To the alumni:

I am now able to report to you on the impact of the Cianchette Hall of Science upon our whole educational program. Previously, my comments have been confined to optimistic anticipation of all the good MCI should derive from this remarkably fine building. Now the building has been in use for more than a year, and I can truthfully say it has surpassed our hopes. In every area of science instruction, the new facility has met the test of the day-by-day teaching situation. The new home economics laboratory, too, has more than proved its worth.

Now we are busy anticipating the construction of the Powell Memorial Library, which I am sure will make an equally great contribution to our program. The fine new classrooms to be located in this building will not only provide superior facilities for our English program but will release important space in the Institute Building so that we may make better provision for all other subjects. The new library will mean that MCI students will have infinitely superior academic resources at their disposal.

This year, for the first time, MCI opened its doors in September to more than five hundred students—503 to be exact. We are told that one year from the coming September we may anticipate the arrival of the first of a whole series of increasingly larger freshman classes from the town of Pittsfield alone. The demand for boarding space grows more impressive each year. All in all, the pressures seem to be mounting, and MCI is fortunate indeed to have fine new facilities, built and about to be built, as well as the support of a loyal alumni, to meet these pressures.

I shall be most happy to greet as many as possible of the alumni on August 1, Homecoming Day. I think most of you would enjoy seeing for yourselves some of these important changes on the campus—and, of course, I know you would enjoy meeting old friends and making new ones.

With all best wishes, and with gratitude for your loyalty to MCI,

Sincerely,

EDWARD R. STANLEY

M C I SALUTES

Sara J. Cowan '33

A Fulbright scholar, past president of the Maine Teachers Association, former first vice-chairman of the Maine Council of Young Republicans—these are but three of the accomplishments of Sara Cowan '33, Latin instructor at Deering High School in Portland since 1939. Miss Cowan was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Colby in 1937 and has since received her MA in history from Columbia. On a Fulbright grant, she studied at the School of Classical Studies at the American Academy in Rome during the summer of 1958.

Sara Cowan is the perfect example of a teacher with a truly wide range of interests. She has contributed much as an active member of the GOP Portland City Committee, the Cumberland County GOP Committee, and as vice-chairman of the Maine Council of Young Republicans. In religion, too, she has been active, serving as president of the WSCS of Clark Memorial Methodist Church in Portland and as first woman trustee of that church.

As president of the MTA Miss Cowan received the highest honor her teaching colleagues could bestow upon her. MCI salutes Sara Cowan for a career of leadership in so many important areas.

Dr. Earle A. Harding '11

A distinguished career in chemistry led Dr. Earle Harding from MCI to a position as Technical Director of the Electrochemicals Department of the DuPont Company. His career has been one of distinction, from his graduation at MCI as salutatorian, to his Phi Beta Kappa membership at Bates, to his teaching fellowship at Princeton, culminating in a Ph. D. cum laude in Chemistry in 1918.

at Princeton, culminating in a Ph. D. cum laude in Chemistry in 1918.

Dr. Harding's professional career began with his appointment as Chief of the Bureau of Explosives for the State of Pennsylvania, with responsibility for maximum production of war materials with maximum safety to personnel and property. After World War I, he joined the Roessler and Hasslacher Chemical Co. for six years of research in organic and inorganic chemistry. In 1925 he assumed responsibility for the Process Development program at R & H. Two years after DuPont acquired this company in 1930, Dr. Harding was named Works Manager of the Niagara Falls plant, and in 1935 he became Production Director of the Electrochemicals Department for DuPont, with direction of all activities in eight widely separated plants.

MCI is proud to salute a distinguished chemist, a fine citizen, and a loyal alumnus who has made his mark in America's march to industrial greatness.

Ida Tibbetts Schenk '05

At a time when America seems to be awakening to the tremendous importance of the good teacher, it is only fitting that MCI should pay tribute to an alumna whose career as a teacher should be an inspiration to all who have taught or would teach. Ida Tibbetts Schenk has devoted a lifetime—half a century—to teaching. One of the pioneers in home economics education, her tremendous interest in her subject has earned her the proud title of "dedicated teacher."

Mrs. Schenk received her formal training in the Normal Department at MCI, under the wise and watchful guidance of Professor Landman, Miss Bishop, and Professor Ramsdell. Her first teaching assignment took her to Harmony, where she gained the experience and confidence so essential to success in teaching. Later she taught at West Gardiner, Norway and, Portland. During her tenure at Norway, in 1909, she met and married William Schenk, her devoted husband of fifty years. It was after her marriage that she entered the field she was to work in for the remainder of her teaching career—home economics—and taught successively in the Evening High School, the Junior High School, and the Senior High School in Lynn, Mass.

Retired now, Mrs. Schenk enjoys looking back on a busy life devoted to helping girls become better women.

Hon. William S. Silsby '21

A career in business and politics has led William S. Silsby '21 from the blueberry barrens of his active Hancock County to the Governor's Executive Council in Augusta. For the first years of his adult life, Mr. Silsby was a businessman in Hancock County. In 1937, however, he received his Bachelor of Law degree from Suffolk University, eventually forming the law firm of Silsby and Silsby, with his two sons and the late Justice Percy T. Clarke '07 as his associates.

Mr. Silsby entered politics on the state level in 1946, serving in the Maine House

Mr. Silsby entered politics on the state level in 1946, serving in the Maine House of Representatives in 1947-52 and as Speaker of the House in 1951. From 1953 to 1958, he was Senator from Hancock County, and he is now serving as an Executive Councillor

Mr. Silsby was elected president of the Maine State Bar Association last August. He is a director of numerous corporations, president of the Maine Processing Company and the Union River Electric Cooperative, and a member of the board of trustees at Higgins Classical Institute.

MCI salutes the Honorable William S. Silsby and wishes him many more years of distinguished public service.

Report of the Alumni Meeting

Over 400 alumni and friends of M. C. I. were present for the various activities of the day at the 8th annual summer homecoming, August 2, 1958.

Opening the program was a special luncheon at the Lancey House honoring members of the class of 1908. Thirteen were present to celebrate their 50th anniversary and were presented a decorated cake at the afternoon reception, as well as certificates of recognition at the evening banquet, during which they were guests of the Alumni Association.

The highlight of the day was the dedication of the new science building at 4 p. m. Participating in a brief ceremony during which the name plaque on the Cianchette Hall of Science was unveiled were Dean Harry W. Rowe, Principal Edward R. Stanley, and Joseph R. Cianchette, leading contributor to the building.

Mrs. Stanley, wife of the principal, was official hostess during the afternoon reception when refreshments were served on the campus lawn. Assisting her were Lydia Bickford Susi, Evelyn Webendorfer Austin, Mrs. Davis Wiggin, Mrs. Kemp Pottle, Mrs. Earle Vickery, and Iva Cianchette Cregnole.

