A True Pioneering Spirit Exudes Our Past, Our Present, and Our Future

The pioneering spirit evident in the history of Broadalbin very closely parallels the history and development of the school itself.

Two men have shown exceptional dominance in the founding and history of Broadalbin. Henry Stoner and his family were the original settlers of Broadalbin while Sir William Johnson pacified and befriended the Indians of the area. Without the pioneering spirit, courage, and wisdom of these two men, the history of Broadalbin would undoubtedly have been altered and would have occurred much later.

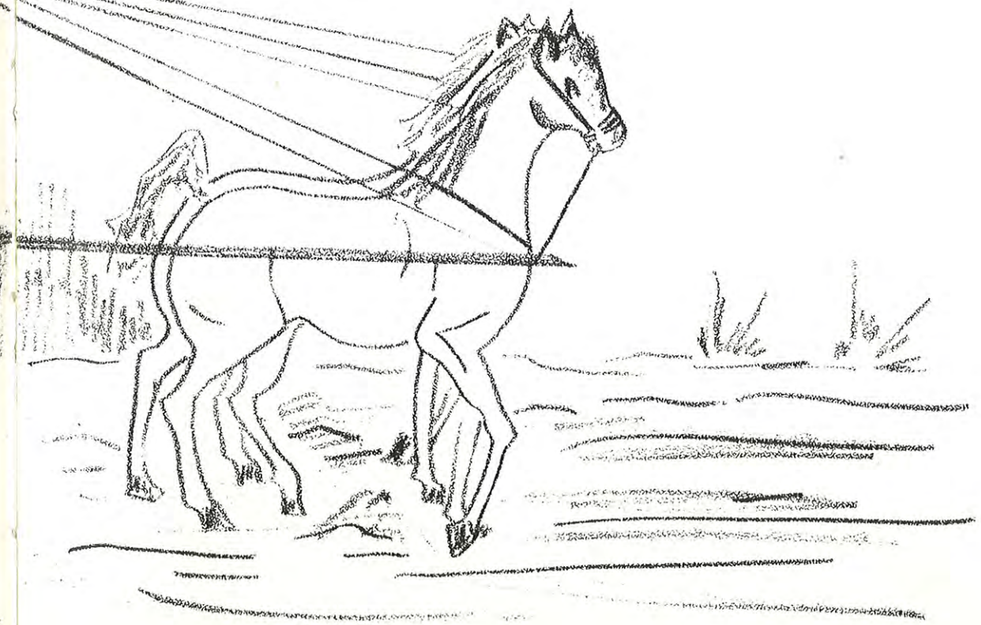

The town of Broadalbin was founded in 1770 along the banks of the Kennyetto which was its original name. The name was then changed to Fonda's Bush and later to Broadalbin. This site enhanced the growth of several grist mills which were built along this stream and the community grew and prospered.

As the community grew, so grew the educational needs of its members. The first schools were one-room schoolhouses and were built in and around Broadalbin. The demands for a larger centralized system, however, resulted in a school in the heart of town. The present high school was built in 1932, through the pioneering spirit, integrity, and foresight of Broadalbin's leading citizens.

The pioneering spirit has again, as in Broadalbin's past history and educational system, been existent and important in developments and innovations in the school.

Administrators, teachers, and students have combined to plan, develop and support various beneficial and enriching additions to the school's curriculum and its list of extra-curricular activities. New courses added are a power mechanics course which is offered in the new power mechanics building, as well as a course in world problems and economics which has been added to the history curriculum. A chess club has been formed this past year and has many avid supporters. It would be putting it mildly to say that the pioneering spirit has not been present in the realm of sports at Broadalbin this year in view of the outstanding football and basketball records.

We of the present can only hope that the spirit which has been dominant in the past will be supported and encouraged, so that it might be a lasting example and stimulus to those of the future.

Importance of Individual is Lauded

There are a number of individuals to whom we would like to have dedicated our yearbook this year. We have, instead, decided to dedicate it to individualism, one of the prime attributes of all of these people.

