

Rattler Round-Up

May/June 2023

Dear MES families,

As we approach the end of another successful academic year, I am thrilled to reflect on our accomplishments and share our vision for the future. At Minden Elementary, we are committed to providing an exceptional educational experience that prepares our students for the challenges and opportunities of the 21st century. We continue to drive our EPIC work forward by building positive school and class culture while focusing on a learner centered environment. We have also moved towards developing responsive instructions within our classrooms. I would like to take this opportunity to discuss project-based learning as a key aspect of our school's approach.

Project Based Learning is a teaching method in which students gain knowledge and skills by working for an extended period of time to investigate and respond to an authentic, engaging, and complex question, problem, or challenge. We believe that when students actively engage in hands-on projects and collaborative problem-solving, they develop a deeper understanding of the subject matter and acquire essential skills such as critical thinking, collaboration, creativity, and effective communication. Project Based Learning unleashes a contagious, creative energy among students and teachers.

Throughout the year, our dedicated MES teachers have incorporated some project-based learning opportunities into their lessons, allowing students to explore topics in a meaningful and exciting way. This year, our students have been fortunate to participate in our talking Art Show, 100 days of school activities, and are currently preparing for the Cardboard Challenge in June. In isolated opportunities, some classrooms are researching a monarch waystation to create, conserve, and protect monarch habitats. Other students are working with published authors on their own Young Authors Project. Through these experiences, we have witnessed the tremendous benefits of this approach, as our students have demonstrated increased motivation, enthusiasm, and a genuine thirst for knowledge. In order to foster a love for learning that extends far beyond the classroom wall, we will continue to prioritize project-based learning across all grade levels and subject areas as an integral part of our curriculum for the 2023-2024 school year.

In pursuit of this vision, we will invest in professional development opportunities for our staff. Additionally, we will collaborate with parents and the wider community to establish meaningful partnerships that enrich educational experiences and provide valuable resources for our students.

We are excited about the possibilities that lie ahead, and we are grateful for your ongoing support and dedication to our students' education. Wishing you all a restful and rejuvenating summer break

Summer Activities

Mrs. Goering, Counselor

- Create a summer routine! (Routines provide structure and safety for kids)
- Make healthy choices! (eating healthy foods and enforcing a bedtime will help your child's mental health)
- Explore a new hobby! (hobbies are like vegetables, kids may have to try them a couple of times before they like them)
- Go outside (Vitamin D is good for children's bones and moods)

Summer Reading Strategies from Mrs. Miller

MES Families,

I can't believe we are at the end of the year newsletter already. It feels like this school year went by so much faster than years past. What a year of growth we have had this year. This year we spent most of the spring semester focusing on reevaluating the way we teach reading to our primary students, and I am so excited for our next school year!

Over the summer, I would like to encourage all of you to work with your children. Without practice most children will experience the "summer slide" which means they don't retain their skills. When they come back in the fall they are having to relearn a lot of the skills they mastered the year before. Some resources that you could use with your child is MyLexia and Discovery Ed., both of these resources are found on your child's launch pad. The school is able to check out a chromebook to you for the summer if you need one.

The most important thing you can do with your child is allow them the time to read 20 minutes per day. Their vocabulary will grow immensely. For children who struggle with reading we have another great resource, Learning Ally. Learning Ally is a platform for audiobooks; your child can read books that they are interested in with the support of the audio to help with those harder words. If your child cannot log in to Learning Ally please email me at dmiller2@dcasd.k12.nv.us.

If you are a parent of a preschool student to first grade student focus on rhyming, nursery rhymes, and the sounds the letters make. Using letter names can be very confusing for students so if you focus on the sounds that make up the word "cat", your child will have most of the beginning skills for reading. When your child is trying to sound out a word, have them cover up some of the word and read it part by part. This skill is also helpful for reading multisyllabic words or words that have more than one syllable. It can be overwhelming for children to read all the parts at once.

For parents with children in grades 2-5 please focus on asking questions about what your child is reading. For example, who are the characters in the story? Where and when does the story take place? Tell me what happens in the beginning, middle and end? What lesson are the characters trying to learn in this story? Can you apply that lesson to your life? In addition, helping your child visualize the story or create pictures of what you are reading while you are reading it can drastically improve their overall reading comprehension.

Thanks for sharing your kiddo with us this year! We are so lucky to have the students we have here at MES. Enjoy your summer and I look forward to seeing you all back here in the fall!

Happy Reading,

Damasa Miller
Learning Strategist

FROM THE OFFICE OF NURSE TAWNY

HELLO Spring

Spring has finally arrived! As have our seasonal allergies. Here are a few ways to help distinguish allergies from a cold.

Symptoms	Cold	Allergy
Cough	Usually	Rarely
Aches and pains	Sometimes	Never
Fatigue and weakness	Sometimes	Sometimes
Itchy eyes	Rarely	Usually
Sneezing	Usually	Usually
Sore throat	Usually	Rarely
Runny and or stuffy nose	Usually	Usually
Fever	Rarely	Never

As the end of the year approaches please reach out to me to coordinate a time to pick up any medications your child may have in my office.

EPIC means impressive or remarkable. EPIC learning is Douglas County School District's framework for personalized learning as we work to empower, prepare, inspire, and form deeper connections with our learners. I hope that every learner at MES has had an EPIC school year.

As the school year comes to a close, your student may be bringing home important artifacts from his/her learning this year. Take time to look through these items with your learner such as their Badge Book/Data Notebook, Roadmap(s) and Learner Profile. Reflection is an important part of learning. As you look through the learning artifacts your child is bringing home, you will want to ask your learner these questions about his/her school year:

What did you enjoy learning about this year?

What was something challenging for you this year? What strategies helped you deal with this challenge?

What do you want to learn more about?

What are your favorite memories from this school year?

I hope by having this conversation you are able to hear about the accomplishments and growth your child has made this school year.