Helen Estes Cianchette, assisted by Marguerite Coolbroth Fowler, held Open House in the afternoon for the 10th reunion of the class of 1948. Other "3" and "5" year classes met in the evening.

Willard Lehr, Jr. '42 was master of ceremonies for the banquet served buffet style by the Lancey House staff at the Parks Gymnasium. A roll call of classes revealed that Maude Brackett Hyde of Brookline, Massachusetts, 1892, represented the oldest class present.

Ena Tucker Trumbull of Methuen, Massachusetts, and Allison Howes of Palmyra were present for their 60th reunion.

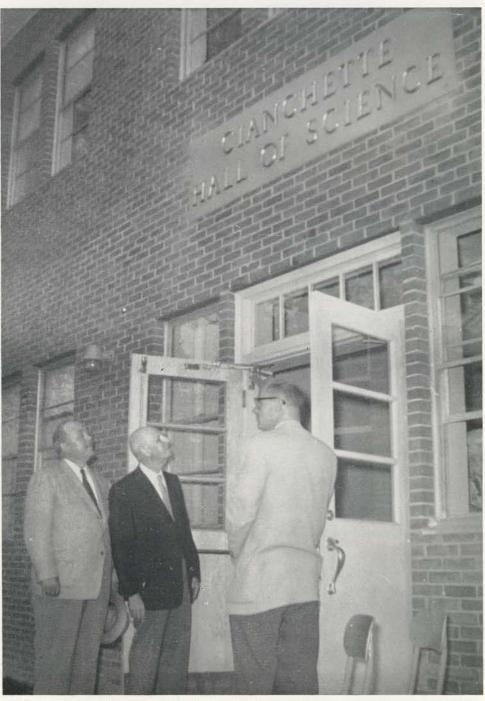

W. Howard Niblock, former principal, now of Winchester, Massachusetts, was welcomed.

Mrs. Sanger Cook played dinner music on the electric organ, and Dean Rowe gave the invocation.

Alumni Association, presided at a brief business meeting during which the following officers were elected for 1958-59. President— Frank Haseltine '40; Vice President—Inez Knowlton Severance

Plans Complete For Powell Library

Construction this Summer

The William H. Powell Memorial Library is about to take its place on the MCI campus as this issue of the Alumnus goes to press. The architect, Alonzo J. Harriman, Inc., of Auburn, has the final plans ready for the last scrutiny of the Trustees' Building Committee, following which the new structure will be put out to bids. It is planned that actual construction will begin early in June, shortly after MCI's 90th Commencement Exercises on Sunday, June 7.

Following careful consideration of all factors involved, the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees has approved the location of the Powell Library at a spot parallel to the present roadway behind the Institute and Weymouth Hall, approximately 100' from the southwest corner of the Institute. Thus the new library will be the first structure to be erected on the West Campus, the further development of which is now the subject of trustee planning. The architect as been commissioned to draw up plans for the development of the West Campus, to include terracing of this area down to Parks Athletic Field and the track.

The three story building will have two story wings. On the ground floor will be located a spacious lobby with charge desk, librarian's office, and conference room. Here also will be the open stacks, as well as a reference room and a large reading room. The Snow Memorial Niche, honoring the memory of Charles A. Snow '05, a former trustee of the School and housing Mr. Snow's Lincoln library, is to be located in the reading room. In the basement level, there will be one large classroom and two smaller classrooms, as well as a faculty lounge. On the second floor will be found one over-size classroom, which is to be provided with an accordiontype door, so that it may be utilized as two classrooms or used as a single unit to provide a small assembly hall. This floor will also

MCI Looks To The Future

Trustees Prepare for Expansion

Even as complacency may readily become the most dangerous enemy of any nation, laying the ground work for the slow death of internal rot or the sudden defeat by enemies from without, so too no school can afford to become complacent. MCI in 1959 is in a very fortunate position. Enrolment figures are substantial; the faculty is well trained, loyal, and effective; and the school's reputation in the area it serves seems to be well established. The Cianchette Hall of Science, completed in January, 1958, and the Powell Memorial Library, scheduled for completion in the spring of 1960, seem to assure adequate facilities to meet the immediate needs of the student body. Under these conditions, it would be easy for the trustees to become somewhat complacent.

Fortunately for MCI, the board of trustees is keenly aware that good schools do not rest upon their laurels, but seek to become even better schools in the future. They are aware that MCI must continue to expand its facilities if it is to continue to meet the challenge of changing times. The new science building and the new library are wonderful steps in the right direction. Now they must be followed up by other steps, equally important, if the school is to take full advantage of its present quite favorable position.

MCI still has many needs. One of the more pressing is the need for adequate dining room space. At present, the dining room and kitchen areas in Weymouth Hall are small, necessitating a costly double schedule for all meals. To make matters worse, Weymouth Hall itself lacks adequate recreational area for the forty-six boys now housed there. A new dining room (or cafeteria) with adequate kitchen and storage space is, then, one of the obvious needs of the school.

Such a dining room might well be located in the basement level of a new dormitory, for the latter also represents one of the school's more immediate needs. The demand for boarding space at MCI is increasing each year. The school's fifth year program for boys who need a year of intensive preparation before entering college seems to be meeting a real need-especially in view of the fact that an increasing number of independent secondary schools are unwilling to consider many, if any, who wish to attend for a single year only. In the fall of 1958, for example, MCI opened with eleven more boys than it had boarding spaces, housing the sur-plus in private homes near the campus. In addition, a number of good candidates were denied admission, simply because of lack of space. A third dormitory would enable MCI to broaden its service to Maine and the whole New England area by permitting the school to accept an increased number of the good candidates who are seeking admission each year. Thus it is that no careful study of MCI's future needs could fail to include the need for additional boarding space.

As the school grows, one important phase of its program is suffering for lack of suitable accommodations. Powers Hall was an admirable little chapel and assembly hall. For years, it served that dual purpose and served it well. Now MCI is simply too large to permit the seating of the student body in Powers Hall. As a consequence, Parks Gymnasium must be "set up"-at some expense-as an auditorium if the whole school is to meet for chapel exercises or an assembly. The net result is the obvious one: fewer chapel exercises and fewer assemblies, as the student body grows larger and larger. Since it must be obvious that chapel exercises are as vitally important to the youth of today as they were to the youth of two decades ago, and since assemblies are likewise of continuing value, the need for a chapel-auditorium large enough to house a school of 500-600 would seem to be obvious.

MCI has other needs—none of them, perhaps, quite as pressing as those mentioned above. The school could nicely utilize a recreation building to provide for the leisure time activities of day and boarding students alike. A field house, with provision for indoor activities in winter as well as additional gymnasium space, would be a great boon to MCI's expanded athletic program. A music center, large enough to accommodate the entire band and choral groups, would make that program infinitely easier to administer. These and other facilities could not but enrich the entire program of the school.

