

St. Michael-Albertville World Language Philosophy

Students acquire both linguistic skills and cultural empathy through world language learning in a student-centered environment where students feel safe to take risks learning the language. Students should be involved in creative and authentic use of the target language. Students will be to communicate in meaningful and appropriate ways.

DRAFT