SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In September 1935, a group of potential geniuses crossed the portals into the realm of Broadalbin High School. The evident superiority of the Class of '36 was a bit dented when we Freshmen took our initiation with such good sportsmanship.

We chose Miss Winne as adviser to direct our first year along with President, Agnes Olmstead; Vice-President, Ross Lyman; Secretary, Millicent Cruthers; Treasurer, Edythe Underwood; Reporter, Lillian Frasier; Student Council, Victor Kibler and Gladys Brown. We did not have any Freshman Play but instead had a card party to earn money for our Washington trip which we were looking forward to already. To enlarge our fund further we also sold polishing cloths and playing cards during the year. Our leaders during the second term were President, Howard Goodemote; Vice-President, Donald Milroy; Secretary, Allison McLouth; Treasurer, Mary Groff; Reporter, Veru Allen; Student Council, Curtis Street and Josephine Rebisz. At the close of the year we had a picnic at Lansings. Swimming, golf and especially rowing were enjoyed by all.

Passing from a green Freshman to a confident Sophomore in a few months, we felt more important on entering the Sophomore Class. Our leaders for this year were President, Lillian Frasier; Vice-President, Gladys Brown; Treasurer, Gladys Weiss; Secretary, Anna Stecyk. During the year Lillian left school and Gladys became President. At a special meeting Mary Groff was elected Vice-President. A movie was given at the Cozy Theatre and a dance was given at the school both which added greatly to our bank account. Instead of a picnic this year our class and a few guests motored in the school bus to Howe Caverns.

As Juniors we now felt quite privileged. Miss Hager did not return to school this year so Miss Winne was asked to join the Senior Class as advisor. We were sorry to lose her but we gained an equally capable adviser, Miss Suits. We elected Officers for first and second terms as follows: President, Claire Jennings(1), Curtis Street(2); Vice-President, Gladys Brown (1), Gwendolyn Dawe (2); Secretary, Anna Stecyk(1), Hugh Jennings (2); Treasurer, Edythe Underwood(1), Hugh Jennings (2); Reporter, Millicent Cruthers(1), Mary Groff(2). Along with many other activities, including a dance, the class presented a three-act mystery play, "The Night Owl," in which a lot of hidden talent was discovered. We learned this year that our long-dreamed-of Washington trip was discontinued but we did decide to take a trip to the World's Fair in our Senior year.

At last came our Senior year with all its prestige. We now could take great pleasure in the initiation. As usual we chose very capable and hard-working leaders who were President, Anna Stecyk; Vice-President, Hugh Jennings; Secretary, Millicent Cruthers; Treasurer, Gwendolyn Dawe. Mrs. Stillman joined Miss Suits this year as advisor. Our first activity this year was our play, "Hold Everything." Without being a braggart I can readily say that this was one of the best plays ever put on in school because we were joined with the Juniors in producing it. As a climax to this swiftly moving year we went to the New York World's Fair on Decoration weekend and had the finest time ever.

We have now settled down to studying for exams so that we can keep up our good record and graduate with honors. We are all anxious to get out into the world and find our places but we do hate to leave our classmates, swell teachers and good old B.H.S.

—Millicent Cruthers.

The Story

"Hold Everything," a story of intrigue and romance, begins when two young moderns whom the fates have decreed must marry, decide to dislike each other, even though they have never met. They stop over night at the same tourist home in their endeavor to run away from each other. Under fictitious names, they fall violently in love with each other and, of course, things grow exciting. However, they become embroiled with bank robbers who take themselves seriously, much to the amusement of everyone. The girl's father comes on the scene not knowing it is his bank that has been robbed. The robbers plan to trade cars with a group of aspiring young movie actresses, who in their estimation are on their way to stardom. A colored servant finds herself in possession of the stolen money. Just as the robbers are about to escape they are captured and taken away. The young lovers learn each other's real names and are planning a marriage as the curtain falls.