If there are those who, like the late Ella S. Powell, have faith in MCI's ability to serve youth and serve it well and who wish, like her, to create at MCI an enduring memorial to a loved one, surely the opportunity exists on the growing campus of a growing school. The trustees would welcome inquiries from any who might wish to investigate the possibility of the creation of a memorial, whatever its size or nature, as a means of assuring the perpetual accomplishment of real good.

Grace Mills Cook '91

Grace Mills Cook '91, whose association with Maine Central Institute spanned most of her lifetime, died December 4, 1958, at a Hartland hospital at the age of 85. With her passing, MCI lost a firm friend.

Mrs. Cook was a native of Palmyra. In 1893, she was married to Dr. Jesse Cook of the Class of 1890, and the couple made their home in Unity, where Dr. Cook was engaged in the practice of medicine until his death in 1909. After several years when she taught school in Palmyra, Mrs. Cook made her home in Pittsfield and Newport. Throughout the years, Mrs. Cook was a familiar figure at MCI, always maintain-

Dr. Eugene H. Drake '10

Trustee, 1933 - 1958

MCI lost one of its most distinguished graduates and the State of Maine one of its leading medical men with the death of Dr. Eugene H. Drake at the Maine Medical Center in Portland on Saturday, October 7, 1958, following an illness of two weeks' duration. Dr. Drake was widely recognized as a specialist in internal medicine and as a leader in the continuing fight to assure more nearly adequate medical care for all.

In nearly forty years of medical practice, Dr. Drake earned an enviable reputation throughout the state and the nation. He began his career following his graduation from Maine Central Institute in 1910, from Bates College in 1913, and from the Bowdoin Medical School in 1919. Later to become a leader in the specialized heart field, Dr. Drake initiated his heart studies at Harvard University in 1925, continuing them six years later with postgraduate work in internal medicine in London and Vienna. After his return to Portland, he organized the first heart clinic in this state.

During the Second World War, Dr. Drake further distinguished himself as a medical officer. He received the Bronze Star for meritorious service aboard the hospital

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees have voted unanimously to designate the biology laboratory in the Cianchette Hall of Science as "The Drake Biology Laboratory", honoring Judge Orville H. Drake, principal 1889-1900; his wife, Lelia Plumstead Drake, a faculty member; and their son, Dr. Eugene H. Drake '10, trustee, 1933-1958.

It is planned that suitable dedicatory exercises will be held in the Drake Biology Laboratory on Saturday, August 1, 1959.

In announcing the Board's decision, President Harry W. Rowe stated that few families can claim a larger role in the development of Maine Central Institute than the role of the Drakes. By their vote to honor this wonderful MCI family, the Board hopes in some small measure to express the School's appreciation for the loyal service and inspiring careers of Judge and Mrs. Drake and their son, Dr. Eugene Drake.

ship USS Solace in the Pacific, where the then Captain Drake was chief consulting cardiologist for the Pacific Fleet. He continued his naval service following the war as a rear admiral in the Medical Corps, Naval Reserve, and at the time of his retirement from the Navy was serving as commanding officer of Naval Reserve Medical Company 1-3 and as senior reserve medical officer in Maine.

Among Dr. Drake's major achievements was his role in establishing the Blue Shield program in Maine. As a hospital executive, he was president of the Maine General Hospital for four years, 1946-50, enjoying a longer

Sixty Years "On The Street"

Dean of Pittsfield Merchants

Sixty years "on the street" give Harry L. Cornforth '99 a solid claim to the title of "Dean of Pittsfield Merchants". Still going strong in '59, Harry started his mercantile career as a clerk in his father's clothing store in 1899. Following his father's death, he took over the business, and 39 years later, he is still in business at the same location.

The last sixty years have brought many changes to Main Street in Pittsfield, as they have to every segment of life in these United States, but on Main Street in almost every town there are some threads of continuity, linking the present to the past. Cornforth's Clothing Store—indeed, Harry Cornforth himself—provides just such a link. The store has been modernized, of course, but the warmth and genuine friendliness given to the place by Harry and his clerk of 33 years standing, Francis Smiley '21, take one back to a way of life less hurried, less demanding, with more time for living. Even today, the casual shopper on Pittsfield's Main Street is sure of a welcome if he stops at Cornforth's, just to chat with Harry and "Chub", with never a thought of making a pur-

Harry Cornforth has seen the innovations of yesterday become the rummage sale discards of tomorrow many, many times during his sixty years as clothier to Pittsfield. He recalls the linen collars that were his best seller when he first took over the family business, the neck-band shirts, vests, peg-top pants and other "stylish items" of that earlier age. He has, like any good merchant, kept abreast of the times and accepted the dictates of fashion and taste in stocking his store. The one important commodity he has not failed to stock throughout decades of merchandising revolution has been friendliness. Today, as in 1899, this is an important item on Harry's shelves. Like many another merchant, Harry gives trading stamps to his customers, but few who know him would doubt that his sincere interest in his townsmen is a far more important factor in his retention of the loyalty of his clientele.

Harry, a native of Pittsfield, has been actively identified with the life of the town for longer than most of its citizens can remember. He is a member of both the Scottish and York rite Masons and in 1952 was honored by the presentation of his 50 year pin. A past worshipful master and past high priest of the local Masonic order, he has been equally active in and devoted to the Order of the Eastern Star, having served Bethlehem Chapter as past patron. His services to his community have included nineteen years as a member of the Selective Service Board in the Pittsfield area. He is a member of the First Universalist Church.

ing a keen interest in the School and its progress.

Mrs. Cook was a member of the People's Methodist Church in Newport and the Universalist Ladies Aid Society in Pittsfield. She was a past president of the Tuesday Club, senior woman's club in Pittsfield.

She is survived by a son, Sanger M. Cook '17 of Pittsfield, and by several cousins.

MCI was represented at Mrs. Cook's funeral services by Roy U. Sinclair and Principal Edward R. Stanley, who were bearers, together with the Hon. Lewis O. Barrows of Newport, Robert Whitehouse '17 of Unity, Sheldon Brackett of Palmyra, and Joseph Buker of Pittsfield.

College Prep Record Remains Strong

Seniors Accepted At 34 Institutions

The question is often asked, "How does MCI rate as compared with X school?" Actually, since the standards for rating schools are generally quite subjective, this question has no really definitive answer. In one area, however, it is possible to arrive at something approaching an evaluation of MCI's success—and that is the area of preparation for education beyond secondary school.

Each year, MCI sends a substantial percentage of its graduates on to further education. Despite the fact that MCI serves a much larger group of day stu-dents than do most of the independent schools, the School continues to rate well in the area of college preparation. Many of the day students are not attending MCI in order to prepare themselves for further education; for them, the program here is terminal. Others, however, do continue their education after MCI, and the net result is a percentage of students going on to further training much higher than the percentage in most public secondary schools.

