

School Board Recognitions

May 2019

For more details about these and other awards, check under “Kudos” at fcps.net

Claire Skubik-Peplaski of Bryan Station High School was the overall winner in the Sixth District's Congressional Art Contest.

A team of book lovers from Dixie Magnet Elementary won their division in the districtwide Battle of the Books.

A team of eighth-graders from SCAPA at Bluegrass was among the national middle school winners in the Lexus Eco Challenge.

Four students from Henry Clay High School received accolades at the Model United Nations conference.

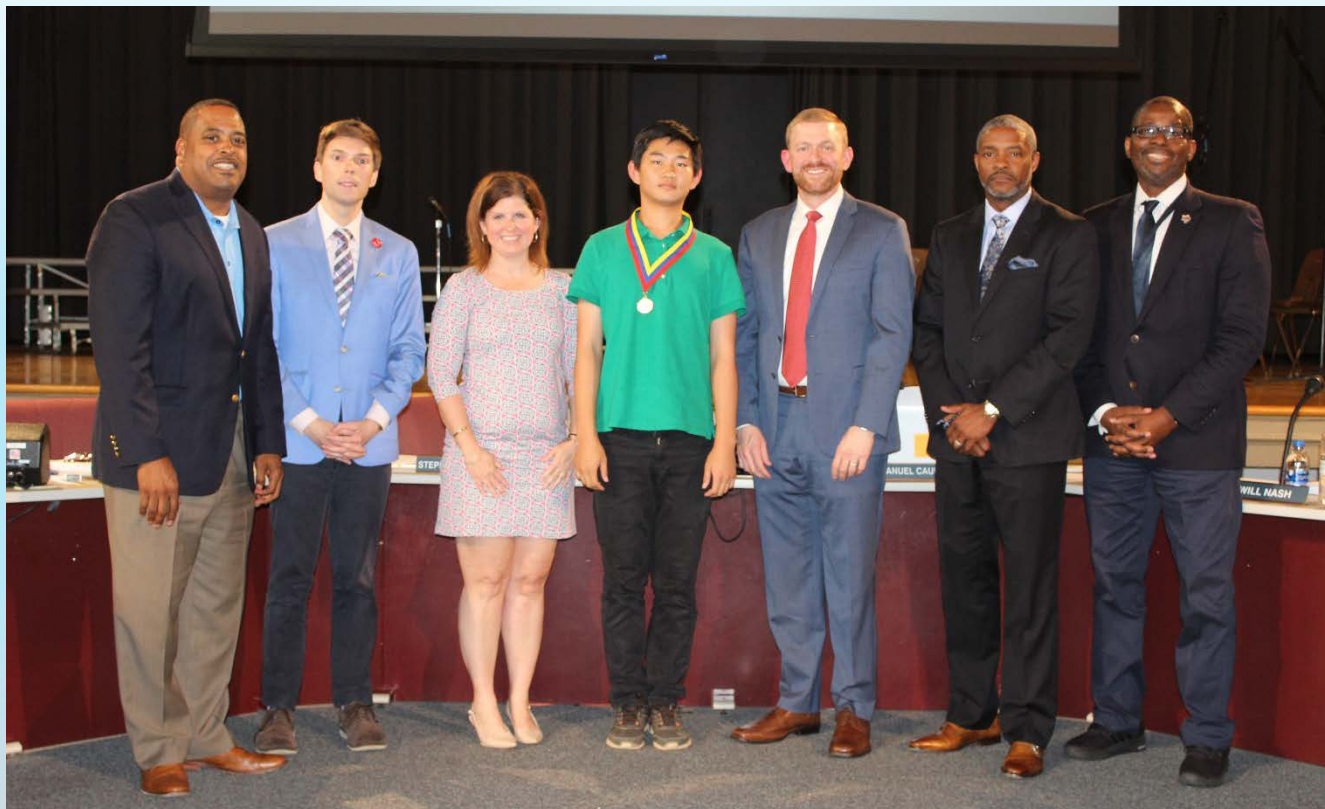

Nicholas Clevenger of Paul Laurence Dunbar High School and Olivia Sharp of Henry Clay High School were accepted at The Gatton Academy for Mathematics & Science.

Four more sophomores were accepted into the Craft Academy for Excellence in Science and Mathematics.

Youngsters from Rosa Parks Elementary brought home several awards from the state chess championships.

Connor Zhang of Winburn Middle School won an individual state chess championship.

Several students from throughout the district took first or second place in the Kentucky Science & Engineering Fair.