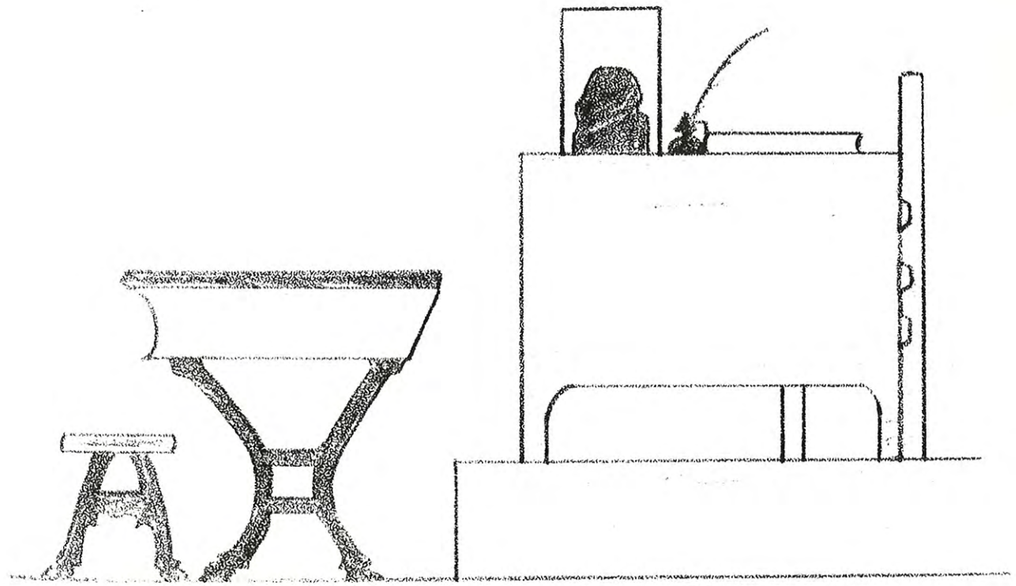

The individual is unique in many ways. Striving to attain what he believes to be true and good, this type of person can surmount many obstacles. The weaker, more undetermined person, often falters, hesitates and eventually gives up, whereas the individual has the perseverance to continue. More than the perseverance and determination which are so necessary, however, the individual is capable of forming his own opinions honestly and discriminately. In the face of adversity and opposition it is the individual, with his strong beliefs, who can stand up to the opinions and sway of the masses.

In our day and in our society it is the true individual, with his convictions and beliefs, who is needed. He is needed for it is he who becomes the leader.

The individual is necessary not only in the home and in the school. These are only the training grounds for our roles in later life. Then the true test of the individual is met. Now, however, in the formative years, the individualistic spirit must be instilled in each of us. It is in these years that we learn to evaluate and establish the role that we will live for the rest of our lives. Without the individual, with his unique capabilities and qualities, our society would be valueless.

Experience Erudition, and Executive Skill Create Excellent Directors

Our supervising principal, Mr. James Murray, came to B. H. S. in 1963. Experienced in problems of both teaching and administrating, he is well qualified to act as our principal. Having graduated from St. Lawrence University with both a Bachelor of Science degree and a Master of Science degree in Education, he began his career in 1939. After receiving his master's, he taught social studies at North Lawrence High School. There, at that time, he also coached the basketball and baseball teams.

During World War II, Mr. Murray taught celestial navigation. In the post-war years, he served as Vice-principal of Westmoreland Central School until 1952. Mr. Murray then served as Supervising Principal at Copenhagen Central School from 1952 to 1963. At the present time, he is working for his Doctorate in Education at Syracuse University.