This year, as the Alumnus goes to press late in April, MCI students have already been accepted at thirty-four different institutions of higher education. It is to be expected that this list will expand as reports are received from those schools which traditionally admit the bulk of their new classes in May and as late admissions from other schools are recorded.

Thus far, MCI students have been admitted to programs in Boston College, Bowdoin College, Clark University, the Colorado School of Mines, Drexel Institute of Technology, Emerson College, Farmington Teachers College, Husson College, Lyndon Teachers College, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, New England College of Pharmacy, Norwich University, Northeastern University, Sargent School of Physical Education at Boston University, St. Francis Xavier College of Antigonish, GOOD GUIDANCE is a prerequisite to intelligent college placement. Here Dean John M. Shields discusses college plans with Paul Smith '59 of Jackman, who was subsequently admitted by the Colorado School of Mines and by the University of Maine (College of Technology).

Nova Scotia, Thomas Junior College, the University of Vermont, the University of Maryland, the University of Arizona, the University of Alaska, the University of Maine, Valparaiso Technical Institute, Weaver Airline Hostess School, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Westbrook Junior College, Wentworth Institute, Babson Institute, the Bentley School of Accounting and Becker Junior College. In addition, MCI girls seeking professional education as nurses have gained admission to the following fine schools of nursing: Mary Hitchcock Hospital, Children's Hospital, and Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

MCI is especially proud that two of its seniors have won New England Regional Scholarships at Northeastern University. David Pattee of Pittsfield has been awarded a regional grant paying $900 per annum, while Geraldine Moore of Palmyra has received a grant bearing a $1200 stipend.

MCI Principal Named To NEACSS Committee

Edward R. Stanley, principal of Maine Central Institute, was elected to serve as Maine's member on the Standing Committee for Independent Schools of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at the Association's annual meeting, held last December at the Statler-Hilton in Boston. Mr. Stanley succeeds Principal Fred Dingley of Lee Academy in this position.

The Standing Committee for Independent Schools is headed by Headmaster Charles F. Hamilton of the Belmont Hill School. Its membership includes a representative of the independent schools in each of the six New England states, as well as several members-at-large. The Committee is concerned principally with the accreditation and re-accreditation of New England independent schools seeking initial membership or continued membership in the NEAC-SS.

POWELL LIBRARY

Present plans of the administration call for utilizing the classroom space in the Powell Memorial Library to house the School's upper-level English sections, with the thought that the smaller classrooms may eventually serve as language laboratories for modern foreign languages.

The Institute itself is to receive appreciable relief when the Powell Memorial Library is opened to student use. Not only will the present library, located in the south end of what was Room 1 for many decades, be free for another purpose, but several classrooms in the building will become available as classes are assigned to rooms in the Library. Tenatively, it is hoped that the present library may become available for a needed expansion of office space to allow reception area for guests visiting the school.

The location of the Powell Memorial Library, close to the Institute, which is still the central building in campus life, promises to facilitate its use by students and faculty members alike. With only four minutes allowed for "passing" in the MCI daily schedule, this factor is important to those charged with the administration of the School.

PLENTY OF ACTION FOR THE FANS who followed the Huskies during the 1958-59 season! Coach Roderick Cyr's charges made a terrific comeback and really drew the crowds to George Parks Gym throughout the season.

All plans for the Library have been drawn up subject to the approval of the Building Committee, which is composed of Trustees Harry W. Rowe '06 of Lewiston, member-officio; Earle N. Vickery '04 of Pittsfield, Roy U. Sinclair of Pittsfield, Sanger M. Cook '17 of Pittsfield, and Joseph R. Cianchette of Pittsfield. Principal Edward Stanley has served as clerk for this committee.

Funds for the library were provided under the terms of the will of Ella S. Powell of Old Town, in order that she might establish on the MCI campus an enduring and worthy memorial honoring her husband, the late Judge William H. Powell of the Class of 1885. The bequest is expected to provide for the construction and equipment of a fine library, as specified in the donor's will.

Enduring Faith

A school—any school—is very largely built upon faith. Its founders must have faith that it will serve a real educational need, or it will never be established. Those who serve it through the years must have faith, or it is most unlikely to meet the successive tests of changing times. All who are connected with a school—teachers, administrators, students, and alumni—must have faith in its worth as an important, if small, segment of the whole educational pattern.

What finer way can there be to demonstrate one's faith in the real worth of a school than to ensure one's support of its program even after life itself is done? This year, two loyal friends of MCI, each with faith that the School is filling and will continue to fill a real need, have through their wills assured that their support of the School shall endure.

The late Peirce Long, trustee from 1937 until his death in 1941, was keenly interested in young people and their educational opportunities throughout his lifetime. Through his will, Mr. Long provided that the sum of one thousand dollars would be payable to Maine Central Institute. His colleagues and successors on the Board of Trustees, recalling his deep interest in fine music, have provided that this bequest shall form a major contribution toward the purchase of a Baldwin organ to enrich the entire music program at MCI.

The late Mabel Croxford Morton, wishing to perpetuate the memory of her brother, Ralph A. Croxford of the Class of 1885, provided through her will a bequest of one thousand dollars. In this manner, Mrs. Morton has assured that the interest of her brother in Maine Central Institute shall continue to have its effect upon the welfare of the School in the years ahead. The Board of Trustes have voted to place Mrs. Morton's generous bequest in the School's endowment fund, with the income to form an annual contribution toward the maintenance of the MCI program.

Inquiries regarding gifts or bequests should be addressed to The Principal, Maine Central Institute, Pittsfield, Maine. The legal name of the corporation is "The Trustees of Maine Central Institute."

MCI Re-accredited By New England Groups

Maine Central Institute was formally granted continued membership in the New England Associated of Colleges and Secondary Schools at the Association's annual meeting last December in Boston. Since the NEACSS is the principal accrediting agency for public and private secondary schools as well as colleges and universities, this act on the part of the Association represents reaccreditation of MCI and its program

The re-accreditation was preceded by a careful study of MCI's entire program, including its physical facilities, its staff, its curriculum, and its financial stability. The study was conducted in October, when a re-evaluation committee of the NEACSS spent several days on campus. This committee was headed by Principal John Mitchell of North Yarmouth Academy and included Headmaster Richard Chapman of the Waynflete School and Principal Richard Goldsmith of Bridgton Academy. The committee's report, which formed the basis for MCI's continued membership, was submitted to the Board of Trustees of the School. This report has been of value to the Board in its own continuing study of ways and means of maintaining and improving the quality of education at MCI.

Dr. Charles Magoon '06

Dr. Charles Alden Magoon '05 passed away on November 8, 1958, at the age of 75 while a patient at the Southside District Hospital in Mesa, Arizona, where he had made his home for seven years. A loyal alumnus of Maine Central Institute throughout his long lifetime, Dr. Magoon was president of the Class of 1905.

