PBIS Recognition Descriptions

Snack Bar Coupons: Teachers and Administration distribute $1 Coupons redeemable at the Snack Bar. These coupons can be used toward any purchase during lunch time. This is a high frequency recognition, and teachers are given 10 coupons per semester to distribute as they see fit to students following the PBIS matrix.

Bus Rewards: All bus drivers are given 5 tickets per month. These tickets are passed out to students who are following the PBIS expectations on the bus. The students receiving these tickets and take them to the office to exchange for a Snack Bar Coupon.

Lunch Early Outs: Each teacher nominates one student per week to leave class early for lunch. This student is given an additional 5 minutes of lunch time on Thursday (Pizza Day). The teacher selects the students who exemplify PBIS expectations in the classroom.

Indian Pride Cards: Teachers complete these cards for students who are following the PBIS Matrix anywhere on campus. The cards are turned into the principal to be signed and then sent to the home of the student via mail. This recognition is given at any time and any frequency throughout the year.

Lunch Electronics: All students are allowed to use electronic devices during lunch, when the entire student body has had fewer than 5 tardies overall and 96% or better attendance for the week.

Student of the Month: One female and one male student from each grade are selected as exemplar models of PBIS expectations. Teachers nominate these students to the PBIS team, who selects the final students for each month. The students who are selected are recognized on a bulletin board in the high school, on the school website, and in posts to the high school Facebook page. The students are also given a recognition certificate and a coupon for free pizza on pizza day.
