THE
KENNYETTO KRONICLE

Presented by
THE CLASS OF 1962

Broadalbin Central School
Broadalbin, New York

Our Advisors

A show of appreciation goes to these men who have understood, assisted . . .

MR. MILUNSKI

MR. MUCK

and encouraged us. They have worked hard that we might have the best. We say thank you.

To the Class of 1962, Greetings:

You have contributed much happiness to your Alma Mater. You have been a challenge to your Faculty. You have been an inspiration to your school-mates. You are leaving a deep impression of dependability, enthusiasm and loyalty to all of your associates.

You have been Broadalbin's pioneers for lasting World Peace. Your visits to our friends and neighbors in South America have cemented our bonds of unity in the Western Hemisphere. We trust that the living of Ana, Marcela, Gloria, Jorge and Juan in your homes in our village will be so pleasant and fruitful, that many others from south of the equator, will strive for future visits to other homes in our village.

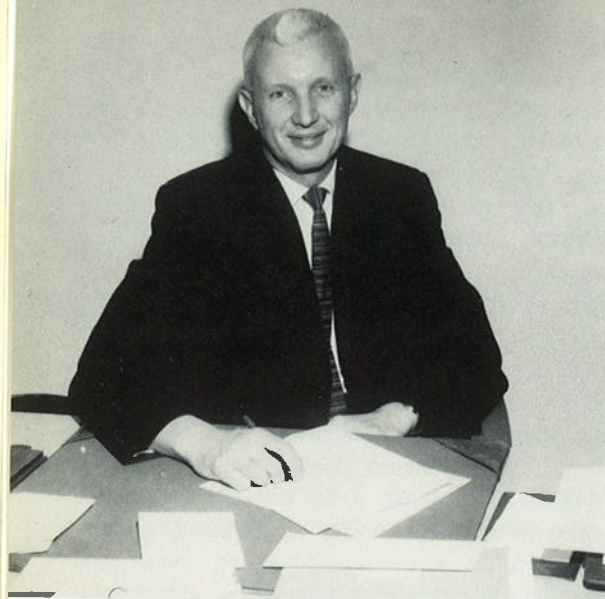

We wish all of you God's blessing, peace, and happiness in your future vocations and your own homes, wherever you may live.

T. R. Townley
T. R. Townley
Supervising Principal

Board of Education

STANDING: Mr. Leland Reed, Mr. Peter Klymkow, Mr. John Ginter, Mr. Harry Minkler, Mr. T. R. Townley. SEATED: Miss Juliette Coe, Mr. Paul Kissinger.

My dominant wish for the Class of '62 is that the years spent with us have in some little measure served to develop your independence in thought and action; increased your freedom from disabling restraints and inhibitions; improved your esthetic reception and sensitivity; stimulated your creativity and made you more mature in your judgements.

Rebellion, like curiosity is endemic to youth. Don't accept too much of the "Status Quo." Don't let an older and apprehensive generation convince you that "safe niches" with a huge organization and a good pension system are your primary future goals. Apathy and conformity result in retrogression. Don't forego or stifle the innate inquisitiveness and drive of your youth. You have the stamina and the courage to face the complex problems of our age. Face them.

With sincere best wishes,

Michael Chouse

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: P. Barna, Secretary; J. Easterly, Treasurer; S. Lester, Vice President; J. Stillman, President.

Class History

1958-59 Here we are as freshmen on our class trip to Howe Caverns. Since we were in three homerooms, with three separate sets of officers, we didn't have a chance to really become a class until....

1959-60 our sophomore year. To lead our greenhorn class were Orest Bishko, President; Jim Stillman, Vice President; Nancy Clizbe, Treasurer; Bill Agnostopulos, Secretary; with our advisors, Mr. Muck and Mr. Milunski. We started earning money for our Washington trip by holding dances, the biggest one being our New Year's Eve Dance. Another project was selling Christmas wrapping paper.

1960-61 As "Jolly" juniors we elected Sue Lester, President; Doug Schoolcraft, Vice President; Jim Stillman, Treasurer; and Joyce Easterly, Secretary. Our first project that year was the magazine sale. Then, of course, there were bake sales, movies and dances all adding to our general Washington fund. A red letter day was the arrival of our class rings. Remember that? Biggest of all though, was our Junior Prom, "Evening in Paris." Here is part of the class decorating the carriage. Besides this masterpiece in light aqua and white, we built a tall Eiffel Tower on the stage to lend that Parisian air to our gym.

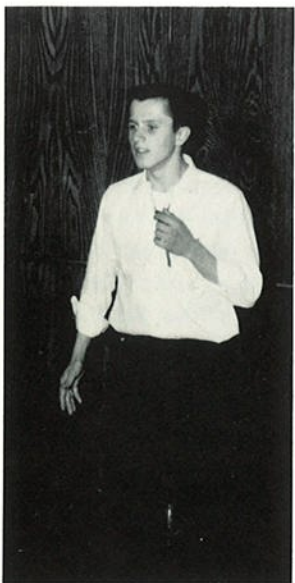

This Pyramid was made during lunch break on an all day American history field trip to Saratoga. One of the biggest events of our final year was the Senior Play "JUST DUCKY." It was composed of two parts success and one part fun, or was it the other way around? Next came Senior Day when as well as taking the place of the teachers, we managed to take many of the pictures for our yearbook. Under the leadership of our officers Jim Stillman, President; Sue Lester, Vice President; Joyce Easterly, Treasurer; and Pauline Barna, Secretary, we put on our Christmas Snow Ball Hop and other dances; plus pen sales and refreshments sold at the home games. All to aid our typically desperate senior treasury. After mid-terms we completed the yearbook, made our college plans, then fulfilled our final goal by at last invading Washington, D. C.

The critics

There ain't much tellin' what he thinks he is today, but I think its a horse.

And why did you come back here tonight?

Aunt Mary hears the latest news.

Keep calm, Maxwell!

We can't, Mother?

Alma Mater

Against Broadalbin's spirit,
None can prevail.
Stand by your colors;
Let not courage fail,
For we are with you.
We are altogether
Going to see you through.
Hurrah for alma mater,
Oh, B.H.S.!

With the completion of this page long hours of work finally end for the staff, advisors, and editors of the 1962 KENNYETTO KRONICLE. For you, this page completes a tour back through the weeks of the 1961-62 school year.

Within these covers we have tried to include all the happenings large and small of which memories are made. The classes, sports, and activities, that form the foundation of our school years and the many projects of our very special senior year, we've captured in these pages.

We have enjoyed preparing this yearbook and we hope you will enjoy reliving the school year through it many times in the future.