Dr. Magoon received the A. B. degree from Bates College following his graduation from MCI and pursued studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the University of Minnesota, and the American University at Washington, D. C., receiving his Ph. D. degree from the last named.

U. S. SENATOR MARGARET C. SMITH

Have Library Need Books!

Early in April, MCI received a most welcome gift from United States Senator Margaret Chase Smith, a member of the Board of Trustees, in the form of a fine collection of books to be added to the School's library facilities. With the Powell Memorial Library soon to be constructed, the School is only too conscious that its present store of books will shortly be far from adequate to stock the shelves of the new library. Senator Smith's generous gift could not have arrived at a more opportune time. MCI is grateful to the Senator for her interest in improving an important facet of the MCI program.

Dr. Magoon served the federal government for thirty years, working in the Department of Agriculture. He made important contributions during the early stages of frozen food investigation and in the standardization of canning procedures. During World War II, he was in charge of coordinating the work of east and west coast laboratories dealing with food compression, carried on with the aim of saving vital shipping space, tenure in this demanding post than any other man. He was also governor for Maine for the American College of Physicians and had served as president of the Maine Medical Association and the Maine Heart Association.

Dr. Samuel A. Levine, leading American cardiologist, once said of Dr. Drake: "There are a certain few men scattered around over this country, who by their honesty, character, intelligence, and industry have made medicine what it is today; their example of high standards in medical practice, their uncompromising attitude towards mediocracy, their excellence of clinical judgment. have made them sought after and their opinions valued over a wide area. But far more important is their effect on the profession itself. By their ever stimulating influence on the physicians and students of medicine in their community, they are forever raising the standards of medical practice. That is vital; that is right. That is Gene Drake."

Dr. Drake was the son of Judge Orville H. Drake. principal of Maine Central Institute 1889-1900, and Lelia Plumstead Drake, a member of the MCI faculty. He had been closely associated with the school throughout most of his life. In 1933, Dr. Drake was elected a member of the Board of Trustees, a position he filled with distinction for a quarter century.

Dr. Drake's funeral services formed but one more link in the chain of evidence of the warm esteem in which he was held by his fellow men. The profusion of floral tributes and the attendance of many from all walks of life were eloquent reminders that Eugene Drake was appreciated for all that he had done and all that he had been. Dr. Harry W. Rowe, president of the Board of Trustees: Earle N. Vickery, treasurer of the School; and Principal Edward R. Stanley attended the services as representatives of the School.

Dr. Drake is survived by his widow, to whom the School extends its deep sympathy.

1903 — Stuart Goodwin of St. Albans, who prepared for MCI at St. Albans High School and Hartland Academy, was secretary of Amicinian in the fall and spring terms, president during the winter term . . . Carl Stevens of Newport was selected to deliver the class history . . . Fred Higgins of Southwest Harbor was president of the MCI Athletic Association . . . Professors Landman and Jordan were coaches of baseball, with M. H. Elliott as captain. The squad enjoyed a 4-4-1 record, opening with a loss to Freedom Academy on April 23, 7-0. The first home game was played against Hartland Academy on April 25 and resulted in a tie at 11 all. After two more losses, to Higgins Classical Institute, 8-4, and to Freedom Academy, 5-4, MCI broke into the win column with a 14-8 victory over Hartland Academy. The squad then went on to defeat Newport, 19-4, before dropping the second game to Higgins, 12-7. The season closed with two more victories, MCI 14, Hartland 2, and MCI 10,

Lamb '03 and Wynona C. Pushor '03 were superintendents of locals, with Eugene Foster '03 as business manager and Earle N. Vickery '04 as assistant business manager . . 1903 was an historic year, for it marked the first time the school sponsored a basketball team. Winning four of the seven games scheduled, the team managed to defeat each of the schools played. The season opened with an intramural game between the Blacks, under Captain Richardson, and the Whites, under Captain Elliott, with the Blacks victorious, 45-36. In the first interscholastic contest, MCI bowed to Dover and Foxcroft Academy, 40-15, losing a week later to the same squad by a 32-10 score. The first victory came when MCI nipped Coburn Classical Institute, 15-14, with Cook and Richardson each scoring three goals from the field to lead the MCI scoring. MCI then defeated Shaw Business College, 18-14, Foxcroft Academy, 26-8, and Cony High School, 18-4, before losing once more to Foxcroft, 23-20 . . . Alumni notes in the February issue of "The M. C. The squad lost its second game to Kents Hill, 5-0, but won the third from Dexter, 18-0, with Daily scoring twice and Dissell once. In the fourth game, Coburn was the winner, 12-0, but the second team evened matters a bit five days later with a 16-5 win over Foxcroft Academy, with Stacy scoring three times and Walter Haseltine once. The varsity apparently were inspired by the work of the "seconds" and won their next one, 33-0, at the expense of the Eastern Maine Conference Seminary of Bucksport. ## Notes From The Campus

PUBLICATIONS—An appreciably revitalized Talisman, MCI's student newspaper, has been the big news on campus this year in the area of student journalism. Under the active leadership of Miss Adrienne Cyr '59 of Pittsfield, aided by the faculty advisor, Mrs. Carl Rollins, the Talisman staff has earned praise for doing a fine job of reporting the campus scene. The senior yearbook, the Trumpet, has also called forth much effort from its student staff, as well as from the advisor, Norbert Young. Edited this year by Lawrence Dysart, Jr. '59 of Pittsfield (who happens also to be valedictorian of his class), the Trumpet is scheduled to make its appearance on campus late in May.

CHAPELS—Chapel exercises at MCI have been enriched this year by the fine organ music made possible through the purchase of a Baldwin organ last summer. Michael Robinson '60 of Sherman Station has served as chapel organist. The robed chapel choir, under the direction of Allen T. Simons and Mrs. Frances Piper, has also added dignity and charm to the services. The School feels the lack of a suitable chapel, without which daily chapel is virtually impossible and all chapels are held only after a considerable amount of labor has been expended in the conversion of the Gymnasium to an auditorium. Nevertheless, MCI continues to have fine chapel services, which this year have been addressed by the Reverend Bruce Cummings, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pittsfield; the Reverend Paul R. Youngholm, pastor of the High Street Union Church in Newport; the Reverend Ray Blachly, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Pittsfield; and the Reverend Scott Kittredge, pastor of the First Universalist Church of Pittsfield.

ASSEMBLIES—The first special assembly of the new school year was held during the evening of October 15, with Professor Vincent Hartgen of the University of Maine's art department as the featured speaker. Professor Hartgen presented a challenging account of modern art to an audience of students and townspeople, closing his program by doing an impressionistic water color to illustrate some of the points he had made. On Febuary 13, another fine artist, Lewis Gerard of Liverpool, England, a concert organist on tour for the Baldwin Organ Company, presented a concert at MCI on the School's new organ. Mr. Gerard received a tremendous ovation from the students, who very evidently appreciated his remarkable demonstration of the versatility of the organ as well as his consummate skill in producing fine music. As the Alumnus goes to press, tentative plans have been made to present the Washington State Teachers College Glee Club, a talented young group of mixed voices, at a special evening assembly late in May.

