I'd been right, I was still right,
I was always right . . . I hadn't done x, whereas I had done y or z . . . I'd been waiting for this present moment, for that dawn, tomorrow's or another day's,
which was to justify me.

This is the springtime of my loving — the second season I am to know
 You are the sunlight in my growing — so little warmth I felt before.
 It isn't hard to feel me glowing —
 I watched the fire that grew so low.
 It is the summer of my smiles —
 flee from me Keepers of the Gloom.
 Speak to me only with your eyes
 it is to you I give this tune.
 It isn't hard to recognise — these things are clear to all from time to time.

Talk Talk —
 I felt the coldness of my winter
 I never thought it would ever go
 I cursed the gloom that set upon us
 but I know that I love you so
 but I know that I love you so.
 These are the seasons of emotion
 And like the winds they rise and fall
 This is the wonder of devotion —
 I see the torch we all must hold.
 This is the mystery of the quotient —
 Upon us all a little rain must fall.

Fragomeni

How shall I go in peace and without sorrow? Nay, not without a wound in the spirit shall I leave this city.

Long were the days of pain I have spent within its walls, and long were the nights of aloneness; and who can depart from his pain and aloneness without regret?

Too many fragments of the spirit have I scattered in these streets . . . and I cannot withdraw from them without a burden and an ache.

It is not a garment that I cast off this day, but a skin that I tear with my own hands.

Nor is it a thought that I leave behind me, but a heart made sweet with hunger and with thirst.

Yet I cannot tarry longer.

The sea that calls all things unto her calls me, I must embark.

For to stay, though the hours burn in the night, is to freeze and crystallize and be bound in a mould.

Fain would I take with me all that is here. But how shall I?

A voice cannot carry the tongue and the lips that gave it wings. Alone must it seek the ether.

And alone and without his nest shall the eagle fly across the sun.

We would like to apologise for the way in which politicians are represented in this programme. It was never our intention to imply that politicians are weak kneed political time servers who are concerned more with their personal vendettas and private power struggles than the problems of government, nor to suggest at any point that they sacrifice their credibility by denying free debate on vital matters, in the mistaken impression that party unity comes before the well-being of the people they supposedly represent, not to imply at any stage that they are squabbling little toadies without an ounce of concern for the vital social problems of today, nor indeed do we intend that viewers should consider them as crabby, ulcerous little self seeking vermin with furry legs and an excessive addiction to alcohol and certain explicit sexual practices which some people might find offensive . . .

Then let us pray that come it may
(As come it will for a' that)
That Sense and Worth o'er a' the earth Shall bear the gree an' a' that!

For a' that, an' a' that,
It's comin yet for a' that,
That man to man the world o'er Shall brithers be for a' that.
— Robert Burns

One morning Stanley Q. Stupid woke up with a funny feeling.
"Something really stupid is going to happen today," he said. (harry allard)

loudly for Truth have liars pled, their heels for Freedom slaves will click; (e.e.)

I wonder if Jesus knows what's happening on earth these days. Don't bother coming around, Jesus. Jesus, gold and silver— you have no boots on, you have no helmet or gun—no briefcase... you look around and know you must have failed somewhere. (Joan beez)

here I am, Lord
I'm knocking at your place of business
I know I ain't got no business here
but you said if I ever got so low
I was busted
you could be trusted (paul simon)

and we'll blow away forever soon and go on to different lands
but please do not ever look for me but with me you will stay and you will hear yourself in song blowing by one day (suzie, v.)

Then I raised two fingers and said "Peace." (s.e. hinton)

Anne Elizabeth Moore

"My Lords and Ladies... Beloveds... would it embarrass you very much if I were to tell you... That I love you?"
And they all laughed. How could anyone believe it? (J.B.)

All it takes is just love
Because in the final analysis
That's where the power's at.
Love is power. Groovy.

