The KENNYETTO KRONICLE

FOREWORD

THE KENNYETTO KRONICLE seeks to record the activities of BROADALBIN HIGH SCHOOL and to make the days that the students spent here, happy ones to remember.

This book has been a responsibility to many of us and we hope that future classes will take up the same task. We feel that we have done our best.

We wish to acknowledge our appreciation to Mrs. Jeffords, our class adviser, for time and patience; to Mr. Perkins, our principal, for the time granted us to work on it; to the Board of Education; to the faculty; to the various school classes and organizations; to our advertisers; to Mr. Pursell, our photographer; to the Oliver-Kahse Company; an to the Leader-Republican, whose advise and interest have played a large part in what ever success this yearbook may attain.

То FLORENCE JEWELL JEFFORDS the Class of 1936 gratefully dedicates this book

CLASS ALPHABET

A is for Al, our hero, not slow. B. Buell and Baird, to whom honors go. C is for Czupryk, who adores a dark lass. D is for Dorothy, we have two in the class. E is for Ed. our apt mathematician. F is for Fletcher, with lots of ambition. G is for Genie, who acquires all the boys. H is for Hazel, who makes lots of noise. I is for Inky, our mascot you see. J is for Jennings, a big pest is he. K is for Kathryn, the light curley head. L is for Lewis, who is dangerous, it's said.

M is for Mary, Moore and me. N is the nuisance, we have all proved to be. O is our optimist, happy and gay. P is our pessimist, right the other way. Q is the qualms, we as Seniors now feel. R is for Rockwell, who talks a great deal. S is for Smitty, of basketball fame. T is for Tesse, from the country she came. U is for Utch, a wonderful pal. V is for Vandenburg, a very nice gal. W is for Weiss, with wise winning ways. X, Y, Z, for our bright, future days. LILLIAN EATON

In September, 1932, our class entered a new world (high school), awkward, terrified and green. We always seemed to be in the way of the upper classmen and nothing we did was proper.

Our first horror, which appears annually to all Freshman Classes, was initiation. We were stage struck, at first, but we soon overcame this while accomplishing our miraculous feats. Numerous rules were published by the Seniors and we had to obey them or suffer the consequences.

Our first entertainment was a play, "Circus Solly", and we were assisted in this, our first dramatic attempt, by the Sophomore Class. In the Spring we held the Freshman dance. Everyone had an enjoyable time, proving it to be a social, if not a financial, success. We sold Christmas cards which proved to be very profitable and made a great increase in our Washington fund. At the close of the year, we enjoyed a picnic at Healy's Park. Swimming, boating and dancing were enjoyed by all. Edward Lockrow, Lillian Eaton, Elwood Eaton and Dorothy Dorman were cur leaders during the year.

We entered our Sophomore year with big ideas. We still thought that studying in high school was easy but we soon changed our minds when it came to Geometry and Caesar. Nevertheless, having departed from the ranks of green Freshman, and advanced to those of wise Sophomores, we tackled the hard tasks ahead of us.

Because of the absence of our adviser, we didn't sell any Christmas cards but we did hold a card party in the Spring. Again, may I repeat, it was a social, if not a financial, success. During this year our Washington fund did not increase very rapidly. Benny Adamkoski, Elwood Eaton, Evelyn Baird, Lillian Eaton, Allen Stewart and Sally Young managed our affairs for the year. In June we all enjoyed a picnic at Lansings' where swimming, boating and miniature golf provided amusements. This was also a farewell party in honor of Miss Evelyn Fortmiller.

We really began to feel very grown up (this may not have been noticeable to the faculty), when we entered our Junior year. As the time was growing nearer for our Washington trip and Commencement, we decided that we must increase our funds considerably at once. We worked strenuously this year. We sold Christmas cards and a large amount was added to our funds. In the Spring, we decided to reveal our hidden dramatic talent and presented "Flo's Beau". It proved to be a great success and a sum of one hundred and fifty dollars was netted.

