You started the journey wearing a purple jumpsuit and carrying a Barbie lunch box. Stepping onto the bus, no longer a baby, you entered a whole new world. One filled with lost pudding, morning programs, and field trips. Determined and focused, you marched forward, and the years moved quickly. Walking into High School, no longer a child, you entered a bigger world. One filled with cheerleading, reports and hours of homework and studying. Determined and focused, you marched forward, and the years moved quickly. Now, your purple jumpsuit replaced with a cap and gown and the small hand that once proudly held the Barbie lunch box holds a diploma just the same. I proudly watch you, now a young lady, enter yet a bigger world. One with challenges you will master, goals you will accomplish and dreams that will come true. For me the years moved too quickly, for you not quick enough, yet your journey continues. As you enter this new world, should you feel nervous or unsure, just remember that little girl wearing a purple jumpsuit and carrying a Barbie lunch box and march forward as determined and focused as she did when she stepped onto that bus for the first time. Love you bigger (Yes way!) Mom

As you leave the security of BP life may we give you some advice "For Future Reference".

Life is too short to waste time! Discover your passion then pursue it! Don't sit out, DANCE! Smell the flowers and look at the man in the moon. Believe in miracles! Remember today is special, don't take it for granted. Live a good honorable life. Be loyal.

You don't have to win every argument! Don't compare your life with others, it doesn't matter. Believe who you see in the mirror. However good or bad a situation is, it will change. No one is in charge of your happiness but you. Make peace with your past so it won't screw up the present. Invest your energy in positive present moments. Save money! Spend some but not all you have! Never buy on a credit card more than you can pay off in one month! Remember that silence is sometimes the best answer. Trust your instincts, especially when you feel unsafe. There's so much to see and more to accomplish!

> we become the self-confident, responsible intelligent, determined young lady you set out to be!

I cannot believe my baby is graduating!! It seems like only yesterday it was your kindergarten screening and you were asked where your ankle was and you didn't know!! I thought, oh great, he will never be allowed into school. Now look at you, a senior who has almost always made the principal's list throughout your years. We are so very, very proud of you. It sure didn't matter that you had no idea where your "talus" was located!

> All our love, Mom, Dad and Bethany