JUNIOR CLASS

President: Ernest Whipple

Secretary: Pauline Sherman

Vice President: John Hrinishin

Treasurer: Howard Goodemote

Advisers: Mrs. Jeffords and Mr. Heagle

The Junior Class opened their activities with the presentation of the Armistice Day program in assembly on November 10. They joined with the Seniors in the production of the Junior-Senior Play on the evenings of November 3 and 4. The Juniors included in the cast were Alice Jean Deuel, Robert Coulombe, Jacqueline Seward, Dorothy Syzdek, Pauline Sherman, Richard Trevett and Frederick Dorman.

In the Spring term they sponsored a dance on April 27 in the High School Auditorium featuring the Isle of Blues Orchestra with card playing in the cafeteria. During the year the Juniors won the Intramural Volley Ball Tournament and had John Hrinishin selected as a member of the All-Star Team for our Basketball League.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The rising young SOPHS present an autobiography dating back to the time of their high school entrance.

The first few weeks of high school were a time of excited superiority for after all, weren't we just in high school? Then came initiation week. Of course our high morality was slightly injured but mind you, slightly. We could take, and we had to act horribly repulsive, at some times, to the inflictions passed upon us, so that certain upper classmen might not be denied their customary jokes and pranks.

Our class advisers were Mrs. Stillman and Miss Paris. The class officers for the year 1938 were as follows:

President: Harland Jeffords
Vice President: Melvin Holt

Secretary: Leona Whipple
Treasurer: Jack Goodemote

We had a very successful dance, thus producing the desired effect in our treasury. Assembly programs were given by our class as was the custom of every class. At the end of the year we had a very enjoyable party at Lansings. Under the careful guidance of our class advisers we became Sophomores.

Our class advisers this year are Mr. Smith and Miss Paris. Our class officers for this year are as follows:

President: Jack Goodemote
Vice President: Martin Rebisz

Secretary: Leona Whipple
Treasurer: Beverly Van Der Sluys

We are planning a dance for as yet we have not made use of our privileges of the school building for one night of the year. We might mention here that there was a sleigh ride we did not have. The man was there to take us but there were not enough Sophomores present.

Naturally we all want to come through the final examinations on top but as in a story, there are those who are in the tragic cast who do not survive the horrors of the villain as do those who live happily ever after, so there will perhaps be a few to play a tragic part, thus making the heroes stand out more brilliantly. "Watch their smoke next year." We Sophs have the spirit if not the intellect.

With the deepest respect we wish the Seniors of 1939, as they go out into the world, the happiness and good fortune in success that is rightfully theirs.

FRESHMAN CLASS

President: Janice Seward
Vice President: Leon Horton
Secretary: Viola Foss

Treasurer: Jay Richardson
Reporter: Melvin Kenyon
Adviser: Miss Winne

The organization meeting of the Freshman Class was held in September, when the above officers were elected. Activities included: initiation, an assembly program consisting of two plays, selling Christmas cards, tablets, and pencils.

BROADALBANIAN

THE BROADALBANIAN

Advisers: Mr. Heagle, Mrs. Stillman and Miss Winne

At the beginning of the school year a staff, headed by Anna Stecyk, was appointed for the issuing of the Broadalbin School paper. It was decided to produce an issue at the end of each month with yearly subscriptions of twenty-five cents and single copies being sold for five cents each.

The staff has labored to improve their production and the results of their work are very commendable. Excellent work has been turned in by the art, typing and mimeographing staffs which has formed the basis of the improvement in the paper. The cooperation of all students in this work is very much appreciated by the faculty advisers.

