Forest Ridge Distinguished Alumnae Form

Forest Ridge School of the Sacred Heart alumnae strive to live with purpose and meaning. They inspire and challenge others around them to enrich their communities and the world. They distinguish themselves in many ways, reimagining the limits of their own potential.

To honor alumnae who have stood out amongst their peers, Forest Ridge School of the Sacred Heart created the Distinguished Alumna Award in 1997. This award is presented annually and bestows institutional recognition on one alumna who has distinguished herself in her personal or professional life, in her intellectual pursuits, or in her dedication to service of community, country or society.

The Distinguished Alumna Award serves also to inspire the entire Forest Ridge School community—students, alumnae, staff and faculty alike—to strive ‘to become their best selves’ in their pursuit of a meaningful life.

Nominations are welcomed from other alumnae who know better than anyone those who are deserving of this honor. We encourage detailed and strong statements of nomination that emphasize the following criteria:

- The nominee should embody the core values of Forest Ridge School by exhibiting characteristics of intellectual curiosity, integrity and determination in her ‘pursuit of good.’
- The nominee should have contributed significantly to the welfare of her community or society and accomplished outstanding professional and personal achievements in her field of endeavor.