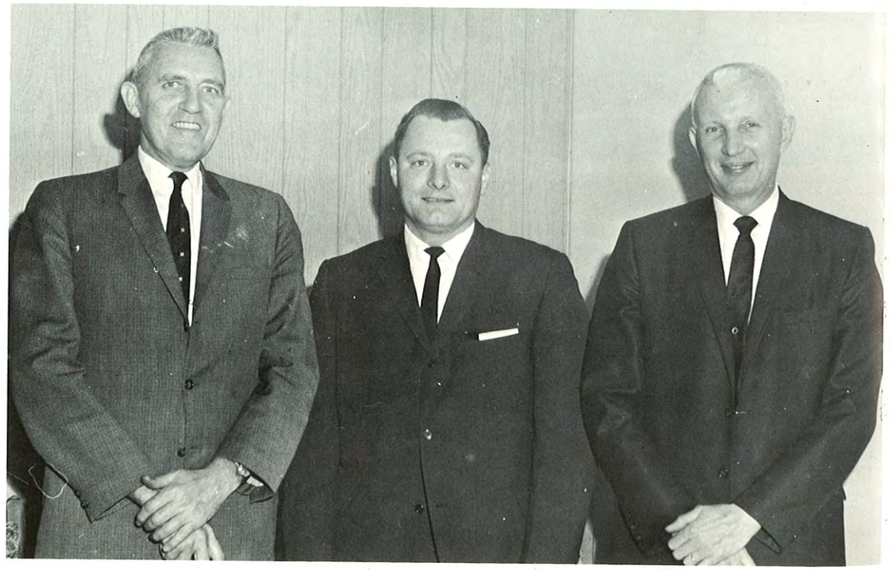

Mr. Michael Chouse, the secondary supervisor, is accredited with an extensive educational background. He graduated from Alfred University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Ceramic English and began teaching mathematics and science at Rockland Junior College. Later, he returned to Alfred University and earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Education. He then taught mathematics and science at Fonda Central School while working toward his Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Arts at the State University at Oswego.

In 1941, Mr. Chouse began teaching industrial arts, science and mathematics at Broadalbin Central, during which time he received his Master of Science degree in Secondary School Administration from the State University at Albany. He became Vice-principal of Broadalbin in 1953. After receiving his Master of Science degree in Elementary School Administration he became the Secondary Superintendent.

"The institution of marriage is useless, senseless and thoroughly needless!"

On the nights of November 18th and 19th, 1966, the Senior Class presented "Marrying Margaret." Under the direction of Miss Macdonald, and assisted by Miss Foster, the play was a great success. The plot revolved around the idea that marriage is a must, but not for everyone.

Empire State: A Study in Democracy

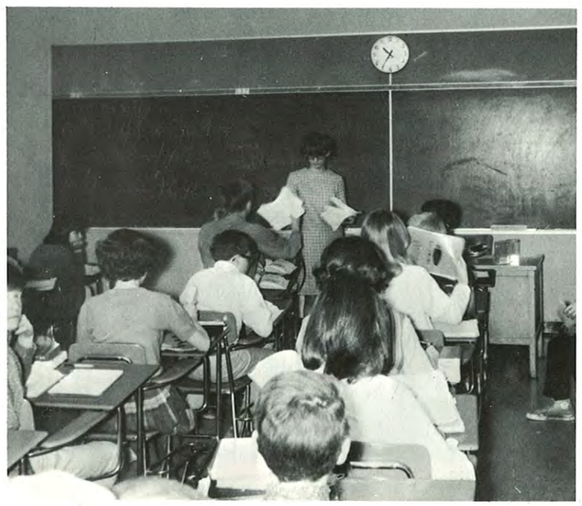

Participation in the government of an imaginary fifty-first state is the prime objective involved in Empire Boys' and Girls' State. The American Legion, the Rotary Club, and the American Legion Auxiliary sponsor two Junior boys and one Junior girl. Last year, Morrisville College and the State University at Albany were the seats of government. During the week of attendance, the young delegates audited speeches by guests employed in various walks of life. A thoroughly rewarding experience, socially and educationally, was the result of the week-long stay.

Student Publishers Create School Compendium

The yearbook is a lasting tradition at Broadalbin involving a total of 30 students. The members of the staff work willingly to master individual responsibilities such as photography, art, journalism, business, and production. Under the direction of advisor, Miss Wagner and editor, Donna Osterhout, the entire staff works laboriously to publish a commendable publication.

Plans for the yearbook begin in May with the selection of the staff. Summer meetings are held to decide on a theme and a rough layout for the next year's book. Ads to be sold are also distributed to members of the staff. During the school months the plans and efforts culminate in the Kennyetto Kronicle, which depicts the entire life of the school.

Young Reporters Observe, Compile and Disclose the Facts

Under the combined effort of editors Wendell Beavers, Deb Hoy, and Sasha Hovak, the Kennyetto Breeze publishes accounts of the Broadalbin students' activities. The editors and staff of 25 are assisted by the advisors Miss Fellows, Mrs. Merchant, Mrs. Hannah, and Mrs. Frisina. The literary endeavors of many English students appear regularly, as well as accurate and informative sports coverage.

