COURSE DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE
Through the study of the French-speaking world, French 5 will expand previous knowledge through the study of literature, history, current events, film and the arts and the sciences. Students will examine their own place in the global culture through their study of selected short stories, poems, novels, and other resources. Students will develop the ability to express themselves coherently, resourcefully, and with reasonable fluency and accuracy in both written and spoken French. Course content can reflect intellectual interests shared by the students and teachers. This course may be taken for dual credit through UW-Oshkosh CAPP. WEIGHTED GRADE
ENDURING UNDERSTANDINGS	ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS
Students will understand that...	Students will keep considering...
Comparing and contrasting one's own and other language and culture enables individuals to gain new insight about self and the world.	UNIT 1: What is currently happening in the Francophone world? How does literature reflect the culture and the history of France?
Language learning provides opportunities to uncover big ideas about languages, cultures, and other disciplines.	UNIT 2: How does literature reflect the culture and the history of France? Who was Jean de la Fontaine? What are fables and why did he write them? What are the lessons of his fables?
Speaking, listening, reading and writing skills are developed by using the interpersonal, interpretive and presentational modes of communication.	UNIT 3: How does one's past affect one's present?
Culture and language are inseparable; they influence and reflect each other.	UNIT 4: What makes for a good friend? Why is friendship important? Why must we keep our "esprit d'enfant" alive and well?
The study of world languages enables individuals to participate in multiple communities and enriches their experiences.	UNIT 5: How does the history of France effect the Francophone world? How does migration affect families and individuals?
PRIORITY STANDARDS
