

DECA

DECA, formerly known as the Distributive Education Club of America, is a Career and Technical Student Organization. The WMHS DECA Club provides students networking opportunities, social interactions, real life business scenarios and guest speakers from the business community.

DECA aims to train students in skills such as communication, leadership, creativity, and teamwork. These skills are incredibly essential in the work force, and demonstrating these skills will set them apart from competition later on in life.

DECA/Marketing students also have the opportunity to participate and compete academically at the District, State, and National level. In doing so, they earn the chance to travel to DECA's International Career Development Conference yearly.