Latin Mods Parody Roman Bacchanalia

For the past two years, the Latin classes have prepared a Roman banquet. Under the supervision of Mrs. Machold, the students dressed in togas, sang familiar songs in Latin, and presented skits. Some of the students were selected by Mrs. Machold to become slaves to serve the others throughout the meal.

The Roman food consisted of barbequed chicken, grapes, raisins, apples, breads, various salads, and "wine." The wine was ingeniously made, by the students, of ginger ale and grape juice.

Admiration Awarded for Academic Achievement

There are chapters of the Honor Society in every state. Broadalbin has a Junior Honor Society and a Senior Honor Society.

It is considered a great privilege to become a member of the Honor Society. Each year, the outstanding students of the school are chosen by a group of faculty members. The students are selected on the qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

This years inductees are: Aurelia Davison, Pamela Gasner, Judith Welke, Nancy MacNeill, Thomas Orlowski, Gene Schoonmaker, Stuart Hayes, Keith Kibler, William Lambdin, Jed Lawrence, Barbara Montayne, and Stacie Williams.

Endorsers of Democracy Share Honors

Each year seniors compete in the "Voice of Democracy" contest which is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the National Association of Broadcasters. The topic this year was "Democracy: What It Means to Me." Students wishing to express themselves on this topic are given the opportunity to do so. Speeches are approximately three to five minutes in length. The winner's speech is taped and sent to radio station WGY in Schenectady, where it is judged with other winning speeches of the area. Along with national recognition, the winner receives a college scholarship.

Broadalbin finished its second year of football with a fine 7-1 record, gaining a share of the crown in the newly-formed Pioneer Conference. Only a defeat by Canajoharie prevented the Kens from turning in a perfect record. The team underwent long hours of Coaches Mee and Baugh to turn in their outstanding performance.

The Kens placed four men on the Pioneer Conference All-Star team: Quarterback, Wendell Beavers; Tackle, Chuck Egan; Back, Tom Jennings; and end, Gary Sniezyk. Tom Jennings was also named Amsterdam Recorder Player of the year.

The spirit and attendance at both the home and away games show that football is here to stay at Broadalbin. At the end of the season the team was feted with an excellent dinner by the Broadalbin Football Booster's Club

Basketball reigns supreme at Broadalbin during the winter months; and this year's edition of the Kens, under the direction of Coach Mott, attracted a large and enthusiastic following. Coach Mott instilled a great amount of desire and team spirit in his charges, and this paid off in a very successful season. The team is well set for next year, with three returning starters, as well as a wealth of talent from the Junior Varsity. Many superb individual performances have been exhibited and outstanding teamwork as well.

Fraternal Spirit Exists Between Sportsmen

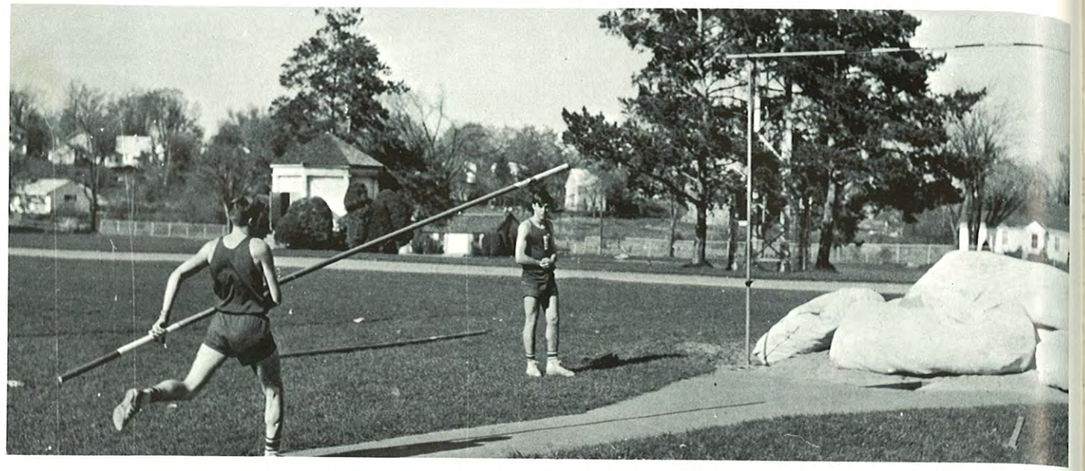

Linksmen Stay Out of the Rough

After completing a successful season, the Broadalbin Golf Team looks forward to another rewarding year under new coach, Mr. Horwitz. The Kens' linksmen play once or twice a week during the Spring, meeting such schools as Perth, Bishop Scully, Johnstown, Canajoharie, and Fort Plain in dual and tri-school events. The team plays at Amsterdam Municipal, Antler's Country Club, Canajoharie Country Club, and Nick Stoner Country Club.