In May we held the first Junior Prom ever to be held in Broadalbin High School. It was a gay and colorful affair with a ten piece band furnishing the music. Evelyn Baird, Lewis Frank, Elwood Eaton, Lillian Eaton, Helen Buell and Edward Lockrow were our leaders for the year. Our annual picnic was held at Lansings'.

What! Was this a dream or were we really Seniors. It didn't seem possible that our four years of work in high school were almost completed. The majority of our time had to be spent in earning money and studying. Although at times it proved very tiresome, we really enjoyed it. Our first duty and may I add, great pleasure, was to initiate the Freshmen. We forgot that three years ago we were in their same embarassing positions and made them do hard and embarassing feats.

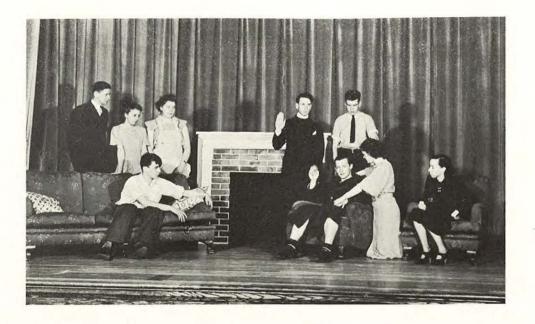

The rest of the first semester was spent in performing certain Senior duties. The time came to choose rings and jackets. The selecting of rings proved to be no job at all but no one of the student body of Seniors seemed to want to agree when it came to the question of sweaters and jackets. Finally we decided on gray suede jackets with red letters. In October we presented "The Light Eternal". We had to work but it was a great success. We, ourselves, were astonished to find such dramatic talent among our classmates. Just imagine Divvy making an audience cry! At Christmas we held a Carnival Dance and also sold many Christmas Cards to help swell our Washington fund (we had regular customers by now.)

In the last semester, we continued with our work. In February, we held a pancake supper which proved a success. Ed made the coffee! During the year we sold candy and ice cream. At last it was time for our trip to Washington. Every one enjoyed the trip tremendously. We made many new acquaintances but we were all glad to arrive home. Lillian Eaton, Lewis Frank, Elwood Eaton and Gene Haff managed our affairs for the year. Now a hard and tedious struggle lies ahead of us but we all feel that with a little ambition, and assistance of the faculty, we will graduate with honors. Success to all my classmates.

Senior Play "The Light Eternal"

Michael O'Brien, a brick layer Maggie O'Brien, his wife Margaret O'Brien, his daughter George O'Brien, his son ... Daniel Collins, Margaret's fiance Marie Stafford, a music and voca Father Patrick Nolan Mrs. Mary Conway, a gossip ..... James Nolan, a stranger

Directed by Florence Jeffords

Into a medium-sized town came Marie Stafford to open a school of elocution, piano and voice. She boarded with the O'Brien family-"Mike" O'Brien, a gentle Irishman, his wife, Maggie, a scolding and "bossy" yet kind-hearted Irish woman, and their son George, and daughter, Margaret. Because Marie was reticent about her former life, Mrs. Conway, a rather gossipy towns woman, became very curious. Her suspicion gained momentum one day when her son went to Marie's studio to take his piano lesson, and found an unsealed letter which his mother believed confirmed her suspicions. Mrs. Conway spread the news and Miss Stafford began to lose her pupils. She appealed to Father Nolan, a young priest, who had been in the parish for a year and who was loved by all for his gentleness and kindness. He told Marie about the letter Mrs. Conway's son had found and Marie told him the moving and dramatic story of her life. She had married a man who had humbled and abused her, and, after having been a loyal, devoted wife, but still unable to make her husband see the light, she had finally left him and had come to this town to earn her own living under her former professional stage name.

During this scene, a violent thunder and lightning storm began to rage outside and through the window came James Nolan, a derelict. He was Marie's husband and had traced her to this place. He also turned out to be the ne'er-do-well brother of Father Nolan, who had run away from home in his youth. In a very dramatic scene where James was defying all beliefs, he was struck by lightning and his sight was destroyed.