ORGANIZATIONS—Sylvia Knowles '59 of Pittsfield was the leader of the Future Homemakers of America, still MCI's largest and certainly one of its most active organizations. Late in April, the Chapter held its annual Parents' Night Banquet in the home economics laboratory in the Cianchette Hall of Science, at which Miss Nancy Sinclair '52, home economics instructor in West Hartford. Conn., was the guest speaker. The Chapter continues to merit the respect of all at MCI and contributes much to the life of the School. Dean Alice Sinclair and Miss Diane Sidelinger, home economics instructors, are advisors to the Chapter. A relatively new organization, the Future Teachers Club, has proved itself in its second year on campus. With Diane Nash '59 of Pittsfield as president and Mrs. Frances Piper, English faculty chairman, as advisor, the group has become one of the most active on campus. The membership, restricted to those interested in the teaching profession as a career, is not large, but it more than makes up in interest that which it may lack in numbers. This year, the club voted to affiliate with the national FTA group. The Humanities Colloquium, with Mrs. Piper and Walter T. Cahill of the English faculty as advisors. has met throughout much of the year and has proved once again to be a stimulating experience for a group of the more talented students with interests in the arts. The French Club, under the leadership of Michael Parker '60 of Pittsfield and Miss Iva Willis '09, instructor in French, has devoted itself to the improvement of the members' grasp of the French language, with emphasis upon oral French.

OUTING CLUB-Again this year, the Outing Club has proved its worth as an addition to the roster of extra-curricula activities at your MCI. Among the features of this year's Outing Club program have been a course in firearm safety, conducted just prior to the opening of the 1958 hunting season. The Club is headed by Dennis Fernald '61 of Islesford, and its advisors are Wallace Cunningham of the science faculty and his assistant, Frank A. MacDonald of the English faculty. The program has included experience and instruction in fly tying, map and compass reading, and general conservation practices, as well as overnight hikes, fishing trips, and a special project—the building of nestboxes for woodduck, a species of tree-nesting duck particularly common on the Sebasticook River.

THE KEY CLUB—MCI's Key Club has received fine leadership this year under President James Edward MacMichael '59 of Pittsfield, with N. Blake Bartlett of the English faculty continuing as faculty advisor. Among the Club's many worthwhile accomplishments have been the sponsorship of a "Go To Church" campaign, a driving safety campaign, and a "Cure Vandalism" campaign. The Club sponsored the annual Thanksgiving Formal, with Miss Nancy Files

'59 of Pittsfield chosen as "Miss Key Club Sweetheart". Later in the year, the Club also sponsored the annual SnoBall, at which Key Clubber Charles Armstrong '59 of Pittsfield and Miss Janet Small '59 of Palmyra were elected Sno-Ball King and Queen. A new American flag, bearing fifty stars, and a contribution of $100 to assist the School in purchasing the new organ were among the many contributions of this group of boys to the welfare of their school. The Key Club year drew to a fitting close with the group receiving four major awards at the annual New England Convention of Key Clubs at Boston in April. The MCI Club won the first place trophy in the "Cure Vandalism" classification—a major award since it represents success in achieving one of Key Club's major objectivesas well as third place ribbons for yearly achievement, monthly report forms, and Club scrapbook. At this New England meeting, John R. Baxter '60 of Pittsfield, lieutenant governor of District 9. was elected New England District treasurer.

Weymouth halls continue to play an important role in the government of resident students. This year Wayne Bickford '59 of Oakland is president of the Alumni Hall Council, with Sherman Lahaie, Jr. '60 of Lewiston (nephew of David Dexter '46) as vice president, and Paul Smith '59 of Jackman as secretary. In Weymouth Hall, the president is Richard Cote '59 of Westbrook, with John Civiello '59 of Millinocket as vice president and Richard Corbin '59 of Natick, Mass., and Roy Vose of Bangor as council representatives.

PRIZE SPEAKING—As the Alumnus goes to press, the date for the annual Manson Prize Speaking Contest is just ahead. In February, the Alumni Speaking Contest, open to members of all classes, with prizes provided by your Alumni Association, was held in Powers Hall. First prizes were won by Kenneth Lane and Marilyn Blanchard, both of Bangor, with second prizes going to William Kittredge of Pittsfield and Sonia Mitchell of Dixmont (daughter of Clarice Garcelon Mitchell '31).

DRAMA—Three one-act plays this year replaced the traditional three-act "school play". Staged on November 24 in Powers Hall, under the direction of Walter H. Cahill of MCI's speech department, an appreciative audience enjoyed "The Twelve Pound Look", the Recognition Scene from "Anastasia", and "How Heather Looks", the last named an original play written by Mr. Cahill. Kenneth Lane '59 of Bangor and Deanna Leavitt '60 of Pittsfield played the leads in "The Twelve Pound Look", while leads in the Recognition Scene were assigned to Marilyn Blanchard '60 of Bangor and Sandra Homstead '60 of Pittsfield (daughter of Frank "Bud" Homstead '35). James Edward MacMichael '59 (son of Alfred McMichael '28) and Miss Blanchard played the leads in "How Heather Looks". In April, the spring plays were presented, with MacMichael and Miss Blanchard starring in "Hands Across the Sea", Lane and Mary Burke '61 of Newport starring in "The Union Forever"-another Cahill original.

MUSIC—The music program continues to prosper under the direction of Allen T. Simons. MCI was well represented in the ranks of the Kennebec Valley Band, Chorus and Orchestra; the Independent Schools Music Festival at Bridgton; and the Eastern Maine Music Festival in Bangor. During the year, music fans have enjoyed another fine Christmas Concert and an excellent Pop Concert.

HONORS PARTIES—Again this year, Principal and Mrs. Stanley have entertained those students named on the quarterly honors lists at the Manson House. Following the first quarter, the special guest at the honors party was William Draper, food technologist at the University of Maine. A native of France, Mr. Draper spoke to the group about the contrast in life and viewpoint of teenagers in France and the United States. The mid-years honors party enjoyed the presence of Dean Robert E. Strider II of Colby College, who gave a stimulating talk on the role of the liberal arts in education. At the third and last honors party of the year, Dr. Elizabeth Depold, a refugee from her native Hungary, was the guest of honor. Dr. Depold, who holds her Ph. D. from the University of Budapest, gave the honors students a vivid account of life in Hungary under the Communist regime and impressed upon them the importance of eternal vigilance in defense of freedom. Her talk was exceptionally well received by the students in attendance. For her part, Dr. Depold expressed her appreciation of the fine calibre of youngster she met at the Manson House. At present, Dr. Depold is a graduate student at the University of Maine, preparing to become a teacher in her adopted homeland.