An academic team from Winburn Middle was runner-up in the Governor's Cup state finals.

A team from Henry Clay High School placed first in the statewide debate tournament.

A team from The Learning Center (TLC) was the overall high school winner in the STLP State Championships.

FCPS boasted dozens of first- and second-place projects in the STLP state contests.

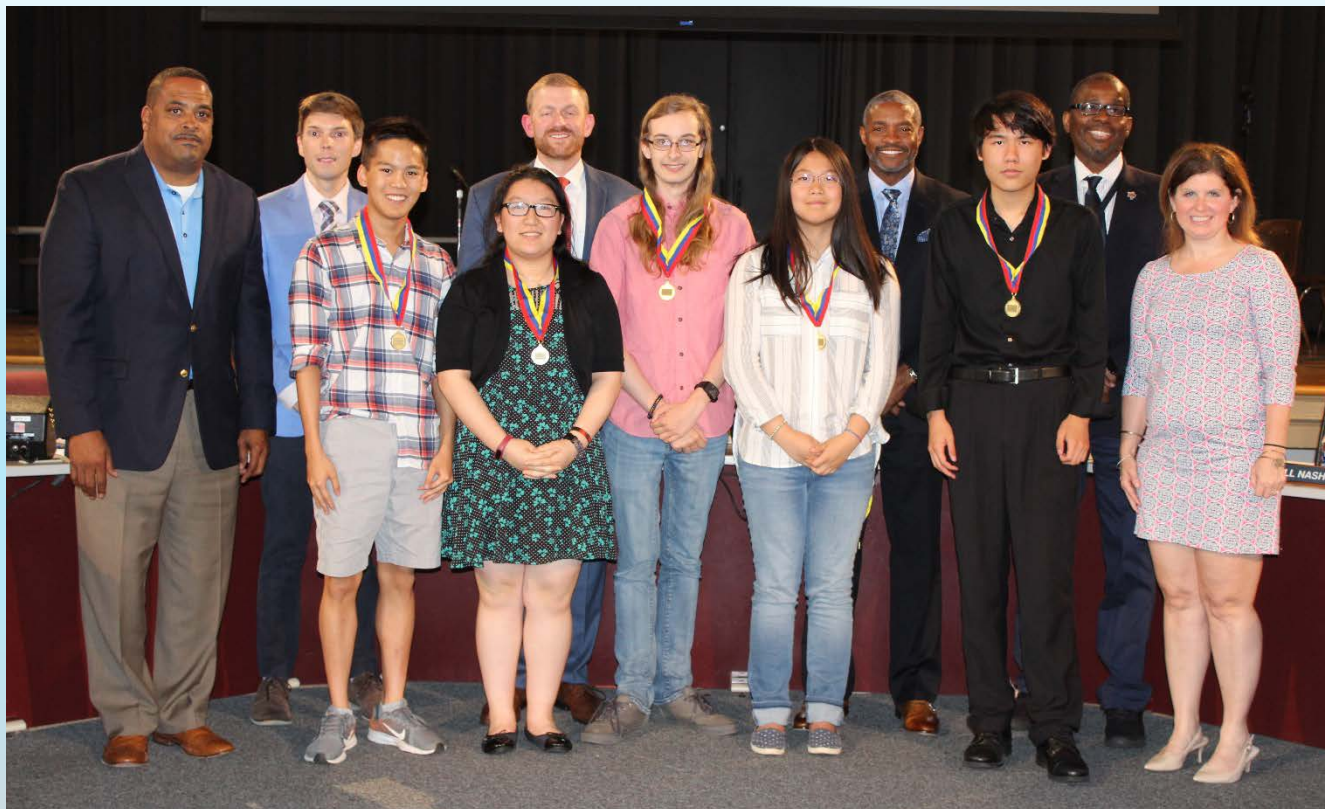

Students from Lexington Traditional Magnet School brought home kudos from the Technology Student Association (TSA) state competition.

Students from Southern Middle School earned recognition at the Technology Student Association (TSA) state competition.

Lafayette High School also had a winner in the Technology Student Association (TSA) state competition.

Students from Paul Laurence Dunbar High School earned awards at the Technology Student Association (TSA) state competition.

Several students from Eastside Technical Center received awards in the SkillsUSA state competition.

Several students from Southside Technical Center also earned accolades in the SkillsUSA state contests.

Dunbar's group was runner-up in the 2019 Chamber Choir Competition in Louisville.