Before James death the following morning, he asked Marie's forgiveness, and through the kind efforts of Father Nolan and her, he was able to see "the Light Eternal", even though he was blind.

Much humor was provided by Mike and Maggie, and a great deal of interest was aroused by the romantic Danny and Margaret, and of course George fell deeply in love with Marie, but felt that he had no right to mention this feeling to her as long as her husband lived.

Each member of the cast contributed toward an excellent performance which was one of the best presentations ever staged in Broadalbin High School.

The Broadalbin High School Chorus presented the annual entertainment on Tuesday evening, May 15, 1936. The program was a grand success. The Chorus consists of approximately seventy voices under the direction of Mrs. Florence J. Jeffords.

The program opened with the Chorus singing several semi-classics. Between the acts entertainment was furnished by Caroline Thurber, Beryl Douglas and Peter VanPeter's Orchestra.

The second part was the musical comedy "Tropical Isle". The scene was on the shore of a tropical isle. The scenery of this part was very effective. The girls' costumes were traveling suits. The boys wore black coats, white trousers and white shoes. Several songs were sung in this part consisting of solos, duets and group songs. The cast consisted of Sprague Jennings, Stuart Finch, Elsie Steele, Elwood Eaton, Allen Stewart, Doris Smith, Rita Warren, Virginia Ferguson, John Yatsenik, Mary Goodemote, Bettina Breen and Donald Smith. Dancing was enjoyed afterwards, with music by Peter VanPeter's Orchestra.

The Library Club was formed the first week of school. Its main purpose is to assist the librarian. The officers were elected as follows: President, Gene Haff; Secretary, Sally Young; Treasurer, Dorothy Dorman; Entertainment Chairman, Lillian Eaton. The club enjoyed an outing the weekend of June 5, 1936, at "Kamp Katherine", Caroga Lake. The members are: Evelyn Baird, Helen Buell, Dorothy Dorman, Lillian Eaton, Martha Fletcher, Gene Haff, Mary Maine, Dorothy Moran, Tesse Salak, Kathryn Sywyk, Mabel Vandenburg, Hazel Weiderman, Sally Young.

The staff of the Broadalbanian was organized in September, 1935. The following are the members of the staff: Editor-in-chief, Helen Buell; Assistant Editor, Lillian Eaton; Business Manager, Elwood Eaton; News Editor, Bettina Breen; Art Editor, Joyce Frank; Assistant Art Editor, John Yatsenik; Exchange Editor, Carolyn Haff; Girls' Sport Editor, Doris Benedict; Boys' Sport Editor, Edward Lockrow. Reporters: Senior-Tesse Salak, Kathryn Sywyk; Junior-Mary Klymkow, Alice Bunn; Sophomore-Charles Millington, William Hovak; Freshman-Lillian Frasier, Veru Allen. Mineographers: Lewis Baldwin, Richard Fraker.

Miss Suits, Miss Putnam and the editor attended the Scholastic Press Convention at Syracuse in November. We entered our paper in this contest and received honorable mention for the editorials. As our paper was more like a magazine, it was decided that our paper would be changed from the magazine type to the newspaper type. Since then it has been edited as a newspaper. Next year it will be edited even more like a newspaper.

THE ORCHESTRA

Our present school Orchestra consists of 20 pieces, now under the direction of Miss Martha Wagner. The Orchestra has given several public appearances this year.

In December the Orchestra gave a musical. At this time, several selections were rendered by the Orchestra and there were many instrumental solos and duets.

Three members of the Orchestra will graduate this June.

The Orchestra consists of many young promising players, who will undoubtedly develope into a fine group. The Orchestra meets twice a week for rehearsals.

Strings: Edward Lockrow, Helen Syzdek, Emma Stahl, Dorothy Syzdek, Donald Canary, Victor Kibler, David Richardson and William Hovak.

Brass: Allen Stewart, Elwood Eaton, George Fosmire, Donald Crannell, Stuart Finch, Howard Brownell, Veru Allen and Donald Milroy. Wood-Wind: Rogers Finch and Donald Smith.

