

St. Anthony

Husky Times Magazine

2022-2023

Middle School

Cover by Autumn Crew

National Day of Silence

National day of silence is a day dedicated to see what the world would look like without the LGBTQIA+ community's voices. We celebrate this day to remember LGBTQIA+ people that have been oppressed for so many years.

Think of it like taking a moment of silence, but for a whole day.

This day is celebrated by LGBTQIA+ individuals and allies that choose to not speak for the whole day unless necessary. Day of silence is normally celebrated on the second Friday of April because in 1996 University of Virginia students organized the first Day of Silence. Since then, the National Day of Silence has been observed each year in April.

This year at SAMS we celebrated it a few days late because of after school events. At SAMS this year, 6th, 7th, and 8th grade language arts teachers provided masks with x's to show that you are not going to talk. Anyone could participate, but it was not required. If you see someone with a mask on please do not try to make them talk.

If you want to learn more or have any questions, checkout <https://gsafewi.org/resources/> or email Ms. Kruger at: mkruger@isd282.org or me alliepotts2029@isd282.org

Qibli

Our Worst Enemy

Age: 5 years

Gender: Male

Winglet: Jade

Tribe: Sandwings (one of the stuped ones)

Why we hate Qibli

Too nice. It gets to a point that he's basically worshipping everyone. Too funny, his jokes are bad and he should die in a hole. He likes Moon too much, he is stalking her. The scar on his nose is too ugly, because it's across his nose, everyone says he can smell but he can't. He's not mean, he's too much of a good guy. Too smart, no comment. He is obsessed with Winter, I think that he likes Winter. Thinks too much, all his thoughts are so stuped. Moon is the only one who thinks he's cool. Stuped Moon should date Winter instead! He thinks about magic too much, he should DIEEEEEEEEE. He's too desperate for people to like him. He is as dumb as a brick because he thinks his ideas are unique, but they are NOT EVER smart. Everyone feels bad for him because his family hates him, but every dragon's parents are either royalty or hate them.

Stupidity levels

9.5/10

He gives darkstalker to many ideas. NOT FUNNY HIS JOKES ARE BAD, PERIOD! All he thinks about is Moon. He's stuped because he likes winter.

ABOUT THE OWNERS

The owners of this beautiful paper are Willow, Autumn, Alice, and editor Vivien. We are criticizing all the Wings of Fire charters because we can (we don't actually hate them)! Don't judge us, please. We are in 6th grade and we all have read Wings of Fire.

Activity Night!

May 19th, 6:00pm-8:00pm

The theme is under the stars!

Dress code is space/galaxy themed, you can wear black and/or white

There will be games, dancing, volleyball, a movie, and food!

Entry fee-$5.00

Volleyball team playing fee-$15.00

Spirit Week!

May 15th-19th

Monday, May 15th: Twin Day!

Tuesday, May 16th: Anything but a
Backpack Day!

Wednesday, May 17th: PJ Day!

Thursday, May 18th: Rhyme
Without Reason Day!

Friday, May 19th: Wear Galaxy,
Black, and/or White Clothes to School Day!

Find more info on the weekly
annoucement slides!

THE HEIR

BY LUCY WOJCIECHOWSKI

Dark branches curled around the hooded figure. The moon was nothing but a sliver of light floating in the sky. It was the perfect time to strike. Even the crickets were quiet; it felt like the world was holding its breath. However, a small village flickered in the distance warmly, calling people in from the cold forest. The figure was drawn in, and soon laughter and chatter filled the air around them. Although the establishment was big and the townspeople merry, the figure was far from where they needed to be. Their destination loomed dangerously in the distance, but the figure was not intimidated.

Merchants at stalls called out, trying to advertise their wares before their rivals could net a sale. Instead of being persuaded by the sketchy merchants, the figure quickly turned left into the local bar. Men and women alike were drinking like there was no tomorrow, and laughing and crying alike. There were also many people sleeping in their chairs and on the ground. The figure cursed under their breath and stepped over the drunkards. They found an empty barstool and sat down.

A bartender quickly walked over. He has a rough beard and a bigger belly than most. He was actively cleaning a glass.

"Busy night, isn't it?" The figure asked.

"Sure is. You're welcome to take off the hood, we don't report any crimes here, since we know certain effects we provide can cause them." The bartender said, laughing gruffly at the last part. It was obvious that he didn't know that the figure in front of him was about to tear apart his kingdom.

"So, a glass of wine? Or maybe some beer or liquor if you're feeling adventurous tonight." The bartender asked when the figure didn't respond.

"I don't drink." The figure responded.

"Is it too hard for you?" The bartender snickered.

"No, I just prefer to stay sober and not become easy to manipulate." The figure said, nodding over to a sobbing, red faced customer handing over a handful of gold to a grinning man.

"I guess that's fair." The bartender coughed. "So water?"

"That sounds good to me."

As the bartender walked away, the figure unsheathed a hidden dagger on his waist, and it gleamed in the firelight. It looked newly sharpened and polished, and had a slight curve to it. They then sheathed it before the bartender returned. He put a glass of water on the counter in front of the figure.

"So, I haven't seen you around these parts. What are you here for?" The bartender questioned.

The figure smiled coldly under his hood. "Business."

To read more, click HERE

11 Asian American History Moments You Should Know

-Time Magazine

From left to right: United Farm Workers (UFW) officer Julio Hernandez, UFW director Larry Itliong, and Cesar Chavez at the 1966 Huelga Day march in San Francisco. Gerald L. French—Corbis/Getty Images

30 Revolutionary Asians and Pacific Islanders to Celebrate for AAPI Heritage Month

-Negra Bohemian

Artwork/art collage done by Heidi Kang for revival issue of Gidra zine, Photo Courtesy by Los Angeles Magazine.

Learn about the history of the fight for equality on the Asian Americans for Equality website

Build your reading list and expand your mind by checking out these books written by AAPI authors.

Check out some fabulous tunes written, produced, and performed by AAPI musicians.

New Announcements

If you put any work into the Husky Times, you will be entered in a drawing for a prize!

Winners from the last issue:

Aline Hutton
Latu Baisa
Stella Sawyer

Stop by Ms. Kruger's room before school, after school, or during PAWS to claim your prize!

Writing prompt

You walk outside and notice a cold wind

AAPI Trivia! Play to WIN.