POSTGRADUATE FOOTBALL

Head Coach Davis Wiggin and Assistant Coach Roderick Cyr met thirty-eight hopefuls at the opening of the 1958 gridiron season. The Preppers started their season strongly with a 20-0 win over Bridgton Academy at North Bridgton on October 4. The second game of the season, however, found the Preppers on the short end of an impressive 36-8 score in a game with the always potent Colby Frosh. MCI came back in the third game of the six game season to defeat the Middies of the Maine Maritime Academy on Manson Park Field, 12-7. Probably the finest win of the season for MCI came in the fifth game, when the Preppers upset a strongly favored, previously undefeated Bowdoin Frosh eleven, 22-8, on October 24. The Maine Frosh handed MCI a bad defeat at Orono on the 31st of October, 32-12, and the season closed on November 8 with a 20-12 win over Brewster Academy, leaving the Preppers with a 4-2 record for the year.

UNDERGRADUATE FOOTBALL

Coach John Shields and his new assistant, Coach Morton Remick, led their 1958 Huskies to a 4-3 record. The season opened with an overwhelming defeat at the hands of Boothbay Regional High School on September 20, with the Huskies on the low end of a 59-0 tally. Despite the handicap of this morale-damaging loss and several major injuries sustained by key players, the squad rallied the next week to defeat Fryeburg Academy, 18-6, at Fryeburg. On October 4, MCI again lost—this time to the Kents Hill School, 13-7. The Huskies bounced back on Parents' Day, October 11, and treated the School's guests to a fine brand of football as they defeated the Higgins Classical varsity, 30-12, on Manson Park Field. Stearns High of Millinocket edged the Huskies, 18-13, in the final minutes of play on October 18, but on October 25, MCI gained revenge for an earlier defeat by dropping the Kents Hill School, 20-14. The season closed with a game in which the results of the opener were very nearly reversed, with MCI on the top side of a 58-7 victory over Williams High of Oakland.

FIELD HOCKEY

Coach Malaka Russell's field hockey varsity enjoyed a 2-2-1 record. The Huskies opened with a 1-0 defeat at the hands of archrival Cony High of Augusta. In their next game, however, the Huskies rallied to defeat the Kents Hill School by the same score. MCI then went on to defeat Wilton Academy, 2-0, before once more bowing to Cony by a 1-0 margin. In the final game of the season, the Huskies played Kents Hill to a 2-2 tie.

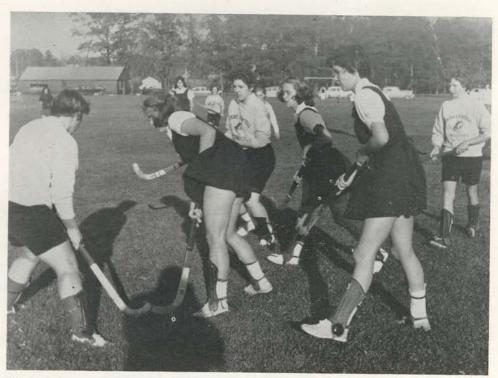

Meanwhile, Coach Russell's jayvee club gave promise of providing good material for the varsity of another year with a 2-1-2 record for the season. The Pups opened with a 1-1 tie with Cony. The second game of the season was also a tie, this time scoreless, against the Kents Hill jayvees. MCI's juniors then defeated the Wilton jayvees, 3-1, before losing to the Cony jayvees, 3-0. In the final game of the season, the Pups defeated the Kents Hill juniors, 3-2.

THEY BROKE THE ICE!

The soccer season made history for MCI, as it closed with the first Husky win since soccer was introduced several years ago. Opening with a 1-0 defeat at the hands of the Kents Hill School, the Huskies dropped their second game to powerful Hebron Academy, 7-0. In the third contest, Coach Rod Smith's charges showed their improvement by holding Kents Hill to a scoreless tie, and in the final game of the season handed Hinckley School a 4-1 defeat. The new sport is proving popular with an encouraging number of boys each fall and promises to play an increasingly important role in the School's fall sports program.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach Norbert Young's hill and dalers entered the 1958 season as defending champions but definitely handicapped by lack of experienced talent. Despite the handicap, the Huskies won three meets. lost two, and tied one before entering the State Meet at the University of Maine. At the State Meet, MCI came up against a remarkably well-balanced Lee Academy squad and had to be satisfied with second place honors. The scoring ran Lee Academy 15, MCI 67, Hebron Academy 72, Hinckley School 108, Kents Hill School 145, and Fryeburg Academy 179. MCI's James MacMichael and Gene Mc-Kenney, 8th and 9th respectively, were the only non-Lee runners in the field of forty-two to break into the first ten. During the regular season, the Huskies defeated Hinckley School, 23-37; Hebron Academy, 17-42; Lawrence High of Fairfield, 24-32; as well as tying Bangor High, 34-34, in a three way meet in which Brewer High trailed with 56. MCI's defeats came at the hands of the Piscataquis Community School, 20-36, and the Maine Frosh, 21-36.

FIELD HOCKEY DRAWS good numbers at MCI each fall—both of competitors and spectators. Under Coach Malaka Russell's leadership, the varsity and jayvee squads turned in some fine performances this year.

POSTGRAD BASKETBALL

Coach John Dana's Preppers were undefeated in Maine prep school competition but found the going rough in college frosh circles during the 1958-59 campaign. The Preppers wound up with a 4-11 record, defeating Bridgton Academy twice, Hebron once, and the Maine Maritime Academy once. During the season, the Huskies tallied 985 to their opponents' 1206.

UNDERGRAD BASKETBALL

If MCI were to award a trophy to the most improved squad, no one could question the decision to honor Coach Rod Cyr's Huskies. The Huskies, winless last year, went into the 1958-59 campaign with very, very few changes in personnel. Opening with a 49-46 win over Foxcroft Academy, the club went on to win the next three before Skowhegan High defeated them, 66-54. When the campaign was over, the Huskies had won 9, lost 7. The home games drew excellent crowds to George Parks Gym, with the MCI-Newport game at the season's end played to standing room only — and not much of that. A feature of the season was the closeness of many of the games, as attested by the fact that the Huskies tallied only 924 to their opponents' 914.