ΠΔΓ

PI DELTA GAMMA

Advisers: Miss Suits and Mrs. Stillman

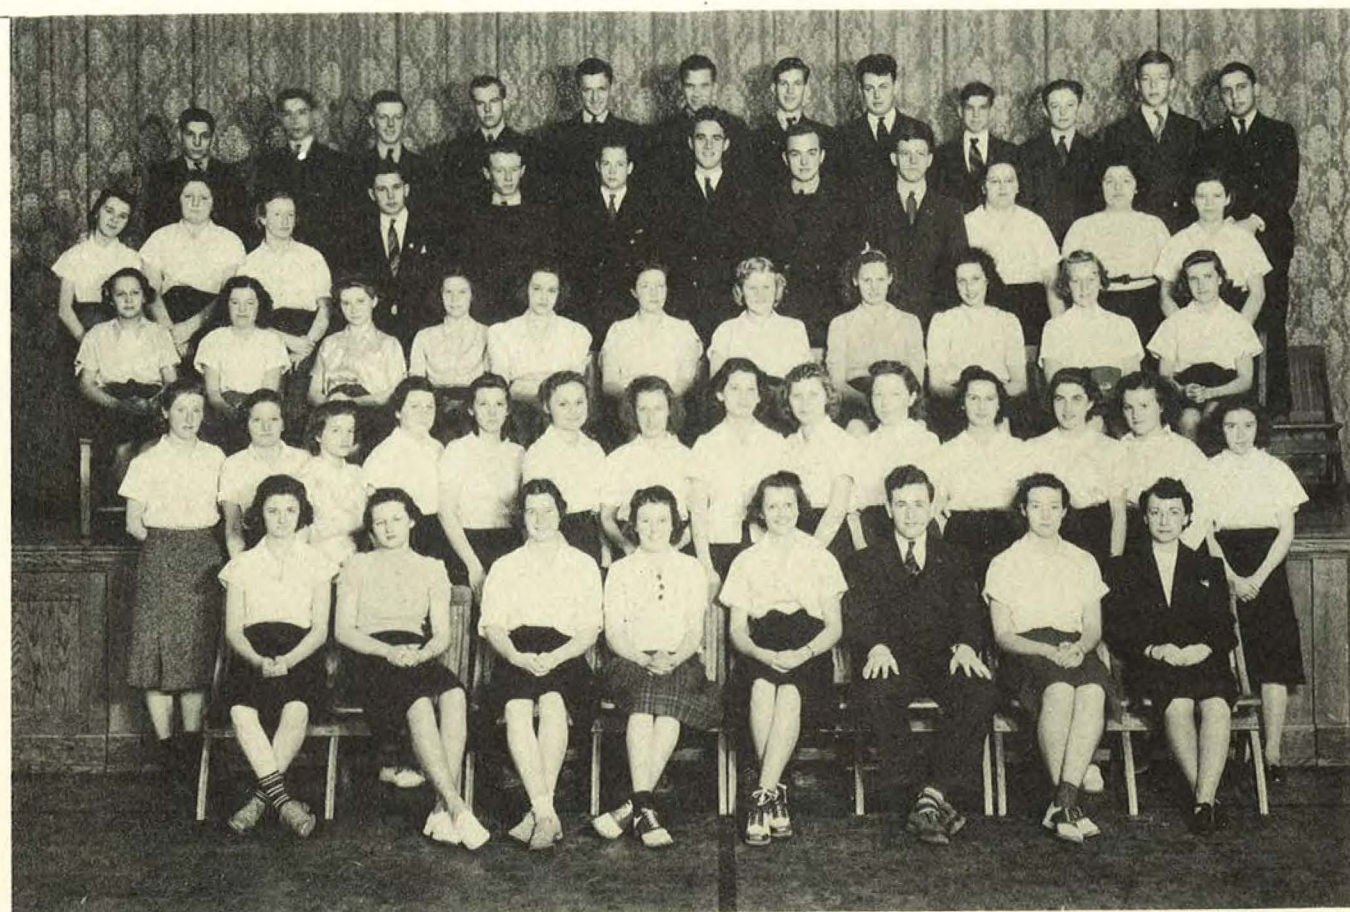

Pi Delta Gamma Sorority was organized April 7, 1937. The present officers are:

BOY SCOUT TROOP NO. 51

Scoutmaster: Clarence A. Heagle
 Assistant Scoutmaster: Lewis R. Smith

This troop has been sponsored by the Robert Lee Walsh Post of the American Legion and the Broadalbin Central School. The members attended the Army-Franklin Marshall Football Game at West Point and participated in the 12th Annual Scoutcraft Exposition of the Sir William Johnson Council held in Gloversville March 23, 24 and 25.

Meetings have been held in the Grade School Building semi-monthly. A Court of Honor was held in Broadalbin in November and during the year an Explorer Patrol and Cub Pack were organized. Richard Baker, Alan Seward and Jay Richardson have become first class scouts during the past year. A local Board of Review has been organized with six members to meet on the last Monday of each month.
