

PREP MARIANAPOLIS

Religious Studies Faculty Position 2023-24:

Marianapolis Preparatory School seeks a qualified Theology teacher, preferably with three to five years experience in an independent school setting, to teach full-time (five sections) in the Theology Department working with the collaboration and supervision of the Religious Studies Department Chair and the Academic Dean. The qualified applicant will have experience teaching a range of levels or topics in high school Theology, with preference given to candidates with experience in teaching courses in Social Justice and Peer Ministry. In addition, the school seeks a candidate who has knowledge and experience in using educational technology in the classroom, and who brings an active interest in engaging in a 21st century learning community.

Preference will be given to candidates who have:

- Demonstrable skills in oral and written communication
- Ability to work well in a student-centered curriculum
- Understanding of learning styles and differentiated instruction
- Desire to work with high school learners
- Skill at managing multi-faceted work in an intense and supportive learning community

In addition, the position includes: advising, participation as an athletic coach or activities leader for two seasons each year, and involvement in residential life – understanding that the typical commitment involves both after school activities and weeknight-weekend supervision. Further information can be found on our website www.marianapolis.org/employment.

Interested candidates should send the following to teachingpositions@marianapolis.org:

- A cover letter summarizing your reasons for wanting to teach at Marianapolis
- A current résumé
- Contact information for three professional references (email preferred)