JAYVEE BASKETBALL

The Undergraduate Junior Varsity played a 14 game schedule, winning five and losing nine. The Pups were coached by Vincent Trincia '55, who was a student teacher at MCI during the early winter weeks, for the first two-thirds of the season. Coach Wallace Cunningham, who handled the Pups last year, took over when Vinnie returned to the Orono campus. The Jayvees won double games from Greenville's juniors, single games from the junior clubs at Higgins Classical, Madison High, and Newport High.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

MCI's girls enjoyed one of the best hoop seasons ever, as the varsity posted a 7-2 record and the jayvees a 4-1 record. Coach Jean Pottle's varsity hoopsters opened with a 56-43 win over Higgins Classical. The Huskies dropped their second game, 36-26, to Farmington High School, but then went on to win six in a row. The victims, in order, were Hinckley School 58-34, Kents Hill School 38-35, Crosby High of Belfast 38-27, Hinckley School 38-25, Higgins

THE TREMENDOUS SURGE OF INTEREST in skiing that is one of the phenomena of modern America has its counterpart at MCI, where the new sport is rapidly becoming one of the most popular in the School's entire athletic program. This year Coach Byron Dow's charges gave a good account of themselves in interscholastic competition.

Classical 54-30, and Crosby of Belfast 34-21. In the final game of the season, the Huskies bowed to Kents Hill, 50-43.

Meanwhile, Coach Diane Sidelinger's jayvee club were demonstrating their potential as a supplier of future varsity talent. Opening with a defeat at the hands of Farmington High's jayvees, 36-19, the junior Huskies won their other four games, defeating Vickery School of Pittsfield 41-10, the Crosby High jayvees twice, 15-10 and 23-18, and the Kents Hill jayvees 32-29.

SKIING

The ski team, this year coached by Byron "Bud" Dow, husband of alumni office secretary Alma Ellingwood Dow '40, enjoyed its best season yet and gave promise of even better seasons to come for the Garnet and Black. Highlights of the season came on March 7, when the Huskies were victorious over Stearns High of Millinocket and Bangor High at Millinocket. The Huskies tallied 370.9 to Stearns' 369.2 and Bangor's 347.0, with Mike Parker (son of Ruth Trickey Parker '36) and Kenton Wright (son of Lawrence Wright '40) placing first in the slalom and downhill, respectively. The Huskies also defeated Winthrop High School in a dual meet, 380.4 to 352.9, with Parker taking firsts in the downhill, slalom, and cross country. The squad placed fourth at the Kents Hill Winter Carnival, which the host school won handily. MCI also lost to the Piscataquis Community School at Guilford—through having only two jumpers entered—334.91 to 362.88. The season's wind-up came on March 15, when MCI placed second behind Bangor High and in front of Stearns of Millinocket at the annual Golden Skis Race at Bald Mountain in Holden.

INDOOR TRACK

Once more MCI managed to have an unusually strong indoor track record, despite the complete lack of facilities for indoor training. The Huskies placed second in the field of twelve at the annual New England Preparatory School Track Meet, held at Phillips Andover. The host school won the meet with 42 points, while MCI placed second with 26. The remarkable feature of MCI's record at the New Englands is the fact that Coach Norbert Young had only three men entered! Robert Parris, former Malden High star and New England dash champion, was the outstanding individual performer at the meet, winning the 40 yard dash and the 40 yard high hurdles and placing in the high jump. Parris tied the meet record in the dash and the Andover cage record in the hurdles. John Curtis of Brunswick tied for first in the high jump at 5' 10", equaling Mayo Seekins's record at MCI which has stood since 1924. Lee Baptista of New Bedford, Mass., won the shot put at 48' 11"—a toss some five feet less than his potential.

In the only other meet of the abbreviated season, Coach Young's squad placed second in a triangular meet at the University of Maine. The Maine Frosh won with 522/3 points, while MCI had 481/2 and Portland High School 26. Again Parris was the meet's standout performer, winning the 50 yard dash and the 45 yard high hurdles, placing second in the low hurdles and fourth in the highjump. Other first place winners for the Huskies were Richard Cote of Westbrook in the discus, John Curtis of Brunswick in the broadjump and a tie for first in the highjump, and Lee Baptista of New Bedford in the shot put.

RIFLE TEAMS

MCI's rifle range has been an active spot this winter, as interest in the new sport has resulted in organizing four squads under Coaches Harold Goodwin and Frank Haseltine '40. There are junior and senior squads for both boys and girls. Still organized on an intramural basis, the squads enjoy competition with one another, with projected faculty-student matches in May as "the ones to win."

MCI BUILDERS 1958

The retirement of the mortgage on school property assumed in connection with the construction of the Cianchette Hall of Science and a substantial beginning on the replacement of the School's endowment funds—these are two major projects for which the MCI Builders may claim appreciable credit. This year the Builders' contribution to the welfare of MCI was an impressive $8,780.00.

MCI expresses its gratitude to the Builders, whose gifts in the amount of $100 or more constitute important support of the School and its entire program.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Just a simple little greeting, Not a great work of art, But with gratitude and loyality It comes straight form the hear

One day in June, fifty years ago, Came the parting of the ways For the class of nineteen hundred eight, With naught but words of praise.

For our Alma Mater, MCI And our teachers, whose kindness and love Directed our thoughts like a beacon bright,
To that safe, peaceful Haven above.

A helping hand ever extended To guide us on our way. It is with most sincere devotion That we pay homage to them today.

Amidst the gaiety and laughter There crept a feeling of sadness, too For the time had come for classmates To bid a fond adieu.

Down the swiftly flowing River of Time, We have wended our destined ways, And tho' passing shadows may have touched each life, May there be only sunshine today.

Fifty years! A golden chain of memories For each one gathered here; Memories each heart will cherish Throughout the coming years.

memories have moments sadness,
In this world of pain and strife,
Now our thoughts turn to those who have left us,
For a fuller and richer life.

faith, and bright hopes for the future,
May we meet, an unbroken band,
At that last Great Reunion,
In a better and fairer land.

MAINE CENTRAL INSTITUTE

Alumni Association
PITTSFIELD, MAINE

April 16, 1959

Dear Fellow Alumni:

When your nominating committee nominated me to the alumni vice-presidency in the summer of 1957, I had no idea that I would be writing this letter as a member of the MCI faculty. As such, I find that my viewpoint as well as several opinions have changed considerably. MCI, in my consideration, based upon my sojourn here, has been a top quality school.

Now I find that MCI has improved and expanded in any sense or department by which you may wish to measure it. Physically, the school has grown in enrollment, faculty, and in classroom space and equipment. Academically, without exception, the courses are more scholarly, and the curriculum offers a greater variety of subjects.

A case in point might well be the library facilities. The improvement here since graduation in 1940 was one of the first items that caught my attention upon returning. Shortly, MCI will have an entire new library building, and the library is truly the heart of any center of learning.

The trend toward extending the extra-curricula activities to all, rather than to a few, is highly commendable. It is obvious to me that it has only been through the continued interest and generosity of our alumni that so many of these improvements have been accomplished.

I sincerely hope that on August 1st, all of you who possibly can will return for the reunion activities and see for yourselves how MCI has progressed. The class of 1909 will be the guests of honor at the annual banquet. Let's all come and make this an affair to remember.

Sincerely yours,

Frank T. Haseltine '40

President, MCI Alumni Association
