Odds & Ends

Angell's
an angel
appearing.

Let's not forget Armstrong, who's always been headlong in love or some other trouble.

B that is Blake
and let's hope for his sake that his coaches in college heed to his knowledge and when they recruit him don't then presecute him.

Then there's Benz from Andover.
He'll tell you a story
about flying, in glory,
'twas his plane
made him late
for his date.
He's told it and then,
if you ask him again,
it's heard over and over and over.

Bill Beadie is by Williams College accepted
but by Sam Huston Institute of Tech, rejected.
I think we can all agree, Bill would never succeed at the latter.

D must be Davis,
solid, wise Blake,
no fooling for him,
he's turned by no whim,
though his summers are agrarian,
he's a teenage octagenarian.

F is N. Foote
whose music might be inherited, who would, if he could, his classmates put in the ranks of the well demerited.

Dickinson Albert James,
a man of many names—
and few fames.

Foote M.
is flem
ever blowing.

Metcalf—Since
he fell in his trumpet, I've not seen his face,
but it's rumored you'll find him down at the Place,
with characters cool,
and Jazz very hot,
and, when we die,
there, like as not,
we'll see George, red, not from tan, blowing his horn, asbestos he can.

Mayo, the little Doc,
this fellow would put his own
mother in hock,
just to jump on his skis, to glide
down the slopes,
and ride up again, on chairs or by ropes.

S might be Shull,
Willard, C.
If it's not plain to you
it's so clear to me,
if not over doneover(a) he's our Cassanova. (Use a broad Eastern accent,
as in idear.)

Parish is graced
to have missed the taste of the acid pen.
(Zounds,
could verse
be worse.)

Phil Roy is an athlete, tried and
true,
in deed as well as word.
He may be found on second base, except when he's on third.

Rollwagen, I'll wager,
is quite a lot sager,
and can count as a blessing
all his A. F. Sing.

Roe
is slow
in sports
of some sorts.

Also John Rupert.
Though John may be short and has had to contort when bullies pounce down upon
him,
he's M.I.T. bound,
where he'll work like a hound, then make money like good Uncle Bim.

VON Bergen, John of the mountains—
he's found in the air and swimming in fountains.
The fish that he skewers
or the sharks he procures, when fresh, all is well—
later, —a hell of a smell.

Ro. Wolff is the Prof. . . .
Our hats we do doff,
and on bended knee
he we do praise
who invented the phrase
"One, two, CLICK, three."

Waad
is Lawd
or Gawd.
(self-appointed)

Is R. I. Wolff cynical?
