

Taipei American School Upper School English Department Summer Reading Texts & Semester Texts 2023-2024

Writers of classical antiquity understood the unique quality of art, its capacity to delight and instruct. The hearers of tales, the audiences in the theaters, and, centuries later, the readers of books – all immersed in story – emerged transformed from their experience with literature. The Taipei American School English Department follows this venerable tradition and hopes our students, too, will be enriched by and find pleasure and knowledge in the books they read. The titles listed for each course (see below) have been selected for that purpose. Students should anticipate that in August, at the beginning of school, teachers will give an evaluated in-class written assessment about the course-specific books required for summer reading.

ALL STUDENTS:

Students must purchase their books. Please make sure to purchase the specific edition listed of each text. Unless otherwise noted, all books should be obtained as soon as possible, ideally by the beginning of the school year. Students should allot the appropriate amount of time for a book shipment to arrive and should not rely on last minute purchases at local bookstores, which may or may not have enough copies of a particular book. Books highlighted in red do not need to be purchased at this time.

A note on Kindles: An assigned book may be purchased and read via Kindle only if so indicated; students are not permitted to use e-texts on their laptops, tablets, or phones in the classroom.

NEW STUDENTS:

Please select two texts from your grade level and what you anticipate your course will be. For instance, if you are entering grade 11 and expect to enroll in a college preparatory course, but you are uncertain if it will be World Literature or American Literature, choose the one that is most likely. Teachers will be flexible when they give their in-class assessments. It is possible that some students will not know their final placement in English classes until school begins in August. When classes begin, your teachers will, if necessary, make arrangements for assessment of the summer texts you read. We encourage parents of these students to buy any available edition of summer reading books so students can read and be prepared. They will still need to purchase the correct edition of semester texts.

STUDENTS with TWO ENGLISH COURSES:

Students who have two English classes must read both texts for one course of their choice, with the exception of students taking Advanced Placement (AP) or International Baccalaureate (IB) courses, who must read the summer texts for these courses. They may, of course, read four books--the two works for both classes.