Percussion: Robert Goodemote.

Piano: Joyce Frank

Director: Miss Martha Wagner.

Broadalbin High School

What do you think of the class of '36? Not much? I agree. It is the worst class that has ever graduated from Broadalbin High.

As for studying, why they never think of it. The class of '36 is the laziest and dumbest ever. They fool time away in study hall and yet walk around with a "know it all" expression and generally (?) get by with it. There should be a law against such a practice as this, don't you think?

Of course they have a few good points, but very few. The bad points exceed the good ones so far that it is just too bad. In the first place, "Utch" is late for school continually or else he walks in about a second before the last bell rings. Another person with a bad point is "Dottie". Goodness knows when she will pipe up with a slam or some sarcastic remark. Now "Freddie" has many different kinds of moods. Some days, from lack of sleep, he is so grouchy that it is impossible to get within ten feet of him and other days he is too cheerful. "Mart" is a very quiet person and talks so low that she cannot be heard. Something ought to be done about it too. "Mary" runs her a close second but "Hazel" certainly isn't affected this way. "Gerald" and "Helen" used to be afflicted with those weak voices, but now, I am sorry to say, they are worse, but right the other way. And did you ever see anyone with less ambition than that "Al" has? "Ed" is so stingy that we know he counts his pennies. Now, "Smitty" is always the cause of someone going (up in the air). "Lewis" is too good-natured, for goodness sakes why doesn't he get mad for a change. Shall we take "Lil"? Always a pile of books in her arms and she frets like the dickens if she doesn't happen to have one teeny little question done for History C or get at least ninety in a test. The terrible pest of our class, as everyone knows, is "Divvy". He'd talk continually if one would let him. Why doesn't he give his wits a rest? "Floyd" is the bashful boy of our class. At least thats the way he appears (?). He blushes over nothing. Did you ever see anything so silly? "Dorothy" may not seem to have a quick temper, but just try to cross her path once and see! "Mable" is another quiet person. Why doesn't she talk and be a little sociable instead of acting meek? "Tesse" talks too much and "Evelyn" doesn't talk enough. Now look at "Kay", she giggles at nothing. "Anthony" is the last one and he should be as he always has an excuse for something. What would happen if he should come to school for a whole day, once?

Now this is our class with all of it's unnecessary bad points and probably there could be more added that are too numerous for time and space. Thoughts about this class will never bring back pleasant memories to the under classmen of B. H. S.

It is undoubtedly outstanding in all your minds that we, the class of 1936, are the best class ever yet to graduate from Broadalbin High School. We know that the school shall miss us very much. Never has there been or shall there be any class ever to graduate which has attained the heights of intelligence, honor and respect that we have.

We presented the most outstanding dramatic event ever staged at Broadalbin High, "The Light Eternal". Remember? No one ever has and no one ever can die more beautifully and more realisticly than Divvy did. All of our dramatic talent is far superior to any witnessed heretofore and we challenge any of the future.

The class of 1936 is without doubt the best History C class of all times. (We were only called "the dumbest class yet"; about four times.)

The Faculty is especially proud of us, but why should they not be? We have set the highest examples of orderliness and studiousness. We have ushered in one of the largest Freshman classes. To be sure, they look and act awkward, queer and odd, but three more years of experience, and hard work may bring them somewhere near the stage of perfection we have reached so victoriously.

We leave, dear old B. H. S., confident that we have learned practically all that it can teach us. We leave as dignified and respected young men and women.

True it will be an awful loss to Broadalbin High to have us leave and it will probably take it several years to recover. Nevertheless our course is completed and future advancements await us.