Kens Take The Field With Resolution

Dick Hoyt approaches the pole vault with a well-practiced attack.

Truman Frasier excells to bring home a victory.

Ted Tanner shows great form on the low hurdle.

Gaining momentum, Doug Fonda approaches the bar.

Contemplatively, Bruce Davison prepares to hurl the discus.

Doug Fonda dashes to the next relay runner.

Ted Tanner spurts ahead to finish first.

Broadalbin continued its domination of the Tri-Valley Track Association with another victory in the annual meet. The Kens have won the meet every year in the Association's short, three year history. Broadalbin's success resulted from a great deal of individual training under the supervision of Coach Stillman. The team showed superb group effort as well as outstanding individual performances.

Kens Culminate Another Successful Season

Dan DeNure holds him on.

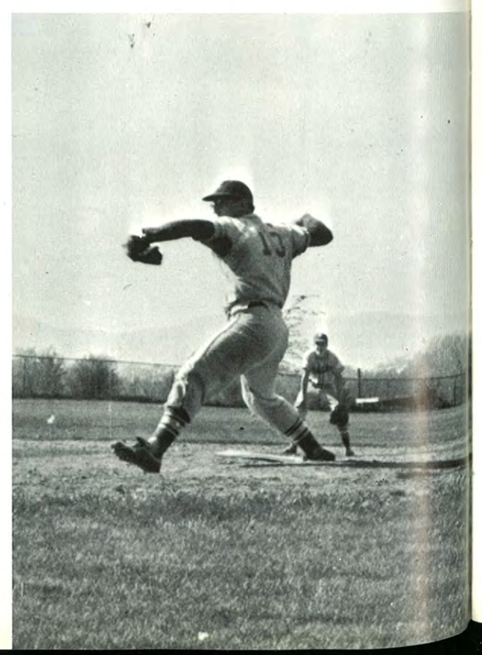

Broadalbin's baseball team completed a profitable season last year under the capable leadership of Coach Mee. Practicing daily, the players turned out an excellent 13-6 record. The teammates worked well together, and also displayed outstanding individual performances. The boys approached the plate in good spirits and exhibited remarkable sportsmanship while playing.

Many spectators turned out for the games and were not disappointed by their school's performance. Expecting many returning starters, the team awaits another winning season next year.

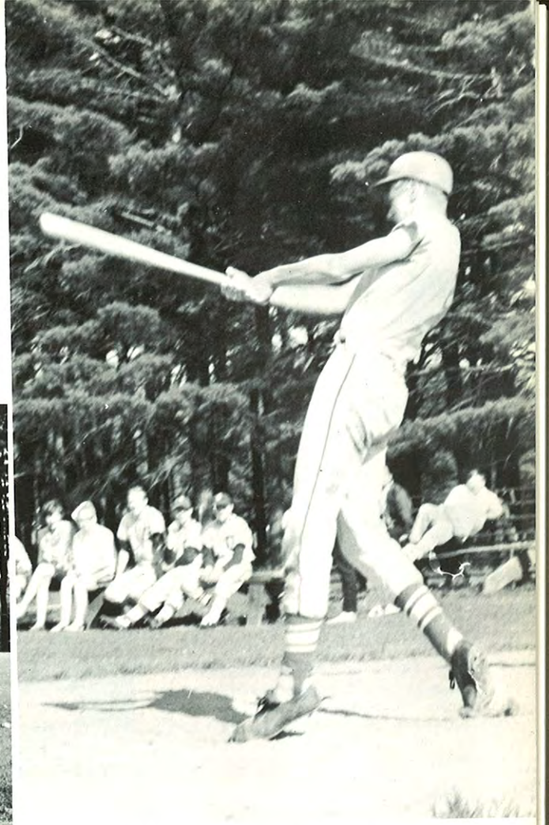

DeNure and Jennings engage in strategy session.

We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time."
