

Mrs. Meyer's class at LAMS has taken an interest in the Middle School's maple trees that grow out in front of the building. Mr. Maholick, a seasoned maple tapper, offered his skills to teach the students how to tap the maple trees. In the classroom, students learned about the process a maple tree goes through to produce the sap and what steps need to be taken to turn the sap into maple syrup. The students assisted Mr. Maholick in tapping a few of the maple trees and look forward to harvesting the sap and creating some yummy maple syrup in the future.