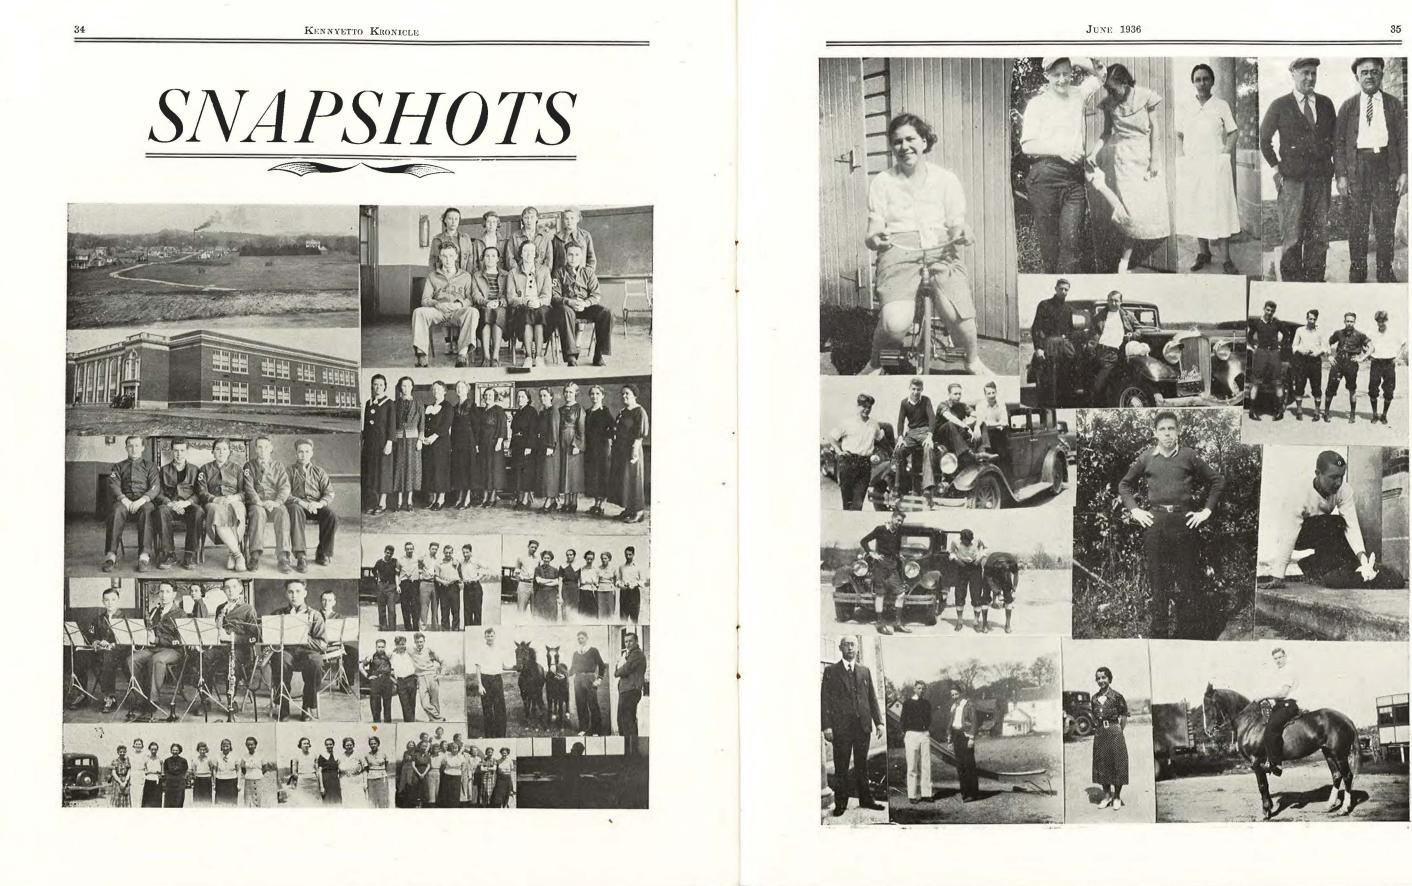

Just a word in parting, Freshman, Sophomores and Juniors. Many trials will confront you in the future. Our sincere hope is that it be your ambition to aspire to the high morals and ideals that we have labored hard to attain.
