Dear Parent/Guardian of Sophia Jackson:

This report shows how Sophia scored on the California Alternate Assessments (CAAs) for English language arts/literacy and mathematics. The CAAs, a part of the California Assessment of Student Performance and Progress (CAASPP) System, are tests based on alternate achievement standards, which are appropriate for students with significant cognitive disabilities.

These results are one measure of Sophia's academic performance. They should be viewed with other information—such as progress on individualized education program (IEP) goals, assignments, and teacher conferences.

Students achieve more when their parents are involved in their learning. Please use the resources outlined below to find out more about how you can help Sophia continue to make progress.

Sincerely,

Tom Torlakson
State Superintendent of Public Instruction

Statewide Assessments: One Measure of Sophia's Progress

What are the California Alternate Assessments?

The California Alternate Assessments (CAAs) are online tests for eligible students with individualized education programs (IEPs) that designate the use of an alternate assessment to measure student progress on alternate achievement standards.

These tests give students the opportunity to demonstrate their learning by taking a test aligned for their grade level. Working with a teacher, Sophia was encouraged to complete items as independently as possible. Sophia had an opportunity to answer questions representing different levels of complexity, which helps to demonstrate what Sophia knows and can do. Like other California Assessment of Student Performance and Progress (CAASPP) tests, the CAAs offer accessibility tools according to the needs of each student as described in their IEP or Section 504 plan.

What are the score ranges for each level?

There are three levels of scores for ELA and mathematics:

Grade 4	Level 1—Alternate	Level 2—Alternate	Level 3—Alternate
CAA ENGLISH LANGUAGE ARTS/LITERACY	400–444	445–459	460–499
CAA MATHEMATICS	400–444	445–459	460–499

California Alternate Assessment Science for Grade 5

This year, students in the fifth grade participated in the 2017 pilot of the California Alternate Assessment (CAA) for Science.

Like the CAAs for mathematics and English language arts/literacy, CAA for Science will give students the opportunity to demonstrate their learning by taking a test aligned to their grade level content.

The pilot test is meant to evaluate test questions, as well as help students and schools become familiar with new standards and content. Individual student scores will not be available until the new test is ready for operational use statewide.

Dear Parent/Guardian of Austin Russell:

This report is provided because students in high schools across the state participated in the 2017 pilot of the California Alternate Assessment (CAA) for Science, a part of the California Assessment of Student Performance and Progress (CAASPP) System.

This pilot test is based on the California Next Generation Science Standards (CA NGSS) alternate summative assessment Content Core Connectors (Connectors). The Connectors provide learning goals aligned appropriately with the needs of students with the most significant cognitive disabilities.

I invite you to learn more about the CA NGSS from your child's school.

California Alternate Assessment for High School Science

This year, students in high school participated in the 2017 pilot of the California Alternate Assessment (CAA) for Science. Like the CAAs for mathematics and English language arts/literacy, CAA for Science will give students the opportunity to demonstrate their learning by taking a test aligned for their grade level.

The pilot test is meant to evaluate test questions, as well as help students and schools become familiar with new standards and content. Individual student scores will not be available until the new test is ready for operational use statewide.

A New Kind of Science Test for California

As part of the CAASPP System, the CAA for Science assesses the new California Next Generation Science Standards (CA NGSS) and is more challenging than California's previously administered exams. The CAA for Science test is based on alternate achievement standards, which are appropriate for students with the most significant cognitive disabilities.

Assessments represent just one part of California's comprehensive plan for high-quality teaching and learning. California is phasing in more training for teachers, more resources for students, and more access to technology. These changes take time and effort. Find out more at your child's school or on the California Department of Education (CDE) CAASPP System Web page at <http://www.cde.ca.gov/ta/tg/cal/>.
