

On behalf of the administration and the faculty of the Lehigh Area School District, we would like to congratulate the newest National Honor Society inductees. Induction into this Honor Society is an extraordinary accomplishment, and is a recognition of their years of hard work and service within our schools. As Lehigh Area High School National Honor Society Members, they are the leaders of their class, and represent the very best of our school and School District.

The Daniel I. Farren Chapter is built on the four pillars: Scholarship, Service, Leadership, and Character. The goals of this chapter are to:

1. establish an enthusiasm for scholarship
2. create a desire to render service to others
3. promote leadership within your community and
4. develop character serving as role models for your student peers.

Our 2020-2021 National Honor Society (NHS) Inductees are:

Megan Aaron
Zander Bauer
Madison Brown
Rylie Bryfogle
Jenna Gasker
McKenna Geary
Lydia Gowin
Kira Hartman
Callie Hayman

Jennifer Everett will be our Speaker for the NHS Induction. She was a 2010 graduate of Lehigh Area High School and NHS member. After graduation, she completed a bachelor's degree at Drexel University and then spent a few years in both China and Chile working with early-stage start-up companies. In total, she has visited over 25 countries and learned three languages.

Most recently, Everett was in San Francisco working at big technology companies like IBM, Google, and Uber until she moved back home to Lehigh, early this year, to renovate and re-open the Maple Tree tennis club, renaming it Valley Royale.