Thanks - to my family at home
at school and at ymc

Thanks - a microcosmic ecosystem in and of ourselves
Traveling the country - at least to Duluth
See you in the real world.
Wear your peach pits and coffee beans

Thanks - ymc - truly the stuff dreams are made of
A ball of energy and love
Rocking America and Ruling the World.

Learning where I am and where I strive to be Learning that nothing is easy but anything is possible Learning to believe in myself so others will Learning from changes, from love and hate, from PEOPLE
Learning, learning that I'll always be learning.

There's a crowd waiting to take me in . . .

I hesitate to enter

I remain a spectator

I wonder in awe at the brightness of it all

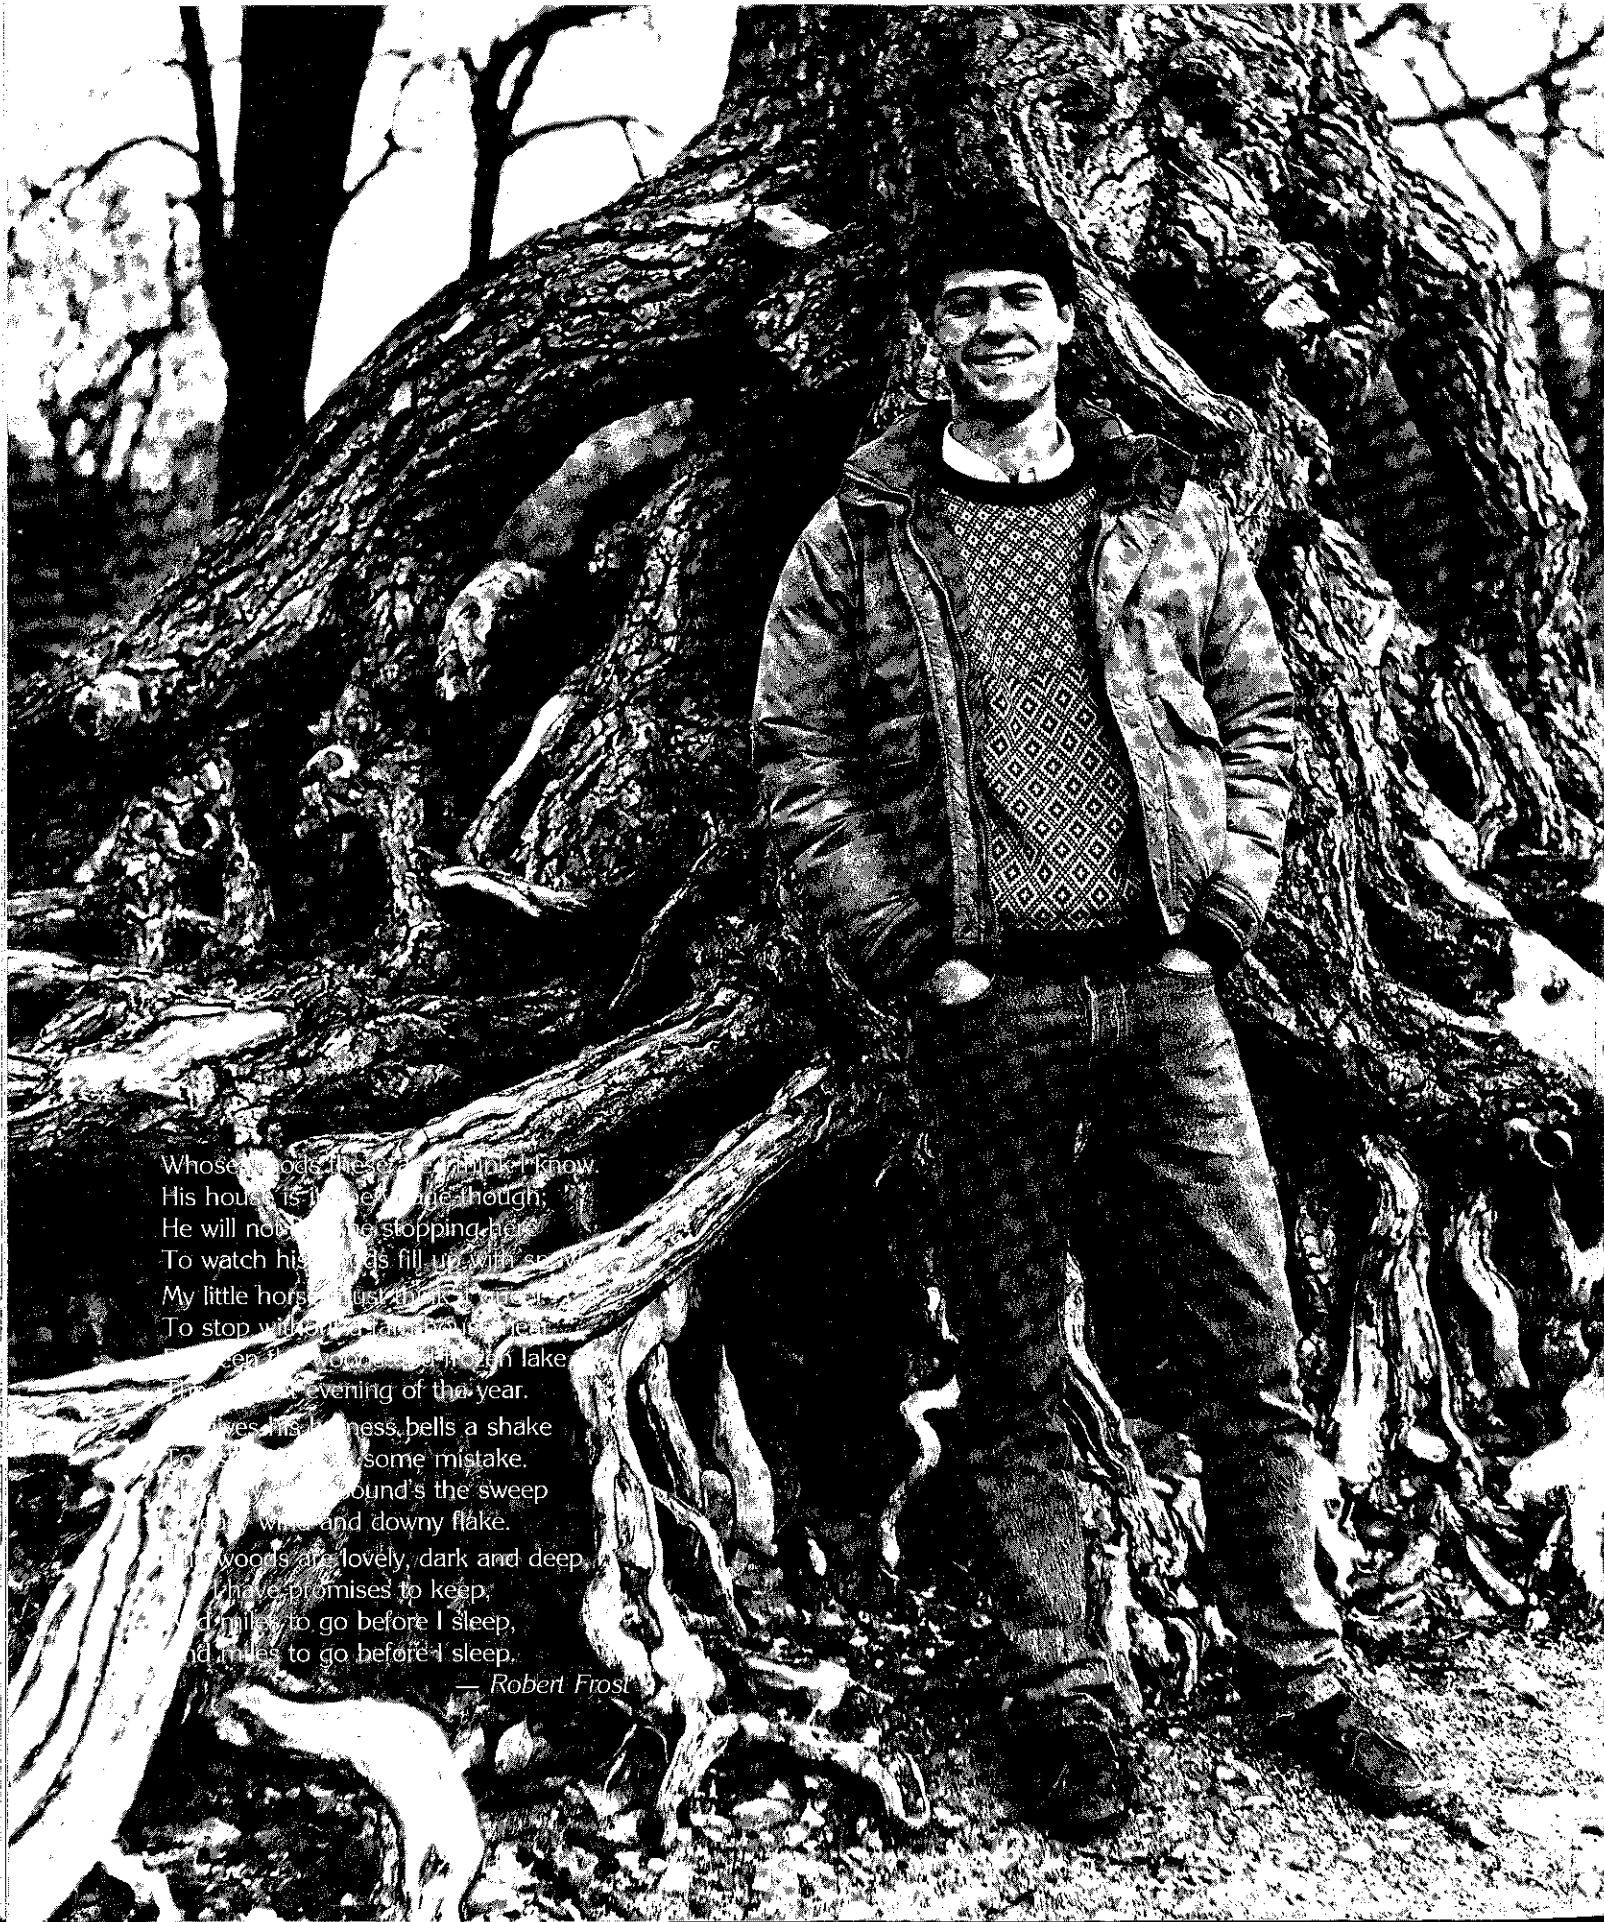

I will approach it and eventually learn to move through it

However, I will not lose my individuality or expression

Whose woods these are I think I know.
His house is in the deepening snow.
He will not see me stopping here
To watch his horses fill up with snow.
My little horse must think it queer
To stop without a farm-house near.
And he has thought of no other
To ask about the owner's name,
When the woods are lovely, dark and deep,
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep.

We're only human
We're supposed to make mistakes. . .
Cause all I needed was a little faith
So I could catch my breath and face the world again.
Don't forget your second wind
Sooner or later you'll feel that momentum kick in.

Time By Roger Waters

Ticking away the moments that make up a dull day
You fritter and waste the hours in an off hand way
Kicking around a piece of ground in your home town
Waiting for someone or something to show you the way

Tired of lying in the sunshine staying home to watch the rain
You are young and life is long and there is time to kill today
And then one day you find ten years have got behind you
No one told you when to run, you missed the starting gun

And you run and you run to catch up with the sun, but it's sinking
And racing around to come up behind you again
The sun is the same in the relative way, but you're older
And shorter of breath and one day closer to death

Every year is getting shorter, never seem to find the time
Plans that either come to naught or half a page of scribbled lines
Hanging on in quiet desperation is the English way
The time is gone the song is over, thought I'd something more to say

DREW WHITNEY
