

Students who meet the requirements for a diploma in the International Baccalaureate (IB) or International Cambridge Examinations (AICE) program, and State assessment requirements, also meet the requirements for a Federal Way Public Schools diploma.

To receive a high school diploma under this policy, a student must complete and pass all required International Baccalaureate or International Cambridge Examinations program courses, as scored at the local level; pass all internal assessments, as scored at the local level; successfully complete all required projects and products, as scored at the local level; and complete the final examination administered by the International Baccalaureate or International Cambridge Examinations organizations, in each of the required subjects under the program.

Students must also meet the provisions of RCW 28A.230.170 regarding study of the United States Constitution and the Washington State Constitution.
