I have reviewed Policy 6128: Administration of Naloxone and will inform the school nurse of the location and expiration date of the naloxone that I have available on campus. If, at any time, I no longer wish to carry naloxone or be available for administration during an emergency, I will notify the school nurse so that my name can be removed from the list of potential administrators. Risks of Administering Naloxone:

Naloxone is a non-narcotic and non-addictive medication. When naloxone is given, the overdose victim may experience opioid withdrawal symptoms, such as irritability, vomiting, diarrhea, body aches, rapid heart rate, and increased blood pressure; a person who chronically has pain may experience discomfort and feel pain again. Since naloxone may stop working sooner than the opioid, breathing problems may return. If so, another dose of naloxone can be given. Call 911 as soon as you suspect an overdose or accidental ingestion. Source: <https://www.projectlazarus.org/naloxone>
