future looks good indeed.

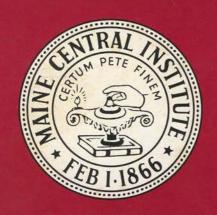

Bright though the future may be, MCI will still need its loyal and dedicated alumni. They are the best advertising agency it can have, and will be the source of many referrals of future students. A strong alumni association, filled with pride in the accomplishments of MCI scholastically, musically, theatrically and athletically, can be one of its biggest assets by giving it wholehearted support with interest, effort and finances.

Your contributions to the Alumni Association are most welcome and your active support is appreciated by the Association and the School. Those members who have not contributed still have ample opportunity to do so, and with your help we can be of more benefit to MCI.

Remember Homecoming Day. Plan to attend and meet your classmates and friends.

Sincerely, William & Coffin

President, MCI Alumni Association
